Peel not pushing for work on Corridor to resume

By Bill Rea

Peel Region wants things to proceed with the GTA West Corridor, but councillors there are trying to avoid appearing pushy.

Regional Staff had a motion ready for councillors last Thursday, calling on Transportation Minister Steven Del Duca to immediately resume and complete the environmental assessment (EA) study of the Corridor, in order to pick a preferred alignment for the proposed highway in the corridor, as well as interchange locations.

Councillors, however, took out those provisions. Instead, they called for a meeting with Del Duca and Regional Chair Frank Dale and the Mayor of Caledon, Brampton and Mississauga to discuss the importance of the Corridor and the completion of the study.

The Province announced in December that it was suspending work on the environmental assessment of the GTA West Corridor that traverses Caledon as it runs from Highway 400 west, through town and south into Brampton and Halton Region. Staff reported the suspension was pending a review to be concluded by the spring.

"Specific reasons for the suspension were not identified," the staff report stated.

Caledon councillors, earlier last week, did pass a motion calling for the study to resume and be completed immediately.

Brampton Councillor Michael

Palleschi argued that calling for immediate action was premature, since the Province has indicated more information will be available in a few months. He added the government is making significant and long-overdue investments in emerging technologies. The GTA West corridor might reflect an out-of-date approach.

Palleschi urged waiting until the Transportation Ministry makes a decision, rather than applying pressure on the Province.

But Caledon Mayor Allan Thompson pointed out a lot of municipal money has been spent on the EA study. While most of the Peel component of the Corridor is in Caledon, he said the issue involves Brampton and Mississauga.

"A lot of work has been spent and we have nothing to show for it at this end," he declared.

Hearing starts into appeal of Badlands parking lot

By Bill Rea

Two hearing officers are currently listening to evidence regarding the appeal of the Niagara Escarpment Commission (NEC) approval of a parking lot neat the Cheltenham Badlands.

NEC approved the development permit, and that was appealed by local resident Bonnie Ledson, although other parties have since been added.

The hearing opened at the Caledon Council Chambers Monday with numerous procedural issues. They included discussion as to whether the hearing was premature. Work is being done on creating a master plan for the Badlands, and there were arguments parking arrangements should be part of that.

Brampton mourns former councillor Paul Palleschi

Flags at City of Brampton facilities have been lowered to half-mast in memory of former City of Brampton and Peel Regional councillor Paul Palleschi, who died Sunday.

Mr. Palleschi was first elected to City council in 1985, and became a Regional councillor in 1991. He stood down from running in the 2014 municipal elections, and his son Michael was elected to his former seat.

Mayor Linda Jeffrey recalled Mr. Palleschi's years of service to the community, including sitting with him on City council for 12 years.

"During this time, I found him to be a councillor that didn't shy away from his responsibilities and was always ready to roll up his sleeves and work with staff to find solutions to the daily challenges of a growing community," she said in a statement issued Monday.

"Paul took great pride in his roles as president of the Peel Housing Corporation and as Chair of the City's Planning Committee as he worked to build a better city for us all."

Jeffrey extended condolences to Mr. Palleschi's family, as did Caledon Mayor Allan Thompson.

"We've lost an icon," Thompson said.

"He was a person when he made his mind up to do something, he got it done," he added. "He was a doer."

"He held the Region's interests at heart as well," Thompson said.

Flags will remain at half-mast until sunset the day of Mr. Palleschi's funeral.

Details about the funeral had not been announced at press time.

Paul Palleschi received a testimonial as he left Peel Regional council in the fall of 2014.

Lawyer Sunny Zhai, representing NEC, said her only witness would be Planner Michael Baran, who wrote the staff report that recommended the development permit be issued.

Lawyer Ron Webb, representing Ledson, said he would be calling two witnesses, adding the contention will be it would be better to permit parking through an approved master plan, and it would be appropriate to issue such a permit through such a master plan process.

Webb observed the Badlands attract many visitors, including those who use them to access the Bruce Trail. There are worries that putting a 33-car lot off Olde Base Line Road will create traffic concerns.

Webb observed the property was bought by the Province in 1999, and is now owned by the Ontario Heritage Trust (OHT), and managed by the Bruce Trail Conservancy (BTC).

He added they will contend the parking lot is not permitted by the Niagara Escarpment Plan unless the Plan is amended and the management plan is developed and approved. He also said they will argue it's not permitted under Caledon's Official Plan either.

