YOU'RE NOT SUCH A BAD ONE, MR. GRINCH

The Grinch has been seen about Alton Mill Arts Centre lately, having his picture taken with his fans, like Katarina Witty, 8, from Guelph who was visiting her grandparents who live in Mono Mills. The Grinch will be around this coming Saturday and Sunday, and the following weekend from noon to 4 p.m.

Council hears calls to cut the Town's 2016 budget

By Bill Rea

Caledon staff are still looking at increasing the Town's share of property taxes by 5.8 per cent in 2016, and some public grumbling is now being heard.

The Town hosted an open house session for residents to discuss the budget with senior staff Tuesday night, and some of those members of the public stayed around for the formal presentation that followed.

Staff unveiled the latest budget proposals two weeks ago. They called for increasing the Town's share of property taxes by 5.8 per cent.

Caledon is responsible to collecting taxes for education, as well as for Peel Region. Councillors were reminded by staff two weeks ago that the Town kept 37 per cent of the taxes it collected in 2015, while 32 per cent went to the Region and the remaining 31 per cent went toward education.

Treasurer Peggy Tollett said at the time they were predicting a 3.8 per cent increase in the overall tax bill. She explained staff had estimated the Regional budget will be up about two per cent for 2016, and that will equate to a 0.7 per cent hike to the taxes Caledon residents pay. She added the figures are based on an assumption that the educational portion of property taxes will stay the same.

As well, there are proposals for a storm water management plan, as well as a levy to facilitate bringing broadband internet to town.

Bringing internet service to more homes and businesses is a priority with this council, and it was articulated by Mayor Allan Thompson in his election night victory address a year ago.

But there are some who wonder if it's affordable.

"Anything above a two per cent increase is definitely not a good idea," commented one man who lives in Blackhorse. He said it should be more in line with the rate of inflation, which staff, in their presentation, said was less than two per cent.

Santa Claus is coming

Santa Claus is going to be getting around Caledon a lot Saturday.

He's going to be starting in the morning as the guest of honour in Bolton's annual Santa Claus Parade, put on by the local Kinsmen. The parade will start at 11 a.m. at Queensgate Boulevard and Queen Street South, and head north down into the village core.

Later in the day, the Caledon Village Association will be transporting Santa through the village. The parade will start at 5:30 p.m. at Birch Haven Court and McCort Drive (south of Charleston Sideroad) and proceed north on Autumn Drive and through the village, ending at Maple Grove Road.

Everyone is invited to go to Raeburn's Corner parkette, beside Knox United Church, where there will be an opportunity to visit with Santa.

French students will be bused to Humberview

By Bill Rea

The Peel District School Board will be providing bus service to students living outside the area who attend Humberview Secondary School for French immersion and extended French.

The service will come into effect next September.

The Board approved two motions to extend the service put forth by Brampton Trustee Harkirat Singh and seconded by Stan Cameron of Caledon.

The motion to bus French immersion students noted there is currently no public transit in Caledon, but the Board provides busing for students living within the boundary area for Mayfield Secondary School. There are, however, students living in Brampton who attend Humberview who don’t have access to buses.

Cameron was successful in April in getting bus service to Humberview for French immersion students living on the west side of Caledon.

He also said the impacted Brampton students live in an area bordered by Airport Road, Mayfield Road, Goreway Drive and Castlemore Road.

Mr. Singh said it wasn’t fair that students in Brampton were not getting the same service their fellows in Caledon get.

Board Chair Janet McDougald observed there will be about 22 students involved, and the annual cost will be about $16,000.

Mississauga Trustee Brad MacDonald agreed, commenting he never supported Cameron’s motion in April, but since it passed, it’s important that no group be left out.

Student Trustee Arunoshi Singh of Brampton agreed the service should be extended. She said she has to ride two or three buses per day to get to her classes, but she has access to public transit.

Student Trustee Kaustav Chaudhuri of Mississauga added students who have been in the French emersion program for eight year must have a passion for it, and they shouldn’t be denied access.

Brampton Trustee David Green was another who didn’t support Cameron’s motion in April, but who agreed it was important to be fair to all.

“I don’t see the difference between the students in Caledon and Brampton,” he said. “They’re all Peel students.”

Mississauga Trustee Rick Williams observed the Board has always prided itself on the programs it offers, and if French immersion is one of them, then students should have access to it.

“I think it’s only fair and equitable,” he said.

Brampton Trustee Kathy MacDonald called it a “no brainer,” and Mississauga Trustee Sue Lawton said she would “reluctantly” support it.

“We are a Board that champions fairness and equity,” Mr. Singh said.

The motion regarding French immersion students passed unanimously, but there was opposition to passing the service to extended French kids. In the end, the motion passed.

Mr. Singh said he had been hearing from extended French parents, wondering what the difference was.

“I think parents deserve to have access to both programs,” he commented.

The motion called for extending the bus service to students attending Humberview but who live outside the busing area.

Brampton Trustee Suzanne Nurse observed there will be nine affected students in Caledon and the cost of providing the service will be about $40,000. There are 13 students in Brampton who are affected, and the cost will be about $8,000. David Neale, controller of corporate services with the Board, explained the figures are higher in Caledon because the geographic area is so much greater.

Lawton was not prepared to support that.

“These are programs of choice,” she said, adding if they spent too much on buses, it’s money that wouldn’t be spent on programs.

“Money that’s spent on busing is not being spent in the classroom,” Mr. MacDonald added.

Cameron pointed out extended French starts in Grade 7, and Humberview is the school Caledon kids use, as well as those in the impacted area of Brampton.

Graduates of the program get a Certificate of Bilingual Studies in Extended French upon graduation.

“Addressing transportation issues like this one is a byproduct of living within a board where urban meets rural,” Cameron said. He also pointed out that if Caledon had transit, the matter would not have come up.

Cameron agreed there were concerns that this could be a precedent with Regional arts students in Caledon wanting busing too. He pointed out extended French is not a regional program, adding it’s funded by the Province.

“This is not a slippery slope to me,” he declared.

Broadband too expensive, resident argues

Staff had added the proposal to finance efforts to bring broadband to town will come through a broadband tax levy, which staff said would increase the Town’s share of taxes by 0.6 per cent. The man argued the Town should not be doing that, maintaining it’s too expensive.

Director of Corporate Services and Chief Financial Officer Fuwing Wong was of a different mind. He said they have heard that high-speed internet is important to rural residents, as well as the business community.

Council also heard from an Inglewood area woman who asked if any thought had been given to no tax increase, and where cuts could be made to achieve that.

Tollett said part of the proposed tax increases are to service growth. She added eliminating the tax hike would mean cuts to services, no additional items to the budget and no new capital projects. As well, she said staff has only made recommendations so far. Council will decide what’s to be approved.

This is National Safe Driving Week

Be proactive and winterize your vehicle

Winter's coming quickly, and with it comes the usual chores of shovelling the driveway, scraping ice off the windshield and bundling up before leaving the house.

