Caledon Agricultural Society receives Trillium grant

By Bill Rea

The Caledon Agricultural Society (CAS) is the recipient of a grant of $62,600 from the Ontario Trillium Foundation (OTF).

The presentation was made Friday at the Caledon Fairgrounds.

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones was on hand with Sheila Tutty of the OTF Halton/Peel Grant Review Team, for a special plaque presentation. The funds will be used to carry out facility improvements to the fairgrounds, which has been serving the community since 1860. CAS Vice-President Tim Forster said the planned improvements include new bleachers and building up of the electrical system on the property. He said the idea is to attract more events to the facility.

"We'll be able to broaden our scope in what we're able to offer," he observed.

The Fairgrounds currently host three major public events per year: SnowFest Family Day, Caledon Fair in June and the Canada Day Strawberry Festival.

"It is great to see the Caledon Agricultural Society receive money that will benefit our community," Jones commented. "Through the CAS, many events are held annually that promote and support our strong agricultural community and this grant will update and benefit the heart of our town."

She also stressed CAS is a volunteer-based organization "That's what makes our community special," she said.

Volunteer Champion specializes in quilts and knitting

By Bill Rea

Dorothy Stewart is Caledon's Volunteer Champion for 2013.

The honour was conferred on her Monday night at the Town's annual Volunteer and Citizen Achievement Awards ceremony.

Stewart, who has lived in Bolton 19 years after moving from a farm just north of the village where she lived since 1948, said she received an invitation to attend the ceremony about a month ago, although she had no idea what she was to receive.

"It wasn't until I walked in tonight," she commented after the ceremony, adding her family had known in advance and made sure she was there.

In making the presentation, Mayor Marolyn Morrison called Stewart "a shining example of a true volunteer."

Her contributions to the community have included serving on the Albion-Bolton Library Board, and being an active member of the Anglican Church Women, Rebekah Lodge and Brampton Quilters' Guild. She has also sat on the board of Caledon Community Service (CCS).

Morrison said Stewart currently co-ordinates with the Rotary Club to provide linens and knitted goods, like hats, scarves and mittens, for residents in Sioux Lookout. As well, her group of knitters have contributed 1,600 knitted bears to charity, through Samaritan's Purse.

"She organizes the donation of knitted baby hats for newborns at Headwaters Hospital in Orangeville," Morrison observed. "Dorothy crochets prayer shawls for distribution through Christ Church in Bolton."

In addition, she said Stewart is part of the ACW that fills Christmas stocking for residents at King Nursing Home and sews pet beds for an animal shelter.

Dorothy Stewart is Caledon's Volunteer Champion.

OPP looking for assistance in Freeland death investigation

Kera Freeland's body was discovered in a ditch on Heart Lake Road, in the Town of Caledon on Thursday March 17, 2011. Her death was treated as suspicious at the time and had since been determined to be a homicide. On January 30th, 2013 Freeland's ex-roommate from her Toronto address, 35 year old Christopher Andronakos, was arrested without incident and has been charged with Second Degree Murder in the death of Kera Freeland. Investigators with the Ontario Provincial Police are continuing their investigation and are seeking assistance from the public. Investigators have information that on a night in January 2011 a vehicle went into a ditch in an area in Caledon. The vehicle had to be removed from the ditch by a tow truck. There is further information that the male driver waited for the tow at a home near where his vehicle entered the ditch. Police would like to identify the tow company/driver and the resident who assisted this person that night in January 2011. Anyone with information about this incident is asked to contact the Caledon

OPP Major Crime Unit at (519) 927-3041 or Calgary Police non-emergency number at 403 266-1234 or Crime Stoppers in Ontario at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS).

Why Pay Your Taxes on Time?

Did you know that property taxes collected by the Town of Caledon are distributed three ways?

$44 Million
Town of Caledon

$41.9 Million
Region of Peel

$40.1 Million
School Boards:
Peel District
Dufferin Peel Catholic
Conseil scolaire de district catholique
Conseil scolaire Viamonde

The Town of Caledon pays the school boards and the Region of Peel in four pre-determined installment dates.

- These obligated payments come out of the Town's own cash if taxpayers pay us late.
- If the Town of Caledon does not have sufficient cash flow to pay the Region of Peel, school boards, and to pay for the provision of services, we may have to borrow money in the short-term, which impacts all taxpayers.
- To minimize the impact to all taxpayers, late payment fees are applied only to accounts with unpaid taxes.

Townhall Players in Susan’s Secret

Caledon Townhall Players are ready to present their third and final offering of the season.

What Is Susan’s Secret, by Michael and Susan Parker, is a rollicking farce about an endearing older couple, Susan and Michael Edwards (played by producer Jeannette Massicotte and Mark Ladouceur), who operate the old and rustic Cider Mill Inn. They at first appear to be a little senile, but it turns out they are very clever con artists. They prey on their unsuspecting guests by offering huge discounts to various tradesmen.

Using an elaborate check-in form, guests actually end up signing a work order requiring them to perform various jobs and improvements around the inn, in this directoral debut for John M. Rowe.

The dismayed victims realize they have been tricked, but find they have no way out.

A succession of tradesmen and their wives are enticed to the inn, along with other guests who drop by for illicit purposes. The result is mixed-up dialogue that’s not to be missed.

What Is Susan’s Secret opens tonight (Thursday April 25) and will be performed April 26, 27 and May 3, 4, 10 and 11. There will be a matinee and dinner on the May 4 performance.

PAMA opens exhibit of Perkins Bull hospital

The Peel Art Gallery, Museum and Archives (PAMA) officially opened a new exhibit recently that celebrates the contributions of a prominent Peel family during the First World War.

