GRAVEL GARDEN UNVEILED

The Town of Caledon officially unveiled a spectacular gravel garden on the northeast corner of Old Church Road and Highway 50 last Wednesday. The garden depicts the jumping horse, Caledon's official icon of the Pan Am Games, and will serve as a reminder of the summer of 2015 for years to come. "It's another proud Caledon moment today as we unveil this gravel garden," said Mayor Allan Thompson (far right). "It is through the relationships with Caledon that this became a reality. Thank you to the businesses who stepped up to create this lasting legacy." Cornerstone Landscaping, Marrex Construction and Excavating Ltd., Sunshine Design and Construction Ltd. and Verti-crete of Bolton played instrumental roles in transforming this guiet corner into a Games' legacy.

"I think it paints a clear picture that we are really competitive on the international scene," von Martels commented, continuing to speak of the Canadian Dressage Team's strong results at these Games. Von Martels was also impressed with the facility in which they were competing.

Canada's other two representatives, Belinda Trussell and Brittany Fraser, both received a score of 76.8 per cent. Using the artistic marks to break the tie, Trussell was placed fourth while Fraser earned fifth. Trussell choreographed the required technical movements for the grand prix freestyle to an original composition by Arlene Bynon and Dave Grein. Her freestyle choreography featured an impressive piaffe and passage tour that started her test with Anton, a 15-yearold dark bay Sachsen-Anhaltiner gelding owned by Robyn Eames and Marc Trussell, on a high note. #### 14 Critical Home Inspection Traps to be Aware of Weeks Before Listing Your Home for Sale in 2015

DUFFERIN-PEEL - According to industry experts, there are over 33 physical problems that will come under scrutiny during a home inspection when your home is for sale. A new report has been prepared which identifies the eleven most common of these problems, and what you should know about them before you list your home for sale.

Whether you own an old home or a brand new one, there are a number of things that can fall short of requirements during a home inspection. If not identified and dealt with, any of these 14 items could cost you dearly in terms of repair. That's why it's critical that you read this report before you list your home. If you wait until the building inspector flags these issues for you, you will almost certainly experience costly delays in the close of your home sale or, worse, turn prospective buyers away altogether. In most cases, you can make a reasonable preinspection yourself if you know what you're looking for, and knowing what you're looking for can help you prevent little problems from growing into costly and unmanageable ones.

To help homesellers deal with this issue before their homes are listed, a free report entitled "14 Things You Need to Know to Pass Your Home Inspection" has been compiled which explains the issues involved.

Trucks making local deliveries would be exempt.

The motion noted providing a bypass around the village core was the reason the BAR was constructed in the first place. It also pointed out the volume of truck traffic has been increasing, and there have been incidents involving heavy trucks at the intersection with King and Queen Streets in the valley.

Property Tax Information for Newly Constructed Homes

The following is important information for residents who recently moved into a newly constructed home:

Property Tax Due Dates are the first Thursday of March, May, July and September. For 2015, the next due date is September 3.

Tax Assessment Information for Newly Built Homes

- If the Municipal Property Assessment Corporation (MPAC) has not yet assessed your house, the Town may have calculated and billed your property taxes based on the value of the land only.
- It may take up to three (3) years after occupancy before your property ٠ assessment reflects both the land and the house.

Partial Caledon Trail Way Closure

Please be advised that due to the TORONTO2015 Pan Am Games the Caledon Trail way will be closed between Pine Avenue and Mount Hope Road from July 13 to July 17. The trail will re-open on Saturday, July 18 for regular use.

All public access to the Caledon Pan Am Equestrian Park will be from Buckstown Trail. Your patience during this time is appreciated.

- The Town issues supplementary tax bills when MPAC has reassessed a property because of additions or improvements that increase its market value or when MPAC has assessed a new home or building.
- For newly constructed homes that are currently assessed at land only, the Town will send a supplementary tax bill once the full assessment information becomes available.
- The supplementary tax bill can date back three (3) years and will be for taxes payable less any taxes already billed based on the value of the land only.

Pre-Authorized Payment Plan (PAP)

- Your PAP application will be included with your final tax bill. The PAP application form is also available on the Town's website at: www.caledon.ca/tax
- Pre-authorized payment withdrawals are made on the first of the month, January . through October OR on tax installment due dates, based on the PAP plan selected.

Semi-detached and Townhomes

When a large piece of land, such as the land on which semi-detached and townhomes are built, is divided into a series of smaller parcels of land, it is often necessary to "apportion" taxes from the original land block to the new individual parcels. MPAC assigns each of the new parcels an individual roll number and an assessment value for the land. When the Town receives this apportionment information from MPAC, an adjustment to the taxes is calculated and bills are issued.

