ARE YOU INTERESTED IN JOINING A BOARD THAT IS MAKING A DIFFERENCE FOR

FORDABLE HOUSING IN THE REGION OF PEEL?

Peel Housing Corporation (PHC) seeks five dynamic Peel residents keenly interested in affordable housing to join our volunteer Board of Directors starting February 2015. Building on 25 years of operating guality housing for the success of tenants, the Board will develop a new and innovative strategic plan in support of our belief that affordable housing is a key anchor for healthy communities in Peel.

PHC, also known as Peel Living, is Ontario's third largest municipal housing provider. We manage 78 buildings that house over 7,700 households. The Corporation has assets over $785 million and an annual operating budget of $105 million. This represents a significant part of Peel's affordable housing.

Membership on the Board of Peel Living is an exciting opportunity to guide the long-term sustainability of this valuable community asset.

As the Corporation's decision-making body, the Board will be charged with leading strategic planning and direction, setting policy, providing effective governance, shaping decisions and providing strategic oversight of the Management of the Corporation.

The new Board seeks members with skills and knowledge in multiresidential housing and business management, development, legal, financial, communications and community well-being practice. Five selected individuals will be recommended to Regional Council for appointment to the PHC Board. These five individuals will work with six Regional Councillors on a board of 11 members.

The Application and Selection Process

Applicants must be:

- · 18 years of age or older and a resident/tenant or owner of land in the Region of Peel;
- available to attend Peel Housing Corporation Board meetings (two hours per month plus preparation time);
- · a proven expert with experience and, preferably, previous board experience; (Chartered Director, C.Dir., designation beneficial but not required):
- passionate about the well-being of all people and committed to affordable housing innovation.

To be considered for appointment to the PHC Board of Directors, please submit your resume, along with a letter that outlines your reason for applying, skills and experience. Applications should be addressed to Lincoln Bryant and will be accepted via e-mail or in person until Tuesday, January 6, 2015.

For further information, please contact the office of the General Manager:

Lincoln Bryant, General Manager's Office, Peel Housing Corporation 10 Peel Centre Drive, Suite B, 3rd Fl., Brampton, ON L6T 4B9 905-791-7800 Ext. 3785 Lincoln.Bryant@PeelRegion.ca

At Peel Living, we respect diversity and treat one another in ways that are fair, courteous and compassionate, recognizing everyone's contributions. We are committed to providing accommodations throughout the recruitment process. If you require accommodation please notify us and we will work with you to meet your needs. We encourage applications from all qualified individuals; however, only those under consideration will be contacted.

Arrest after hit and run

A 25-year-old Napanee resident faces a number of charges after a Nov. 15 hitand-run incident.

Caledon OPP reports a white Dodge Sprinter was heading north on Regional Road 50 at about 10:40 a.m.when it rear-ended a Dodge pick-up. Police said the driver of the Sprinter made a U-turn and took off, heading south. The driver of the pick-up took after the car while calling police.

The Sprinter turned west onto Mayfield Road, then headed north on Coleraine Drive. The suspect vehicle entered a private driveway and the driver was seen running through a corn field.

Emergency Response Team members were called in with dogs, and the suspect was found at about 12:35 a.m. hiding in a sea-container near the Parr Avenue and Simpson Road intersection.

Police reported the driver had a previous impaired conviction and was still currently under the 90-day mandatory licence suspension.

The driver was charged with failing to stop at the scene of an accident, dangerous operation of a motor vehicle, careless driving, driving while under suspension and two offences under the Highway Traffic Act

"I think the party needs someone from the outside," he commented, adding bringing leaders from outside caucus is nothing new. He cited the examples of Stephen Harper, Jean Chretien and Brian Mulroney as men who became leaders before they had been elected to seats in the House of Commons.

Brown also pointed to the Tories' unsuccessful election bid earlier this year, commenting he was wasn't involved in the announced cut of 100,000 public sector jobs that badly hurt the campaign of outgoing party leader Tim Hudak.

"I am proud to be part of a winning team in Ontario," he added, pointing to the Conservatives' success in Ontario during the 2011 federal campaign.

Brown also said he's drawn support from his caucus in Ottawa, with more than 40 MPs a seven Senators on side.

Caledon Councillor-Elect Jennifer Innis commented the party is at a cross roads.