All the Comforts of Home: The Perkins Bull Hospital for Convalescent Canadian Officers highlights the Bull family, the hospital they opened for Canadian officers and the gratitude of those men and their families.

William Perkins Bull grew up on a family farm near Brampton. He developed international business and financial interests and in 1912, moved his young family to England. During the First World War, the Bulls opened their London home to visiting Canadians and established a convalescent hospital for recovering Canadian officers. For many, this respite from the conditions at the front enabled them to regain their strength and health and return to their duties. The Bulls provided all the comforts of home, and then some, to men suffering from injuries, sickness and nerve-damage.

“We are so thrilled to tell this story at PAMA,” said Supervisor of Museum and Archives Services Marty Brent. “One of the outstanding objects in the exhibit is a tankard, or loving cup, engraved with the names of many of the officers who passed through the Hospital. This cup is on long term loan from the High Commission of Canada in London.”

All the show includes items such as special menu cards, a patient newsletter, correspondence and photographs. Of special interest are the patient registers and letters. The guest book signed by King George V and Queen Mary will also be on exhibit.

“Our family is very pleased to be able to share this part of our history with the public,” said Professor Thomas H.B. Symons, grandson of William Perkins Bull. “PAMA already has extensive holdings from the William Perkins Bull collection and this new exhibit adds to this legacy by its remembrance of this special chapter about Canada’s part in the First World War.”

The story of the hospital, the family who welcomed battle-fatigued Canadian officers with open arms (including Billy Bishop) and the gratitude of those men and their families highlights an important part of Canada’s character, where people performed selflessly in the face of conflict and hardship.

Hugs and other stuff for Earth Day

Earth Day was Monday, and people from Palgrave United church were right in the spirit of the day. Some of them gathered at Garden Foods in Bolton in the morning, bestowing free hugs to all who wanted one. Caroline Plawiuk of Bolton was one of them, receiving her hug from Satya Robinson, while Jon Love and Lorraine Witty looked on. Garden Foods was also distributing free pansies. The evening saw a pot-luck dinner at the church, and there were lots of activities, like crafts, for young people to work on. Olivia Gregersen-Curtis, Yvonne Polinski and Tay McIntyre, all 7, were showing off some of their work. Photos by Bill Rea

Many May happenings are in store at Caledon Seniors' Centre

By Margaret and Bill Cunning
The Caledon Seniors' Centre welcomes you all to this transitional month of May. It is often referred to as the "Merry Month of May," a throwback to our agrarian past. After the long, dark winter, the ground was prepared and the first seeds were planted. The citizens celebrated with the festival of May Day. Feasting and dancing around a May Pole released them from their chores for a while, as they hoped for a good harvest to come. We at the Centre are celebrating May in our own way, by holding our Senior In-House Games from May 2 to June 20 with an Awards Banquet June 27. Everyone is welcome to take part, so come join in the spring fun.

Our Spring Fling Dinner and Raffle was a great success and we thank all who participated or supported us by buying raffle tickets. The list of winners is as follows: Mary Morton, Sharon Hasting, Jack Couter, Judy Marren, David Abram, Tracy Marcon, Tracey Lehman, Pat Burton, Terry Manzon, Dorothy Walters, Rena Di-cartanlario and Joe Tasca. Congratulations to all.

Drinking and driving charge

A traffic stop in Valleywood April 16 resulted in a 34-year-old Caledon man being charged with driving with too much alcohol in his system. Caledon OPP reports an officer was doing traffic enforcement shortly before 11 p.m. in the area of Highway 10 and Valleywood Boulevard when a Honda Civic was spotted travelling at high speed. The officer stopped the car and detected a strong smell of alcohol on the driver's breath. His licence was suspected for 90 days and his car was impounded for seven.

Next up on our Calendar of fun events is our Bid Euchre Tournament at the Centre. It takes place May 11 and play starts at 10 a.m. and continues until play finishes. May 25, we host a Euchre tournament at the Centre, with play starting at 10 a.m. and continuing until it finishes. The cost of both tournaments is $10 each and lunch is provided at both events. Both tournaments are very popular so register early and enjoy a fun day with your friends.

May 14, we offer a trip to Huntsville's Deerhurst Inn. The trip includes a visit to Rich Hill Candles Store, lunch at the Deerhurst Resort and the show Charades. The luxury coach leaves the Centre at 8:35 a.m. and returns at approximately 5:30 p.m. The cost is $99. The Maximize Your Health (Self Management Program) continues May 2, 9 and 16. It runs from 10 a.m. until noon at the Centre. For further information on all programs and events, please check our website at www.caledonseniors.ca, contact us at 905-951-6114 or email us at caledonseniors@rogers.com We wish you all a Happy Mother's Day May 12. A reminder that the Centre will be closed for the holiday May 20 and hope everyone has a fun Victoria Day weekend. As always, we welcome all seniors to our Centre for warmth and fellowship. The invitation to lunch Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays is warmly extended at "your home away from home."

Community thrives on volunteers

This is the time of year when our society takes a bit of time to acknowledge those who work to improve the community through their volunteer efforts.

A lot of these people who give of their time are easy to spot. Most parents know who coaches their kids’ sports teams. But do they know the people behind the scenes, who arrange the schedules and make sure the ice and field time is available? Some of the volunteers are not as visible as others, but their contributions are vital to the fabric of this community. If they were not there, doing what they do, they would be sorely missed.

The Town took time Monday night to honour about 40 of these people. It was worthy recognition, to be sure, but these people are but representatives of a lot of others who help make the community what it is.

It’s important that you don’t forget them, since they aren’t forgetting you.