Want an estimate of your taxes? Check out the property tax calculator at www.caledon.ca/tax to obtain an estimate of your annual taxes. For more information, please contact the Tax Office at 905.584.2272 x.7750

Caledon signs the Climate Action Statement

By Skid Crease

On behalf of the citizens of Caledon, I signed the Climate Action Statement July 9.

I hope that Mayor Thompson won't mind, but I was the only person from Caledon at the press conference, and time was of the essence.

The Mayor and councilors shouldn't be too worried. The Climate Action Statement, presented at the Climate Summit of the Americas in Toronto last week, was also signed by 21 states, provinces, regions and municipalities, so Caledon won't be going this alone.

Premier Kathleen Wynne and Minister of the Environment and Climate Change Glenn Murray, along with Quebec Premier Phillipe Couillard, Governor Jerry Brown of California, Governor Peter Shumlin of Vermont, and former Mexican president Felipe Calderon all pushed this challenge forward to address the impacts of accelerating climate change.

From the Climate Action Statement: "This challenge requires all nations, states, regions, cities, businesss, indigenous peoples and civil society to play a role, bringing their respective strengths and capabilities to bear on the transition to a cleaner, more resilient future."

It was strongly endorsed by former vice-president Al Gore, who addressed the delegates just before the signing ceremony. He asked the audience three questions: "Must we change? Can we change? Will we change?" The answer to the first two questions was a resounding "yes." But the answer to the last question depends on whether we have the moral courage to available at Woodbine, with the idea of and returned to gambling, using only the change.

So, with no one else from Caledon in the room, I answered, "Yes, we will change!" And as we change, we can lift the local and global economy, and the quality of existence for all living things on Earth.

Here's what we are committed to do:

• Set ambitious greenhouse gas (GHG) reduction targets.

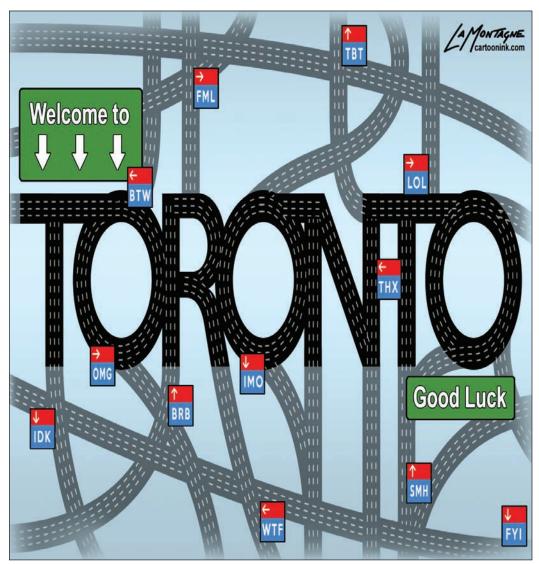

· Join the Compact of Mayors and publicly report on reductions and demonstrate continued progress.

· Commit to the Under 2 Memorandum of Understanding (MOU limiting the increase in global temperatures to below 2°C) across sectors such as energy, transportation, and building and appliance efficiency).

• Support carbon pricing linked to investment for renewable energy innovation.

How does our little Town of Caledon address this? First, we look to the success stories close to home. Our little home my numbers might come on the south hill of Bolton runs on Bullfrog Power, with a lifetime metal roof, super insulated attic, energy efficient ing me financially secure windows and doors, insulated garage door, the most energy efficient appliances available at the time of purchase, LED lighting, solar water heating, and native plants no pesticide ing lotteries are not likely landscaping. And we drive a hybrid vehicle.

Caledon has already shown initiative by installing electric vehicle charging stations at the new parking lot by the four corners in Bolton. But imagine if the Town of Caledon renewed its Bullfrog Power contract, insisted that every new development, industrial and residential, met minimum Gold LEED standards, supported (hold Your Voice) hydrogen and telling about some local electric fueling infrastructure, and encouraged solar, wind resident who won a potful of money in land of my ancestors; Ireland. and micro hydro energy development. Imagine if we developed pedestrian friendly walking and biking routes throughout all urban areas, permanently preserved and linked all watersheds and greenbelts, and protected prime agricultural lands from rapacious developers. Community development is all about choices — let's make the right ones. Nearby, the Town of Guelph has enacted its Sustainable who spend a lot of their time at such es-City Strategy. Further west, Mayor Gregor Robertson and lawyer David R. Boyd co-chair Vancouver 2020: A Bright Green Future. This initiative was conceived by their Greenest City Action Team in collaboration with residents, First Nations, business leaders, academics, non-governmental organizations and city employees in a process of participatory decision making. That participatory decision making process is particularly important for rurban towns like Caledon when faced with development pressures from urban neighbours like Mississauga and Brampton. Every delegate from a rural or northern community had the same concern: land use planning is changing and we have to apply new best practices like the Integrated Development Planning Model (IDPM). Large urban centres do not understand that rural communities do not want to pave paradise and put up a parking lot. There is a good reason why our planning process is so detailed with the additional layers of complying with the Greenbelt, Oak Ridges Moraine and Niagara Escarpment Plans. And we have no intention of giving up that green and carefully planned future. We already have the title of the Greenest Town in Ontario. Now we just have to earn it. To quote Teddy Roosevelt, "Knowing what's right doesn't mean much unless you do what's right."