"It's time we rebuilt our party from the grassroots," she declared. "Patrick understands the needs of our party."

Property Tax Information for Newly Constructed Homes

The following is important information for residents that recently moved into a newly constructed home: Property Tax Due Dates are the first Thursday of March, May, July and September.

TAX ASSESSMENT INFORMATION FOR NEWLY BUILT HOMES

- · If the Municipal Property Assessment Corporation (MPAC) has not yet assessed your house, the Town may have calculated and billed your property taxes based only on the value of your land (without the value of the building).
- · It may take up to 3 years after occupancy before your property assessment reflects both the land and the house.
- · The Town issues supplementary tax bills when MPAC has reassessed a property because of additions or improvements that increase its market value or when MPAC has assessed a new home or building
- · For newly constructed homes that are currently assessed at land only, once the full assessment information becomes available, the Town will send a supplementary tax bill.
- · The supplementary tax bill can date back three years and will be for taxes payable less any taxes already billed based on the land value.

PRE-AUTHORIZED PAYMENT PLAN (PAP)

- · Your PAP application will be included with your final tax bill. The PAP application form is also available on the Town's website at: www.caledon.ca/tax
- · Pre-authorized payment withdrawals are made on the first of the month, January through October OR on tax installment due dates, based on the PAP plan selected.

SEMI-DETACHED AND TOWNHOMES

When a large piece of land, such as the land on which semi-detached and townhomes are built, is divided into a series of smaller parcels of land, it is often necessary to "apportion" taxes from the original land block to the new individual parcels. MPAC assigns each of the new parcels an individual roll number and an assessment value for the land. When the Town receives this apportionment information from MPAC, an adjustment to the taxes is created and bills are issued.

Want an estimate of your taxes? Check out the property tax calculator at www.caledon.ca/tax to obtain an estimate of your annual taxes.

Santa coming to Caledon village

The Caledon Village Association has been very busy again this year preparing for Santa's arrival next Saturday (Dec. 6).

Santa Claus will be in the parade of floats commencing at Caledon Central School at 6 p.m. The parade route goes along McCort Drive to Autumn Drive where it will cross Charleston Sideroad, travel west along Hawthorne Avenue and north on Sumach Road to Chester. Then west along Chester Drive and ending on Maple Grove Road and Charleston Sideroad.

Everyone is invited to gather in Raeburn's Corner parkette, beside Knox United Church. When Santa reaches the church, there will be an opportunity for a photo with Santa on his throne. Be sure to bring your letters for Santa's special mailbox. The Town Crier will be on hand as well as local dignitaries as the children count down to light up the beautiful tree covered in lights and decorations. Hot dogs, hot chocolate, coffee, cider, soup and treats will be served.

New this year, the Caledon Firefighters are accepting cash donations to be distributed to the less fortunate children. Participate in the raffle to win some wonderful items and there will be a special children's table plus fabulous silent auction items that will make great Christmas gifts. ART STUDENTS PAINT MURAL FOR BALL DIAMONDS

Students from the visual arts program at St. Michael Catholic Secondary School in Bolton recently painted a mural at the Bolton Heights Baseball diamonds. The mural was thought up after the students took an environmental science course. They decided to use their artistic skills to show the beauty of Bolton using symbolism in the importance of everything that makes up the village, including the Humber river, baseball diamond, a community and a tree that connects on all four sides showing that they all connect.) They also wanted to use art in the community to promote the arts program at their school. Their hope is the mural helps young artists find inspiration and keeps the community clean. Seen here are students Carly Beamish, Christina Yarascavitch, Emily Miceli, Hera Xhyheri, Nikki Arezza, Sara Boudreau and Sara Garofalo.

Caledon Citizen November 27, 2014 A9 Community puts on tribute for retiring Mayor Morrison

By Bill Rea

Royal Ambassador Friday, but plenty of smiles as the Caledon community thanked Mayor Marolyn Morrison for her years of service.

After 11 years in office, Morrison decided not to seek re-election last month, and will be officially stepping down early next week.

There were many officials and dignitaries on hand with words of tribute for the departing mayor.

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones commented that from watching Morrison in action, she got to see what a strong advocate she's been.

"In 20-plus years, she never stopped," Jones said, as she wished "blue skies ahead," he her and her husband John.