Don’t facilitate Canadian Tire proposal

I was very disturbed after reading the recent articles in the Citizen regarding the “proposed” Canadian Tire Distribution Centre on the employment lands and agricultural lands of Bolton/Caledon.

I was shocked that the Province has brought in a Provincial Development Facilitator, Paula Dill, to ensure a speedy closure to these proceedings. Infrastructure Minister Bob Chiarelli was quoted as follows: “He also pointed out timing is an issue, in that Canadian Tire is anxious to begin construction soon so the new facility can be ready in 2016.”

Please, please, the first time many Bolton taxpayers even heard about this “proposed” facility was in the fall at the meeting at the Caledon Centre for Recreation and Wellness. Now things have to be speeded up to help Canadian Tire in their quest to relocate from Brampton. Caledon council must do everything they can to facilitate Canadian Tire’s demands and not the wishes and needs of the local taxpayers of Bolton. Why should Bolton accept a distribution centre that nobody else wants?

This distribution centre is too close to residential neighbourhoods in Bolton, exceeds the existing employment lands allotment, (therefore having to make use of current agricultural lands) and should not be in any residential neighbourhood, but on an existing 400 series highway, away from residential developments. Additionally, a 24/7 business with up to 800 trucks per day, will destroy our town. Think of pollution expenses to OHIP; think of smog from the continuing truck traffic every day of the year and its effect on our town; this is a relocation from Brampton, therefore there will be no “new jobs” as attributed to Mayor Morrison’s statement – “Morrison said her motivation is to bring jobs and assessment to Caledon to make the town more sustainable.” The tax assessments will be utilized to repair the continuing damage that the trucks will do to our roads, and the jobs have already been taken, as this is a “relocation of an existing facility.”

There will be many Bolton taxpayers who will be thinking of selling and relocating to other parts of Caledon, (oh yes, good for the real estate business).

Please, Caledon council is supposed to represent the wishes and needs of the local taxpayers, and believe me, judging from the Canadian Tire public meeting last November, to quote one individual, “You are not wanted here.”

And there was thunderous applause.

Sandra Clarke-Forester, Bolton

P.S. Oh yes, the March 21 page 1 article “Canadian Tire meeting will run under the Planning Act,” whereby the Canadian Tire meeting is to be held in Caledon East due to the Planning Act? The facility is to be built in Bolton, not Caledon East, so that simply doesn’t make any sense, whatsoever. That central location is too inconvenient for Bolton residents on a weeknight, and let’s face facts. Half of Caledon taxpayers and businesses are located right here in Bolton, so that should be the criteria for where the meetings are held. Bolton is the majority, after all.

This is a ‘taxing’ time of year

So, how’s your blood pressure these days? Feeling a little bit more stress than usual? Or all these pressures and stresses behind you?

Are you ahead of the game? Have you filed your income tax?

If it makes any of you feel better, as of this writing (late last week), I have not yet completed mine. I think I’m in pretty good company.

Isn’t it a human trend to procrastinate, even if there’s something appealing for many of us at the end, like a refund cheque?

I think part of the problem with income tax is a certain stigma involved. It is well known, after all, that people can go to jail for income tax evasion, although reality says one has to really get caught red-handed to be locked up. There is no room in our prison system for people who make mistakes in their arithmetic.

But the major problem is going through all these forms is a real chore, and a stressful one too. It always has been. I used to dread this time of year as a kid because of the impact it had on my parents. There was a lot more yelling.

Bill Rea

I feel the stress too, although I don’t yell any more than I normally do.

I like to think I have a pretty good head when it comes to numbers, and I’m fully aware that a lot of other people do not. If I have trouble with all this paperwork, I sometimes wonder about people who aren’t good with figures.

Now it is true there are some mechanisms in place to help people with their income tax.

In my case, it was my parents, who were very knowledgeable and helpful, at least when they were able to keep their respective tempers under control. The fact that my mother used to be in charge of payroll in a chartered accountant’s office certainly didn’t hurt. The result was income tax was actually something she seemed to look forward to more and more as the years went by. She used to enjoy getting in touch with people at the tax department, feigning ignorance, or putting on what she called her “dumb bugger” expression. I caught some of her wrath (probably deserved) when I wrote in a column during the mid ’90s, that she could probably lecture Paul Martin (then Minister of Finance) in tax law.

But she always pressed me for any questions I might have for her to pass on to the authorities, and one of the probable results was probably somewhat larger refund cheques than I might otherwise have banked.

But my parents are no longer alive, so I sort of have to go through things on my own. The task fell on me the first year after my mother’s death. I sort of commandeered the dining room table in her condo and spread all sorts of documents, while my brother kept serving me beer and coffee, all the while thanking me for doing all the work.

Thus, with that background, I have become rather good at wading through all the forms, even if I still find it a major chore that I have a bad habit of putting off.

No matter, it’s a job that has to be done.

A lot of people I talk to are inclined to engage professionals to do their taxes for them. I guess I could do that, even knowing that my folks would have frowned had they caught me doing it.

I do take up one of their examples, and every year buy one of those computer tax programs, setting it up on our aging machine at home. Being an old computer, it tends to take its own sweet time booting up (I should probably do the exercise on my lap top next year).

The routine is I usually do a run-through of my taxes on paper, then feed all the information into the computer and have it show me where my mistakes are. This year, as in others, not surprisingly, there were mistakes — lots of them. That just goes to show that computers have their uses.

Seeing my mistakes, I do all the paperwork a second time, making sure I have some understanding of from where the computer is getting its numbers. This is a very useful exercise because (hold on to your hat), the computer gets things wrong too. Being the smart fellow that I am, I caught one such mistake myself. And the forms are sometimes misleading too. Some of the forms you might have to fill out come with directions. Take my good advice and read the directions.

