MACVILLE DOES IT'S BIT TO FIGHT ALS

The Ice Bucket Challenge has not yet run its course. The international fundraiser to fight Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS), also known as Lou Gehrig's disease, has spread to the local schools. Students at Macville Public School got the thrill last week of seeing ice-cold water dumped on some of their teachers, by other staff members. Catherine Horn, Leslie Chateauvert, Mary-Ann Dacres, Murray Heslop and Brandon Pachan got the honours of dumping water on Liz Gilchrist, Louise Milliken, Principal Kelly Kawabe, Karen Moberly and Jessie Donohue.

Council backing call for funding of Badlands plan

By Bill Rea

Residents who are opposed to the proposed parking lot for the Cheltenham Badlands site now have Caledon council on side.

Council passed a motion Tuesday calling on Mayor Marolyn Morrison to send a letter to Premier Kathleen Wynne asking her government to fully fund the Cheltenham Badlands Management Plan.

This is what's foes of the proposed parking lot have been calling for in a petition that's addressed to the Province. It specifies the Plan includes fencing around the site, viewing platforms, boardwalks, trail maintenance, etc.

Morrison also got council's support to ask the Niagara Es-road where there are numerous steep hills. Sightlines in the area are a worry too.

The Badlands are owned by the Ontario Heritage Trust and managed by Bruce Trail Conservancy.

The site is a deposit of Queenston Shale on the south side of Olde Base Line Road, between Chinguacousy and Creditview Roads. The soil and vegetation have been worn away at the site by erosion, and the result is a formation of red rock with deep gullies running through it.

Peel Regional council in May approved the construction of a parking area just east of the site that would be able to accommodate 33 cars and two buses. There are also plans to set up a viewing area.

The motion came up after council received a couple of delegations representing opponents to the proposal, although they were officially commenting on Caledon's proposed tourism strategy.

Irene Reimanis-Aziz stated that the proposed parking lot has been in the planning stages for seven years and has involved seven agencies, but local residents were never informed of the plan or involved until May.

Olde Base Line is a Regional Road, and the Region is trying to address safety issues. But

Two charged with lifting manhole covers in Bolton

Two men from Brampton, aged 41 and 43, have been charged in connection with the theft of manhole covers from a construction site on Ellwood Drive in Bolton.

Caledon OPP reports they were called in to investigate the case Aug. 25, and it continued with the Street Crime Unit until there were arrests Aug. 28 and 29.

Some got soaked for the cause

Several Caledon councillors joined hosts of others recently in taking part in the Ice Bucket Challenge in support of the fight against Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS), also known as Lou Gehrig's disease. Some of them had cold water dumped on them, while others just gave money. Joanna Oachis, regional manager of ALS Canada, was at Town Hall Tuesday to collect the contributions from Mayor Marolyn Morrison, as well as Councillors Doug Beffort, Richard Whitehead, Patti Foley, Richard Paterak, Nick de-Boer and Rob Mezzapelli. Below, Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones and Theatre Orangeville's Artistic Director David Nairn completed the ALS Ice Bucket challenge Saturday at the Orangeville Farmers Market.

Residents' group will hold Meet the Candidates Night

The next meeting of the SouthFields Village Residents Group will be this coming Tuesday (Sept. 16), and with an adjusted format.

The session will start at 7 p.m. at SouthFields Village Public School, and will be a Meet the Candidates for Municipal Election Night.

This is a great opportunity for all interested residents to meet Ward 2 Regional and Area councillor candidates, as well as those running for mayor.

From 7 until 8 p.m., there will be a relaxed setting with coffee and snacks, providing the opportunity to meet candidates in a more personal environment.

From about 8 to 9:15 p.m., there will be a more formal session, in which candidates can introduce themselves and provide a quick statement about themselves and their positions. That will be followed by a Q-and-A period.

Come out to support Rose Ramsarran

A rally is planned for next Friday (Sept. 19) in support of Rose Ramsarran.

Rose is a Mayfield Secondary School student who has earned the right to represent Canada at the World Taekwondo competition in Mexico next month.

The rally will be at Alloo Public School from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m.

In addition to food and drink, there will be entertainment and a Taekwondo demonstration, as well as a silent auction and much more.

Tickets are $15 for adults and $10 for children. Contact Sara at 416-525-6892 or email to funddragonrose@outlook.com for tickets and information.

Stewardship is needed when it comes to managing the Badlands

Reimanis-Aziz argued it was the Region itself that created those issues by taking out guard rails at the sides of the road and paving shoulders, allowing for more parking. She said the region has come up with the parking lot idea, and the agencies in charge of managing the site have signed off on it.

She observed that the road is busy and dangerous, but added it's a commuter route. She also said it's the only access road Inglewood firefighters have to the west. Reimanis-Aziz pointed out the road could be blocked by cars lined up to get into the parking lot, thus delaying fire trucks in an emergency.

Councillor Allan Thompson told her the guardrails had been taken out to make it easier for fire trucks to get through.

"The suits in Mississauga and Brampton do not understand the lay of the land," Reimanis-Aziz charged.

She also said the Badlands are a unique asset, representing one of the few areas for potential growth in geo-tourism. But she said nothing has been done by those operating the site to curb the erosion or control access.

Councillor Richard Paterak observed that the matter went before the Region in 2004 as a liability issue.

The Heritage Trust, he said, "stone walled" council because it had no money. He also observed the site has the wrong owner and the wrong care-taker. The safety issues have to be addressed, and he said the federal and Provincial governments should get involved, suggesting the site be part of the Ontario Parks System.

Reimanis-Aziz commented that a way to link assets and villages in Town is through a shuttle bus service.

Councillor Doug Beffort reacted to that idea, pointing out it used to be possible to drive up to Niagara Falls, but one has to take a bus or walk to get there.

Reimanis-Aziz countered the falls still exist, but the Badlands could be destroyed if people aren't pro-active.

Councillor Gord McClure pointed out that a parking lot would mean places for 33 cars other than at the side of the road. He added he has grandchildren and would never want them restricted from seeing the Badlands.

But Councillor Nick deBoer countered it might leave room for more cars to park on the road.

"It's a curious and dangerous road to travel on at the best of times," remarked area resident Bonnie Ledson.

She also pointed out the Badlands are likely to attract a lot more visitors in the fall.

"The site tells us much," Ledson declared, citing the Queenston shale, which is some 445 million years old. "We are the stewards of the land. All of us are the stewards of the land."

As well, Ledson observed that since 2000, the site has been managed by the Bruce Trail Conservancy and a host of volunteers. Caledon is rich in volunteers, but she stressed stewards are needed to protect the Badlands. She said some three metres have been worn away from the site since 1973. Human traffic has been having a big impact, she maintained.

Councillor Rob Mezzapelli pointed out there was advertisements for the Badlands at the Canadian National Exhibition, as well as at Pearson International Airport, so it's not just a Caledon issue now.

McClure agreed.

"This is bigger than us," he said.

He also commented that the potential viewing platform could be a way to make money, adding the parking lot could be part of it.

Paterak commented Regional Chair and CEO Emil Kolb was in Ireland recently and he saw pictures of the Badlands there.

Man arrested for robbery

A 55-year-old man from Bolton was charged with robbery after a July 31 incident in Bolton.

Caledon OPP reports they were called to investigate an assault in front of a store. Their investigation revealed one man approached another and assaulted him, making off with his glasses.

The attacker left the area in a taxi, and the victim did not require medical attention.

The man was charged as the result of further investigation.

King's College School marks 20 years in the community

By Bill Rea

There were a few tears, but plenty of celebration Saturday as King's College School marked its 20th anniversary.

"It was 20 years ago that we started this enterprise," commented Barbara Lord, founder and principal of the facility on The Gore Road. "I feel that all the alumni and all the current students are all my children."

Mayor Marolyn Morrison and Councillor Richard Whitehead were among the dignitaries on hand for the celebration, and Lord praised Whitehead and his wife Ruthe for always attending the school's plant sales.

Morrison called the school an "extremely important part of the community," citing the annual Taste of Africa event the school holds in support of its sister school in Kumba, Cameroon.

"I think it's absolutely amazing to instill in our children that they must be life-long givers," she added, pointing to the need to have good people with integrity and intelligence to eventually run the community and country. "I love guiding fine young people. I just love it."

"You've given back so much to the community," she told Lord as she presented her with a plaque in honour of the occasion.

"It's been fabulous," commented Sandy Kang-Gill, whose daughter was valedictorian at the school. "The joy of learning was ignited in her."

Teacher Bob Mitchener expressed the pride of welcoming students to the school for 20 years.

"God willing, we'll be doing this for another 20 years," he said.

Police warn driving while distracted is very dangerous

From the desk of Inspector Tim Melanson

Distracted driving is cited as a causal factor in 30 to 50 per cent of traffic collisions in Ontario, but is probably much higher due to under-reporting.

Distracted driving is a form of impaired driving, as the driver's judgement is compromised when they are not fully focused on the road. A study has found that taking your eyes off the road for two or more seconds increases your risk of being in a collision by about double.

Drivers who use hand-held devices are four times more likely to get into crashes serious enough to cause injury. Even when drivers use a hands-free phone, they are less aware of the traffic around them. They tend to react more slowly to a critical event or worse, they may not detect the danger at all.

According to the Centre for Addiction and Mental Health (CAMH), it has been recently reported that nearly 50 per cent of Grade 12 students in Ontario report texting while driving.

The 2013 Ontario Student Drug Use and Health Survey (OSDUHS) Mental Health and Well-Being Report stated that more than one-third of licensed Ontario students in Grades 10 to 12, which accounts for an estimated 108,000 adolescent drivers, report texting while driving at least once in the past year. This amounts to 46 per cent of licenced students in Grade 12 reporting this behaviour.

