PEEL 4-H HONOURS ITS BEST

If these young folks look a little weighted down with hardware, it's probably because they are. They were some of the major award winners Friday night as Peel 4-H held their annual Awards Night at the Brampton Fairgrounds. Nicole Intranuovo was recognized as the most enthusiastic first-year member, Nicole French received the Kiwanis Citizenship Award, Amelia Judge was presented with the Carl Madgett Memorial Leadership Award, Kyle Carberry was cited for the top Dairy score and Kori deBoer won the J.A. Carroll Challenge Award for the highest overall score. Turn to page A5 for more scenes of 4-H achievement.

HAPPY 105TH BIRTHDAY

It was quite a milestone Bolton resident Doris (Johnston) Hollingworth passed over the weekend. She marked her 105th birthday Sunday. Mayor Allan Thompson and Councillor Annette Groves were on hand with greetings on the occasion for Mrs. Hollingworth, who was joined by her son-in-law Jim Robinson and his wife Shirley. Born Nov. 22, 1910, she was married in 1939, raised two daughters, has five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Much recognition at Peel 4-H Awards Night

Friday night was a time to recognized and honour the achievements of members of Peel 4-H with the annual Awards Night at Brampton Fairgrounds. The accomplishments of various clubs were highlighted, and some of the top performers were singled out for recognition. Kori deBoer and Kyle Carberry were presented with prizes for graduating the 4-H program with honours. The presentations were made by Caledon Junior Fair Ambassador Tucker Hardy, Bolton Junior Fair Ambassador Callie Dowds and Bolton Senior Fair Ambassador Ashley Harding.

"It's an ongoing exercise," he said. "I think the public's finding it's a lot more accessible."

He's also boasting of an open-door policy in his office.

"It's got the security guys a little concerned," he grinned, but pointed out residents of town are customers.

"Cutting red tape is easier said than done, but we're making headway," he added. "Staff has been amazing to adapt to the change."

He also praised former CAO Doug Barnes (who retired last month) with his help in accommodating the change. As well, the mayor said he's been impressed with the calibre of people who've applied to replace him.

Thompson has also had to work with a relatively new council team, with three new members elected with him last year, and a fourth, Annette Groves, who returned to council after a four-year ab-

PUBLIC NOTICE

Municipal Class Environmental Assessment Schedule 'A+' Shaws Creek Road & Centreville Creek Road Culvert Replacement

THE STUDIES:

The Town of Caledon has initiated a study to replace the Shaws Creek Road Culvert and the Centreville Creek Road Culvert located approximately 1.9km north of Castlederg Sideroad and 0.45km north of Charleston Sideroad, respectively.

As a result of the 2013 biennial inspection report, the current 2-lane corrugated steel pipe (CSP) culvert structures were regarded to be in poor condition. Replacement of the CSP culvert structures is required to improve the safety of the culvert and prolong their service life.

THE PROCESS:

The Municipal Class Environmental Assessment, (October 2000, as amended in 2007 & 2011), is approved under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act and allows municipalities to follow a Class EA process when undertaking municipal infrastructure projects. The Shaws Creek Road and the Centreville Creek Road Culvert Replacement projects are being carried out as a Schedule A+ undertaking. A Schedule A+ is pre-approved under the Class EA by the Ministry of the Environment and Climate Change and the project can be implemented upon public notification of the project.

Public input and comments are invited for incorporation into the planning and design of this project and will be received until January 18, 2016. Subject to comments received and the receipt of necessary approvals, the Town of Caledon intends to proceed with the planning and design, with construction date to be determined dependent on funding.

If you have any questions or comments about the project please contact one of the following Project Team Members for more information.

Notice First Posted: November 25, 2015 NOTICE OF STUDY COMMENCEMENT

Municipal Class Environmental Assessment Schedule 'B' Kennedy Road Bridge

THE STUDY:

The Town of Caledon has initiated a study to evaluate options for the replacement/rehabilitation of the Kennedy Road Bridge, located on Kennedy Road approximately 1.4 km north of Old Baseline Road. This undertaking is a Schedule 'B' project under the Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (Class EA).

The 2013 biennial inspection and a 2014 detailed condition survey found the current single-lane structure to be in very poor condition. Improvements to the structure are required to improve the safety of the bridge and prolong its service life.