But before the time comes to deal with the challenges the colder weather presents, make sure your vehicle is ready for the season.

Dec. 1 to 7 is National Safe Driving Week, and the Canada Safety Council is reminding Canadians to winter-proof their vehicles to make any driving they may do become easier, safer and more reliable.

One of the most beneficial preventive measures you can take is to install winter tires on your car. Get four tires that are suitable for your vehicle, paying special attention to the mountain/snowflake symbol on the side to indicate that they conform to winter tire standards. Don't wait for the first snowfall to make the change, either — winter tires should be installed when the ambient temperature drops below 7C. This is when the rubber in all-season tires hardens and starts losing the grip it offers.

According to the Tire and Rubber Association of Canada's Winter Tire Report, only half of Canadian motorists outside Quebec — where winter tire use is mandatory according to provincial law — use winter tires, with 63 per cent of people surveyed incorrectly believing that all-season tires offer adequate braking power and traction for Canadian winters.

However, the survey showed the biggest detractor for switching to winter tires was the cost. But, in addition to government incentives, some insurance companies also offer discounts to drivers who use winter tires. In Quebec, where the tires have been mandatory since 2008, crashes have decreased significantly; a study done for the province's transportation ministers showed an 18 per cent drop. Don't put a price on peace of mind — winter tires can save lives.

In addition to the installation of winter tires, basic maintenance of the vehicle is also of critical importance before the winter is in full swing. Be sure to take action on the following items:

Make sure lights are all working properly. Replace any headlights, brake lights or other lights on your vehicle if they're not in working condition. Especially in the winter, it's important to see and be seen.

Ensure you have a fully-charged battery. In cold weather, a depleted battery might not be enough to start your vehicle. Have your battery tested before cold weather hits, and be proactive in changing it for a new one before the old battery fails.

Know you'll be able to stop safely. Winter tires are an important part of gaining traction when stopping, but you should also check that your brakes are working well. If they are squeaking, creaking, feel odd or seem to pull, get them serviced.

Windshield wipers and washer fluid should be working right. Replace any windshield wipers that are streaky, as any accumulation of snow or ice could make visibility much poorer. Also, fill up on winter windshield washer fluid (-35C or -40C) and keep a second jug in your vehicle at all times in case of emergency.

Keep a brush and scraper in your vehicle. You never know when you might need to brush snow or scrape ice off your car. Be prepared for these eventualities and they won't catch you by surprise.

Consider keeping a flashlight, too, as the extra light may prove useful on dark winter nights.

Driving in the winter always poses a new set of challenges to even the most experienced of drivers. Ensure that you're well prepared to face the elements, leave yourself plenty of time and space to get stopped if necessary and, if possible, avoid driving in poor visibility bad weather conditions entirely.

Boy alerts police to impaired driver

York Regional Police have charged a 52-year-old woman after receiving a 9-1-1 call from her son advising that his mother appeared to be drinking and driving with him in the car.

The incident took place Nov. 11), just before 4:30 p.m. Police received a 9-1-1 call from a mobile phone. There was no voice contact, but there were sounds indicating the call was coming from a vehicle. The call taker phoned the mobile phone back and spoke to a boy who answered the phone. He told police that he was in a van with his mom, who was drinking and driving. The boy sounded scared, but was able to tell the call taker his name, that he was nine, where he was, the description of the van and where he lives. Eventually his mother got on the phone telling police that she had just one drink, that she was fine before hanging up the phone.

Police were able to determine that the van had driven from the area of Dufferin Street and 17th Sideroad in King Township where the call originated, to the area of Columbus Way and Mulock Drive in Newmarket, where it was stopped by officers. The driver of the vehicle, from Newmarket, was placed under arrest for impaired driving. Arrangements were made for her son to be safely turned over to his father and the Children's Aid Society was also contacted.

The driver was taken to the police station for a breath test, where she blew more than twice the legal limit for alcohol and was subsequently charged with impaired driving and driving with more than the legal limit of alcohol in her system.

Police encourage everyone to call 9-1-1 if they believe a motorist is impaired by drugs or alcohol. They will respond to these calls promptly as they are considered to be crimes in progress.

COMMUNITYupdate

WINTER 2015

PARTNERSHIP UPDATE

The Central West Community Care Access Centre (CCAC), Headwaters Health Care Centre (Headwaters)

and William Osler Health System (Osler) continue to work together on a number of innovative and exciting partnership initiatives to improve the patient experience and access to care for the communities we serve. In November, we launched the Hospital to Home (H2H) initiative, in partnership with the Central West

Local Health Integration Network (LHIN), to smooth transitions by providing a single point of contact for patients who need short-term nursing support to go home from hospital. This new program has been launched in Etobicoke and will roll out across the Orangeville community in January and Brampton in February.

Work on determining if there is merit in deepening our partnership, including fully integrating, has been deferred. Headwaters, Osler and CCAC will continue to work together to improve access to services, provide a seamless patient experience and provide safe, quality care to the community we serve.

TRANSFORMING THE PATIENT EXPERIENCE IN THE CENTRAL WEST

This fall, the Central West CCAC took on an exciting 'Transformation' project that made some big changes, including the physical boundaries of its catchment areas and its relationships with primary care providers (PCPs) – for example, family doctors or nurse practitioners – to improve the patient experience. Here's how Transformation is helping patients in this region:

- ▶ Care Coordinators meet regularly with PCPs to discuss patient health care needs to help create a more seamless experience for patients.
- ▶ Care Coordinators spend more face-to-face time with patients to better understand their unique needs.
- ▶ PCPs can tap into the expertise of the CCAC team to learn about services and resources in the community to help patients.
- ▶ A single point of contact at the CCAC means patients feel more stable and confident in their care.

TIPS FOR A Healthy Holiday Season

Go to the Emergency Department IF YOU HAVE:

- Pains or tightness in the chest, shortness of breath, severe abdominal pain
- Broken bones or wounds that may need stitches
- Sudden severe headaches, vision problems, weakness, numbness and/or tingling in the face, arm or leg, trouble speaking, or dizziness
- A child who is vomiting, has diarrhea and won't eat or drink
- A baby under six months with a fever over 37.9°C or 100°F
- Call 9-1-1 if you feel that your illness or injury is an emergency or potentially life threatening

Go to your family doctor or family health team, walk-in clinic, or urgent care centre IF YOU HAVE:

- Minor illnesses like coughs and colds or minor injuries like cuts or sprains
- Long-standing or chronic medical problems
- If you're not sure, call Telehealth Ontario at 1-866-797-0000

Stocking up for prescriptions! Tips for you and your holiday guests:

- Check and renew/refill your prescriptions NOW before your doctor's office closes for the holidays
- Find out when your doctor's office is going to be closed during the holidays and ask about on-call coverage or walk-in clinics
- If you have visitors staying for the holidays, remind them to refill their prescriptions before they leave home

REDEVELOPMENT PROJECT REACHES EXCITING MILESTONE

Headwaters is one step closer to breaking ground on its new 8,200 square foot expansion and redevelopment project with the close of the Request for Proposals (RFP) to the five teams short-listed to bid on the project.