These alarming statistics need to be a topic of discussion in our homes. Talk to your family and check out interesting websites listed below. They contain a wealth of information on distracted driving. As parents, we can start by setting the example to our youth by not texting or using our cellular phones. We are our children's role models and as parents we need to teach them core driving behaviours that will ensure their safety.

Distracted driving has resulted in fatal consequences. Cellphone use is one of the major causes of distracted driving related collisions and fatalities.

One of the suggested strategies to reduce distracted driving is to put your cell phone away. Cell phones should be out of reach.

One method in reducing the temptation is by keeping it out of sight, like in the trunk or in a bag, and turning the ringer off.

By using a cell phone or device capable of texting while driving can result in a fine of $280 under Section 78.1 of the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario.

Arrests made in diesel fuel theft

Caledon OPP, along with Peel Regional Police, are being credited with helping with the arrest of two Brampton men in connection with thefts of diesel fuel.

Nottawasaga OPP reports their Street Crime Unit started an investigation about a month ago into the theft of large amounts of fuel from commercial and agricultural vehicles sometimes during the night.

In the process of the investigation, they were able to get description of a suspect vehicle, as well as determine that similar incidents had been taking place in Caledon and Peel, as well as York Region.

Police report the suspect vehicle was spotted Aug. 27 on Highway 7 in Brampton. Caledon OPP and Peel Regional officers helped stop the vehicle. A search of the vehicle revealed five 1,000-litre tanks in the cargo area, along with all necessary fuel pumps to siphon the gas. They also found numerous break-in tools and clothing to allow the suspects to appear as maintenance personnel were also located.

The charges laid include theft, theft of a credit card, use of a stolen credit card, possession of property obtained by crime, possession of the proceeds of crime, possession of break-in instruments, possession of a controlled substance (heroin) and two counts of breach of an undertaking.

Police added the investigation is ongoing, and further arrests and charges are expected.

Montreal man arrested

A 50-year-old man from Montreal faces charges after Caledon OPP investigated a car without plates.

Police said a Nissan Murano was stopped Aug. 24 in the area of Kennedy Road and Dougall Avenue in Southfields Village.

Officers stopped the car to investigate and immediately detected a strong smell of marijuana coming from inside.

On further investigation, they found a quantity of green plant material, believed to be marijuana, on the driver's lap. A larger quantity of that material was found in the car, as well as alcohol that was readily accessible to the driver.

Officers also learned the man was bound by an undertaking order not to consume or possess alcohol.

The man was charged with possession of a controlled substance, failure to comply with an undertaking and operating a vehicle without insurance.

Radford seeking Regional seat in Ward 2

By Bill Rea

A three-year resident of SouthField's Village is getting into the political arena. Mark Radford has registered to seek the Ward 2 Regional seat on Caledon council in next month's municipal elections. He said this is his first try for elected office. "I've always had a passion and interest in politics," he said, adding that's one of the reasons why he moved to Caledon. "I thought this would be a good place to make a difference."

Radford, who manages a sales territory for a maintenance supply company, said he's familiar with the problems and issues involved with public housing, which is why he decided to seek the regional seat his first time out. "I just think I could have more of an impact at the Regional level," he remarked. Radford is married with two children and a puppy. He reflected confidence in his chances of election. "I think at this point it's wide open," he said. "There's no incumbent." "I'm just going to work hard, getting out and talking with people," he added.

Roma Fence Suit Drive for Caledon Community Services

As part of an ongoing support for Caledon Community Services (CCS), Roma Fence is cleaning out their closets to donate workplace appropriate clothing, and they are hoping others will too. This Friday and Saturday (Sept. 12 and 13), the Roma Fence team and CCS are setting up tent to collect suits, dress shirts, ties, dress shoes, jewelry and formal skirts for men and women.

The fun begins Friday, at Roma Fence in Brampton, from 1 to 5 p.m. and picks up again Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon. The community is encouraged to participate by donating any lightly used/clean workplace appropriate clothing. All donated items go to The Chez Thrift Store as part of the Caledon Community Services Employment Aid Initiatives. Help others find success in a good suit!

Lots of cars washed at Soap for Hope

Pickard Lane Leasing in Bolton was an active place Saturday. The outlet was holding a Soap for Hope SickKids Washathon, and a long line-up of car owners had their vehicles in place, waiting to help the cause. Volunteers Tony Dimitri and Aliyma Marne were hard at work shining things up. Peaches the Clown was entertaining folks with her balloon tricks. Sandra Amerato, one of the owners, said this was the third year they have held the event, and they've raised about $17,000 over the previous two years.

PUBLIC MEETING

Proposed Official Plan & Zoning By-law Amendments

NOTICE OF MEETING

You are invited to attend a Public Meeting to be held by the Council for The Corporation of the Town of Caledon to consider proposed Official Plan and Zoning By-law Amendment applications. Staff and external review agencies have prepared comments to present at this meeting. Your attendance and comments at this meeting are also welcome as it is your opportunity to learn about the applications and express any opinions that you may have.

Date: Wednesday October 1, 2014
Time: 7:00 p.m.
Place: Council Chambers, Town of Caledon, Town Hall
6311 Old Church Road, Caledon East, L7C 1J6

Prior to the Public Meeting, an informal information session will be held in the main lobby outside Council Chambers with respect to the applications. The information session will start at 6:00 p.m. and will continue to 6:45 p.m. The purpose of the information session is to provide the public with an opportunity to review the applications in more detail prior to the formal Public Meeting at 7:00 p.m.

SUBJECT PROPERTY

Location: 232 and 240 King Street West
Part of Lot 8, Concession 6 (Albion), designated as Parts 1, 2 and 3 on Plan 43R-12229 and Parts 1, 2 and 3 on Plan 43R-9937 Southeast corner of King Street West and Station Road, Bolton

Area: 2.585 Hectares (6.38 Acres)

Ward: 5

Applicant: Weston Consulting Inc. on behalf of King Station Facility Inc.

Our File Number(s): POPA 08-07 & RZ 08-14

Please visit the Town of Caledon website at www.caledon.ca or contact the Development Planner noted below at the Town of Caledon to obtain a copy of the location map.

PROPOSAL

The Official Plan Amendment application proposes to modify the High Density Residential and Environmental Policy Area designation boundaries within the subject property and is proposing modifications to the Official Plan policies that apply specifically to this property. The Zoning By-law Amendment application proposes to rezone the subject property from Estate Residential (RE) and Open Space (OS) zones to Institutional with Exceptions (I-XXX), Mixed Density Residential with Exceptions (RMD-XXX) and Environmental Policy Area 1 with Exceptions (EPA1-XXX) zone categories.

These applications were appealed to the Ontario Municipal Board (OMB) in April, 2009 due to the absence of a decision on them by the Town. In 2010, the OMB approved in principle, the development of 200 high density residential units (apartments/townhouses) within a specified development envelope on the subject property, pending the submission of refined Official Plan and Zoning By-law amendment documents in accordance with the OMB decision. The Town has received a revised development proposal with refined Official Plan and Zoning By-law amendment documents to this effect and is seeking public input.

PURPOSE AND EFFECT OF THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

The purpose and effect of the applications is to facilitate the development of 61 townhouse units and a seven (7) storey seniors' retirement residence comprised of 140 units with parking to be provided underground.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

A copy of the proposed Official Plan and Zoning By-law Amendments and additional information and material about the proposed applications will be available to the public prior to the meeting at the Development Approval and Planning Policy Department.

For further information please contact Brandon Ward, Senior Development Planner, 905-584-2272 x. 4283 or brandon.ward@caledon.ca in the Development Approval and Planning Policy Department. Office hours are Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Written submissions may be mailed or personally delivered to the Development Approval and Planning Policy Department and will become part of the public record.

NOTIFICATION

If you wish to be notified of the adoption of the proposed Official Plan Amendment and/or the passing of the proposed Zoning By-law Amendment or of the refusal of the request to amend the Official Plan and/or Zoning By-law, you must make a written request to the Clerk of the Town of Caledon, 6311 Old Church Road, Caledon, Ontario L7C 1J6.

APPEAL PROCEDURES (BILL 51)

If a person or public body does not make oral submissions at a public meeting or make written submissions to The Corporation of the Town of Caledon before the proposed Official Plan Amendment is adopted and the By-law is passed, the person or public body is not entitled to appeal the decision of the Town of Caledon to the Ontario Municipal Board.

If a person or public body does not make oral submissions at a public meeting, or make written submissions to The Corporation of the Town before the proposed Official Plan Amendment is adopted and the By-law is passed, the person or public body may not be added as a party to the hearing of an appeal before the Ontario Municipal Board unless, in the opinion of the Board, there are reasonable grounds to add the person or public body as a party.

Notice Date: September 11, 2014

Are you on the voters list?

Caledon
2014 Municipal Election

Being on the voters list makes voting faster and easier.

Caledon electors can now check the Voters List to ensure they are able to vote in the upcoming Municipal Election. Important voting information will be mailed to electors on the Voters List. Being on the Voters List makes voting faster and easier.

Starting September 2, 2014 up to and including the close of voting on October 27, 2014 at 8:00 p.m., electors can check to see if their name and relevant information are on the Voters List by contacting or visiting Town Hall during normal office hours Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at the Legislative Services Section, 6311 Old Church Road, Caledon East or by going to:

www.caledon.ca/elections

An eligible elector can add their name to the Voters List or revise their information by completing an "Application to Change the Voters List Form" found in the 2014 Municipal Election Section on the Town's website, or by contacting the Legislative Services Section. Electors are asked to complete the information on the form, including any corrections, and return it to the Legislative Services Section by mail or in person with acceptable identification that includes your name and qualifying address (for example, a driver's licence). Completed forms can be mailed, along with a photocopy of your acceptable identification, to the Legislative Services Section at 6311 Old Church Road, Caledon, ON L7C 1J6.