THE PROCESS:

The study will be conducted in accordance with the planning and design process for Schedule 'B' projects as outlined in the Municipal Engineers Association "Municipal Class Environmental Assessment," (October 2000, as amended in 2007 and 2011), which is approved under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act. The Class EA process will include public/external agency consultation, an evaluation of alternative solutions and alternative design concepts, an assessment of potential impacts associated with the proposed improvements and development of measures to mitigate identified impacts.

COMMENTS:

Public participation will form an integral part of the Class EA study to ensure that the ongoing concerns of the public and affected groups within the study area are identified, documented and assessed. A Public Information Centre will be held and advertised in advance to enable the public to meet the project team and share their feedback to better address needs and opportunities. Upon completion of the study, a Project File Report will be prepared and made available for public review and comment. Subject to comments received and receipt of approvals, the Town of Caledon intends to proceed with the planning and design with the construction date to be determined based on funding.

Any parties that wish to comment on or to be involved in the Class EA study should indicate their interest, preferably in writing, to:

Caledon Seniors' Centre remembers Bob Sm

Caledon Seniors' Centre turned 20 last week, and the membership marked the occasion by renaming one of the rooms at the facility after one of its long-time volunteers, Bob Smith.

"It's a special day, and we're proud and honoured to be here," remarked facility manager Beverley Nurden.

"The 20 years, by gosh, have gone by so fast," she added. "It all started with a dream."

The idea of the Seniors' Centre started with the Rotary Club of Bolton, of which Mr. Smith was a long-time member. She added the many volunteers contributed a lot over the years as well. "It's the fuel that keeps the engine running," she com-

The Centre has proven to be a great meeting place, as well as a place for fellowship, and that's because of the volunteers.

"If we didn't have volunteers, we wouldn't be here," she observed.

Centre President Nora Martin said the Town took over the facility, and they have been working together, with lots of programs on the go. There are also renovations in the works.

"The parking lot will be done next be able to use the building for the next there should be no problem with that. year," she said, adding they are working 20 years.

He also commented on how fitting it was to honour Mr. Smith's memory for all the contributions he made.

As well, Tilson praise the work of Nurden. "The place couldn't survive without Bev," he said.

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones was on hand to recognize the contribution the Centre makes to the community, calling it a "very valuable resource in Caledon and Bolton."

Thompson agreed it's very fitting to name the room in honour of Mr. Smith.

"I think it's perfect for the 20th anniversary," he said, calling Mr. Smith a "great mentor" and an example of what the community has done.

Bolton Rotary President Karen Fast called the dedication "a wonderful, wonderful tribute."

Mr. Smith died in June 2013 at 89.

Nurden recalled working with him for

"He was such a mentor to me," she said. "If you looked up Christian in the dictionary, you would see Bob Smith's picture."

Council approves second phase of Mayfield West

Several accolades were expressed as Caledon councillors recently approved the second phase of the Mayfield West Secondary Plan.

Town planners reported the necessary amendment to Caledon's Official Plan establishes goals, objectives and policies to govern development within the plan area.

That area consists of about 207.5 hectares on the north side of Mayfield Road, roughly bisected by McLaughlin Road.

Planners stated the plan allows for "a complete community that is compact, pedestrian and cyclist friendly and transit oriented. Collectively, these attributes support the development of a healthy, safe and balanced community."

They also stated the plan conforms with Provincial documents, such as the Provincial Policy Statement.

A public information meeting on the proposed plan was held in March, and planners said there had been some revisions based on the comments that had been received.

Issues raised at that meeting included railway tracks running through the site, plans for a transit hub not far from Hurontario Street, traffic flows to and from neighbouring lands, protecting woodlots to the north, housing for seniors, etc.

Planning consultant Glen Schnarr said it was a "very historic day in the Town of Caledon," adding the coming community "will be like no other community that's ever been built in the Town of Caledon."

His company represented landowners in the phase, and he said the planning process started in 2002 when the landowners' group was formed.

Schnarr was very pleased with the plan, pointing out it will provide a transit service, high-speed internet infrastructure and 7.2 acres of affordable housing. He also said not all the landowners are satisfied with the plan, but he was hopeful that some resolution could be found, and he had been assured the Town will work with them. "I'm confident we'll be able to do it," he said.

He was also pleased with the work of planning staff, singling out Senior Development Planner Tim Manley.