William MacLarkey, representing OHT and BTC, said the appellants have come up with a list of 23 issues. "It was a full-frontal attack" on everything about the NEC approval, he said.

He added the Niagara Escarpment Plan provides for a permit process that was applied in this case. He added the plan contemplates that a proponent can apply for a development permit.

"That's what happened in this case," he said.

MacLarkey also contended there will be no evidence that undermines the technical investigations that NEC relied on.

Robert Maciver, representing Peel Region, said the Region is a party to the hearing because Olde Base Line is a Regional road, and traffic safety is an issue.

Local resident Theresa Nadeau told the hearing she had a problem with the process being used, commenting the residents should have been involved in it.

"We are willing to work with all of the proper officials," she said.

Local resident Irene Reimanis-Aziz read an eight-page statement which opened with a quote from the NEC staff report that said it was "noteworthy" that the Commission received no public inquiries during the review of the application.

"It is 'noteworthy' because the general public was not aware of the application, and was never involved in consultation, planning or discussion related to the Cheltenham Badlands since the property passed from private ownership in a sale to the Province of Ontario, for the people of Ontario," she responded.

The hearing is scheduled to continue for the rest of this week.

Region getting gas tax revenue

By Bill Rea

Peel Region is due to receive more than $690,000 in dedicated gas tax revenues from the Province, and it will be going toward Public Transportation.

Regional council last week agreed to fulfill the Provincial requirement and passed a bylaw authorizing the execution of a letter of agreement.

Regional staff reported that the Region was informed in November of the allocation, amounting to $693,788. The first portion, $520,341, was payable once the letter of agreement was executed, with the rest coming after.

Staff also stated the Region uses this funding on its TransHelp bus service.

"We remain committed to providing a long-term, stable and predictable transit funding source for Ontario municipalities by providing two cents per litre of Provincial gas tax to improve and expand transit," stated Transportation Minister Steven Del Duca, in a letter which was received by Regional council at the same meeting.

"Ontario moved forward with our commitment to make gas tax funding permanent with the passage of the Dedicated Funding for Public Transit Act, 2013."

Mississauga Councillor Karen Ras was concerned about the impact on these revenues from falling gas prices.

Commissioner of Finance and Chief financial Officer Stephen VanOfwegen said the tax is based on a per-litre calculation, so there should be no impact from the prices.

Country Day School celebrated another milestone with the opening of its new senior school building. All hands were on deck for the official ribbon cutting.

Country Day School formally unveils new senior school

By Jake Courtepatte

Country Day School has added another milestone to its long and storied 43-year history in King City. The $10 million “Making Connections” campaign, the largest campaign in the independent school’s history, was capped last Tuesday with the official unveiling of the new two-story senior school building. The 51,000 square foot addition includes a new dining hall, administration offices, learning and support centres, and nine new classrooms.

More than 250 current and past CDS parents, students, alumni, faculty and staff, enjoyed an evening exploring the building. “When our founders opened The Country Day School doors for the first time in 1972, they did so cherishing the promise of youth and the importance of education,” said Head of School John Liggett in his remarks. “Those same values are present as we officially open the most recent in a long line of new Country Day School doors. With a reverence for all the hard work that came before us, and a commitment to further advance CDS into the future, we hereby officially open our new dining hall and rejuvenated senior school.”

Approved in April of 2012, the Making Connections campaign saw a portion of the senior school dismantled in December, having served its purpose since 1986.

Other parts of the school were put in place in 1998 and 1999, and still stand following renovations.

Named donors are recognized throughout all areas of the new building, such as the Niczowski, Temovsky, and Arrigo Dining Hall, and the Croxon Family Administration Centre.

“A lot of people think of the Country Day School and the independent school network, and they don’t really know what that means,” said Paul Jewer, Chair of the Board of Directors. “Independent means we’re on our own. We make our own decisions, we are responsible for our own destiny, and the quality of education that we provide for our children. Thanks to this community as a collective, we have this fantastic new space.”

King Mayor Steve Pellegrini also added his own positive remarks, saying the new building is “something the community can be proud of.”

Innis says it’s fair to move on

Brampton Councillor John Sprovieri couldn’t imagine what new technology might be involved, as he stressed the need to move forward.