But at the risk of sounding excessively uppity, I know there are a lot of people who don't think that way. And that's what worries me at the thought of Woodbine's operation expanding.

There are so many who don't know their limits, or don't care.

But there are other ways to know when the gambling has gone far enough. I was introduced to one such way 30 years ago last month.

I spent a couple of weeks driving a car as I toured the

An annu- the city, then walked along the main drag, looking for someplace to eat. I passed what was evidently the Irish equivalent of a video game establishment. Out of curiosity, I poked my head in and was surprised to see there were slot machines, and there were people who seemed to be winning. The machines took 10-pence coins, which (in those days at least) were roughly the size of a toonie, but half again as thick (more about that later). Since I wasn't in any particular hurry, I change three pounds to 10-pence coins and decided to try my luck. I inserted the coins, pulled the handle and frequently heard the sound of heavy coins clattering into the plastic bin below, meaning I was winning a bit. It sounded almost like a jackhammer. After running the 30 coins through the machine, I found myself scooping about six pounds from the bin. Realizing I was on a hot streak, I went about putting those winnings into the machine to see what developed. What developed was a lot more winnings. At the rate things were going, I might have kept it up all night, but several people helped me call it quits. The noise of winning attracted a lot of attention, and I soon found myself surseemed oblivious to everything going on rounded by a group of admiring fans. The problem is they were all big, mean-looking guys, and I suddenly found myself fearing for my safety, wondering if I was about to be mugged for my winnings. Realizing I had reached the time for a but my hands were not up to handling all those 10-pence coins. One of my "fans" produced a large bowl (I have no idea where it came from), in which I lugged all the coins to the cashier, and she converted the money into paper — much easier to carry. I left the premises, amid the well wishes of my audience. I walked rapidly down the street, throwing worried glances over my shoulders, ready to run for my life at the first sign of pursuit.

It happened today

People had thought and dreamed of the moment since they first noticed that face gazing down at them from the night sky.

And the effort dominated the attention of many throughout the 1960s. Having a man walk on the moon was about to become reality. Apollo 11, carrying Commander Neil Armstrong, Command Module al trip to Woodbine was part of the vacation routine for my wife and I. But times change and we haven't done it in years.

Pilot Michael Collins and Lunar Module Pilot Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin, was launched from Cape Kennedy this day, July 16, 1969.

But I do know there are a lot of people tablishments, and a lot of money too. I worry about people like that, often wondering what they would otherwise do with the money they part with gambling.

Look around the next time you're in a casino. You'll see a lot of casual gamblers like me, but there will also be a lot of people with dead serious expressions on their faces, pumping coin after coin into the slot machines, oblivious to every thing around them and beyond.

How many of these so-deeply-absorbed gamblers can really afford what they're doing? I'm willing to bet the number who fall into that category amount to much, much more than those who actually win.

Some of you might have seen the 1972 made-for-TV movie called The Night Stalker. It dealt with a vampire who was killing young women in Las Vegas.

I once read an amusing story that the producer of the film was taken aback by how the players in the Vegas casinos around them except their gambling. So he asked the actor playing the vampire, Barry Atwater, to walk around one of the casinos in full costume and makeup. According to the story (I read it on Internet Movie Data Base), Atwater wandered fast exit, I tried to gather up my winnings, among the gamblers for more than 40 minutes, and no one gave him a second glance.

But it is a fact that winning does happen sometimes.

During one of our vacation trips to the casino years ago, I put 50 cents into a slot machine and did a thousand-to-one pull. The machine immediately froze and started making a lot of loud and scary noises. Beth wandered up, attracted by the noise, and asked me what was going on.

"I think I just won 500 bucks," I said in a tone so casual it surprised me.

dashed up, silenced the machine, and bid me to follow him into a small room, where he handed me an envelope with $500 in cash (20s and 50s, if memory serves), as well as appropriate congratulations, and realized.

None materialized.

I got back to my room, counted the money, and realized I had won enough to pay Eventually, a member of the casino staff for the hotel room, with enough left over to stand myself to a pretty decent dinner.