Peel Region Chair Emil Kolb, who is also retiring next week, observed that Mississauga Mayor Hazel McCallion is leaving as well.

"It's a real end of an era," Kolb observed.

He also commented on how great it had been to see so many women taking a strong role in local government over the years, pointing out it was not easy for women to advance in politics 26 years ago.

"Marolyn, you are an excellent role model for up and coming leaders," he said.

He also praised Morrison for her support of the development plans for Caledon. "You stayed firm with that plan," he remarked, adding Caledon is better today for that leadership.

"I thank you for the direction that you gave Caledon and the Region of Peel," Kolb said.

"Some people go to Florida, some people go to Arizona. I go to Caledon," McCallion quipped.

She also had praise for Morrison. "She has just been a dynamic leader of Caledon," she declared.

"Marolyn has made a major contribution," she added. "Your mayor has preserved Caledon. She stood her ground and been strong.'

"Marolyn has championed the development of professionalism of all the staff," commented Town CAO Doug Barnes, who added Morrison has worked on improving staff morale around the town; visiting the works yards, fire halls and recreation facilities. "Marolyn did a very good job of trying to make the staff of the Town of Caledon the best they could be," he added.

Retired OPP Sergeant Bob Patterson commented on the Town's relationship with the local police.

"It's been a complicated one," he said. "It's been a great one."

He also said Morrison has shown unwavering leadership and creativity.

"Thank you for your unwavering support,' he added. "You've been a heck of a police partner.'

"You're truly a respected and admired person in Caledon Fire and Emergency Services," Fire Chief David Forfar told Morrison. "You will be missed and never

Bolton teen spent part of summer helping out in Kenya under Me to We

By Bill Rea

Laura Lopachyk has always had an in- said. terest in helping people, and she got a great chance to do just that over the summer.

Laura, 16, spent a couple of weeks in Kenya under the Auspices of Me to We.

Me to We is an innovative social enterprise that offers socially conscious and environmentally friendly products and life-changing experiences. It was founded by Craig and Marc Kielburger, wellknown activists for the rights of children.

Laura was away from Aug. 2 to 22, travelling to Kenya and staying in a community called Ngosuoni. It's a small community with a coupe of houses and a school.

"It was an amazing experience," she said. "I wasn't expecting it to be that incredible."

The group she was with was assigned to do manual work, in the form of building two foundations for additional classrooms on the school. "I'd never done any work like this before," she said.

There were two facilitators in the group to show them how to do the work, and 27 young people, ranging in age from 13 to 20.

They stayed in tents most of the time, although Laura said they spent two nights in a mud hut camp, known as a minyata. There was a bit of an adjustment to be made for the weather. "It's winter there," she said, adding temperatures were about 10 degrees at night and 20 during the day, so it wasn't uncomfortable.

Volunteer staff prepared the food, which she said was heavy on potatoes and vegetables. "We had chicken a lot," she added.

Getting used to the local food wasn't much of an issue, she said. People there eat a lot of vegetables and fruit, and that's what she eats at home, so it was pretty much what she was used to.

The student at Humberview Secondary School said she got the idea of Africa from her cousin, who had visited Ghana. She also saw a presentation at Humberview by two Maasai warriors who also spoke about the program. At the time, Laura had been busy with sports (she's active in pole vaulting, as well as cross-country and Nordic skiing), but she also found herself getting interested in Africa.

"I wanted to give back somehow," she said.

The registration process was not very competitive, she said, adding she did have to raise money to finance the trip.

One of the big impressions made on Laura was the way youngsters and families along the road stopped and waved at 99 McEwan Drive East Bolton, ON the group. "That's one thing I missed

Laura observed there was quite a lot of poverty in the area where her group was staying, but that didn't seem to affect the mood of the people living there.

"They're always smiling and happy, even despite the conditions," she observed.

Communication with the people there was not difficult, she said. They speak English and Swahili, and Laura said she even learned some basic Swahili.