"Its been a long journey," Mayor Allan Thompson observed.

"It was a very intense, very lengthy process," Councillor Annette Groves added. "A lot of good planning went into it,"

Councillor Rob Mezzapelli observed. "It's a team and it's collaboration and we did it as a team here at the Town," Thompson added. "This is a huge watershed moment."

THE 2015 PARADE WILL BE ON SATURDAY DECEMBER 5th at 11AM

SANTA CLAUS WILL RETURN TO BOLTON NEXT SATURDAY

With Christmas now about a month away, it's time to really get into the

And what better way to do that than by welcoming Santa Claus back to Bolton?

The Kinsmen Club of Bolton is again running the annual Santa Claus Parade, which will take place next Saturday (Dec. 5). The theme of this year's parade will be "All I Want For Christmas."

The parade will start at 11 a.m. on the village's south hill, at the corner of Queensgate Boulevard and Queen Street South. It will head north, travelling down the hill into the village core, and end at Centennial Drive, at the foot of the north hill.

More than 50 groups will be taking part in the parade, representing community groups, schools, churches, businesses and other organizations.

Caledon's Town Crier Andrew Welch is expected to be on hand, along with other dignitaries like Mayor Allan Thompson, Councillors Annette Groves and Rob and Mezzapelli, Dufferin-Caledon MP David Tilson and MPP Sylvia Jones.

Caledon OPP will be represented too, as well as Caledon Fire and Emergency Services. Other groups that will be prominent in the parade will be Peel Region Paramedic Services, Bolton Beavers, Cubs and Guides, the Caledon Wellness Centre, White Birch Special Needs Day Program, 310 Running, the Albion and Bolton Agricultural Society, Caledon Parent-Child Centre, HomeJames, Vaughan Bandits, Canadian Dance Unit, Bolton Sea Cadets, Cope Service Dogs, 892 Squadron Snowy Owl Air Cadets, Bolton Skating Club, Caledon Community Services, Bolton Wanderers' Soccer Club, Caledon Girls' Hockey and Canadian Black Belt Academy.

Several local churches will be taking part, including Bolton Gospel Hall, Caledon Hills Fellowship Baptist Church, Christ Church and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Numerous local businesses will be contributing to the effort, including St. Mary's Cement, Ross Perdue — Remax, Top Lift Enterprises, Mr. Peanut, Performance Auto Group, Prudential Select Real Estate, John Glenn Insurance, Bolton Nissan, Bolton Honda, Bolton Hyundai, Highway 50 Auto Collision and Globetrotter RV.

And of course there will be music.

The Sandhill Pipes and Drums will be on hand, as well as the York Lions Steel Band, St. Roch High School Drumline, Sudbury Blue Knights, Morningstar Marching Band and Musicians from Humberview Secondary

And the grand finale of the whole event will be Santa Claus himself.

There will be lots of room along the side of the route to get a good look as the parade passes. It's too early to say what the weather will be like, but it probably makes sense to bundle up.

So be out next Saturday to Welcome Santa back to the area.

BFC hosts its annual open house

The weather was a little ominous, but there was still a good crowd out recently for the annual open house at Brampton Flight Centre. There were displays and re-enactments at the open house. Ben Snetsinger, Craig Williams and David Freeman were providing re-enactment of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Neil Anderson of Cheltenham was flying the SE 5A (left) while Mike Smith of Milton was at the controls of the Fokker DRI, as they re-enacted the shooting down of the Red Baron (Manfred von Richthofen). There is debate as to whether the Baron was shot down from the air or ground. One of the theories is his assailant was Canadian Captain Roy Brown.

The attractions included some interesting specimens from Bird Control Services Inc. Rita There were also men fring from the ground, representing the re-enactment of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The Great War Flying Museum had some of its aircraft on display, including this British SE 5A. Harrison Yurek, 2, of Guelph was able to get a feel for the cockpit.

CDS HAS NEW DINING HALL

Students at The Country Day School near King City might want to have a banquet to celebrate, because they now have a place in which to hold it. The school has announced the opening of its new dining hall. Kim Sillcox, director of external communications at the school, reported they have been operating without a cafeteria or dining hall for 43 years. It is set up marché-style and offers some of the healthiest meal options imaginable (salad bar with quinoa, edamame, olives), grilled vegetable panini's, eggplant rolls, and flank steak and corn on the cob. "Our students are eating incredibly balanced meals as a result," she said.