Electors are encouraged to complete their "Application to Change the Voters List" prior to Voting Day to reduce line ups at the voting location.

All voters, even if their names are on the Voters List, will be required to show identification at the voting location before receiving their ballot.

For further details, please visit www.caledon.ca/elections or call the Town Legislative Services at 905.584.2272 x 3528.

Municipal, Agricultural and Community Grant Application is now Available

The Corporation of the Town of Caledon is accepting applications for 2015 Municipal, Agricultural and Community Organization Grants. A formalized grant policy was established in 1994 by the Town outlining the grant eligibility criteria required by the organization. In 2013, the Town revised the grant guidelines, eligibility and other grant requirements before and after approval.

There are three categories of funding available:

CATEGORY 1: Sustaining / Continuing Support

Grants for organizations that are community-based and fairly represent both their own interest and those of the communities in which they serve. Priority will be given to organizations that maintain a historical and community link between our agricultural, rural and urban communities. There is no guarantee on future funding regardless of past funding received.

CATEGORY 2: Project-Based Support / One Time

Grants are to be given to organizations that maintain a historical and community link between our agricultural, rural and urban communities.

CATEGORY 3: Special Event Activity Support

Grants are to be given as "seed" money. Funds are allocated to provide start-up funding for a new organization, or a new program within an already existing organization, for activity deemed to be of significant value to the community at large.

For an application form and additional information, visit www.caledon.ca, or email at municipalgrants@caledon.ca
All application forms and required documentation must be submitted by 4:30 p.m. October 31, 2014.

Town of Caledon road surveying

Town of Caledon Public Works is undertaking road surface testing across the Town, using a Road Surface Tester (RST) from IMS Infrastructure Management Services. The RST will take a detailed inventory and condition rating of all roadways owned by the Town. The data will be collected and loaded into an asset management program specifically designed to assist municipalities to develop long-term rehabilitation plans and budgets. Pavement roughness, rutting, cracking and other surface distress will be measured. Digital images and Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) information will also be collected.

Field survey work is expected to commence in September and last approximately 20 days. For more information, contact Lucius Maitre, Town of Caledon, 905.584.2272 x.4061.

This is the RST, a one-tonne Ford van with high-quality cameras, GPS receivers and a modified front bumper which contains sensitive electronic equipment.

Fourth annual Tea Party at Melville Church

The historic Melville White Church, on Mississauga Road, will be the scene of the fourth annual Tea Party this Sunday (Sept. 14). Arranged by the Belfountain Heritage Society, it will run from 2 to 5 p.m.

New this year will be a Hooked Rug Show and Sale, featuring creations from the studio of local artist Martina Lesar, among others.

In addition to the delicious tea, scones and other light fare served by Tintagels

Tea Room and More of Erin, there will be the award-winning strings of the Arco Violini Ensemble and other musical guests.

The deadline for buying advance tickets has been extended to today (Thursday) for $25. After today, they will be $30, and $15 for children aged five to 12.

Tickets are available at Tintagels Tea Room in Erin, Cheltenham General Store and online at www.belfountainheritage.com

Headwaters House Tour is Sept. 20

It's time for the 20th annual Headwaters House Tour.

There will be nine homes on this year's self-direct tour, which runs Sept. 20, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The homes on the tour will reflect a range of styles, including Victorian, Gothic revival or contemporary. There promises to be something for everyone. As well, there will be a host of decorating tips to take away from these homes. It's also a chance to support the local hospital.

Tickets are $45, and can be purchased online at headwatershousetour.com or at various local retailers, also listed online. The ticket is the passport, with a map and brief description of each home. The ticket price includes lunch at the Orangeville Agricultural Centre between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. New this year is an online auction at www.32auctions.com/housetour Bids can be made on line. Visit often, because new items are added every week.

This year's raffle features a Vespa! Buy tickets the day of the event at lunch, at the hospital gift shop, or from a hard-working house tour committee member.

All proceeds go toward the purchase of hospital equipment.

Belfountain Music Festival was at Melville Church

The halls of Melville White Church recently filled with the sounds of a variety of music, during the Belfountain Music Festival, run by the Belfountain Heritage Society. The series opened with a performance by Zachary Ebin on violin and Maria Dolnycky on piano, playing selections from Kosenko, Bortkiewicz, Roslavets and Barvinsky.

Farm camp kids cook soup for local shelter at Cedar Glen

By Angela Gismondi

Youth from across the Greater Toronto Area (GTA) gathered at YMCA Cedar Glen Outdoor Centre in King for farm camp recently.

In its first year of operation, YMCA Cedar Glen Farm Camp exposed 20 young people, aged nine to 12, to farming — a new hobby they wouldn't have the opportunity to try otherwise, explained Brandon McClounie, general manager of Cedar Glen Outdoor Centre.

The week culminated in a soup-making day, during which campers helped Chef Evan Farley cook some homemade squash soup to donate to the local women's shelter Yellow Brick House, which provides confidential support to abused women and their children in York Region and empowers them to rebuild their lives free from violence.

"We had a great idea to add a philanthropic component to the program," said McClounie. "We reached out to a few local shelters and Yellow Brick House was quick to respond."

Anieka Muirhead, a volunteer with Yellow Brick House, was on hand to thank the camp for its contribution to the shelter.

"By making this soup, you are helping these women and their children and making it easier for them to get from their situation to a better situation," said Muirhead.

During the week-long camp, youth

DNA results in arrest

The use of DNA technology recently enabled Caledon OPP to lay a charge in break-in that took place almost 12 years ago.

Police report an Airport Road business was broken into Sept. 11, 2002. At the time, it was determined that the suspect(s) got on the property by cutting a section of the southwest fence. The suspect(s) left bolt cutters and a hacksaw at the scene. Identification officers noticed blood stains on the handle of the hacksaw.

The hacksaw was seized for DNA analysis, and the samples were forwarded to the Centre of Forensic Sciences.

A sample resulted in a positive match in the DNA Data Bank. Investigation revealed that the suspect in this break-in was residing in another province. In June, officers learned the suspect had moved back to Ontario and was in custody on other convictions.

The 32-year-old man, living at Maplehurst Correctional Facility was arrested and charged with break and enter over $5,000.

learned how to plant, weed and harvest vegetables in the two-acre garden located on the property.

Through the program, youth from Brampton, North York, Vaughan, Newmarket and Caledon learned the value of growing organic food. Camp participants included both full-fee and subsidized campers, making farm camp especially significant to those who may not be used to opening a fridge full of produce.

The camp was made possible thanks to partnerships with Everdale, a farm-based organization that provides hands-on food and farming education and Can YA Love, an organization which creates unique vertical gardens to help people grow food more efficiently. Youth spend half a day working the land and the other half doing traditional camp activities.

The goal of farm camp is to increase children's awareness of where their food comes from so they can make healthier choices. Campers were taught what it takes to grow their own food and how they can cook and share that food with the people around them.

"Campers help plant and harvest the food themselves," said McClounie, adding children also learn about what makes good soil to make a bountiful harvest and what an acre can produce. "A lot of the skills they learn here they can take home and apply to their household and their community."

YMCA Cedar Glen is the perfect setting to host a camp of this nature, McClounie explained. The property is located on the 11th Concession between Bolton and Nobleton on the Oak Ridges Moraine and in the Greenbelt.

"It's a unique property," said McClounie, adding the farm camp program filled up quickly. "That's our community — we're in a rural area on the Oak Ridges Moraine and the Greenbelt. There is a growing concern about where our food comes from."

A variety organic produce is grown in the garden at Cedar Glen including kale, squash, onion, chard and beets. Other fruits and vegetables are brought in from local farms. The produce is used to feed campers and for the harvest share program.

"A lot of what campers eat here is either grown here on site or is grown at local farms," said McClounie.

The harvest share program, run in partnership by YMCA Cedar Glen Outdoor Centre and Everdale, is open to the public. Once registered, each week (Thursdays from 3 to 7 p.m.) from June to November, participants visit YMCA Cedar Glen to pick up their weekly share. Share members have a specific amount of points per week based on the size of share they register for (small, medium, large, extra large) and they can choose the produce they want each week based on the amount of points they have.

Lots of food and fun at Rotary Ribfest

The weather was just about perfect, and the food and entertainment in good supply recently for the second annual Ribfest put on by the Rotary Club of Bolton. Dinosaur BBQ Pit carried off the prize for serving the best ribs at Ribfest. Chefy Van Ham, Paige Kemp and Andy Sawh of Little Rock, Arkansas, were hoisting the trophy.

Shannin Temple of London was generously applying the sauce on this rack at the Jack the Ribber stand. Their sauce was judged the best at the event.

Caledon Pit Run for Headwaters Foundation goes Saturday

Change up your regular jogging route through an active aggregate pit!

Lafarge and Aecon local construction partners invite the community to their third annual Caledon pit run this Saturday (Sept. 13) from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The five-kilometre trail run/walk and Kid's one-kilometre run allows participants of all ages and experience levels to enjoy the run.

The participant rate has continued to rise each year that Lafarge Canada Inc and Aecon Group Inc has hosted the run. The idea behind it is to create a fun event that families and neighbours can enjoy, to encourage them to stay active and look forward to running together in each year.

The first year saw more than 75 runners and walkers attend, raising over $8500 for Caledon Community Services. The participants enjoyed the event so much, that Lafarge and Aecon committed to continue the run and make it an annual event. Last year, it attracted approximately 100 participants and 250 visitors, and raised $20,000 for Bethell Hospice Foundation in Inglewood, as well as collecting more than 250 kilograms worth of food donations for Bethell's pantry.

Lafarge and Aecon made a decision to rotate the local charity yearly to bring attention to the various needs and caring work being done in Caledon and nearby communities. The event also acts as an open house to showcase an active aggregate pit and what rehabilitation of a pit looks like. This year, 100 per cent of all proceeds collected will go directly to Headwaters Health Care Foundation, to be aimed at their highest priority equipment needs. Non-perishable food items will also be collected for the Orangeville Food Bank.