"We asked them a lot of questions and

Laura said there was a lot of personal growth she gained from the experience; "just like opening eyes to what's out there in the world and seeing how lucky we are with what we have here." She also believes the experience helped her develop her social skills.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

What attracted you to your house when you first bought it? What features excited you the most? Now that you're selling your home, it's time to look at it as if you are buying it all over again. A well-kept, organized house makes a great first impression to potential buyers. The space and feel of a home provides a vision to your buyer. You want them to see their life in your property. The cleaner, more organized and sleek your home looks the greater the chances your property will shine. DOES HOME STAGING WORK?

· Most buyers form an opinion about a home within the first 7-10 seconds of arriving.

 \cdot Over 90% of buyers look at homes they've found on the Internet. It is critical that your home makes a strong first impression online. Staging and Virtual Tour Photography will help you do just that.

· Sellers who spent $500 on staging recovered over 343% of the cost when they sold their home. (Homegain.com)

· In controlled tests selling identical homes, professionally staged vs. those not staged, the non-staged houses sold in 102 days, while the staged houses sold in 45 days. (Real Estate Staging Association)

· It is estimated that only 10% of home buyers can visualize the potential of a home. That means 90% are not going to be able to look past dirt, clutter, and imperfections.

 In a 2009 Home Gain Survey of over 2,000 Realtors, it was discovered that home staging typically provides a 586% return on investment.

Editorial Studded tires: worth any damage caused?

We wonder how many of the cars that were caught last week in multi-vehicle pileups on Ontario's freeways or wound up in ditches after skidding off other roads had studded tires.

For those who doubt any were, because they are prohibited, the fact is that anyone living in Parry Sound or farther north can have studded snow tires and drive with them anywhere in Ontario and all the continental U.S. states except Florida.

And the studs, which add about $100 to the cost of four new snow tires, are legal in all the other provinces and most of the U.S. states, where they are seen as an important additional safety measure in coping with winter conditions, particularly in dealing with the "black ice" deemed responsible for most of last week's crashes and ditchings.

Interestingly, a news release from Ontario's Ministry of Transportation (MTO) in late August advised that drivers who live in northern Ontario (that is, in Parry Sound and north) "can now put on studded tires earlier and keep them on longer, providing motorists with more options to stay safe during severe or extended winter weather."

The release said the Northern residents can now use studded tires from Sept. 1 to May 31 instead of Oct. 1 to April 1. "The change is based on advice and recommendations from the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP).'

Under the current regulations, studded tires can be used on vehicles that have an ownership address in the districts of Algoma, Cochrane, Kenora, Manitoulin, Nipissing, Parry Sound, Rainy River, Sudbury, Thunder Bay, and Temiskaming, as well as by out-of-province vehicles travelling in Ontario for less than a month.

The revised rules were trumpeted as "part of the government's plan to invest in people, build modern infrastructure and support a dynamic and innovative business climate."

The release said studded tires "are proven to be more effective than other tires on wet, icy road conditions," and that only lightweight, Scandinavian studs can be used in Ontario.

Studded tires were originally banned in Ontario in 1972 after a technical review established that the studs then in use were causing extensive damage to roads. Several other North American jurisdictions also banned them at that time. However, in 2005, Ontario introduced legislation permitting them in the north and synchronizing with Manitoba and Quebec the period (Oct. 1 to April 30) when studs were permitted. MTO also prescribed the use of Scandinavian standard lightweight studs, which are lighter than those used in the tires banned in the 1970s, resulting in only one-third as much damage to the pavement. The legislation also limited the use of studded tires on vehicles in excess of 3.5 tonnes to municipal emergency and winter maintenance vehicles.

"Residents of Southern Ontario are not permitted to use studded tires because most roads are well-maintained with fewer extreme hills and turns," the release said. "Also, the traffic volumes are higher and many pavements are made with local limestone that is softer than the Canadian Shield rock in the north. While there have been improvements to studded tires, allowing them in these conditions is expected to result in pavement damage, dust and reduced air quality. Therefore, the scope of this proposal remains specific to Northern Ontario residents only."

That, to us, is an argument that doesn't stand up against realworld experience. Yes, traffic volumes are much higher in the south, but so are the crash rates. And as for the potential damage to roads, how is that any different from what you would expect in New York State and Michigan, where studs are permitted?

Our submission is that at a time when the government is try-

Our Readers Write Delay of traffic penalties? Many years ago, I seem to recall the Ministry of Transportation saying something to the effect that when there is a big mess on a 400-series highway with no injuries, they would just plow it all off to the side, open the road and do the clean-up later.