Not every gambler has the benefit of scary-looking guys telling him enough.

My luck was maybe better than I had

Another downgrade; Another warning shot

This month, credit rating agency Standard and Poor's (S&P) downgraded the Ontario's credit rating.

In nearly a year, three major credit rating agencies, Moody's, Fitch and S&P, have all expressed concern that the Wynne Liberal government won't be able to eliminate the deficit by 2017-18. In addition, under this Liberal government's watch since 2003, Ontario's credit rating has been downgraded five times.

Last July, Moody's downgraded its outlook and warned the government that it needs to reign in spending. Last December, Fitch downgraded Ontario's credit rating and stated the government will have a tough time eliminating the deficit by it targeted date. Now, S&P has downgraded Ontario's credit rating, the first time in six years. They have warned the Wynne Liberal government, it needs to take a faster approach in controlling its spending. A credit rating downgrade has implications for the government and Ontarians. Paying interest on the debt is already the third largest spending line in this year's budget, the Wynne Liberal

This government needs to rethink its approach to balancing the budget and how it spends Ontarians' hard-earned money.

Ontarians expect their taxes to go toward essential services that they expect to be there when they are needed, not ever increasing borrowing costs. This government continues to ignore the pleas from credit rating agencies, my PC colleagues and I, and others for the need to fix the state of the economy. There were signs of life almost immediately for the Bolton offence, which has struggled to put up much production this season. Adam Wallace hit a lead-off single in the bottom of the first inning, with Mike Wallace also reaching two batters later. However, the inning went scoreless for the Brewers, and the Newmarket offense began to take it to Brewers starter Andrew White.

Back-to-back doubles to the fence just over the head of outfielder Brett Barwick scored the first run of the game for the Hawks, while a couple of walks loaded the bases shortly after. White was able to strike out the next batter on an intense full count to limit the damage.

The Brewers once again pressured in their half of the second, with Eric Cirone reaching third after some nice base-running with only one out. A double play closed out the threat.

Three singles loaded the bases again for the Hawks in the third, but this time White couldn't work his way out of it. Another single and a deep fly ball brought in all three, putting the Brewers in a 4-0 hole through three innings.

The previous week was a rough one for the Brewers, as they fell to a 2-13 record Trent Barwick's two innings of work in the Greater Toronto Baseball League.

A 15-3 loss to the Thornhill Reds and an 11-0 loss to the Pickering Red Sox are just Although a step in the right direction, the latest in the struggles of the five-time North Dufferin Baseball League champions, who are having troubles this season, both at the plate and on the field.

> The loss to Thornhill was charged to starting pitcher White, who fell to 1-3 on the season after giving up nine hits and 10 runs through four innings of work. Matt Blacklaws worked the final two innings, pitching a shutout fifth before allowing five runs in the Reds last at-bat in the sixth.

> Adam Wallace had the Brewers only hit of the game in the loss to the Red Sox, as Nick Boyd dropped to 0-3 on the mound. A long third inning saw him throw more pitches than his arm could handle, loading the bases and emptying them in the third before allowing seven runs out of fatigue in after two outs in the fourth inning. Troy Barwick finished the inning and pitched a shutout fifth, before the game was mercy-ruled.

> With Pickering and Thornhill in the fourth and fifth spots respectively in the seven-team GTBL's standings, the losses put the Brewers farther and farther from league contention. They sit in the basement with the Martingrove White Sox, combining for three wins this season.

CALEDON'S ATHLETES

Novice bandits looking forward to playoffs after successful season

By Jake Courtepatte

BOLTON

The novice box lacrosse squad represented the Caledon Bandits organization well this year, continuing what has become a regular success for the nine and 10 year-old team. "I'm proud of them," said head coach Jason Fancett. "They've really grown throughout the season, and now I'm excited to see what they can do in the #### playoffs."

Despite a slow start to the box season, pulling in a quick 2-3 record, the novice Bandits have turned it around significantly, with their last loss coming two weeks ago. As of press-time, their record sits at an impressive 15-7-2.

"At this age, the boys are really starting to understand the strategy behind the game, rather than just chasing the ball around," said Fancett. "Because as chaotic as lacrosse can sometimes look, there's actually a lot of playmaking and strategy behind it."

The boys won the second annual Braver than Brave tournament in Oshawa earlier this month, facing off against 15 other novice teams from across Ontario. To top it off, they accomplished the feat with a short bench.

"They worked together as a team, and were able to put the ball in the net," Fancett observed. "We (the coaching staff) thought it was a well-fought tournament that they really deserved to win with how they were playing."

Wrapping up their regular season at home next Thursday against Mimico, playoffs are now on the minds of the young athletes.