“We need the roads,” he remarked. “There are going to be cars forever.” “People have to move,” he added. “We’re going to need this infrastructure. “I don’t know where the Minister’s coming from; why he pulled the plug on this.”

But Commissioner of Public Works Dan Labrecque was of a different mind. He said waiting a couple of months on a project like this is not a big deal.

Palleschi said he heard where Thompson was coming from, but warned against pushing the Province into making a rushed decision.

Labrecque said a letter could be drafted to the Province, expressing a desire to work with them, while stressing the importance on investing in the movement of people and goods.

“We should be part of the conversation, working with the Ministry,” he commented.

“We’ve had lots of public meetings on this matter,” Caledon Councillor Jennifer Innis said, adding stakeholder groups have spent hours discussing it. She too agreed with the need to move forward. She added a lot of land is involved, and many farmers sit wondering if they should be expanding their operations. She said it’s only fair to ask the Province to move forward.

“We’ve spent countless hours on this,” Caledon Councillor Barb Shaughnessy declared, reminding everyone the Province suspended work on the EA at the last minute.

She also didn’t have much faith that the Province will have anything to offer in a couple of months.

“Caledon is most affected by this,” she said. “I just don’t think we can wait for the province.”

“This is a pause; this is a sober second thought,” observed Brampton Mayor Linda Jeffrey. “This isn’t a cancellation.”

“We’re not in the driver’s seat,” she added, observing if the Region wants to work with the Province, the tone of the message is important. She said it’s fine to ask for a meeting, pointing out a lot of money and energy has gone into this. “Tone matters and respect matters,” she said.

Environmental Defence calls for cancelling proposed highway

Environmental Defence is calling on the Province not just to pause work on Highway 413, but to cancel it altogether.

The Province announced in December that it was suspending work on the environmental assessment of the GTA West Corridor that traverses Caledon as it runs from Highway 400 west, through town and south into Brampton and Halton Region. The corridor is slated to include a 400-series highway, which is informally known as Highway 413.

“If Ontario is serious about cutting carbon emissions, reducing traffic jams and creating sustainable communities, the proposed Highway 413 should be scrapped outright,” commented Environmental Defence Executive Director Tim Gray. “Instead of building yet another toll highway, the Province should invest the money in public transit.”

Following the U.N. climate talks, Ontario announced a temporary suspension (until spring) of the corridor’s environmental assessment. If built, Highway 413 would pave over prime farmland, including a portion in Ontario’s Greenbelt, and degrade the headwaters of the Credit and Humber Rivers.

The highway is intended primarily to move goods through the northwest portion of the Greater Toronto Area (GTA), Sony Rai, executive director of Sustainable Vaughan, observed. He also pointed out that if it’s built, it would attract commuters as well.

He added studies have shown new highways generate more traffic rather than reducing congestion.

“Placing a highway on productive farmland then building sprawl subdivisions is how we created the congestion problems we are facing today,” Gray added. “Our pattern of growth needs to change to put people and public transit first. Proceeding with this unnecessary highway represents backwards thinking.”

Members of the public concerned about the highway can sign a petition and order free lawn signs at Stopthe413.ca

Fishing derby play promises laughs

The Tipling Stage Company is offering the funniest comedy about fishing for a monster catfish ever to be seen.

Norm Foster's The Great Kooshog Lake Hollis McCauley Fishing Derby is playing at Grace Tipling Hall in Shelburne Feb. 19 to 27 and (to paraphrase the slogan for another worthy drive) it's worth the drive to Shelburne.

The cast and crew have been busy rehearsing and preparing for the production for weeks and they're still collapsing into helpless giggles in and out of character. That's how funny some of the lines in this play are — make that just about all the lines.

This will be the third Foster play performed in Shelburne and it certainly looks as if area residents will be happy to see many more. His plays are so popular that they're even starting a Norm Foster Festival in St. Catharines this summer with Foster himself appearing in the premier production. The festival slogan is Humour with a Heart, and that's exactly why everybody loves these hilariously funny plays which, between the laughs, provide the glimpses of situations, personalities and relationships with which audience members immediately identify.

Tickets for the production are $15 and are available from Shelburne Town Hall or online at www.tiplingstagecompany.com

Group tickets are discounted for party bookings of 10 or more, so how about a family outing? Details are available on the website.

Dufferin-Peel schools mark Black History

Dufferin-Peel Catholic schools will host many engaging events and activities to celebrate Black History Month.