During the day, tours of the operations will be given, heavy construction equipment will be on display and a silent auction will be held. In addition, kids will have a chance to engage in a number of activities in the Kid's Corral with the Lafarge mascot Rocky. There will be some free food and local sponsors will have a chance to educate the public on their products and services.

Also, Earth Rangers will be on-hand to let the public meet their Animal Ambassadors.

The Caledon Pit was awarded with the Ontario Sand, Stone and Gravel's Award of Excellence in 2004: an award that recognized the pit's many years of cumulative effort, hard work and dedication to safety, environmental stewardship, property enhancement, progressive rehabilitation and community relations.

The Headwaters Health Care Foundation raises funds for medical equipment, infrastructure and continuing education. Headwaters works to provide the best care possible to the 135,000 men, women and children who live in the Dufferin-Caledon community.

The event will take place at 18000 Willoughby Rd. For more information on the 2014 Caledon Pit Run, visit www.caledonpitrun.ca

Tony Viola making another attempt for council seat

By Bill Rea

Palgrave area resident Tiny Viola is giving it another try.

Viola has announced his plans to seek election to the Regional seat for Wards 3 and 4 on Caledon council in next month's municipal elections.

Viola, who owns and operates Allegro Fine Dine in Bolton has run for council several times.

"I don't really keep count," he said. "I keep trying."

There are a number of matters Viola wishes to see addressed in the campaign.

"We need to rectify what we've had," he remarked, adding council needs to defer to voters. "We can't do stuff on our own."

He also said there are changes needed at the council table. Viola said there are people who have been there for years, saying they're not finished what they started out to do. He wondered how long it takes.

"You don't need to have a politician who plays this position," he maintained, adding what's needed are business people who can run the Town like a business.

He was also speaking confidently about his chances for election.

"I love my chances," he said. "I think the people of Caledon are finally realizing what they need. I just need to get out and do the job that needs to be done."

Peel Public Health expands breastfeeding clinic services

Moms in Peel Region have more opportunities for accessing breastfeeding help.

Peel Public Health now offers drop-in breastfeeding services five days a week at two clinic sites. Drop-in clinics were previously offered one day a week at both sites.

The drop-in clinics are available free of charge for Peel residents at Brampton Breastfeeding Clinic (Bramalea Civic Centre, 150 Central Park Dr.) and Meadowvale Breastfeeding Clinic (6975 Meadowvale Town Centre Cir., Unit 3) Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 1 to 3:30 p.m., and Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

Mothers and babies can see public health nurses at the clinics for breastfeeding help by either drop-in or by booking an appointment. Appointments can be made by calling the Region at 905-799-7700.

CURVES HOSTS “ME TIME” NATIONAL OPEN HOUSE

Curves International, Inc., the largest chain of fitness centers for women in the world, announced that participating Curves are hosting an Open House the week of September 15-20, 2014 and new members can receive 30 days free,* in addition to a free workout. The Open House week provides women with the opportunity to check out their local “all-new” Curves and take some important “me time” for themselves.

According to a new survey conducted online by Harris Poll on behalf of Curves, nearly seven in ten (67%) women responded they do not feel they have enough “me time” in a given week for their personal interests and hobbies.

Fitness and wellness activities such as going to the gym or exercising rank among the top four ways to spend “me time,” but six in ten (57%) women feel that typical gym workouts are too time-consuming. Fortunately, Curves offers an efficient, effective 30-minute option that allows women to work out – with friends – and still have extra “me time” for other hobbies and interests.

During the Open House week, new members will have the opportunity to work out for free on the Curves circuit, including experiencing Curves Workouts with Jillian Michaels, which are full body workouts that change each month.

Those who join that day will receive 30 days free on their membership. In addition, participating Curves locations will offer free health assessments, healthy snacks and other raffles and giveaways in celebration of the Open House.

“As women look for efficiencies amidst busy fall schedules and aim to maximize their ‘me time,’ a 30 minute Curves workout is the perfect option,” said Mike Raymond, chief marketing officer at Curves International, Inc.

“The circuit affords women a great full-body workout while still leaving time for other personal interests. We encourage prospective members to come and check us out this month, to see what’s new and different at Curves.”

Curves is “all new” with many new offerings including, the addition of Curves Workouts with Jillian Michaels, new lifestyle apparel and protein bars.

For more information about Curves, please visit www.curves.com. Curves Bolton is located at 12612 Hwy.#50 and will be offering activities including ask a physio, mini massages, games, show a family member your workout, mini makeovers.

*Enrollment fee required. Offer expires 9/30/14 and requires joining same day as first workout for a minimum 12-month recurring billing contract.

Enrollment fee and monthly fees vary by location. Valid for new Curves members only. Not valid with any other offer or discount. Today many families are realizing the value of pre-planning final arrangements. By planning ahead you have the opportunity to choose the type of service and memorialization you prefer as well as costs and payment plans which best suit your budget. By pre-arranging your own funeral, you have peace of mind that the choices made are yours, and your family members are not wondering what to do at the time of loss. A great first step is to contact a pre-planning specialist at Egan Funeral Home who will guide you through the many steps and explain all your options before you make this important decision. They will keep a record of everything you'll need to know at no obligation.

There is no financial obligation with pre-planning. However, should you choose to pre-pay for your funeral, the professional services and merchandise chosen at the time of pre-payment are guaranteed by Egan Funeral Home (ask for details).

Albion Pools INC.
Service You Can Trust...
So You Can Relax

55 Healey Rd.
Unit 3, Bolton
905-857-4455

We can't think of anything more relaxing than spending time near the water with friends and family. More and more families are turning their yards into waterfront property with a pool or hot tub, rather than burning gas traveling to a beach or paying for the cost of a cottage. However, many discover that in order to protect their investment, it is important to properly maintain a pool or spa, balance the chemicals, and repair as required. It's the best way to keep equipment operating efficiently, and maintain a healthy aquatic environment.

If you own a swimming pool or spa, but would prefer to spend your time enjoying it and less time maintaining it, we suggest consulting a specialist that places emphasis on service and support. With over 4 years in business and 43 years' experience, owner Norm Lee and the experienced team at Albion Pools can provide free water testing and expert water management advice, plus an array of services and supplies to keep your equipment in peak condition.

Need to find that leak or replace that patched faded vinyl pool liner? Require parts or service for a pump? Want access to the newest equipment to help make maintenance a breeze? Call or visit the team at Albion Pools Inc. for equipment, chemicals and service you can count on. They carry respected brands in filters, pumps and repair parts, Copper Ion water systems, pool heater and solar products, pool and spa covers, pool toys and accessories galore, plus a line of specialty chemicals from Spa Boss to keep your water crystal clear.

You can trust the qualified crews at Albion Pools to seasonally open or close your pool, attend to a variety of service needs, plus pool or hot tub repairs, and replacement of vinyl liners.

Albion Pools Inc. also carries comfortable, energy efficient hot tubs with excellent warranties from Canadian Manufacturer SUNRISE Spas. Relieve the pain in the neck tightness of daily stress, soothe aches and pains, or enjoy quality family time and romantic evenings—all year round—with a SUNRISE Spa from Albion Pools.

Now is the time to call Albion Pools to book your Pool Closing. Join them for their Customer Appreciation Day on September 13th!

CALEDON
DENTURE CLINIC
Something to Smile About

6 William St., Bolton 905-857-1114
(at Hwy. 50, west off Queen St. S.)

The goal of Caledon Denture Clinic is to provide you with natural looking dentures that fit well, plus are durable and attractive. Denturist, Ryan Assal, uses the latest materials, techniques and procedures, providing special attention to comfort and convenience. Listening to your concerns and discussing your options are of the utmost importance to Ryan.

Replacing your dentures at regular intervals makes it possible to maintain a healthy natural smile, improve eating and speech, and help prevent intraoral deterioration.

Over time, bone resorbs or gets smaller, and gum tissues are in a constant state of change. Therefore, periodic relining of your dentures may be necessary. If you find your denture getting looser and chewing more difficult, this may be a sign that a reline may be needed. Dentures typically need to be relined every 2-3 years or remade every 7-10 years. If you let Caledon Denture Clinic know that you are in need of a denture repair or a small change is needed to a denture to improve comfort and fit, the correction can frequently be made the same day or while you wait at their on-premises lab.

Caledon Denture Clinic specializes in natural looking dentures, both complete and partial. Implant retained overdentures are available for those who appreciate a stable snap-on fit with a more "real" feeling than any other denture type.

Caledon Denture Clinic can also prosthetically treat patients with congenital deformities, and tooth loss from automobile or sports accidents. This clinic can also provide oral appliances for snoring, and custom mouthguards for sports.

The wheelchair accessible facility at Caledon Denture Clinic is open to the public—no referrals are required. Call for your free no obligation consultation soon.

SouthFields Village first ever community garage sale will give new life to old stuff

SouthFields Village is hosting its first ever community garage sale this Saturday (Sept. 13) from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Community garage sales are a wonderful way to bring neighbours together, allowing them to get to know each other, and a great way to give previously loved items new life with a new family. This community event follows many other successful community-building events in the SouthFields community, such as the Community Days, Community Clean-ups, Farmer's Market and the Easter Egg Hunts.

All the formal event organizing is paying off. Whenever there's a pickup basketball game between high school kids and a bunch of adults that thought they'd show the younger generation how it's done, or art in the park or soccer for toddlers. Neighbours from throughout the community are really starting to get to know each other and feel like engaging with each other.

The event's two main organizers, Lariza Shea and Andrea Kurz, have spearheaded this initiative by creating and distributing flyers door-to-door, with the help of a team of community volunteers. The two local moms hope the community garage sale will make it easier for their neighbours to clear out their garages and basements and make a little money at the same time.