The successful General Contractor is expected to be selected and announced in mid-December with construction expected to begin shortly thereafter. The expansion will help Headwaters better meet the health care needs of the patients and families it serves for chemotherapy and oncology, minor procedures like stitches or biopsies, infusion services, specialty medical services like orthopaedics, and telemedicine, as well as patient education. Along with this new space, the hospital is also taking on an exciting renovation of existing hospital space to add another operating room, improve reception areas and expand pre- and post-surgical recovery areas.

PARTNERING FOR A healthy holiday season

As the holidays approach, health providers in the Central West region are readying for the growing number of people needing health care at hospitals or home care in the community. To manage this expected seasonal increase, the Central West CCAC, Headwaters and Osler along with the Central West LHIN, paramedic services, primary care providers and many other community partners are working together to deliver safe, quality care over the holidays. As in previous years, health providers in the region will respond collaboratively to help patients transition home safely, with CCAC support, so the hospitals can discharge patients more quickly and help reduce emergency department wait times. The plan is designed to improve patient flow, and provide better access to services in the community.

HONOURING HEROES IN THE HOME

The Central West CCAC recently recognized the contributions of local caregivers at its 'Heroes in the Home' Caregiver Recognition Awards. The awards recognize caregivers, both unpaid and paid, whose efforts help others live fulfilling lives despite the limitations of age, illness and disability. Over 200 caregivers, family and friends joined the CCAC for the annual event, where 106 caregivers were nominated. Harinder Malhi, MPP Brampton-Springdale, brought greetings to the group.

Library holding vigil for violence against women

Caledon Public Library, in partnership with Family Transition Place, will be recognizing Canada's National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women with a candle-light vigil Dec. 6.

This day, established in 1991 by the Parliament of Canada, marks the anniversary of the murders in 1989 of 14 young women at l'École Polytechnique de Montréal.

Caledon Public Library co-hosts this annual event as a solemn ritual in memory of a tragic day; it is also an opportunity to encourage the community to consider ways to take action to eliminate all forms of violence against women and girls.

The vigil will feature guest speakers, music and light refreshments.

It will be at 11 a.m. at the Albi-on-Bolton branch of the library.

Municipal Class Environmental Assessment Schedule 'A+' Shaws Creek Road & Centreville Creek Road Culvert Replacement

THE STUDIES:

The Town of Caledon has initiated a study to replace the Shaws Creek Road Culvert and the Centreville Creek Road Culvert located approximately 0.45km north of Charleston Sideroad, and 1.9km north of Castlederg Sideroad, respectively.

As a result of the 2013 biennial inspection report, the current 2-lane corrugated steel pipe (CSP) culvert structures were regarded to be in poor condition. Replacement of the CSP culvert structures is required to improve the safety of the culvert and prolong their service life.

THE PROCESS:

The Municipal Class Environmental Assessment, (October 2000, as amended in 2007 & 2011), is approved under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act and allows municipalities to follow a Class EA process when undertaking municipal infrastructure projects. The Shaws Creek Road and the Centreville Creek Road Culvert Replacement projects are being carried out as a Schedule A+ undertaking. A Schedule A+ is pre-approved under the Class EA by the Ministry of the Environment and Climate Change and the project can be implemented upon public notification of the project.

Public input and comments are invited for incorporation into the planning and design of this project and will be received until January 18, 2016. Subject to comments received and the receipt of necessary approvals, the Town of Caledon intends to proceed with the planning and design, with a construction date to be determined dependent on funding.

NOTICE OF STUDY COMMENCEMENT

Municipal Class Environmental Assessment Schedule 'B' Kennedy Road Bridge

THE STUDY:

The Town of Caledon has initiated a study to evaluate options for the replacement/rehabilitation of the Kennedy Road Bridge, located on Kennedy Road approximately 1.4 km north of Old Baseline Road. This undertaking is a Schedule 'B' project under the Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (Class EA).

The 2013 biennial inspection and a 2014 detailed condition survey found the current single-lane structure to be in very poor condition. Improvements to the structure are required to improve the safety of the bridge and prolong its service life.

THE PROCESS:

The study will be conducted in accordance with the planning and design process for Schedule 'B' projects as outlined in the Municipal Engineers Association "Municipal Class Environmental Assessment," (October 2000, as amended in 2007 and 2011), which is approved under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act. The Class EA process will include public/external agency consultation, an evaluation of alternative solutions and alternative design concepts, an assessment of potential impacts associated with the proposed improvements and development of measures to mitigate identified impacts.

COMMENTS:

Public participation will form an integral part of the Class EA study to ensure that the ongoing concerns of the public and affected groups within the study area are identified, documented and assessed. A Public Information Centre will be held and advertised in advance to enable the public to meet the project team and share their feedback to better address needs and opportunities. Upon completion of the study, a Project File Report will be prepared and made available for public review and comment. Subject to comments received and receipt of approvals, the Town of Caledon intends to proceed with the planning and design with the construction date to be determined based on funding.

Any parties that wish to comment on or to be involved in the Class EA study should indicate their interest, preferably in writing, to:

Ebenezer helps open doors to Syrian refugees

There are some messages that are so beautifully crafted, they bear repeating. That's the opinion of Caledon's Official Town Crier, local actor Andrew Welch. So when he was approached to recreate his one-man dramatic rendition of Dickens' timeless classic A Christmas Carol to raise funds for the Syrian refugees, he immediately jumped at the opportunity. St. Mark's Anglican Church in Orangeville will host a spell-binding two hours of suspense, Christmas magic, extraordinary characters and captivating energy Dec. 14. All proceeds will go to two established local charities that are actively supporting refugees. Brian Logel, Chair of the Headwaters Refugee Sponsorship Committee, said the funds from the Orangeville show will go directly to a Syrian family of four coming to Canada from Jordan. "Their paperwork is complete and they are awaiting security clearance," he said. "Now the group is fundraising to support the family's needs for one year."

Welch's ambitious goal is fill the church and raise at least $2,000. So why an admission at the door of only $5? "I really want this show to be accessible to families and the whole community," he said. "It also allows people to make significant donations that can be recognized with a tax receipt, if desired. I believe generosity inspires generosity in return."

Welch is no stranger to this international effort. As a member of the Red Cross Disaster Management team, he is awaiting imminent deployment to manage the processing of the 10,000 refugees expected to arrive in Canada before the end of the year.

"A lot of people in our community have been asking how they could help," said the actor, who has performed this show to great acclaim in Canada and the U.S. for years. "Here's a way to start, and to learn a bit more about what's needed."