I had to work late last Thursday night, but as soon as I got home, I greeted my wife. She assured me that the Leafs had lost and the Jays had won. I responded by marching straight to the computer to delve once again into the world of hard numbers and expense deductions. Beth had long since gone to bed by the time I was able to set down figures that seemed to be final.

Time will tell. I wonder how long a sentence you can get from negligence brought on by pure confusion.

All that remained was to take pages and pages of figures and rough work and put on the required forms in a presentable fashion. I’m afraid I’m too “old school” to bother with e-filing.

Beth does all her tax work on paper, using the forms which are readily available for free at any post office. But she usually gets me to plug her figures into the computer program to make sure she made no mistakes. She still finds uses for me — it just warms my heart.

So although the deadline is drawing near (things have to be in the mail early next week, if I understand the rules), Beth and I should have our returns handed in on time. I believe the feds do appreciate punctuality.

And I think we can safely say we have shown our due diligence, meaning neither of us are likely to be housed in facilities as guests of the state (in case any of you had hopes in that direction regarding me).

And as I stated above, I am confident there are many of you reading this right now when you should be busy working on your tax forms. Many of us leave this annual duty a lot later than we should, making things all the more stressful at the end.

Maybe this is a good time for me to make a pledge to myself to be quicker off the mark next year, and get things done in a more timely fashion, and relaxed pace. Maybe that’s something we should all make a point of doing.

If you really need to procrastinate, do it with your Christmas shopping.

By the way, at risk of making a lot of people angry with me, I have already started my Christmas shopping.

Have you?

Making sports equipment and baby clothing more affordable

Parents are fully aware of the expenses that come with raising a family.

From basic necessities, such as clothing and food, to education and recreational activities, it adds up fast. This is why our government has consistently worked to support and deliver significant savings for Canadian families since we were first elected in 2006.

We started by introducing the Universal Child Care Benefit, providing real choice in child care by giving parents $1,200 a year for each child under the age of six. We've kept taxes low, including cutting the lowest personal income tax rate to 15 per cent, as well as cutting the GST from seven to five per cent. We've also delivered tax credits that are helping families save every year, such as the Family Caregiver Tax Credit, the Child Tax Credit, the Children's Fitness Tax Credit and the Children's Arts Tax Credit. The average family now saves $3,200 a year.

Despite these savings, Canadians remain mindful of the fact that the price of many products needed to support their family are consistently higher in Canada compared to the exact same products sold in the United States.

Our government understands this concern. We've taken action through our latest budget, Economic Action Plan 2013, to help deliver lower prices for hard-working Canadian families.

Hockey skates, skis and baby clothing are just a few of the goods that will now be a little more affordable. To do this, our government has removed tariffs on imported baby clothing and sports equipment, resulting in significant savings for families. Other examples of gear that are now tariff-free include snowboards, golf clubs, snowshoes, toboggans and roller skates. We strongly encourage businesses to pass these savings — in full — to their customers.

David Tilson
MP Dufferin-Caledon

This action builds on our government's strong and already mentioned record of providing real savings to Canadian families. In fact, since 2006, we've eliminated almost 1,900 tariffs on products coming into Canada. We continue to take this action to ensure that Canadian companies and Canadian consumers have fair pricing. Not only that, we've concluded six free trade agreements which cut tariffs by $65 million annually; that's a grand total of $590 million in tariff relief each and every year. Such action made Canada the first G20 country to become a tariff-free zone for manufacturers.

Ultimately, Canadians are aware that our dollar has strengthened considerably compared to the U.S. dollar. It makes sense, therefore, that a strong dollar should be reflected in the prices Canadians pay when they purchase products for their families with their hard-earned money. By eliminating tariffs on sports equipment and baby clothing, our government is working to ease the financial burden of raising a family in Canada.

Budget 2013

Canada's Economic Action Plan

Our government is focused on jobs and economic growth.

Canada has created more than 950,000 net new jobs with the support of our Economic Action Plan. This is the best record in the G7 and a sign that we're on the right track. So, our government is working to better connect Canadians with jobs, support communities by investing in essential infrastructure such as roads and public transit, and preserve and enhance Canada's fiscal strength so our country is well-positioned for long-term prosperity.

Through Economic Action Plan 2013, we're staying focused on the top priorities of Canadians. In particular, the Plan aims to address continued job creation and the skills mismatch between those seeking work and the positions that are available. This is why we announced major new initiatives in this year's budget to link job seekers and available opportunities. It includes the Canada Job Grant, which gives workers and employers more control over training with our government providing a third of up to $15,000 of training funding for workers applying for actual new or better jobs. It includes measures to create opportunities for apprentices by working with the provinces to harmonize requirements and encourage the use of apprentices on projects receiving federal funding. It also renews our commitment to supporting jobs for all Canadians, including underrepresented groups such as persons with disabilities, youth, Aboriginal peoples, and newcomers.

Our government also recognizes the importance of infrastructure in our communities such as transportation, community centres and water treatment. This web of infrastructure touches every Canadian, links within and between our cities and towns, and is essential to continued economic growth. Economic Action Plan 2013 delivers the new Building Canada Plan, which in combination with other measures in the Budget, is the largest infrastructure program in Canada's history. The Building Canada Plan will provide stable funding over 10 years and will help keep our communities moving with investments in roads, bridges, commuter rail, and other aspects of transit and transportation.

Our government is also acting to preserve Canada's G7-leading fiscal strength. It's that strength that enabled us to respond quickly and effectively to the global economic recession. By staying on track to balance the budget in 2015, we are helping ensure Canada has the means to navigate the fragile global economy. Moreover, we are doing this through efficiencies and savings in government operations, not at the expense of individuals or provinces. This means we are keeping taxes low so Canadians can benefit from a lower GST, lower income taxes, and lower taxes on job creators.