The best part for residents who want to take part is that all they have to do is set up their items in their yard without going through the trouble of promoting their own sale.

"It's always better when done together," remarked Yevgenia Casale, who is assisting in the marketing of the sale.

The community garage sale also serves as a fundraiser for the community itself.

"We are hoping to spread the word to anyone who may have missed the flyer, so we can have as many people taking part as possible to make the event successful," Kurz explained. "It's the first year for this event and we are hoping to use it as a fundraiser for other community building initiatives."

Walk for Wildlife at Palgrave Forest

Procyon Wildlife of Beeton will be holding their third annual Walk for Wildlife Sept. 20.

Registration starts at 9:30 a.m. at Palgrave Forest, a protected wilderness area on the Finnerty Sideroad, just west of Regional Road 50. Walkers will enter the forest and follow their chosen trails on a fun-filled scavenger hunt, eventually returning to the main registration area.

A buffet lunch is included and will follow at noon at the Caledon Estates Banquet Hall (southeast corner of Highway 9 and Regional Road 50).

There will be a silent auction at the luncheon and prizes for the top fundraiser, as well as the annual Westjet raffle draw.

A minimum pledge of $50 per adult and $20 per child is required. Pledge forms are available by emailing lindytotty@rogers.com or by calling 905-406-0201. Tax receipts will be provided for individual donations more than $20.

Procyon Wildlife is a registered charity dedicated to the rescue, rehabilitation and release of orphaned and injured wildlife. Procyon is operated by volunteers and relies solely on donations and fundraising events to operate.

For more information, visit our website at www.procyonwildlife.com or call 905-729-0033.

Junor making bid for Bolton seat

By Bill Rea

Kevin Junor came close to being elected to Caledon council four years ago, and he's giving it another try.

Junor registered last week to seek the area seat for Ward 5 on Caledon council. He finished second in the same race in 2010, falling just nine votes shy of election. But he said it wasn't that bad.

"The outcome of the last election was a blessing in disguise," he said, observing it allowed him to look at other opportunities that he wouldn't have been able to had he been on council. "It's been a positive experience all around."

Junor, manager of the Ontario Correctional Services College, said he wants to provide effective representation and speak for people from the council table. He added politics is meant to provide a voice for the people, not just getting people elected to do what they want.

"I think my chances are quite good," Junor said, adding he's been approached by a lot of people, voicing support that he did not have four years ago.

Things still quiet on the West Nile Virus front in Peel

There are still no confirmed human cases of West Nile Virus (WNV) in Peel Region, as of the end of August.

Peel Public Health reported the last week of the month saw four mosquito pools in Brampton test positive for WNV and another two in Mississauga. That brings the total for the year to 10, with none in Caledon yet.

The adult mosquito surveillance program started in June, and will continue to from mosquito traps at 31 fixed locations throughout Peel until late September. There have been 700 mosquito batches tested, with the 10 positive results.

The larviciding program also started in June and will continue until Sept. 30. Larviciding involves applying environmentally friendly products to reduce mosquito larvae living in stagnant water.

The products are applied to municipal catch basins and selected sites on public property.

The third and final round of roadside catch basin larviciding has been completed. The third round is indicated by a pink dot on the catch basin grate.

Larviciding of catch basins in the green spaces of parks in Peel is complete. The treatment of surface water sites on public lands is ongoing.

To date, there have been 30 WNV-positive mosquito batches in Ontario — 10 in Peel, five in Toronto, four in Middlesex-London, three in Hamilton, two in Halton and York and one each in Haliburton-Kawartha-Pine Ridge, Niagara, Ottawa and Lambton.

There have been two reported WNV human cases — one from a First Nations community within Simcoe/Muskoka and one from Windsor-Essex.

Across Canada, there have been 87 positive batches, including 19 in each of Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

There are 297 human cases of WNV in the United States, including 93 in California, 43 in Louisiana and 30 in Texas.

The health department is reminding residents of the steps they can take to avoid exposure to the illness.

They include removing stagnant by emptying or disposing of containers that can hold water, such as old tires, wheelbarrows, barrels, pails, toys and recycling bins; and turing over wading pools, removing water that collects on pool covers and making sure the pool's pump is circulating.

To protect themselves from being bitten by mosquitoes, people should wear light-coloured clothing, including long sleeves, long pants, socks and a hat whenever they are outdoors (even in the back yard), especially at dusk and at dawn; and use an insect repellent and apply it according to the manufacturer's directions.

Come ‘Make The Connection’ with baby

The parent-child relationship is at the heart of healthy child development.

This important connection affects secure attachment, brain and language development, social and emotional well-being, and general success in school.

This fall, Caledon Parent-Child Centre (CPCC) will present Make The Connection: Birth to One, a parenting program designed to help strengthen the parent-infant relationship.

Make the Connection is a multi-session education series for parents with infants from birth to 12 months of age.

Through interactive group participation, parents will learn the skills necessary to establish loving relationships, foster two-way communication and nurture the curiosity behind a baby's drive to explore and learn.

Parent educators will guide parents using hands-on practice with reflection, videotaping, and group discussion to help parents connect and communicate with their baby.

The sessions will take place Thursday afternoons from 1:30 to 3 p.m. beginning Sept. 25 at The Caledon Parent-Child Centre in the Albion-Bolton Community Centre. Babies accompany parents. Child care is not available.

Advance registration is required on a first come, first served basis at a cost of $12 per registrant.

For more information, call CPCC at 905-857-0090 or visit www.cp-cc.org

Gary Cascone switches to mayor's race

Gary Cascone had been planning to run for the Regional seat for Ward 5 on Caledon council, but his raised his sights.

Cascone announced Tuesday that he had filed papers to run for mayor of Caledon in next month's municipal elections.

“After talking with many folks in town, I have decided to take it up a notch and seek the mayoralty of our town,” he said in a statement released Tuesday. “People have told me that they are tired of career politicians and that it was time for responsible change. With their support and encouragement, I believe we can move our town in the right direction and I'm ready to dedicate myself to that task.”

Cascone announced he has lined up an impressive list of endorsements from several Caledon residents. He has also secured the commitment of former councillor Jason Payne and Shaun Marshall to serve as fundraising chairs for his campaign.

“Our town is facing some critical choices in the coming year,” Cascone said. “We need someone that will put the town first and not their careers. That's why I'm announcing that I will impose a voluntary term limit as two terms as mayor.”

He has also outlines a five-point plan for bringing about responsible change while respecting the Town's traditions:

- An open, transparent council and Town administration.
- Holding the line on taxes and delivering value for money.
- Unlocking gridlock so people can in, out and around town easier.
- Delivering services efficiently, courteously and cost effectively.
- Balancing the community people want while ensuring responsible growth.

“Our community is one of the last rural/urban towns in the GTA,” Cascone said. “We need a mayor who has a plan that can balance the needs of both, while leading us forward.”

The Caledon Chamber of Commerce is offering a series of Lunch and Learn programs created by Heddeka Consulting.

The seminars will provide the essentials for any business owner/ leader to develop skills that will grow your business.

Get out and run for Terry Sunday

This coming Sunday (Sept. 14) will be the day of the year that people in Canada and beyond honour the heroism of Terry Fox. He's been gone more than 33 years now, having died of cancer a month before his 23rd birthday after running about half way across Canada to raise money for research to stop the disease that eventually killed him. It is nice to know his spirit lives on and will be celebrated by countless Terry Fox runs. Locally, there will be two. The Rotary Club of Palgrave will be hosting their annual run at Stationlands Park, just west of Regional Road 50. The Bolton Kinsmen will be holding their event at their facility at 35 Chapel St. Both runs start at 9 a.m. after brief ceremonies. There are very few of us who have not been touched by cancer, so we all have an interest in this annual event. Go to www.terryfox.org for more information.

Make sure your on the voters' list

Caledon electors can now check the Voters' List to ensure they are able to vote in the upcoming Municipal Election. Important voting information will be mailed to electors on the list. Being on the Voters' List makes voting faster and easier. Up to and including the close of voting Oct. 27 at 8 p.m., electors can check to see if their name and relevant information are on the list by contacting or visiting Town Hall during normal office hours Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., at the Legislative Services Office, 6311 Old Church Rd., Caledon East or by going to www.caledon.ca/elections

An eligible elector can add their name to the Voters' List or revise their information by completing an Application to Change the Voters' List Form, found in the 2014 Municipal Election Section on the Town's website, or by contacting the Legislative Services Office. Electors are asked to complete the information on the form, including any corrections, and return it to the Legislative Services Office by mail or in person with acceptable identification that includes their name and qualifying address (for example, a driver's license). Completed forms can be mailed, along with a photocopy of acceptable identification, to the Legislative Services Office.

Electors are encouraged to complete their Application to Change the Voters' List prior to Voting Day to reduce line ups at voting locations.

All voters, even if their names are on the Voters' List, will be required to show identification at the voting place before receiving their ballot.

For further details, visit www.caledon.ca/elections or call the Town Legislative Services Office at 905-584-2272, ext. 3528.

Need an inquiry on missing aboriginal women

Prime Minister Harper has dismissed a call for a public inquiry to look into missing and murdered aboriginal women, arguing that he sees this as a criminal matter, not as a societal issue. He reasons that these crimes are solved at about the same 90 per cent rate as non-aboriginal missing persons and murders. That the solve rate is comparable however, is testimony that we have efficient and non-biased police services and for that we should be thankful; but that does not argue against calling for a public inquiry.

The crime rate against aboriginal women is drastically out of proportion compared to the population as a whole, as is the rate at which aboriginal men are murdered. We see a much higher proportion of aboriginal women engaged in prostitution and aboriginal men in our jails. We see higher suicide rates, higher substance abuse rates, higher infant mortality, lower literacy and numeracy rates, shorter life spans and drastically poorer living conditions. We see hopelessness and lack of optimism for a brighter future. These are not crime statistics but rather indicators of deep, systemic, societal problems.