A second show will take place at Erin United Church Dec. 16, where it has become an annual fundraising tradition. St. Mark's Anglican Church is at 5 First Ave., Orangeville; Erin United Church is at 115 Main St., Erin, and both performances begin at 7 p.m.

Annual Caledon Community Services' Santa Fund has begun again

The holiday season is here, a time full of joy and excitement, shopping, dining with family and friends and the official start of the 33rd annual Caledon Community Services' Santa Fund.

Since 1982, the Santa Fund has created opportunities to support people in the Caledon community. Monetary donations allow CCS to assist with fresh fruits, vegetables, dairy, meat and poultry; home heating; medical prescriptions; emergency expenses; and counselling. Last year, Santa Fund donors and sponsors provided a happy holiday season and year-round support for more than 300 children and over 200 families.

"We have set our largest goal in our community's history because the demand from families needing support in Caledon is larger than ever before," commented CCS CEO Monty Laskin. "Our goal is $185,000 to support families over the holidays and to ensure that CCS provides services all year long."

For those wanting to register for support, contact Lori at 905-584-2300 ext. 201 before Dec. 10.

Donations of food and toys can be dropped off at Santa's Workshop at The Exchange, at 55 Healey Rd., Unit 10, Bolton until Dec. 10. Santa's Workshop at The Exchange will be open to receive gifts, Monday to Friday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Thursdays until 6 p.m. and Dec. 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

All Santa Fund financial donations can be made throughout the holiday season, online at www.ccs4u.org or by contacting Nicole Dumanski, at 905-584-2300 ext. 236 or at ndumanski@ccs4u.org

CCS needs a united community effort, as a shortfall will compromise their ability to support day-to-day living for hundreds of Caledon families in the year ahead.

Holiday Family Day at the Exchange

Celebrate the beginning of the holiday season with scrumptious soup, hot chocolate and activities for the whole family this Saturday (Dec. 5) after the Bolton Santa Claus parade.

It will take place from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Exchange, at 55 Healey Rd. in Bolton.

The air will be abuzz as the Exchange Collaborative holds a variety of fantastically fun holiday activities. The Caledon Parent-Child Centre and Bethell Hospice are hosting a kid's craft table, while Bolton Alliance Church is inviting everyone to decorate gingerbread cookies. Youth activities will be run by Canadian Mental Health Association Peel. Toy and food donations will be sorted with Caledon Community Services as the Caledon Public Library invites all to "Spin the Wheel" and win some fabulous prizes. Soup, served by Peace Ranch, and hot chocolate, handed out by Rapport Youth and Family Services, will be there for everyone to enjoy.

ANNUAL BAZAAR AND BAKE SALE

Palgrave United Church hosted its annual Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale last Saturday. A number of vendors were on hand, showing a variety of goods. Alexandra Weatherall and Amanda Stibrany were on hand representing Albion Hills Community Farm.

How to Sell High: Avoid these Three Mistakes When Selling Your Dufferin-Peel Home

DUFFERIN-PEEL - When you decide to sell your home, setting your asking price is one of the most important decisions you will ever make. Depending on how a buyer is made aware of your home, price is often the first thing he or she sees, and many homes are discarded by prospective buyers as not being in the appropriate price range before they're even given a chance of showing.

Your asking price is often your home's "first impression", and if you want to realize the most money you can get for your home, it's imperative that you make a good first impression.

This is not as easy as it sounds, and pricing strategy should not be taken lightly. Pricing too high can be as costly to homeseller as pricing too low. Taking a look at what homes in your neighborhood have sold for is only a small part of the process and on its own is not nearly enough to help you make the best decision. A recent study, which compiles 10 years of industry research, has resulted in a new special report entitled "Homesellers: How to Get the Price You Want (and Need)". This report will help you understand pricing strategy from three different angles. When taken together, this information will help you price your home to not only sell, but sell for the price you want.

How CVC is listening to Belfountain residents

I read with interest the letter to the editor dated Nov. 18 from Stephen Reave.

I felt it important to respond so your readers can understand the very public process we've been engaged in with the Belfountain community since 2014.

There are two concurrent public processes underway — a management plan process for the Belfountain Complex and an environmental assessment process for the Belfountain Conservation Area dam and headpond. Since 2014, neighbours from the Belfountain Community Organization (BCO) and Belfountain Heritage Society have sat with local, regional and provincial government officials and fisheries groups, as well as members from Headwaters Communities in Action and Ontario Heritage Trust as part of the stakeholder advisory committee helping to inform decisions within these two processes.

At eight meetings since March 2014, the stakeholder advisory committee has met to share ideas and expertise, to help resolve issues and challenges, and to develop solutions and guide decisions for the Belfountain Complex.

On two separate occasions, we met with the BCO to share details about the process, receive feedback and discuss concerns. We understand that members of the BCO who sit on our advisory committee keep their members informed about actions from the advisory committee.

In December 2014 and September 2015, we held open houses in the community regarding the environmental assessment and management plan.

Nearly 60 people attended these meetings, shared opinions and commented as they heard our presentations, toured displays, and received information.

We had another 70 personal conversations with residents and visitors over four days in the conservation area during and following this year's annual Belfountain Salamander Festival.

Notices to our public meetings are posted on community mail boxes, advertised in your newspaper and shared on social media.

Newsletters, summaries of consultations, and information reports are widely circulated. All our documents and information pieces are shared on our website at www.creditvalley.ca/cbcmp

For two years, CVC has honestly and openly asked for Belfountain residents' questions and feedback during these public processes about future plans for the Belfountain Complex.

I have personally presented to groups and met in small settings to impress upon the community how important their input is to us. We are encouraged by the diverse perspectives we've received to date, and look forward to more collaboration and consultation.

We have heard loud and clear the issues that face the community with the popularity of the park and the other unique amenities of the area. If we do nothing, the problems will continue. The preferred options from both the master plan and the environmental assessment will be those that best address a number of environmental, technical and cultural criteria. It is not an easy task.

We know we cannot please everyone with the preferred solutions. No one can. I can say, though, that we will continue to provide information to show stakeholders how we arrived at the preferred option.

Rotary Club of Palgrave's Weekly Rotary Minute

By Krysta Cadden

I never imagined I would be a Rotarian at 40.

When I was growing up, and until very recently, I had always assumed that Rotary was for highly successful businessmen who would meet once a week to network and exchange business contacts while also doing some good in the world. I have never been more wrong about anything.

The Rotary Club of Palgrave is filled with vibrant, young and young at heart community members and leaders who come together to exchange ideas to put into action for the betterment of our community — both locally and internationally.

It is a family. One that moves in the same direction with the same ultimate goal — service above self. To be able to help so many in our home community and international community through one organization is not only humbling, but also fills ones' heart with all the goodness you could imagine.