Our government continues to support communities and hard-working families. We're focused on jobs, economic growth, and the long-term prosperity of Canada.

A dumb idea that wouldn't work

The famous American psychologist Abraham Maslow once quipped that, "It is tempting, if the only tool you have is a hammer, to treat everything as if it were a nail."

This is the sort of thinking people do all the time, particularly in politics, when it comes to devising ways to make your own political party fare better in elections.

Now that Justin Trudeau is firmly enconced as the Liberal Party leader, it's worth looking back at the main plank in the failed campaign of his major adversary, Liberal MP Joyce Murray, of Vancouver Quadra, who apparently believed that the sure way to defeat Stephen Harper's Tories is for the other parties — the "progressives," as they like to call themselves — unite for what she said would be a "one-time cooperation."

Her plan was that the NDP, Liberals and Greens would all combine to run a joint candidate against the dreaded Tories. She proposed run-off elections between those parties in all Tory ridings where the Tory won by less than 50 per cent of the vote in the last election (she said 57 ridings are involved). And then, having captured the nation's capitol, booted the Tories from office — and brought in proportional representation — the coalition of the convenient would call an election and, presumably, live happily ever after.

The big assumption, of course, was that all those voters who did not vote Tory last time out would automatically join in this exercise and, presto, that would be the end of Harper.

It's an assumption which simply doesn't stand up to serious scrutiny although, heaven knows, Murray wasn't the first to propose it and she won't be the last. Indeed, in the last NDP leadership race, NDP House Leader Nathan Cullen, another B.C. politician (maybe there's something in the water out there) also proposed that the NDP, Liberals and Greens run joint nominations in strategically selected Tory-held ridings in the next election and then, if the coalition won, introduce electoral reforms before the subsequent elections. He finished third, so a fair number of New Democrats clearly bought his argument.

Those who don't like our current system, where governments can — and usually do — win a "majority" with less than half the popular vote — like to say that the majority of voters voted "against" the winning party and therefore it is not democratic.

This, alas, is not necessarily true at all. Given the choices offered, a voter picks the one he or she likes the most — or loathes the least — and when it's all added up, we get the results. But if the formula changed in the way that Cullen and Murray and others are talking, then the choices facing the electorate would be quite different and it's fair to speculate that so, too, would be the results.

Let's say you're a right-wing Liberal voter — and there are many of them. Would you be more likely to vote Tory the next time or vote for a coalition which includes the NDP and the Greens? It's one thing if your party choice is on the ballot, but if it's not, then all bets are off and we can't assume the same outcome at all.

Quite apart from the fact that NDP Leader Thomas Mulcair has emphatically ruled out any coalition of convenience — as have Trudeau and many Liberals — it's simply a dumb idea that wouldn't work for the above-stated reasons.

Would a hardline, leftist NDP voter actually vote for a Liberal, particularly if it were a right-wing Liberal, in such a configuration, or would he or she just stay home? Your guess is as good as mine. But again, the assumption that the voters would vote the same way they did when all the options were on the table is totally naive.

Here's another pet bugaboo of mine in these discussions. People who should know better constantly argue that our system is "undemocratic" because the winners often don't garner a majority vote and therefore they do not really represent their ridings. Yes they do. The winners don't just represent those who subscribe to their party, they represent everybody in the riding, those who voted for them, those who voted against them and those (lazy louts) who didn't bother to vote at all.

And for those who carp on about proportional representation, well, they should look around the world and they'll discover that, unlike our current system, it leads to perpetual deadlocks and endless minorities.

We're far better off with what we have, whether you voted for the winners or the losers.

“Fighting hunger and malnutrition in Caledon” By Kim D’Eri

Imagine trying to keep your family fed for a month with a box of donated food.

You appreciate the non-perishable items like pasta and beans. You're also glad you live in a community that cares. But you still wonder how you are going to buy milk, fresh vegetables and fruit for you and your children. You know your child's full tummy is important.

A balanced diet that allows healthy growing children and better concentration in school is vital too.

That's what Caledon Community Services' Food Support Program is now focusing on --healthy, nutritional foods for our clients. These are ways in which you, the Caledon community, are and can participate:

- Volunteers passionate about food are currently helping sort donations
- Gardeners are asked to plant an extra row and donate some vegetables

- Fruit tree owners are asked to donate extra fruit
- Vegetable farmers consider allowing CCS staff and volunteers to glean their fields after harvesting
- Fasting May 8 (Hunger Awareness Week) and see what it is like to go without healthy, nutritional foods for the day.

Thinking of donating food? Non-perishable items are only provided before their "best before" date. We believe that people who are on limited food resources need the most amount of nutrients as possible to stay healthy. After the best before date, the nutritional value of the food item starts to deplete. Please check the dates when donating non-perishable food. You are welcome to contact CCS prior to food drives to find out what items are most needed.

The Exchange, our renovated space at 55 Healey Road, is set to open this summer. It will have room to house dairy products, fresh fruits and vegetables and other items.

Tryouts underway

Junior C Bandits’ final cuts this week

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The Caledon Junior C Bandits lacrosse team is currently going through the final week of try-outs for the 2013 roster.

The spring session started April 9 at Mayfield Arena and goes through a series of five nights, winding up tonight (Thursday).

All 2012 Caledon Junior C players and residents born from 1992 to 1996 are eligible to try out for the squad. Caledon midget players are also encouraged to show what they’ve got.

