BETTER LATE THAN NEVER FOR HAGGIS

It might have been a little late, but the spirit of Robbie Burns was very much alive Saturday night as the Sandhill Pipe Band hosted their second annual Robbie Burns Supper at St. James' Church in Caledon East. A small fire at the church meant the event had to be postponed a couple of weeks. Georgetown resident Dave Borrett, a member of the band, delivered the Address to the Haggis.

Crewson set to be acclaimed

By Bill Rea

Dufferin-Caledon federal Liberals are set to hold their nomination meeting this coming Tuesday (Feb. 17), and former Shelburne mayor Ed Crewson is in ernment's "systematic destruction of the line to get the nod.

The party reported earlier this week that Alton resident Bill Prout, the only other contender, had decided to pull out of the race, meaning the coming meeting will be an acclamation.

"I put my name in last spring, but things have changed in my life," Prout commented. "So I decided to pull out."

He added he's busy with solar power contracts with his company, Enercontrol Technologies.

Prout was the Liberal candidate in the riding in the 2011 federal campaign, finishing fourth, losing to incumbent Conservative David Tilson.

He said he will be backing Crewson in the coming campaign.

"I think he has a better shot, in at least Dufferin, than I did," he remarked. "But that's not to say I won't be back," Prout added, commenting another election could come sooner than people think, if this year's campaign results in a minority government.

"I look forward to meeting with the citizens of Dufferin-Caledon over the coming months to listen to their hopes and ideas," Crewson said in a statement issued by the riding association. "When I become their Member of Parliament, I can and will work hard every day advocating for them, representing them and serving them in the House of Commons. I thank all the members of the Dufferin-Caledon Federal Liberal Riding Association for giving me this opportunity. Together we can do better."

Tuesday's meeting will start at 6 p.m. at Mono Community Centre at 754483 Mono Centre Rd. in Mono.

Tall snow banks can be a hazard!

Public Works wants to remind parents to stop their children from playing around snow banks. Forts dug into snow banks can collapse. Children can easily slip and fall onto the street if they use snow banks as toboggan hills. Motorists must always be on the lookout for children, pedestrians and other vehicles when entering intersections, side streets and driveways.

INTERFERING WITH SNOW PLOWING OPERATIONS

In order that Public Works can efficiently clear snow from roads, residents are reminded that parking is not permitted on streets during a winter storm. Overnight parking considerations are deemed invalid during this time.

SNOW ON ROADWAYS

Residents are reminded that, when clearing snow from your driveway, you should not deposit your excess snow on the roadway. This accumulation of snow causes obstructions and may result in a vehicle losing control. Please clear your snow onto your own property and not into ditches or the road

OBSTRUCTING SIDEWALKS

Sidewalks need to be kept free of obstructions so that residents can safely walk without having to travel on the roadway. Wheelchairs and seniors who have difficulty navigating curbs cannot easily move around vehicles blocking the sidewalk. Also, sidewalk plows have limited space to maneuver around cars. If a car is blocking the sidewalk, they cannot clear it.

Notice of Study Commencement For the Tullamore Secondary Planning Area Municipal Class Environmental Assessment

THE STUDY AREA

THE STUDY

The Town of Caledon is initiating a Municipal Class Environmental Assessment Study (Class EA) for the servicing of the Tullamore Secondary Planning Area (TSPA). The approximate limits are illustrated

The requirements for servicing the lands have been triggered by a number of factors including the Town Official Plan and a recently proposed commercial development in the north-east corner of Airport Road and Mayfield Road. The Town Class EA will ensure that development of the TSPA will be completed in accordance with the established commercial/industrial land use policies including transportation, servicing, cost sharing, phasing, environmental, urban design principals and implementation.

The Class EA will examine the need and feasibility of completing the TSPA by evaluating a range of servicing alternatives and the potential impacts of the alternatives on various aspects of the environment.

This study will be conducted in accordance with the requirements for a Schedule "C" project as described in the Municipal Engineers Association's Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (EA) document (2011), which is approved under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act. The EA process will include public and agency consultation, an evaluation of road, servicing and stormwater management alternatives, an assessment of the potential environmental effects of the proposed works and identification of reasonable measures to mitigate any adverse impacts.