And I don't seem to see that happening.

So let's consider something new, where for once in Canada, the punishment could finally fit the crime.

It is now working in hockey, where if you go to clear the puck from your end and accidently put it over the glass, you get a delay of game penalty, and so you should.

So, if we see and conclude that because of one very bad aggressive driver (through witnesses) causes a major accident on any of the 400 highways, good weather or bad, that they get a delay of traffic fine. And because of the dollar numbers we are told are affected by such delays, we make the fine reflective of that — the driver, when it is conclusively his or her fault, loses their driving privileges for one year, and if the vehicle they are driving is registered to them, it also get flagged at the licence office that it also cannot be licenced for one year — not by the driver, family members, nobody!

Stiff fine? Perhaps, but we are so soft at handing out any punishments at any levels and yet we all sit in these tie-ups and allow it. This has to stop and we have to be creative, because whatever we are or are not doing is not working.

amples of the ongoing kid-glove coverage of Trudeau Lite compared to the iron-fisted coverage of Harper, and to a lesser extent, NDP Leader Thomas Mulcair.

Take coverage of last week's two by-elections, for example.

Matching the favored theme of all the previous by-elections – where the Liberals have certainly done well and the NDP poorly - the Tories are consistently treated as losers, even though in fact they've done exceptionally well, particularly for a governing party. Governments frequently bomb in by-elections. That's because a)people know they can vote against them without actually changing the government and b)- those unhappy with the government are more inclined to vote in by-elections than those who are happy with the current situation.

Once again last week, the Tories won both by-elections, one in a cakewalk (Yellowhead) and the other (Whitby-Oshawa) with a much larger margin than both pollsters and the pundits predicted.

Yet when one looks at the editorial cartoon the next day in the National Post – a newspaper most would agree is conservative than say the Globe or – especially – the Star, you'll see a drawing of newly-elected Tory MP Pat Perkins holding her hands in rible man. a "V" for victory sign while, right beside her, stands a much more prominent Trudeau with his hands skyward the "V" sign while shouting "YES."

Of course she didn't, for heaven's sake. Only a political ignoramous would have expected that. But she did do five percentage points better than Fleherty did in his first crack at it in 2006.

As for Ivison's faulty claim that Whitby-Oshawa is a "staunch Conservative riding," it had been Liberal for nearly a decade before Flaherty won in 2006, and the Oshawa part of the riding has long been an NDP stronghold, hardly a Tory fiefdom.

The coverage of last week's by-elections simply reflects all those that came before. For sure, Trudeau has done well, but so has Harper.

It's the NDP who have bombed.

Yet the media, despite their efforts to anoint Trudeau as prime minister – and write Harper's political obituary - apparently haven't managed to hit the Tories where it hurts, i.e. at the ballot box

They'll continue to try, of course. They've got another year to go before the general election. Just Around the Corner by Cathy Perennec McLean

That place is Caledon Community Services.

While all of our programs are guite aligned with this notion of giving and receiving supports, some of you may not be aware that this also holds true for CCS's Employment and Development Division.

Caledon Community Services' employment services have been providing support for both job seekers and our community's employers for many years. Through Jobs Caledon and the Small Business Enterprise Centre, our business community has regular access to online job postings, recruiting support, space to host job fairs, financial incentives for hiring and a range of wage subsidies that offset employee training costs. We also encourage and regularly invite our business community to share their insights on industry changes, labour market challenges and human resource best practices through workshops available to everyone.

If you are employed, but searching for alternate career options, or are an active job seeker, our Employment and Development Division at CCS is just the place to find what you need. Build your skills through monthly workshops, events and quest speakers. Use resources and our IT services in our very well-equipped resource centre where you can access online training and job search tools. Our Resource Specialists, Job Developers and Employment Coaches are all available to assess your program eligibility and guide you to the resources best suited to your needs.

And you guessed it, all this support can be found just around the corner in your community!

What is really tremendous about these opportunities is that as you learn and refine skills. You can then teach and share what you've acquired.