The Bandits are a member of the Ontario Junior C Lacrosse League (OJCLL), which was formed in 2008. Previously there were three separate Junior C leagues in Ontario, run under the auspices of the Ontario Lacrosse Association.

There are currently 18 teams in the OJCLL from towns as far east as Kingston and north to Huntsville.

The Bandits are two-time winners of the Meredith Cup championship, having claimed the title in back-to-back seasons in 2008 and 2009.

In 2012, the squad finished in first place in the West Division with 22 points and a 10-4-2 record after 16 regular season games and tied for third place overall. They didn’t advance in the playoffs after losing three straight in the first round.

The Bandits will play their first exhibition game against Innisfil next Thursday (May 2) at Bolton arena with an 8 p.m. start.

The regular season will have eight home games and eight road games. Their first game to start the 2013 regular season will be a road game in Halton Hills May 8. They will be at home in Mayfield Arena for their home opener May 14. Game time is 8 p.m.

Winning triathlon at 57

Fifty-seven year old Hans Porten did his first triathlon a dozen years ago in C3’s local Kids of Steel Triathlon.

Caledon’s Barrie Shepley saw Porten swimming at a local Caledon Pool and convinced him to try his luck at the local Kids of Steel Triathlon.

“There I was, standing in the pool waiting for my first adult pool triathlon and there were hundreds of seven, eight and nine year olds finishing up their race,” Porten said. “It was so energizing.”

Porten loved his first triathlon and fell in love with the sport.

Over the last dozen years, he has raced all over the world for Canada, has won dozens of major triathlons, including an Ironman in Austria, competed at the Hawaii Ironman and won a bronze medal at the World Age Group Triathlon Championships.

Porten and his wife Uli are big supporters of the local C3 Canadian Cross Training Club, helping run many workouts and are the first to volunteer for any event the club organizes.

“Uli and I moved to Canada from Germany and we absolutely love the energy, support and passion that C3 shows to any person of any age,” he said.

Porten will be participating May 26 in the 13th annual C3 Kinetico Kids of Steel Race, and then will be volunteering in the afternoon for the youth waves along with his wife.

“To see nearly 1,000 kids and family members out participating and being active and healthy is so inspiring, and Uli and I would never miss the yearly event,” he remarked.

Palgrave Rotary's 16th annual Wines of the World set to go

Travel time is fast approaching when Palgrave Rotary will again lead its guests on a virtual tour of the world of wines.

The Club's 16th annual tasting event is set to go at the Caledon Equestrian Park in Palgrave June 7, starting at 6pm. Those joining in the tour will have the opportunity to sample from a selection of more than 60 wines from 16 countries, as well as beers from two micro breweries and locally produced cider.

Again this year, the event will benefit from the support and knowledge of wine consultant Steve Thurlow, a resident of Caledon and a avid wine aficionado whose expertise will again ensure a memorable selection for this year's wine tasting. He has advised that the choices for this year's event represent exceptional value at about $12 a bottle on average and are all available at LCBO outlets.

For $40 per person, guests will enjoy a unique wine-tasting evening, plus a selection of hors d'oeuvres, cheeses, sandwiches, fruits veggies and dip plus Palgrave Rotary's delectable oven-roasted sirloin sliders. Among the many door prizes is a free motorhome weekend compliments of Motor Home Travel of Bolton.

Tickets can be purchased in advance from members of Palgrave Rotary, Migrations Travel and Cruise Centre in Palgrave, the Palgrave Café, The Naked Vine in Bolton, Forster's Book Garden in Bolton and Howard the Butcher in Caledon East. Credit card purchases can be arranged by calling 905-583-0200.

The continuing success of this much-anticipated event is due in large part to members of the local business community whose active participation has immeasurably led to the growth and success of the wine tasting over the past years.

Lead roles as Platinum Sponsors have been taken by Cavalier Transportation Services; Hub International Ontario Ltd; Ra-Tech Electrical Services; and Paul Manchester, wealth advisor at Scotia McLeod.

Gold sponsors include Garden Foods; RBC Wealth Management; Caledon Equestrian Centre; Brookfield Homes; Leisure Time Park and Trailer Sales; Maria Britto (Re/Max Realty); Macquarie Private Wealth; the Ground Guys; Log Home Dental; Migrations Travel; Jiffy Lube; Bolton Motors; Motor Home Travel; Alterna Savings; Royal LePage RCR Realty; Stewart Maguire Landing and Earthworks Landscape Development.

By attending the 2013 tour of Wines of the World, participants will enjoy a unique evening with friends and neighbours, while knowing they are supporting Rotary in its programs both locally and on the international level.

The Home James designated driver service will be available for the event. Contact at 905-951-9000, ext. 300.

Devils Paintbrush named top modern course

By Brian Lockhart
There's no shortage of golf courses in Ontario, that's for sure.
What determines a great course is based on a variety of factors; design, layout, the challenge, and of course personal taste.
For the second year in a row, the Devil's Paintbrush on St. Andrew's Road in Caledon has been named the top Canadian modern course by Golfweek magazine.
Golfweek defines a "modern" course as one that was built after 1960.
That's modern in the sense that many established courses in Ontario opened in the 1920s, with several dating back more than 100 years.

The Devil's Paintbrush was established in 1990 and designed by architects Michael Hurdzan and Dana Fryl. It has 18 holes with a total yardage of 6,780.
To produce Golfweek's Best Courses lists, an expert team of nearly 750 course raters uses a 10-point ranking system to identify the best layouts from two distinctly different eras: pre-1960 and 1960 to the present. The exclusive system recognizes that before 1960 (the year that sepaafter 4:20 p.m. when an officer spotted a blue GMC SUV stopped on the north side of the road. Checking to make sure everything was all right, the officer detected alcohol on the man's breath. A search of the vehicle uncovered a partially consumed can of beer in the centre console.