Two Public information Centres (PICs) will be held during the course of the project. The PICs will provide stakeholders with an opportunity to meet with the Project Team, review the study scope and discuss issues related to the project including alternative solutions, environmental considerations and evaluation criteria. Details regarding forthcoming PICs will be advertised in the local newspaper as the study progresses.

Upon completion of the study an Environmental Study Report will be submitted to the Ministry of the Environment and made available for public review for a period of 30 days. Subject to comments received and the receipt of necessary approvals the Town intends to proceed with the detailed design and construction of this project.

COMMENTS AND INFORMATION

Comments and study information are being collected to assist the Town of Caledon in meeting the requirements of the Environmental Assessment Act. This material will be maintained on file for use during the project and may be included in project documentation.

For further information on this study or to provide comments, please contact one of the following project managers:

Keep fire hydrants clear in the winter

Snow covered fire hydrants increase emergency response times.

Fire hydrants keep our community safe by allowing Fire and Emergency Services personnel quick access to water in case of fire. That's why you should never park in front of a hydrant or block it in any way.

It is important to always keep the fire hydrant near your home or business clear of snow. Snow covered fire hydrants increase emergency response times. By making sure your fire hydrant is snow free and accessible from the road at all times, you and your neighbourhood will be safer in an emergency.

HomeJames thanks those who volunteered over the holidays

By Bill Rea

In just about all respects, the 2014 Caledon were ahead of the 2013 figures.

The one notable exception was in the number of volunteers. That figure was cently to thank the volunteers at a redown by about 15 per cent over the previous year.

The program has been running a numphone the dispatch centre if they fear nie Rochon. they've had too much to drink. A team of three will respond and get the client, his or her passengers and their car home safe.

It ran 14 nights over the holidays, including New Year's Eve, as opposed to 13 last year. There were 404 calls responded to over those 14 evenings (up from 284 the previous year), according to figures provided by program organizers, and volunteers travelled 12,753 kilometres and carried 903 passengers. Last year saw 8,760 kilometres travelled to transport 665 people.

Proper Winter Set-Out Tips

Residents can take a few simple steps to help reduce litter in their neighbourhood and make winter waste collection safer and more efficient.

- Clear driveways of snow and ensure the waste collector has a clear view of and easy access to the waste and recyclable set out curbside for collection.
- For safety reasons garbage receptacles and recycling boxes should not be buried in snowbanks or placed on top of snowbanks.
- · Reduce windblown litter by putting recycling boxes and garbage out for collection on the morning of collection day by 7 a.m.
- Bag excess recycling that won't comfortably fit in the blue box - in a clear or tinted blue recycling bag.

Councillors tried foresight; Electorate didn't let them

It has been said by many knowledgeable people that we are always so much wiser when we use our hindsight.

It's that same logic that prompts people to sometimes say "I told you so!" when they have been proven right after the fact.

It is a fact that there have been lots of occasions when people have tried to use their foresight and put forth good ideas, only to have those ideas shot down because they were out of favour at the moment.

The issue came up briefly last Wednesday, at a public open house session hosted by the Town of Caledon over the planned Alton Mill subdivision. A main talking point at the meeting was the idea to use Queen Street in the hamlet to get the construction equipment from the designated haul routes at Main Street and Regional Road 136 to the site. There were suggestions that Mississauga Road should be used, thus avoiding the problems of have many heavy trucks run through the middle of Alton, and keeping them away from Alton Public School.

The problem with that idea, as was pointed out several times at the meeting, is that stretch of Mississauga Road is simply not up to the job of handling that many trucks, and the cost to bring it up to standards would probably add a couple more percentage points to the Town's tax bill.

One man at the meeting charged that the Town should have had the foresight in the early 1990s and taken care of having the road repaired.

The problem was the Town working on just such a program, of getting hard surfaces on all the roads in town.