In my short time here, I have filled the Humber River with fish, watched families at the Caledon Parent-Child Centre be grateful for access to their services, seen wheelchairs delivered to those in need in Mexico, learned of clean washrooms being installed in schools in Honduras, watched children's eyes light up as Santa visits at the Palgrave Tree Lighting — and so very much more.

For meeting dates and more information, visit www.rotary-clubofpalgrave.com

There's no denying Laurel and Hardy could make people laugh.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy both arrived in Hollywood in the 1920s, and went on to make a series of classic comedy films, usually playing themselves, as the skinny, innocent one and the heavier, blustery one.

Although they had previously appeared together in films, Laurel believed the first film with them as a team was a 19-minute short entitled Putting Pants on Philip.

It was released this day, Dec. 3, 1927.

Do I look suspicious?

The RCMP has put out a request for public assistance in finding two men who were apparently “exhibiting suspicious behavior” in the vicinity of the Rogers Centre in Toronto Aug. 31.

This “suspicious” activity evidently took place the same day the Toronto Blue Jays were hosting a ball game against the Indians of Cleveland. I have also subsequently learned that then prime minister Stephen Harper was scheduled to attend the match.

Descriptions of the two men have been distributed, and a grainy photograph has been released.

Considering the mood of the times and the possible threat of terrorist attacks, it's not hard to understand why security forces would be on their guard. Granted, one gets a little curious as to why they waited almost three months before enlisting the aid of the public. On the other hand, one assumes the people running investigations for the RCMP are pros, and therefore know what they're doing.

But what really got me thinking in all this is what constitutes “suspicious” behavior. Can someone define that for me?

It also got me wondering if I ever do things that might be deemed “suspicious.” I probably do.

It also raised the question of at what point should any of us start being “suspicious” of the actions of others? We have to bear in mind that people who might look “suspicious” may simply be going about their business, and I really worry about the day when that will be a problem.

As many of you know, I attend many events in the community with a camera bag hanging off my shoulder and a camera slung around my neck. People who don't know me may well wonder what that guy's doing at such an event with a camera. I guess such queries are not quite as common now as they once might have been. Many people carry phones or devices that also have photographic capability. It's really no longer cause for suspicion, at least for the moment.

The fact is when I'm in the field covering events, I'm mindful that some people might be wondering what I'm up to. I usually make an effort to avoid arousing suspicion, although there is the possibility that such efforts on their own might be viewed as suspicious.

There's no winning in some cases.

It's also hard to blame people for getting their antenna up when they see something that's not part of the ordinary.

There was an occasion about 20 years ago when I was working in Toronto. One of our advertisers was an auto-repair business. The proprietor had asked that a photograph of the business be included in his ad, and the sales rep passed the request on to me. It was a nice day, and the establishment was just a couple of minutes walk from the office, so I grabbed my camera and strolled down the block on my mission. Taking the necessary picture presented few problems.

But as I was packing up the camera and heading back to the office, a great big guy emerged from the garage and angrily demanded to know what I was doing. This fellow was not the owner of the company, and I briefly toyed with the idea of telling him what I was doing was none of his business. But I also realized I had nothing to hide, so I explained what I was doing. Besides, he was a lot bigger than me. I don't think he believed me.

I wasn't angry with this chap. Some person he had never seen before came up and took a picture of the building where he was employed, so he investigated. I don't know if his employer would have approved, and I do think his tone and manner represented a clear case of over reacting. Yet he had questions, and courtesy, if nothing else, obliged me to try and answer them.

Incidentally, this was a couple of years before 9-11. I wonder what might have happened had he thought I was some kind of terrorist.

This issue took on a different meaning for me during the summer.

There was a young girl living on a Caledon farm property who had been a little concerned that someone had stopped on the road, got out of the car and had photographed the farmhouse and barn, then got back in the car and left.

She understandably wondered why some stranger would have stopped and taken a picture of the house in which she lives.

There were a couple of possible explanations, including the fact the scene might just have been attractive and the person taking the picture wanted to preserve that. It might have been the inspiration for the creation of a work of art. There are lots of artists and aspiring artists out there.

My late father took up oil painting in his late 40s, and devoted lots of his spare time in the next 20-or-so years that he lived trying to be creative. Some of his works were better than others. One of his seascapes (inspired, I believe, by a picture he took on trip to the Maritimes shortly after his retirement) hangs on the wall of my office. He was always on the lookout for interesting scenes to photograph, with the idea of painting them at some later date. I know he killed several weekend afternoons driving around rural areas looking for artistic inspirations, and since Caledon is close to the west end of Toronto where he lived, I'm sure he got lots of pictures of some local scenes. Last I recall, those pictures are in my brother's possession, and I wouldn't be surprised if the collection includes shots of the homestead of the farm family that I married into some years later (the pictures would have been taken years before I had ever heard of community newspapers in Caledon).

Would such photography be deemed “suspicious?”

What if some 40 years ago, that young girl destined to one day be my spouse had seen a total stranger taking pictures of her home. True, I think my dad had an honest face, but would her curiosity, if not suspicions, have been aroused? And the fact is, he wouldn't have been doing anything wrong. He couldn't have been accused of trespassing, and I don't think it's a crime to stand on public land photographing pleasing scenes.

How would such activity be viewed today?

During the time I've been in the line of work, I've come to know lots of parliamentarians. One of them once mentioned to me that he had stood for his photograph in front of a property that had been prominent in the local news. Someone claiming to be a representative of the owner of the property had accosted him, telling him he had no business taking such pictures.

I was asked for my opinion, and I mentioned to him that I had taken outdoor pictures of him lots of times, with private homes in the background. He and I were not in the habit of knocking on every one of those doors, seeking authorization to use the picture.

My job sometimes requires me to look “suspicious,” without seeking authorization.

No, I'm not a terrorist.

Preventing credit and debit card fraud over holidays

During the Christmas season, there is often a great deal of shopping to do.

It's a time when credit and debit cards are frequently used by many to make their purchases, which also means there can be an increased risk of credit and debit card fraud. When this takes place, it can be immensely stressful for victims. However, there are several measures we can take to help guard ourselves against such crimes during the Christmas season and throughout the year.

Credit card fraud can take place in several ways. You may lose your card or it may be stolen and a criminal could then fraudulently use the card to make purchases. A criminal could take the lost or stolen card, collect data from the card, and then use the information to produce a counterfeit card. A criminal could also use the data from the card to make purchases over the phone or on the internet.

If you've reviewed your credit card statement and you've identified purchases you're certain you didn't make or you believe you may have mistakenly given your credit card information out to someone you shouldn't have, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) suggests that you should immediately contact your credit card company using the phone number which is printed on the backside of the card. Your credit card company will take the necessary course of action to guard against fraud. You should also contact the credit bureau, such as Equifax (1-800-465-7166) or TransUnion Canada (1-800-525-3823) and ask that fraud alerts be added to your credit reports. The next step is to contact the local police to make them aware and lastly, always report any credit card fraud to the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre (www.antifraudcentre-centreantifraude.ca). The Centre may also be contacted toll free at 1-888-495-8501.