Political pundits complain that public inquiries are expensive and "a nice perk for the lawyers," but solve little. Perhaps they would similarly argue that higher education is expensive and a nice perk for the professors, but does not lead to the public good. The fact is that public inquiries serve many different purposes, from examining allegations of government wrongdoing to studying divisive or complex issues dominating Canadian politics and policy-making. Often public inquiries are mirrors that force us to look at ourselves.

In 2005, the leaders of all 10 provinces, the territories and five national aboriginal organizations under the leadership of the then Liberal federal government reached an agreement, dubbed the Kelowna Accord, which set out goals to bring aboriginal education, health and living standards to be comparable to the rest of the population within 10 years. It is a tragedy, that the Harper government promptly scrapped the accord in 2006, largely on the basis that it did not carry the Conservative brand. Since then, there have been various piecemeal initiatives that tinkered with some of the peripheral symptoms but never sought an overall cure and so little has changed.

Making the inquiry about the issues that face aboriginal women will give it focus. Such a public inquiry will no doubt lead to examining the larger, intertwined issues our aboriginal people experience in general and unveil some ugly truths we may find difficult to face as a nation.

Perhaps Harper would rather not see those truths come to light in an election year.

a) Yes

b) No

So go to the website and cast a vote!

Well meaning, but going too far?

I often write in this space about my adventures as a pet owner.

One reason for that is this topic tends to draw a lot of reaction; mostly positive. And there are the weeks when I simply can't think of anything else to write about.

Such, however, is not the case this week, and I have the powers that be in the City of Mississauga to thank for it.

I listened to the radio newscast while driving last Thursday morning with my wife. We were on our way to Mayor Marolyn Morrison's Business Breakfast, and the news commentators were full of details about the new regulations in Mississauga, governing the treatment of animals; namely pets. According to the accounts I've read, they're aimed mainly at dealing with extreme weather conditions, such as what were enjoying last week in the aftermath of that summer we never really had.

Now like most normal people, I love animals and will go out of my way to avoid harming them.

For some reason, there have been about three or four occasions in the last couple of weeks when a squirrel has darted right in front of me in the path of my car. In each occasion, there was absolutely no time to brake or take evasive action. I just gripped the wheel as tight as I could, held my breath and hoped the critter concerned had enough agility to avoid getting creamed. Happy endings all around, I'm very glad to report, because I would have felt like dung had it been a sad outcome.

There are other examples. I used to fish a lot when I was a kid, but haven't baited a hook in more than 20 years, and am not likely to start again at this stage of my life. In my mind, I just couldn't justify the idea of making sport by forcing a fellow living creature to fight for its life.

And people in my office will tell you I'm not one to squish spiders or other repulsive bugs that somehow get in. I'd much rather grab a piece of paper towel, pick up the offending critter and toss it out the door, letting nature decide its fate. I hate the thought of being called a litterbug, but that's one of those occasions when I think the other kind of bug has to get a certain amount of priority.

I'm such a good guy! My first reaction upon hearing of these new regulations in Mississauga was to wonder if it was another case of government imposing a "nanny state" on us. One would presume common sense should give people a few basic pointers on proper pet care. Do we really need government imposing new regulations on everyone?

I have a hard time believing that people don't understand the implications of extreme weather on our four-legged friends. Our cat Ella is an indoor cat, meaning Mother Nature and her weather-related freak shows have little impact on her. The electrical storm that rumbled through the area Friday night didn't seem to bother her a bit (she was too busy bothering me). But after 16 years of being responsible for a cat, I've learned there are certain things one can do with a feline that can't be done with a dog. Dogs don't use litter boxes, so unless you're fond of having awkward wet spots on the carpet, etc., your dog needs a certain amount of time outside.

My formative years were spent in a house with dogs. My father used to travel a lot on business, and he decreed that if he was going to be away from home so much, there was going to be a dog on the premises.

But that meant he (meaning the pooch) had to get outside a certain amount of the time, along with walks every evening.

Animals have internal clocks — never kid yourself otherwise. As I got older, and my big brother went away to university, the task of walking the dog fell upon Your Humble. The nightly walk usually came at about 9 p.m., but the object of the exercise usually started pushing the agenda at about 8:15. And if things got delayed, the walk never waited past 9:30, if for no other reason than to shut the dog up.

But things changed a lot if the weather was inclement. The dog was never very enthused about going out if it was raining. And if there were a couple of inches of snow on the ground, then the evening walk got interesting. I should point out the dog in question was a dachshund, meaning he was built very low to the ground. And since he was a male, there were certain anatomical issues that presented themselves, especially in the snow (you know what I mean, gentlemen). My method of dealing with the situation was to carry him a couple of hundred yards from the house, and then put him down. The only way he was going to get home was by walking.

My point is people who have pets and love their pets also know how to care for them. And that includes when the weather is not what we'd like it to be.

There were also new required provisions for outdoor doghouses coming from Mississauga that were recited on the radio for the benefit of Beth and myself, ala they must insulated and large enough for the dog to stand up, turn around, lie down and stretch. The shelters must also have clean dry bedding and shade and be in good repair. There are also extra requirements for each additional dog.

"What, no Wi-Fi?" I said to Beth, drawing a laugh in the process.

I will admit that was a little flippant, considering the fact that we continue to hear horror stories about people doing dumb things, like leaving their pets locked in cars during heat waves, despite all the media play such incidents receive when they do occur.

I have seen such situations. In one of the very few times I have called 9-1-1, I did so one evening last summer (which was a lot hotter than the summer of recent memory) when Beth and I heard the unmistakable sounds of a dog in distress in a car in a Brampton parking lot. Like most people, my usual inclination in a case like this is to mind my own business. But I knew my conscience wasn't going to let me off that easy. An arachnophobic guy who would prefer to chuck spiders outside rather than stomping on them is not likely to look the other way from a suffering dog.

The problem with the "nanny state" mentality, apart from the fact it can be very annoying, is there's a solid argument to be made that it's needed. The twits Beth and I encountered last summer tend to be proof of that, don't they?

I'm a little disturbed with provisions that would allow animal services officers to walk on a property to make sure all is in accordance with the regulations.

I know we live in the Dominion of Canada, not the United States of America. In this country, the concept of private property is largely a myth, but I would have one hell of a problem if some municipal official rang my doorbell, demanding to inspect Ella's litter box. And just what's to stop some obnoxious neighbour from making a nuisance of him or herself, calling in the authorities with some frivolous complaint about pet mistreatment? Such things do happen.

Although there are cases of stupidity (too many), I think people generally know how to care for their pets. The recent action from those in charge in Mississauga have certainly been taken with the best intentions. But I believe there are times when people have to govern themselves.

Government protecting the Great Lakes from the Asian carp

Our lakes and our rivers are critical threads in the economic fabric of this country. They have shaped communities and they have been a way of life for generations of families. So, when something threatens that way of life and that economic engine, we can't sit idly by. Asian carp presents that threat. It is an invasive species that has devastating potential. Unchecked, they could create a serious imbalance in our waters by competing for the same food and resources that native species, like our famous perch, need to survive. I am very pleased that the Harper government, as part of our focus on jobs, economic growth and long-term prosperity, is taking

Provincial Budget set to drive up airfare prices for everyone

Changes are coming because of the 2014 Ontario budget, passed in July by the Liberal majority government. Tax hikes are on the way. Businesses and employees are beginning to learn some of the details about the new Ontario Retirement Pension Plan (ORPP), but that is not the only change people will see resulting in higher taxation. Residents who are making any vacation or business travel plans will soon notice the cost of aviation fuel has increased the cost of flying out of all Ontario airports. This is because the budget also announced an increase to the aviation fuel tax by 148 per cent. On the economic front, this tax hike could have significant impact on job creation. In a recent study by Dr. Fred Lazar of the Schulich School of Business at York

FROM QUEEN'S PARK
Sylvia Jones
MPP Dufferin-Caledon

University, it was estimated that the move could potentially cause 2,000 job losses and lead to a decrease of travelers in Ontario by 400,000. This is not good for taxpayers or travelers. This tax hike will impact Ontarians who travel by air, and by driving up the cost, it will also impact Ontario's tourism industry. This tax increase will have a heavy impact on airlines working across Ontario, but the truth is that it will translate into higher ticket prices for Ontarians. As Marc-Andre O'Rourke, the executive director of the National Airlines Council of Canada, has pointed out, the tax currently stands at 2.7 cents a litre and is already the highest when compared to neighbouring provinces and American states. As O'Rourke also pointed out, Canada as a whole is already one of the least competitive jurisdictions internationally when it comes to high fees and taxes on airlines. Already we hear about people who choose to drive across the Ontario border to fly out of jurisdictions that have little or no tax on aviation fuel. Locally in Caledon, the Brampton Flying Club and the Brampton Flight Centre will be hurt by this tax increase because it will make it more costly for students who are training for jobs in the aviation industry to learn how to fly. Given all the potential negative effects that come with this tax hike, it is unfortunate that the government did not consider these impacts before making this announcement in the budget.