"Comfortable at Home" by Anne McQuarrie

Just over two years ago, Caledon Community Services (CCS) received funding from the Central West Local Health Integration Network (CW LHIN) to expand the As-sistive Living Program in Caledon East.

Before this much-needed support was received, clients living in the seniors' apartment building only had access to a Personal Support Worker for eight hours daily, not the 24/7 personal care offered in our other five Peel Living buildings across Caledon. In the Caledon East building, once a senior's care needs exceeded this part-time support, their only option was to move into a Long Term Care Facility. If asked, the majority of these seniors say staying at home is their preferred living arrangement.

So what did this service expansion mean to seniors in this community? How did the Central West LHIN's support have an impact in Caledon East?

The best way to describe the impact is to share a story of a senior. Let's call her Mary. She is 76 years old and was admitted into the hospital. Through assessment, it was determined that she could no longer live independently in her home. Her care needs exceeded the eight hours of service available in the Caledon East building.

With no other choices available, Mary would need to go to a nursing home. Instead, with an investment of resources from the CW LHIN, CCS was able to expand services, work out a care plan with the hospital and have Mary first move into our Transitional Care Centre. During her stay, she recuperated from her illness, received physiotherapy and regained her strength. And because of a new service regime in her Caledon East building, Mary was able to return home.

Where is Mary today, more than a year later? She's still living in her home in Caledon East. She is receiving the care required to maintain her independence; she is sleeping in her own bed, surrounded by mementos that celebrate her life. She has her morning coffee with her long-time friends and she is receiving supports from her family who live close by. The CCS Personal Support Workers provide her with care 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year. Mary is not in a nursing home. If you ever meet her, she'll smile and say that she's receiving care from a team of angels.

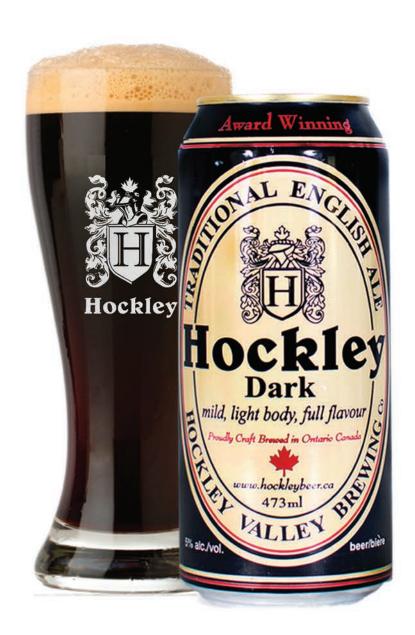

Mary and her family couldn't be happier. CCS and the CW LHIN are happy because their objectives are being met. The impact of their service expansion is clear: Mary stays home for as long as she possibly can. Exactly as she should.

Canada's national Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) has been created to try and clean up the results of those times. Rev. Riscylla Shaw of Christ Church Anglican in Bolton offered some information on the commission as she addressed the eight annual Mayor's Prayer Breakfast recently.

Shaw said more than 150,000 of these children were taken from their homes in an effort to eliminate parental involvement in their spiritual development. There were more than 130 of these schools across the country. The last one was closed in the mid-1990s.

"It was the law," she said. "They had to attend."

She also pointed out these schools had a profound effect on relations between Aboriginals and the rest of Canadians, adding it will take several generations to reconcile.

Shaw said she was inspired by Desmond Tutu, who after Apartheid ended in South Africa, worked to find out how it had happened. Similar efforts have been going on in Canada.

There's a personal connection to this for Shaw. She said her maternal grandfather was a Métis. As well, the Anglican Church was one of four denominations that ran these schools, so she thought the prob- School Board was saddened to learn of Dufferin-Peel." lems were partly hers to sort out.

"The nature of God is love," she added. As to how this happened, Shaw said it was part of European expansion, with settlers and colonialism, which led to the imposition of structures like domination and subjugation. The objective was always the acquisition of territory and resources.

During the 15th century, there were Papal Bulls issued that gave explorers legal claims to lands that were inhabited by non-Christians. Also known as the Doctrine of Discovery, the idea was inhabitants of these lands could covert and be spared. If they didn't they could be enslaved or killed.

the death of Joseph (Joe) Hugel, its first director of education.