RCMP recommends reporting a lost or stolen credit card as soon as you see or know you no longer have it in your possession. The credit card company will cancel the card and will issue a new one to you.

RCMP also has many helpful suggestions on to how prevent credit card fraud, such as:

OTTAWA JOURNAL

David Tilson
MP Dufferin-Caledon

- routinely check your monthly credit card statement or view your statement online to check your transaction history and if you identify purchases you didn't make, contact your credit card company immediately;
- never disclose your credit card number over the telephone or internet unless you're certain it's a reputable company;
- be aware of scams where the criminals pose as someone else in an effort to have victims disclose their credit card information by phone or by e-mail and remember that your credit card company or bank would never call to ask for your personal information, such as your credit card number, its expiry date, PIN, or the security number on the backside;
- take the same steps you use to protect your cash and do the same for your credit card;
- always ensure the card that's handed back to you after making a purchase is actually your card;
- if you're travelling, keep your cards with you or secure them in a hotel safe;
- be sure to sign the back of a new credit card as soon as you receive it;
- keep a list of all of your credit cards, their numbers, and put it in a secure spot, which will assist you when reporting lost or stolen credit cards; and
- always remember that Canadian financial institutions do not send e-mails to their customers requesting account information.

Debit card fraud can also occur. According to the RCMP's website, this takes place when a criminal "skims" or swipes the information from the magnetic strip on the backside of the debit card to then manufacture a copy of that card. This also requires the criminal to obtain your Personal Identification Number (PIN) to steal money from your bank account.

If you find yourself a victim of debit card fraud, RCMP recommends that you contact your financial institution immediately and it will take the necessary steps to protect you. Secondly, contact your credit bureau (as listed above) and request fraud alerts to be put on your credit reports. The next step is to contact the local police to make them aware and lastly, always report any credit card fraud to the Canadian Anti-Fraud Centre (as listed above).

RCMP also offers helpful tips to help prevent debit card fraud. These include:

- ensuring your card is always in a secure location and never allow it to be borrowed;
- protect your PIN, as it's your electronic signature (memorize your PIN, don't write down, and change it from time to time);
- never share your PIN with anyone;
- make it a point to always perform your ABM transactions in places and times where you feel secure (if you're somewhere and you have concerns about the ABM machine, perform the transaction later or go to another ABM and if something seems unusual about the ABM, don't use it and report your concerns to the police, the merchant, or your financial institution);
- once you've performed a financial transaction with your debit card, remember to take your card and receipt with you;

- if your card is lost or stolen, report it to your financial institution immediately (most institutions provide 1-800 numbers and/or 24-hour service for lost or stolen cards);
  - make it a habit to review your debit transaction history online or using your monthly bank statements to identify any unusual activity and contact your financial institution immediately if you do;
  - robberies seldom take place at ABMs; however, if this should occur, always put your safety first and comply with the thief's request, and then immediately report the robbery to the police and your financial institution; and
  - always be wary of any e-mail messages that appear to be coming from your financial institution. Financial institutions in Canada do not contact their customers by e-mail to ask them for account information.
- For more information on credit card and debit card fraud, please visit the RCMP's website at www.rcmp.gc.ca

In taking various steps, we can help guard ourselves against this type of crime and be more secure when making purchases and performing transactions during the Christmas season and throughout the year.

Public open houses coming on recreation plans in Mayfield West

The community is invited to a drop-in open house regarding the Town of Caledon's parks and recreation initiative for multi-use development in Mayfield West.

A group of local residents is leading this first step in a community engagement process by hosting two open houses.

They are joining together to gather ideas to be able to present to the Town's Parks and Recreation department as they move forward in their planning initiatives for a multi-use facility in Mayfield West Phase 1 (SouthFields Village).

Come out to understand the Village Centre concept and meet many of the interested stakeholders.

The first open house session will be Dec. 10 from 6 to 8 p.m. at SouthFields Village Public School (110 Learmont Ave.), and the other will be Dec. 11 6 to 8 p.m. at the Margaret Dunn Library Community Room (20 Snelcrest Dr., Valleywood).

Wynne's remarks 'McCarthyite'

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Claire Hoy

Back in the early 1950s, when the Western world was worried about the spread of Communism, Wisconsin Senator Joe McCarthy exploited the legitimate concerns people had and went several steps too far in fighting the threat to our way of life.

McCarthy's overzealous and destructive attacks on anybody he deemed to be either an actual communist or knew or even associated with a communist, destroyed the lives and careers of many innocent people, many of which were convicted in the court of public opinion for the apparent crime of holding small "I" liberal views.

McCarthy was eventually stopped, but his work on a major Washington committee turned him into a symbol of intolerance.

So when you hear people accused of McCarthyism, it's a sure sign that whatever the topic, they've gone way over the top in their quest to rid the earth of their particular bugaboo.

Which brings us, alas, to Premier Kathleen Wynne, and her recent outrageous pronouncement before Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's refugee rescue plans were ultimately settled, that Canadians who opposed those plans, or even expressed reservations, were inherently racist.

Since public opinion polls at the time showed that 67 per cent of Canadians were not on board with Trudeau's initial plans to bring in 25,000 Syrian refugees by the end of December — which even Trudeau recognized was an absurd target — Wynne in essence was accusing two-thirds of Canadians of being "closet racists."

While she has since attempted weakly to walk it back a bit, she did publicly muse, in true McCarthyite fashion, that those who questioned the refugee plans were, in fact, tapping into a "racist vein," a scurrilous charge that prompted former British Columbia premier and one-time federal Liberal health minister under Jean Chrétien Ujjal Dosanjh to issue a strongly-worded public rebuke of Wynne (a rebuke, sadly, that much of the tame mainstream media in this province dramatically under-played. (You can bet had a Tory premier made such ill-considered remarks and been rebuked by a former Liberal premier, the Ontario media would have been all over it. But there you are.)

In a Web posting headlined: "Premier Wynne, Did you just call me a racist and a xenophobe?" Dosanjh, an Indian who emigrated to Canada by way of the U.K. when he was 20, answered his own question by writing, "Yes, you Did!"

"Did I take it personally? Yes. I took it personally on behalf of the 67 per cent Canadians who disagree with the year-end deadline imposed by the Canadian government . . ." He said that "in one fell swoop" Wynne was labelling two-thirds of Canadians as racists, "And worse, in the same breath you talked about the presence in Canada of the twin 'devils of . . . racism and xenophobia.' In the instant I became a racist and a xenophobe."

This is a man whose outspoken views in the name of freedom outraged Sikh extremists in B.C. to the point that in 1985 he suffered a broken hand and a battered head requiring 80 stitches after being attacked by a thug wielding an iron bar. Later, when he was a B.C. MLA, somebody left a burning Molotov cocktail on his office desk.