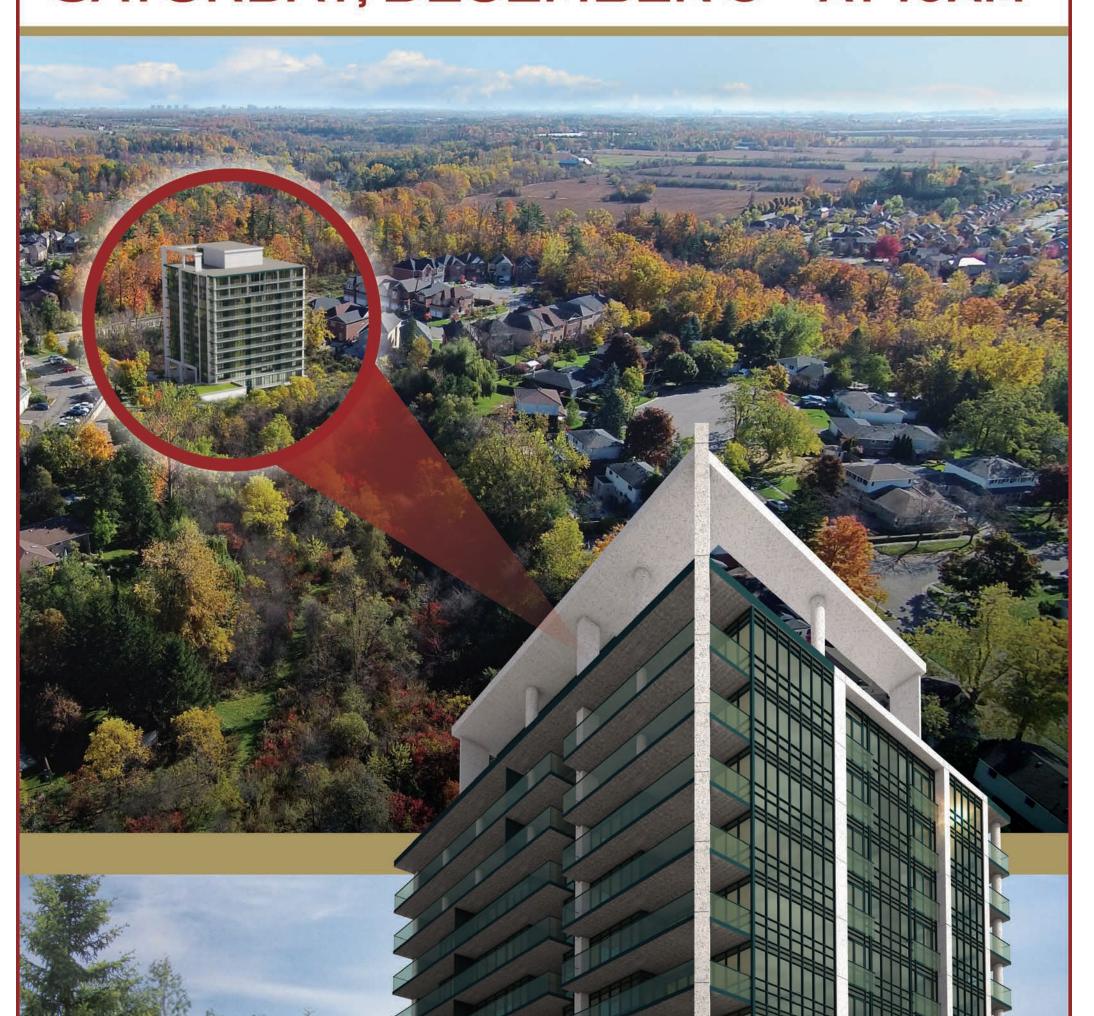

Author Vera Nazarian once said, "Sometimes, reaching out and taking someone's hand is the beginning of a journey. At other times, it is allowing another to take yours." This approach is perfect for Caledon Community Services. We count on it and practice it in all we do! Let us be part of your journey. Whether employee or employer, CCS's Employment and Development Division is just around the corner in your community!

The Chiropractors seemingly had a win in the bag, especially when Rutherford took a penalty with 32 seconds left in the game.

But Coghill and Horan cashed in for the play. Horan set up the tying goal by Coghill, a turnaround on Rutherford's first goal, which was scored by Horan from Coghill.

Shore and John Crossley scored for the Chiropractors. Single assists went to Speck, Boyles, Larry Pevato and Agar. Jiffy Lube 6, George's 2