Then we had the 1991 municipal election, which was dominated by a group calling itself the Taxpayers' Coalition. This group was formed by people from the grassroots who were genuinely interested in the rate of taxes they were paying. But the group was taken over but people who were more interested in officer had a milestone birthday that I the day, and were struck by the peacegetting certain people out of office.

The campaign on behalf of the Coalition was well organized, with the truth taking a back seat to propaganda.

The Coalition candidates dominated the council that resulted from the 1991 election, meaning taxes were frozen (at least at the Town level) for some years after that. We are still hearing lamentations about things like infrastructure deficit. We believe that can be traced back to those years of no tax increases.

So yes, there were people around in the early '90s who had lots of foresight. Their problem was they were in the minority.

If you're looking for someone to blame, just find someone who voted for no tax increase in Caledon in 1991.

Our Readers Write Government won't move fast on Court ruling

Regarding the right-to-die decision by the Supreme Court of Canada, allow me to submit the following observation.

Those who are against it need not worry long sleepless nights over the issue, and those who are for it may rest assured that there will be many hundreds, if not thousands, wanting to take advantage of this ruling and yet suffer a natural demise in agony and miserv.

Here is the issue: The court has given our government one year to implement legislation to allow the right to assisted sui-

Justice Minister Peter McKay already let it be known that he is in absolutely no hurry to draft such a law, which in any case will take a lot of time to go through the parliamentary process of committees and three readings before Royal ascent is given, and McKay knows it.

In, at the latest, seven months from now an election will be called at which time anything not signed into law will die on the order paper. It will then become an election issue and the opposition parties will seize upon this opportunity to promise the majority of citizens, who are in favor of such a law, to implement it sometime during their mandate, should they get elected.

Of course, when assuming office they will claim a host of more urgent things requiring attention, and then, by about their second or third year in power, will they try to tackle this right-todie issue, which after finally having been signed into law will have another year hence built in before taking effect, so that in typical Canadian fashion, the public can get used to the new

As a side effect, we may get a party to govern us, which otherwise very few wanted, elected on a single polarizing issue, such as what the Ontario citizenry currently have to suffer through.

Back to the Supreme Court, which certainly knew about the impending general election and that anything dragged out beyond seven months must fail.

The people of course may accuse McKay, Prime Minister

Access Centre (CCAC), Central West Local Health Integration Network (LHIN) and Peel Region, gave 30,000 residents tunity to participate.

"As health care professionals, we don't always speak in a language that everybody understands because of all of the technical jargon," explained Headwaters Health Care Centre President and CEO Liz Reugg. "This is why we want to make sure that everyone is aware of what we have to offer, and if don't, how we can ensure to get that care through our partnerships."

The idea was developed by the agencies through a discussion on how they could reach out to a large portion of the population that would be both informative and interactive — helping to answer the residents' questions instead of just providing general information.

Some 8,000 homes received calls some at random, and some who had signed up to be a part of Telephone Town Hall. During the calls, each agency was allotted time to give a brief summary of services they want residents to be aware of.

"At the last Telephone Town Hall, one of the big things was that people wanted more information on services available to seniors, so that was mainly the focus of (this year's) calls," said Reugg. "When we asked those who took part whether they would be likely to participate again and whether the event was helpful, over 90 per cent responded that it was."

According to Reugg, part of the reason services for seniors was of such high interest is that there is a growing population of people in that age group.

During his career as an advertising executive he spent many years with Weekend Magazine and the Globe

He enjoyed his time as a Big Brother and reading on Bunker Boys'. In 2000, at the age of 78, he participated in the Trans Canada Trail Relay 2000 - his daughter and granddaughter, then aged 6, also participated proudly making it a three generational run. An outdoorsman, Jim loved fly fishing, canoeing and in his early years hunting in northern and western Canada.

He took great joy in his Labrador retrievers and for particular pride in his International Champion Stormy.

In retirement he and Luella moved to Mono where he continued to enjoy his life-long love of reading and the outdoors, particularly the camaraderie of his fly fishing buddies at the Caledon Mountain Trout Club and his friends in the Mulmur Hills Literary Society. In Jim's memory please read a good book, recite a poem, or take your Labrador for a walk in the sunshine. Tight