And Wynne would dare to label such a man as a racist and xenophobe for the "crime" of questioning her matinee idol Justin Trudeau? It's beyond shameful.

Then again, Wynne followed that up in a speech to a women's rights group by saying the government should put what she called a "race lens" on all government policies.

Two things about that: Since Wynne apparently defines racism as views which don't coincide with her own, that's a pretty frightening concept; and secondly, it seems that "racial profiling" — which police were accused of through carding and Wynne's government has banned — seems to be an evil concept, except when Liberals do it.

Witness, as another example, Trudeau's edict that Syrian refugees are welcome to Canada except, of course, if they are single straight males. Talk about profiling. Wow.

That part of the equation prompted NDP Leader Thomas Mulcair to accuse Trudeau of the same "politics of fear and exclusion" he had previously accused Stephen Harper of practising. "Excluding them in advance is not the Canadian way," he said, which may be true for most Canadians but apparently not for Wynne and Trudeau.

And while we're on the topic of McCarthyite overstatements, let us ponder the absurdity and offensive nature of David Suzuki, who recently compared people who favour working in the Alberta oil-sands to the slave-owning 19th century plantation owners, prompting National Post columnist Rex Murphy to characterize it as "an analogy . . . so feeble, it would distress the mind of a mildly alert five-year-old . . ."

And these, dear hearts, are the people who are going to save the world for the pure and the just.

God help us.

Golden Hawks soar to fifth in GMOHL with back-to-back wins

By Jake Courtepatte

Things have been looking up for the Caledon Golden Hawks lately, thanks to a healthy dose of offence mixed with some solid backstopping.

Goaltenders Sam Procopio and Brendan Macham combined for only one goal allowed through two games over the weekend, bringing the Hawks to six wins in their last seven games.

The line combination of Nicholas McNutt, Daniel Cafagna and Christian Mariconda continued their ongoing success last Thursday against the struggling Schomberg Cougars, combining for four goals and five assists in a 5-0 shutout on the road. Ryan Mouser rounded out the scoring for the Hawks.

Procopio was tested few and far between, but still made 18 stops for his second shutout in a row.

He was between the pipes again Sunday when the Hawks hosted the second-place Huntsville Otters at Caledon East. Almost perfect once again, the second-year goaltender's one falter came on the power play late in the second period.

After the Hawks scored their fifth of the game in the final minutes of the second, Macham came in to relieve Procopio of his duties. Macham finished up strong by stopping all 12 shots he faced in the 5-1 win.

Scoring for the Hawks were Randy Chen, Kevin Pleasance, Cafagna and Mariconda with two.

Following a seven-goal collapse against the Penetang Kings earlier this month, Procopio has now allowed only one goal through his last three starts. He and Macham have combined to form quite the tandem this season, putting up very similar numbers while both ranking in the top seven goalies in the league in terms of both save-percentage and goals-against.

Since the start of October, the Hawks have been one of the hottest teams in the GMOHL. They dug themselves a hole by starting off the season at 0-7, but since then have climbed out with an 11-3-2 record to sit in fifth place in the nine-team league.

One of those wins came against the powerhouse Alliston Hornets, one of only two regulation losses they've allowed all season. Caledon will try to make that number three when they meet them at New Tecumseth Rec Centre tomorrow (Friday).

The weekly Sunday match up will feature the Hawks against the Midland Flyers (12-9-1) at Caledon East at 7 p.m.

If they can continue the pace they've been setting, this Cinderella team could rank as high as third by the end of the weekend.

Shutouts in SNJMHL

Goals were the hot item on the menu for Nov. 22 in Sunday Night Junior Men's Hockey League action, with two shutouts and a pair of big scoring games as the entrees.

Moose 3, Fire 0

Mr. Handyman Moose kicked up some dirt and smothered the Ainsley Fire squad.

Brett Weight stood tall and got the shutout while Brad Sztorc netted a pair and added a helper, with Graham Bryson getting the other marker and Brendan Pace and Steve Brown earning assists.

Predators 5, Wings 0

Not to be out-done, Scott Irvine of the Inside Out Family Chiropractic Predators blocked all attempts and got the goose egg over the St. Louis Bar and Grill Red Wings.

Mark Metcalfe salted it away for the Predators with a hat trick, with Tim Vokey and Steve Hutchins getting singles. Assists were from the sticks of Vokey, Ryan Smith, John Hutchinson, Howard Cantelon, Larry Richardson and Colin Fyffe.

Blades 4, Penguins 3

In a tight match, Ken's Lawn Mower Repairs Blades were just too sharp for the George's Arena Sports Penguins.

Kevin Wigner got the Blades spinning with an unassisted marker, while Steve Smith, Darren Jones and Jason Clark each Caledon's Sam Procopio stopped 18 shots for a 5-0 shutout of the Schomberg Cougars at Trisan Centre Thursday.

St. Michael's Thunder perfect through four games in ROPSSAA

The St. Michael's Thunder are off to a thunderous start in the ROPSSAA hockey season, earning their fourth win in a row 6-2 against St. Marcellinus at Caledon East Monday.

By Jake Courtepatte

A 4-0 start to the Region of Peel hockey season has St. Michael Catholic Secondary School's varsity hockey team far ahead of the competition early on.

Following a road win against St. Thomas Aquinas in early November, the Bolton squad has put up three wins in a row on their home rink in Caledon East, notching a league-leading number of goals in the process. A 10-3 win over Mayfield Secondary School and a 5-3 victory over Gonzaga set the Thunder up Monday for their most difficult match up yet, hosting the 2015 ROPSSAA champion St. Marcellinus Spirit.

The Spirit jumped out to an early 1-0 lead, on a no-chance rebound only two minutes into the contest.

A four-minute powerplay soon after resulted in only a hit post, despite immense amounts of pressure by the Thunder. But the home team was able to keep pressing long after the Spirit had their fifth man back on the ice. A scrum in front of the net tied the game nearing the end of the opening period.

The Marcellinus goaltender stood on his head for the rest of the period, somehow getting his team to the break tied at one against the much more impressive St. Mike's squad.

Some back-and-forth action from a couple of two-on-ones led to each team notching another goal early in the middle frame, before play became quite heated between the two rivals.

A line brawl led to almost 15 minutes of stopped play, and when the smoke cleared, the Thunder were left with a three-minute powerplay after a minor on their behalf and a major for the Spirit.

They made good on the opportunity to take a 3-2 lead into the third period.

Having kept his team in the game so far, the Spirit goaltender showed fatigue in the third by allowing two quick goals for the Thunder to open a three-goal lead.

From there, they played shutdown defence to take the game 6-2 and stay undefeated.

Now having defeated each team in their home North division but the Robert F. Hall Wolfpack, the Thunder have taken a dominating lead almost midway through the regular season. Second best to their eight league points are both Mayfield and Aquinas, with four points each after starting the season 2-3.