Full Day Kindergarten affects services in Peel Region

By Dely Farrace
Full-day kindergarten (FDK) is now upon us, in full effect after a four-year phase-in period. What are its implications? The intended and most notable are the relief for working families. They no longer require full-time daycare in the kindergarten years, both junior and senior. Before and after school hours are covered by the PLASP or YMCA programs. There is a fee attached to these programs, but it is a small fraction of the cost of full daycare, an estimated savings of $5,500 per year for Peel families, according to the Provincial government. By 2012, the province was in the midst of phasing in its FDK plan. The Region of Peel decided to create its own strategy to ensure the continued high quality service it has been offering families in child care. Peel soon realized that a transformation was needed. All the Regionally run daycares were servicing, by a vast majority, four and five-year-old children. If something didn't happen, these daycares would be deserted. The Region decided to build partnerships with existing non-profits, the YMCA, PLASP and Family Day to take over and run the centres. These agencies were already in the business of running before and after school programs. The Region also realized that all licensed daycares could find themselves in a similar situation once FDK was fully rolled out. In designing a new model, the Region focussed on the main goals of eliminating waitlists and creating new opportunities for providers to support inclusionary practice for children with special needs. Working with its partner agencies, Peel Children's Centre, Surrey Place, Brampton Caledon Community Living, Community Living Mississauga and Erinoakkids, the Region expects to foster confidence in the new system, ensuring continued service delivery to families for their infants and toddlers as well as three to five-year olds before and after school. In January 2013, the Provincial government introduced the new funding formula designed to take into account population statistics across Ontario when allocating funds to the different regions, counties and areas. As a result, Peel, having been notoriously underfunded in every respect for the last 20 to 30 years, benefitted. Funding increased for Peel. Together with the re-deployment of the daycare centres, the collaboration with partner agencies and the increase in funds from the province, the Region has been able to eliminate the waitlist for fee subsidy. Additionally, it has reduced by half the waitlist for servicing children with special needs. According to the Region's Director of Early Learning and Child Care Joan Kaczmariski, there are no children with special needs currently awaiting supports in Caledon. The expectation is the complete elimination of waitlists in Peel by the end of the year. "The implementation of full day kindergarten had the potential to destabilize the system," remarked Commissioner of Human Services Janet Menard. But, according to Menard, the approach by the province in its funding and its flexibility in the process has enhanced the Region's ability to transition families and providers to a more supportive, more inclusive program than prior to full-day kindergarten. It appears that these changes have certainly benefitted a greater number of children. More are now accessing an improved and more universally available system.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS
Claire Hoy

When I was a young kid growing up in a small eastern Ontario town – on the St. Lawrence River, about half way between Toronto and Montreal – I was an ardent fan of the Toronto Maple Leafs. My favorite player was Leaf goalie Turk Broda. Indeed, I started hockey as a goalie because of him – and remember, this was well before goalies wore masks – but when we got old enough for kids to start raising the puck it occurred to me that I should be out there raising the puck at some other poor sap rather than dodging the pucks myself, so I moved out to defence. My older brother, alas, cheered for the hated Montreal Canadiens. He still does. (Actually, he started out cheering for the Rangers, but when our aunt bought us hockey sweaters one Christmas she got him a Montreal sweater because she liked the pattern better.) All this came to mind on the weekend while viewing pictures in the Sunday Star of the bronze sculptors of Ted Kennedy, Johny Bower and Darryl Sittler – the first three honorees of what will be called Legends Row, a terrific idea and fitting tribute to these former great players. Now all those Leaf fans out there born after 1967 – which is undoubtedly the biggest chunk of them – may be wondering how a hapless outfit like their beloved Leafs has the chutzpah to call anything associated with its history Legends Row. In addition to being Canada's centennial year, of course, 1967 was the last time Leafs won the Stanley Cup. They haven't even reached the Cup finals since then, let alone win anything. It's also beginning to look like it might take until the year 2067, Canada's 200th anniversary, before they win another one. But none of this extraordinary record of futility seems to dampen the enthusiasm on the adoring legions of fans who call themselves Leafs Nation. With the possible exception of Chicago Cubs fans – whose team hasn't won the World Series since 1908 – Leaf loyalists must be among the world's most devoted believers. Face it, the majority of Leaf fans – and all Cubs fans – have never, ever seen their teams win, yet they continue to hope. Each year, almost without fail, the Leafs seem to be well on their way – finally – to a successful season. But that's in August, before the first puck is dropped in anger. Many of those years they have apparently been well placed to take a serious run at the Cup but, alas, fate (or, more likely poor play) seems to intervene. Just last year, for example, at the Olympic break, they were well up the list of playoff contenders, only to become the one team among the 16 in that position not to make the playoffs. All of which brings me back to where I began, as a kid cheering for a team that was traditionally among the best in the six-team league. It may shock current Leaf fans to know that when the Leafs defeated Montreal in 1948 they became the all-time winningest NHL team. It took Montreal 10 years to regain that place. Now, of course, the Stanley Cup count is Montreal, 24, Leafs, 13. Even without having won the Cup since 1967, the Leafs are still second overall, which shows you how good they used to be in the early years. It brings to mind the brilliant scene in the movie Atlantic City, when the Burt Lancaster character – an old gambler who thought everything used to be better years before – was giving a new kid from Saskatchewan his first look at the Atlantic Ocean. As they strolled along that city's famous boardwalk, the new kid in town was clearly awestruck by the size and grandeur of the ocean, but Lancaster turned to him and said, "You should have seen it back then. It was really something." It occurs to me now that perhaps the ever-shrinking cohort of Leaf fans old enough to remember the Leafs "back then" may have an even tougher time than the newbies dreaming of the day we'll all be standing on Bay street downtown watching the Stanley Cup parade float by. It's one thing to give your heart to a never-was – taking some comfort in the low expectations that entails – but quite another to think back on the used-to-be and realize you'll likely never experience that again. None of which, of course, completely stifles the everlasting hope. There simply is no reasonable explanation for that.

Stunt driving charge laid in Caledon village

A 25-year-old Mississauga resident is facing charges after a Caledon OPP officer spotted a driver Aug. 17 who was speeding excessively. Police report the officer was conducting speed enforcement at the intersection of Mistywood Drive and Highway 10 in Caledon village and observed a white Honda Fit heading south. It was clocked going 141 km-h in a 50 zone. The vehicle was impounded for seven days as a result of the stunt driving charge.

Fifth season of Golden Hawks set to kick off in GMOHL

By Jake Courtepatte

Rosters are set for the Georgian Mid-Ontario Junior C Hockey League, as the preseason wraps up and the puck hits the ice for the regular season in less than one week.

The 2014-2015 campaign marks the fifth season of play for the Caledon Golden Hawks, led by retired NHLer Sandy McCarthy.

The Hawks met the Alliston Hornets at the New Tecumseh Rec Centre Aug. 18, five months after the Hornets' six-game loss in the GMOHL championship to the Penetang Kings.

Bad blood boiled almost immediately between the two teams, who combined for a whopping 206 penalty minutes in five games against each other last season.

Although Alliston would spend most of the first and second periods shorthanded, including four head-contact misconduct penalties, the Hawks simply could not capitalize on their opportunities.

Falling behind 5-0 after two periods, their only redemption would be a shorthanded shutout-breaker late in the third for a 5-1 loss.

The Hawks would meet Alliston again four days later, coming out strong this time to lead 2-0 after the first period. However, the Hornets would pick up three goals of their own in the second, once again putting the Golden Hawks in a hole.

A shorthanded marker in the third by last season's team scoring leader Daniel Cafagna would not prove to be enough, as the Hawks would drop their second-straight against the Hornets, 4-3.

The final game of the preseason would have the Hawks visit the Schomberg Cougars, looking for redemption from their 2014 playoff exit.

After a blank second period, the Cougars looked to mount a comeback when Matthew Hudgin potted their first goal of the game to cut the Hawks' lead in half.

However, Caledon would come storming back less than a minute later when team veteran Steve Zeppieri would put them up 3-1.

Adam Breen would put the game out of reach, with an empty-netter in the final two minutes.

The Hawks dropped out of the GMOHL playoffs early last season, falling in five games to the Cougars in the first round.

The regular season is set to begin Saturday, when the Golden Hawks face off against the Erin Shamrocks on the road. The team's first home game comes the following evening against the Fergus Devils in Caledon East. Puck drop is at 7 p.m.

C3 Kinetico Run Festival to go at Caledon Town Hall Sept. 28

C3's Phillip Adsetts, along with Steve Benson and Kim Nelson, all collectively agreed years ago that they wanted to create a community sporting event in which all children could participate at no cost.

The annual C3 Kinetico Run Festival will take place Sept. 28 at the Caledon Town Hall property in Caledon East.

The annual free one-mile run is designed for children of any age to get a chance to participate an exciting sporting event. C3's top international pro athletes, like Andrew Yorke, Taylor Reid and Sean Bechtel, will all be in attendance.

"Our goal at C3 each year is to give back to community, and to inspire and motivate our Caledon and surrounding area," commented C3 head coach Barrie Shepley.

The afternoon event will include the kids free one-mile run, as well as the Benson Steel 5k and the Royal Container 10k community fun runs.

In addition to the top international athletes who will be on hand to meet the participants, C3 will have the 2015 Pan Am Ignite Program, as well as a bouncy castle, face painting and a chance to take the C3 Fitness Test.

Yorke will be back in Caledon to see many friends who have been following his incredible race season, which included a fourth place finish at the Commonwealth Games in Scotland.

"We are trying to give away 1,400 free youth race entries, which include T-shirt, finisher medal and post-race snack," Shepley said, as he urged people to load the kids in the car to take part in

Dorado's Routcliffe is medalist in Pan Pacific Games

The 2014 Para-Pan Pacific Championship Games were held in Pasadena, California last month and Canada was well represented.

The 32 swim team members had a staging camp in B.C. prior to heading to California for this high-calibre competition that saw many incredible athletes competing at one of the most advanced levels in para swimming.

Mayor Marolyn Morrison was on hand recently to help congratulate Tess Routcliffe, who has been "making waves all over Ontario and North America," according to her coach Courtney Desjardins (also seen here). "I think she does all of us very proud," Morrison said.

Ivy Leafs have lead in NDBL finals

The North Dufferin Baseball League (NDBL) championship series is underway, as the Aurora Jays and Ivy Leafs compete for the Strother Cup.