Mr. Hugel led the board from its formation as the Dufferin-Peel Roman Catholic Separate School Board in 1968, through to 1982. Upon his retirement, he was elected trustee and served from 1982 to 1985.

Mr. Hugel passed away Nov. 21.

During his first year as director, the board consisted of 8,000 students, 27 schools and had an operating budget of $5 million. The board had been formed in 1968 through the amalgamation of eight small local Catholic school boards. Mr. Hugel came from one of these boards, the Mississauga Catholic School Board.

"Joe Hugel will be remembered as a giant in the history of Dufferin-Peel," said current Director of Education John B. Kostoff. "He was instrumental in overseeing the birth and extraordinary growth of the board during his years as director. He will be remembered as a strong advocate for Catholic education, an extraordinarily

Still early days in the budget process

Caledon councillors, and through them the members of the public, got their first good look at what Town staff has in mind for the 2016 budget last week.

The latest proposals (and it must be stressed they are just proposals at this stage) call for an increase of about 5.8 per cent in the Town's share of the municipal property tax bill. We also have to keep in mind that the Town has to collect property taxes for itself, as well as Peel Region and the local school boards. The Town's share last year amounted to about 37 per cent of the total municipal tax bill. The estimate, at this stage, for the combined, overall increase is 3.8 per cent.

There are many who might be inclined to protest that, charging it's too high. That could well be the case.

But like we said, this is still early days. Nothing has been

We are all taxpayers, whether we read about what goes on at council meetings, whether we write about them or whether we take no notice at all (at least until the tax bill comes in the mail). Even the mayor and councillors themselves are taxpayers. If anyone has a vested interest in keeping taxes as low as possible, it's these nine people.

It's important to point out that council has had very little time to reflect on the budget information presented last week, let alone come to any decisions. There are several session still planned for them to deliberate and debate the proposals, as well as crunch the numbers.

Budgets often start this way, with staff presenting a whole bunch of attractive items, and including details on what it will all cost. From that starting point, councillors start working on what is really wanted, and what is really needed.

The fact is they have barely started on that part of the pro-

But there are also certain realities that we all have to face.

The main one is we depend on certain facilities and services in Caledon, and we expect the Town to provide some of them. We expect municipal facilities like arenas and community centres to be there and to function well. We expect roads that can get us from places to place, and that are in good enough shape that they won't rip our tires to shreds. We expect a fire service that will come running if needed.

We also expect a certain amount of service from Peel Region and the local school boards.

None of these things come cheap.

Not only do we expect those services to be there, we also have to understand that equipment is needed to provide them, and that equipment needs to be maintained, and sometimes re-

And that doesn't come cheap either.

All of us would like to see taxes as low as possible, and indeed, we would argue that's an important items on the list of responsibilities for the mayor and council.

We would submit it would be easy for council to hold the line in support of this woman on taxes, that's assuming the residents are prepared to make Friday. This was one of do with less, and not have important pieces of infrastructure those times when I wished maintained and fall into disrepair.

Canada has to make sure an argument could be quickly made that a management plan is hit home of a sort of personal level for it's engaged in this fight. needed. There were homes in Etobicoke that were flooded out in me. My late father used to travel a lot on July 2013, and it could happen again.

As for the internet, we live in a age in which people are beginning to rely on their ability to get on line almost as much as they depend on their telephones. And students need access to the internet to do their homework.

Both programs are lofty, and will probably have to be addressed eventually.

Is this the time? Will there ever be a better time?

Just saying "No" to the idea of tax increases is not going to be a benefit, at least not in the long-run. Such short thinking was tried in Caledon in the early 1990s, when enough people were suckered into believing that everything would be hunky-dorey if taxes were frozen. Things didn't quite work out as expected.

We are certainly not endorsing the idea of the tax hikes that have been mentioned, at least not yet. There is still a lot more line of fire last Friday. thought and discussion that needs to take place before that hap-

And all of you taxpayers have the right, if not obligation, to put forth your input.

The Town will be hosting a public open house and special council meeting this coming Tuesday (Dec. 1), starting at 7 p.m. at Town Hall in Caledon East.

Have you a problem with the tax increases that have been proposed? That will be a great opportunity to make your feelings known, and maybe have some influence in what the final budget might look like.