St. Mike's got their first look at the Wolfpack after press time Wednesday afternoon.

They get back on the ice against Our Lady of Mount Carmel in Mississauga Monday.

The Thunder last earned a berth in the ROPSSAA championship game in 2013, falling to the Our lady of Mount Carmel Crusaders 6-1. The junior team won the divisional title at Brampton's Powerade Centre that same year.

Chiropractors stretch their lead

Rutherford Global Logistics and Fines Ford Lincoln are still tied in the Caledon Senior Hockey League standings, but they now share third place. Yale Lift Trucks jumped into second in Nov. 23 action, and Heart Lake Insurance pushed their way into contention by beating Fines. The win put the Insurance boys two points out of third place. In the other games at Don Sheardown Memorial Arena, Bolton Chiropractic Centre moved ahead of the logjam in the standings with a 7-5 win over Rutherford Global Logistics and Yale waxed the Jiffy Lube Oilers 7-1.

Heart Lake 5, Fines Ford 3

Victor Marrelli powered the Heart Lake offence with two goals and an assist.

Tony Dinis popped a goal and an assist while Joe Guaragna and team sponsor Chris Spilar scored the other goals. Luch Pinarello and Frank Cirone were also clicking with two assists each. Single assists came from Greg Frangakas, Joe Maiolino and Ian Kerr.

John Pallotta was in the driver's seat for Fines Ford with a goal and two assists while Mike Foley was riding shotgun with two goals. Greg Collins, Dave Armstrong, Jim Dunbar and Peter Kuchar had one assist each.

Bolton Chiropractic 7, Rutherford 5

The Bonebenders opened a four-point lead on second-place Yale with the win. Gary Moss powered them with two goals and two assists. George (Not The Chief) Armstrong had two goals and an assist while Nick Taccogna made it three players with two goals with a pair of markers. Ted Callighen scored the other goal. Jim Horan and team sponsor Mike Shore had two assists each with singles going to Pete McNamara, Mike Gasparini and Jim Moyer. Gary Hughes was the power behind Rutherford with four assists. Joe Palumbo and Jim Pitre fired a goal and an assist each. The other goals were scored by David Shoalts, Steve Tarasco and Rick Geiger. John Pitsadiotis set up two goals while Bill Frolick had one assist.

Yale 7, Jiffy Lube 1

James Heenan did the heavy lifting for Yale with three goals while Bruno Fracassi was right there with two. Three others aside from Heenan racked up three points with Garth Young notching a goal and two assists while crafty veterans Jim Schaefer and Dom Ierullo had three helpers each. Greg Twinney scored the other goal. Bill Davis had two assists with one each going to Stefan Pacula, Dom Orazio and Dan Tasson. Steve Sanderson scored for Jiffy Lube on assists from Peter Coghill and Carlo Fantin.

Taylor Reid wins ironman in Vegas

A great 2015 triathlon season just got even better for C3's Taylor Reid. Reid started the year with a top-six in the Oceanside California Triathlon, then backed it up with a fantastic second place at Ironman 70.3 Mt. Tremblant in June. A few weeks later, he won the St. Andrews Half Ironman in New Brunswick and last week, won the biggest race of his life in Las Vegas.

In a field that had Olympians and numerous World Cup and ironman champions in the field, Caledon's Reid took top spot. The 24-year-old is splitting his training between California and Caledon. Reid is a Mayfield Secondary School alumnus and recently graduated from McMaster University, where he was one of the top runners in Canada. The move from junior and under-23 national triathlon racing has been a very nice progress for him. Reid was sixth out of the water in the 1.2-mile swim in Vegas, then biked himself into fourth place at the end of the hilly 90-kilometre bike ride. After the ride was over, he powered his way through the rest of the field, with the day's fastest half marathon split and ended nearly one minute ahead of Canadian Cody Beals. Reid's season is not over. He will be racing in Miami Beach and Texas before the 2015 season ends in November and he will take his end of year break. "I was so stoked to run through such an incredible field to get my first major USA Ironman 70.3 win," Rid said after the event. Reid's parents Peggy and Jim are also ironman triathletes and can be seen training in Caledon with C3.

CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Domenic Minnella wishes to express our deepest appreciation to those who have offered such kindness, condolences and support in our bereavement.

Receiving the countless cards, letters, floral tributes, plants, food, donations to the Diabetes Society, Mass intentions, prayers, gifts, and the many other endless acts of kindness continue to be a great comfort to us in our time of loss and sorrow.

Additionally, we would like to thank family and friends who travelled great distances to offer their love and support.

Our thanks to Father Bob at St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church for his words of wisdom and comforting service.

Heartfelt gratitude to the doctors and nurses of Brampton Civic Hospital, especially Andrew Cooper, who provided exceptional care and compassion to Domenic and to us, his Family.

Sincere appreciation to Egan Funeral Directors and staff for their support, professional and efficient funeral arrangements.

Lastly, and most importantly to Sandra Tufino, Domenic's caregiver and, as he jokingly introduced her, his other "wife". There are no words to express our gratitude for your endless care, support, kindness and the devotion you bestowed upon Domenic over the last few years - May God forever Bless you as you continue to help others who are in distress and in need.

Focusing on the infinite happy memories of Domenic's life and all who shared in it will hopefully bring us peace and start the healing process.

*With sincere love and gratitude,

DEATHS

DEAN, LINDA J.
After a brave struggle with neuroendocrine cancer, Linda, beloved wife of John, passed away, at the age of 66, at the Bethell Hospice, Inglewood on Friday, November 27, 2015 surrounded by family (John, Evan, Shamim, Maureen, Kevin) and best friend Denise. She will be sadly missed. Linda, a previous Orangeville Town Clerk, completed her Masters of Public Administration in 2001. She was also the first female CAO of Dufferin County, an achievement of which we were very proud. Linda is survived by; her husband John, son Evan (Shamim), daughter Heather (Bill), grandchildren Eden and Alec, mother Maureen, sisters Mary (Bill) and Cindy (Chris), uncles Kevin and Tom, and numerous cousins. We also wish to thank her friends, previous co-workers, and healthcare workers for their devoted care during this time.

Visitation will be held at the Dods & McNair Funeral Home, Chapel & Reception Centre, 21 First Street, Orangeville on Friday, December 11, 2015 from 6-9 p.m. Funeral will be held at St. John's Church (Highway 9 east of Orangeville), 3907 Hwy 9, Caledon, Ontario on Saturday, December 12, 2015 at 1 p.m. with a reception to follow.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations to CNETS Canada or Bethell Hospice Foundation would be appreciated by the family.

A tree will be planted in memory of Linda in the Dods & McNair Memorial Forest at the Island Lake Conservation Area, Orangeville. A dedication service will be held on Sunday, September 11, 2016 at 2:30 p.m.