The man was charged with driving with more than the legal limit of alcohol in his system and a liquor licence offence.
His licence was suspended for 90 days and his vehicle was impounded for seven days.

rates classic from modern) most course designers relied on native contours for course features. Since 1960, as the game became more popular, designers began to utilize high-tech engineering and advanced mechanical means to transform the landscape to suit their designs.
Golfweek began the rating system in 1997. They have included the top Canadian list for the past three years.
The annual ratings include course in the modern and classic category as well as casino, municipal, campus, residential, resort and listings for American, Canadian, Caribbean, Mexico, and Great Britain and Ireland.
On the classic side, the top course was Jasper Park Lodge in Jasper, Alberta — established in 1925.
In second place is the well known St. George's in Toronto, which was built in 1928.
Golfweek is also featuring news on some of Canada's best known golf architects.
"This year, along with recognizing Canada's best golf course, we're also featuring Canada's greatest golf course architect, Stanley Thompson," said Bradley S. Klein, national director for Golfweek's rating program. "Having designed 16 of the top 40 classic courses in Canada, Thompson is something of a national treasure."
The Devil's Paintbrush is next to its sister course, Devil's Pulpit, in Caledon.

Hans Porten and coach Barrie Shepley after Porten won Ironman Austria.

Gearing up for Kids of Steel

Porten has big goals this summer, as he is preparing for Ironman Mt. Tremblant in August and hopes to join some of his senior C3 teammates at the 2013 Hawaii Ironman in October.
Porten wants to encourage all of Caledon to consider signing up for the Kids of Steel Triathlon, or to find a way of getting involved as a volunteer or telling neighbours about the event held at Caledon Central Pool on Kennedy Road.
Details about the event and how to register are at www.c3online.ca

Bolton and District Horticultural Society presented with environmental award

By Bill Rea

Monday's Volunteer and Citizen Achievement Awards event also included the presentation of the award for Environmentalist of the Year.

It was announced last month that this year's recipient was the Bolton and District Horticultural Society. In making the presentation, Cat Cybulski, representing the Caledon Environmental Advisory Committee (CEAC), observed the society has been involved in numerous projects and partnered with a variety of groups to improved the ecology and beauty of the area since it was formed in 1995. The accomplishments include planting some 2,500 native trees and shrubs, as well as 2,000 wildflowers. She also said the society has provided leadership and funding for 15 different projects throughout the area. The recognition of the Society includes a certificate which was presented at Monday's event. The name of the society will be added to the commemorative rock in the CEAC Stewardship Grove along the Trans-Canada Trail in Caledon East. And the group will be able to direct a $500 award to the Caledon-based environmental project of their choice. Cybulski said the recipient of the $500 hasn't been announced yet. "You can bet it is going to have something to do with someone planting something somewhere," she observed.

TILSON SIGNS CONDOLENCES FOR THATCHER

While in Belgium recently, Dufferin-Caledon MP David Tilson signed a book of condolence for former British prime minister Margaret Thatcher, who died April 8. "Margaret Thatcher was a powerful political force in the 1980s and she single-handedly reshaped modern Great Britain," Tilson said. "Her defence of the Falkland Islands as well as her work with President Reagan in bringing about the end of the Cold War have cemented her place as one of the most important political leaders of the 20th century. As a Conservative, I was inspired by Mrs. Thatcher's determination to rescue Great Britain from near economic collapse at the end of the 1970s. She will be remembered for her strength of will and her fearless defence of free markets." Tilson was in Belgium leading an all-party delegation of Canadian MPs and Senators in his role as President of the Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association.

Mother of Amish schoolhouse shooter to be discussed at Lifetree Café

An exclusive filmed interview with Terri Roberts, mother of Amish schoolhouse shooter Charles Roberts, will be screened at Lifetree Café this coming Wednesday (May 1).

Roberts backed his truck up to the entrance of the West Nickel Mines School in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania Oct. 2, 2006. He barricaded himself inside and shot 10 young Amish girls. Five died.

Roberts killed himself before police could enter the one-room schoolhouse.

Roberts’ mother, who was working nearby at the time of the shootings, was embraced by the Amish community. Amish members stunned observers when they openly forgave the killer and his family. The Roberts family is not Amish.

Participants at this program, entitled Amazing Grace, will experience never-before-seen footage and hear from Mrs. Roberts, who still lives among the families of the girls her son murdered.

“The trauma, pain, and shame endured by this mother turned into an incredible picture of forgiveness and grace,” said Lifetree’s Thom Schultz, who conducted the exclusive interview with Mrs. Roberts.

Lifetree Café is held at St. James’ Church at 6025 Old Church Rd. in Caledon East. The program starts at 7 p.m., and admission to this one-hour event is free. Snacks and beverages are available.

Lifetree Café is a place where people gather for conversation about life and faith in a casual coffeehouse-type setting. Questions about Lifetree may be directed to Bruce Neville at 416-579-9977 or Desiree Neville at 416-579-6748.

Peel Region launches community investment program for non-profit agencies

Funding is now available for non-profit agencies providing community and social services in Peel through the Region of Peel Community Investment Program.

The program’s focus is to build the capacity of Peel’s non-profit sector and enable organizations to make a positive community impact with their programs and services.

Agencies can apply under three different funds: Sustainability — to strengthen organizational sustainability through multi-year operational and small capital funding; organizational effectiveness — to help organizations build their non-profit business; and collaboration — to foster partnerships that are innovative and impactful in meeting a defined community need.