Ivy, who eliminated the defending champion Bolton Brewers, won the first contest 2-1 Sunday.

The first match in the best-of-seven series was postponed Saturday afternoon due to wet field conditions at Aurora. A make-up game is scheduled at Aurora for tonight (Thursday).

The teams continued with the schedule and played at the Ivy park Sunday, with the home team winning 2-1 in a 10-inning bout.

The Leafs plated a run early in the second inning, which held until the Jays pushed across a run in the fifth frame to tie the game.

Both teams battled through five more innings of play, including three extra innings. Ivy pressured in the each of the extra innings until the Leafs finally scored in the bottom of the 10th to win the game and take a series lead.

On the mound for the Leafs was pitching ace Brad Grieveson. He pitched all 10 innings, allowing one run and five hits, while striking out 10 Aurora batters.

Aurora started Brad Crosby, who gave up one run on seven hits, two walks, two hit batsmen and had a pair of strikeouts.

Zach Wiseman came in relief at the 10th inning for the Jays, taking the loss on one run, one hit and one walk.

Recording hits for Aurora were Chris Bloom, Jake Pinnegar, Ted Beadle and Crosby who doubled and singled.

Ivy had hits from Todd Gowan, who singled three times, Dave Reid, Brett Elliott, Kevin Dumond, David White and Craig Speers.

The second game in the series was scheduled for Tuesday night. The results were not known at press time.

Canadian Show Jumping Team eighth at World Championships

The Canadian Show Jumping Team finished eighth at the Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games Team Final held last week in Caen, France.

Yann Candele, 43, of Caledon, Tiffany Foster, 30, of Vancouver, defending individual bronze medalist Eric Lamaze, 45, of Schomberg and Ian Millar, 67, of Perth, comprised Canada's team for the Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games.

Canada was ranked sixth coming into the Team Final, which saw the top 10 nations from an original starting field of 35 countries battling it out for world supremacy.

Following three consecutive days of competition, Canada finished with a total of 31 points for eighth place.

The Netherlands claimed the gold medal with a total score of 12.83, France took the silver with 14.08, and the United States earned the bronze medal with 16.75.

Candele was once again the lead-off rider for Canada, and faulted early on course at fence two, the Land Rover oxer, riding Showgirl, a 14-year-old chestnut selle francais mare owned by The Watermark Group. The pair jumped the remainder of the course in excellent form.

"I was between distances and I had two choices and I made the wrong one," said Candele candidly about having a rail at fence two. "She did exactly what I asked her to do; it was a rider mistake. She tried her heart out, but that's just the sport. It's disappointing."

Foster was the next Canadian in the order with Verdi III, a 12-year-old bay

Dutch Warmblood gelding owned by Artisan Farms LLC. Fatigue caught up to the pair, and with three fences down and a time fault, their 13-fault performance would be Canada's discard score.

"I thought we started out really well, but by the last line, I think he was just a little tired and kind of gave up a little bit," said Foster, who is currently ranked the number eight female rider in the world. "It's definitely hard jumping out there, and it's a big exertion for the horses to jump like this over three days."

"It was a cool experience; they did a good job here," Foster commented on her World Championship debut. "It's been really fun, and you always have a good time being on Team Canada. Hopefully at the next World Championships in Bromont (Canada), I can be a little bit more helpful."

After two days of strong performances, Millar and Dixon added eight faults to Canada's bottom line in the Team Final.

"We ask these horses to do extraordinary things and Dixon has done very well here," said Millar of the 11-year-old bay Belgian Warmblood gelding owned by Susan and Ariel Grange of Cheltenham. "Overall, that's the way it is and we go on to the next week. I remember back in the day with Big Ben — sometimes you would come to a major event and he just wasn't his best, and then you would go to the next competition and he's his normal self and you win. That's horses. There were no great disasters. It's just the sport."

Riding in the anchor position, Lamaze had one rail plus one time fault riding Zigali P S, owned by Carlene and Andy Ziegler's Artisan Farms LLC. The Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games marked the first time that Lamaze had ridden the 10-year-old dark bay Dutch Warmblood gelding in team competition.

"I thought he jumped very well; I was very pleased with how it finished," said Lamaze of Zigali P S, a horse he began riding at the beginning of the year. "The mistake he had yesterday was lack of experience, nothing else. Today, it was an unlucky rub, but otherwise he jumped a good round, it was solid. I just think his lack of experience caught up to him."

"We were off to a good start, and the team spirit was great," Lamaze observed of Canada's overall performance. "You have to be perfect every day, and we had a few mistakes, mistakes that you can't have at a championships. It has to line up for everyone, not just one person. Nothing can go wrong, from the horse side of it or from the rider side of it."

The team was in sixth place after the first day of the two-day finals.

Candele was the pathfinder the day of the final (last Wednesday), delivering a clear round as only the second rider to tackle the deceptively difficult track set by French course designer Frédéric Cottier.

"The course was a step up from yesterday, still fair, but bigger and wider," said Candele. "It rode even bigger than it walked. Thankfully, our clear round gave a little bit of comfort, and it carries a little bit of momentum, but there is still a lot of work. I hope everything goes well for us. We are a super group; we are best friends, all of us."

Candele's would prove to be the team's only clear round of the day, allowing Canada to maintain its sixth place standing following the opening speed phase of competition last Tuesday. Millar and Lamaze both posted scores of four faults each, while Foster provided the drop score of eight faults.

Individually, Candele moved up to 17th in the individual standings with a two-day score of 4.19. With 4.91 penalties, Millar was close behind in 19th.

"The sport today is such a game of inches," said Millar following his four-fault round. "There is such quality and quantity out there. You miss by that much and they are going to get you for sure. There is no mercy. The other teams are not going to let you get by with that one."

"On the other hand, tomorrow is another day," the 10-time Olympian continued. "We are the eternal optimists. As a small (show jumping) country, we have achieved some amazing results, and there is no reason why we can't do the same here."

Lamaze is also close in the rankings, sitting 24th on a score of 5.96, while Foster was 51st with 11.13.

Lamaze and Zigali P S were close to home when a rail fell at 12 'a' of the double combination.

"I wasn't a big fan of that line," said Lamaze, expressing his concern having watched the first three-quarters of the competition before it was his turn to tackle the track. "That's Zigali's lack of experience; I knew I was going to have to be a little bit lucky there. I thought he handled everything else quite well."

The first three days of competition also counted toward the individual rankings. Candele finished in 22nd position with a score of 8.19 as the top Canadian. Lamaze placed 31st with 10.96 while Millar had a three-day score of 12.91 to finish in 36th position. Foster placed 51st with 11.13 in her world championship debut. A record total of 153 individuals competed at this year's world championships.

The Canadian Show Jumping Team will next compete at the CSIO5* Spruce Meadows "Masters" tournament in Calgary this week.

Yann Candele and Showgirl, owned by The Watermark Group, finished in 22nd in the individual standings in France.

CSBC and OFAH team up to urge anglers to keep fishing safe

The Canadian Safe Boating Council (CSBC) and the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters (OFAH) want to remind anglers that wearing their lifejackets is even more important than wearing the "lucky fishing hat." But they do share one trait. They both have to be worn to be effective.

Many of those who don't wear their lifejackets or PFDs believe that, since they are good swimmers, having them onboard and within easy reach is good enough. But a lifejacket stored under a seat or up in the bow will be of no help should the unexpected happen, like falling overboard while trying to net the catch.

"More than half the recreational boats sold in Canada are used for fishing," commented CSBC Chair Jean Murray. "The Canadian Safe Boating Council would like to urge all anglers not only to have their lifejacket onboard their boat, but to wear it. Wearing a lifejacket also provides a great example to children who look to their parents for guidance."

Many of today's anglers are delighted with the models that are designed especially to suit their needs. They're rugged, allow for full freedom of movement to cast and are constructed with lots of pockets for gear. Some even come equipped with an attachment from which to hang a landing net. When choosing their lifejacket, anglers should also check the label to make sure it is Transport Canada approved, is the correct size and fits snugly.

"Fishing is part of our outdoor heritage and Ontario offers so much in the way of great fishing opportunities," said OFAH Executive Director Angelo Lombardo.

"The OFAH encourages everyone to wet a line this summer, whether it's at a provincial park taking advantage of the OFAH TackleShare program, spending quality time at the cottage or at that favourite fishing spot with family and friends. Please make safety a priority."

At this time of year, CSBC and OFAH are asking those who fish to "Get Hooked on Lifejackets."

This initiative is made possible through support of Transport Canada's Office of Boating Safety.

Randy Mugford, Owner www.inmemoriamts.ca

To the family and many friends of the late Frank Sant, we wish to extend our sincere thanks for your many kindnesses, donations and for the condolences and support that we have received.

We also send our gratitude and appreciation to Egans Funeral Home, The Minister- Dr. Bill Webster, The Staff at Brampton Civic Hospital, Dr. David Wagman, the owners and staff of the Wishbone Restaurant and all of those who generously provided food and refreshments.

Margaret, Stephen, David,
Rose-Anne and Families

Thank you from the family of
Edna Johnston

We would like to express our sincere thanks to family, friends and neighbours for the support we received following Edna's passing. We appreciated the many visits, cards, flowers and donations received in her memory. Your many acts of kindness and sympathy continue to be a great comfort to us in our time of sorrow.

"Those we love don't go away, they walk beside us every day. Unseen, unheard, but always near. Still loved, still missed and very dear."

Sincerely, Jim Johnston,
Paul Johnston, Sheila Lewis and family.

MEMORIAMMEMORIAM*In loving Memory of*Rebecca (Becky) McAlpine

Time passes on, three years have passed
Since death its gloomy shadow cast
Within our home, where all was bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will,
Her vacant place there's none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain
For up in heaven we'll meet again.