Funding will support initiatives with well-defined outcomes that have strong social returns on investments. Starting

May 1, agencies will be able to apply online for funding. The deadline for applications to the sustainability fund is May 31. Applications for the organizational effectiveness fund and collaboration fund will be accepted on an on-going basis and will be reviewed in July and October 2013.

The Region will be hosting information sessions about the Community Investment Program in Brampton, Caledon and Mississauga. It is strongly recommended that non-profit agencies interested in applying to the program attend one session.

For information about the Community Investment Program and to register for an information session, visit peelregion.ca/communityinvestments.

Jobs Caledon featuring Peel Region speaker tomorrow

Preparation is the key to success, and this rings true especially in the world of employment.

Jobs Caledon is hosting a session tomorrow (Friday) at the Royal Courtyards in Bolton with a presentation from Antonella Russo, employment coordinator with human resources at Peel Region. She will be discussing various interview preparation topics, such as how to put together a quality resume, resume styles, how to apply to employment opportunities at the Region via the Internet and how to prepare for an interview.

Russo has been with the Region for more than 12 years in a variety of different roles. Most heavily, her emphasis has been on human resources and employee relations for over 10 years. She currently holds the position of employment coordinator, which focuses on recruitment with human resources. She is responsible for the hiring of temporary employees for the Region’s temporary administrative assignment pool and has serviced many departments, such as health, children’s and corporate serv-

“In today’s competitive job market, it is key to have a sound understanding on how to gear your resume to the job that you are applying for,” she stated. “Interview preparation is vital in delivering the ‘right’

Jones lashes out on hydro rates

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones recently spoke in the Ontario Legislature on behalf of Dufferin-Caledon residents against the continually increasing hydro rates in the province.

She charged they have more than doubled under the Liberal government since 2003.

“The number one issue I encounter in my constituency office is the affordability of hydro for families, businesses and manufacturers in Dufferin–Caledon,” Jones said. “Hydro rates have been steadily increasing because consumers are asked to pay for smart meters they never wanted, overpriced energy contracts they cannot afford, money-losing exports they cannot believe and a debt retirement charge that has already been collected.”

“That message was made clear to me at the recent Orangeville Lions Club Home and Garden Show,” she added. “At this year’s show, I received an overwhelming number of negative comments regarding the continuously increasing costs of hydro.”

Ontario’s Auditor General released a report later that day, confirming what Jones and the Ontario Progressive Conservative caucus have been saying all along — that the Liberal government has been hiding the true cost of the cancelled Mississauga gas plant from taxpayers.

Jones pointed to the Auditor-General’s report as further proof that the government is to blame for the unsustainable rise in hydro rates in Ontario.

“The public will have to pick up a $275-million bill created by the McGuinty-Wynne Liberals when they cancelled the Mississauga gas plant – $85 million more than the amount they originally claimed,” Jones declared. “These additional costs are an indictment of the Liberals’ cover-up and attempt to mislead taxpayers on this issue.”

“This is just one of the two canceled power plants,” Jones said. “We still have yet to see the report on the Oakville cancellation, which independent energy experts have estimated could cost over $800 million. One thing is clear, however: the McGuinty-Wynne Liberals clearly cannot be trusted with taxpayers’ money.”

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT STUDY

NOTICE OF PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTRE #1

MISSISSAUGA ROAD, OLD MAIN STREET, BUSH STREET, WINSTON CHURCHILL BOULEVARD AND OLDE BASE LINE ROAD

The Project

The Region of Peel is undertaking a Schedule ‘C’ Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (EA) to develop a road design that addresses safety and pavement condition deficiencies on Mississauga Road, Old Main Street, Bush Street, Winston Churchill Boulevard and Olde Base Line Road. The approximate limits of the project area are illustrated on the map.

The EA will review and recommend solutions to address:

- road safety deficiencies
- sight lines that do not meet standards
- pavement condition deficiencies
- road drainage problems
- parking
- pedestrian and cycling needs

This EA will not be considering road widening or increasing the number of lanes and will provide a solution that meets the needs of all road users and maintains the rural character of the community.

The Process

The Class EA process includes:

- public and agency consultation
- an evaluation of road improvement alternatives
- an assessment of the possible environmental effects of the improvements
- the identification of reasonable means to mitigate any adverse impacts

Public Information Centre

Two Public Information Centres (PICs) are planned for this study. The first PIC will consist of an Open House followed by a presentation and facilitated discussion. The PIC will provide an overview of what we have heard and the technical work completed to date. Please join us at this PIC to share your opinions on:

- Draft Problem Statement
- Preliminary Alternative Solutions
- Preliminary Evaluation Criteria

The Project Team members will be present to answer questions and discuss the next steps of the study. The first PIC is scheduled for:

Date: Thursday, May 9, 2013

IN MEMORIAM

SCAGNETTI, Maureen Audrey
In loving memory of my dear wife Maureen Audrey who passed away April 14, 1993.

A bouquet of roses just for you
Sprinkled with tear drops instead of dew
And in the centre a forget-me-not
To let you know I haven't forgot.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered
Albert

SNELL, Marjorie
In loving memory of a wonderful grandmother who left us April 26, 1992.

Mom Snell,
Those we love remain with us
For love itself lives on,
And cherished memories never fade
Because a loved one's gone.
Those we love can never be
More than a thought apart,
For as long as we have memories
You live on in our hearts.
Loving remembered by all Grandchildren & great-grandchildren

SNELL, Marjorie
In loving memory of our Mom who passed away April 26, 1992.

There is a face before us
A voice we would love to hear
Brown eyes and a smile we always remember
Of a Mom we love so dear
Deep in our heart lies a picture
More precious than silver and gold
It's a picture of Mom
Whose memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by