This will include It's Everyone's History — Opening Doors, a board-wide Black History Student Conference Feb. 18 for secondary school students. This event will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the University of Toronto Mississauga Campus.

Now in its 12th year, the conference will highlight local community members who have achieved success and fulfillment of their ambitions and who are also role models for all students. More than 400 students are expected to attend the event which will include a panel discussion on Black Identity in 2016, followed by a series of workshops.

"In addition to a panel discussion, students will participate in workshops, led by a diverse range of presenters, who will share their own success and motivational stories," Dufferin-Peel's Principal of Diversity, Equity and Inclusive Education Michelle Coutinho said. "By learning about, and celebrating the contributions of African-Canadians, and, in particular, members of our own local community, students will be inspired to develop and share the diverse talents with which they have been blessed."

The list of presenters will include TV producer and host Akil Augustine, marketing manager and leadership coach Chloe McKenzie, radio host and commentator Desmond Cole, TV producer and host Amanda Parris, author and journalist Dalton Higgins, sports writer Morgan Campbell, author Itah Sadu and dance educator Ijo Vudo.

University of Toronto Mississauga Campus is at 3359 Mississauga Rd., in Mississauga.

In addition to the board-wide conference, numerous schools have Black History Month events and activities planned. A detailed list of school events is available on the board's website.

Dufferin-Peel students continue high levels in Grade 9 math

Results from the 2014-2015 Education Quality and Accountability Office's (EQAO) Grade 9 assessments of mathematics contained good news for local students.

The results indicate Dufferin-Peel Catholic District School Board students continue to demonstrate high levels of performance at both the academic and applied levels of study.

The percentage of students achieving at, or above, the provincial standard (Levels 3 or 4) in Grade 9 mathematics highlights the on-going historical success of Dufferin-Peel in this subject area. Results from the 2014-2015 mathematics assessments were relatively consistent with last year's high achievement levels among students in both the academic and applied mathematics programs.

"Dufferin-Peel Catholic schools foster a climate of academic excellence and our EQAO results are but one reflection of that climate," commented Director of Education John Kostoff. "We look upon these latest positive results with a sense of pride and accomplishment, but we know, as well, that we still have much work to do as a system, to further improve student learning, achievement and well-being among all learners."

"Dufferin-Peel's EQAO success is one of many indicators that our students are achieving," said Board Chair Mario Pascucci. "We will, however, review our supports as we move forward in a strategic manner striving, as always, for continuous improvement in all areas."

EQAO assessments of Grade 9 mathematics provide an indication of each student's achievement in the subject. The 2014-2015 assessment results report on two groups of students — those taking academic mathematics and those taking applied mathematics. The results show 88 per cent of the students were at or exceeded the provincial standard in academic mathematics, and 60 per cent in applied math. There is no provincial data yet available from EQAO.

"We will now proceed to analyze these results in greater detail," said Sheila McWatters, associate director of instructional services with the Board. "Insight gained through analysis will enable us to provide better support to schools, parents and students to ensure even higher levels of achievement as we move forward."

Each school has its own plan to support mathematics, which will be reviewed in the context of the test results, to improve students' mathematics skills across all subject areas. Inherent in school plans are strategies to assist all students, including remediation for those who did not meet the provincial standard in Grade 9 mathematics.

EQAO is an independent agency with a mandate to ensure greater accountability and to help improve the quality of education.

The event was their annual tourism awards ceremony, A Taste of Tourism. It was held at the Dufferin County Museum and Archives.

With a record number of nominations in 2015, it is clear that the tourism industry is thriving in Headwaters, and continues to help support the vibrancy and vitality of the region. The Taste of Tourism awards honour those tourism businesses and individuals who exemplify excellence, and help profile the Headwaters region as one Ontario's premier rural tourism destinations and Where Ontario Gets Real.

Dufferin County Museum's General Manager Darrell Keenie acted as master of ceremonies for the event and announced the award recipients.

They were Hills of Erin Studio Tour — Best Arts, Culture or Heritage Experience; Mark Grice — Artisan of the Year; Little Creek Ranch — Best Agri-Tourism Experience; 24 Hours of Summer Sol-

When announcing this year's recipient, Coupland said, "History comes alive in Headwaters for so many reasons, but perhaps it comes most alive when it is told to us by our own historian, raconteur and Renaissance man, Wayne Townsend."

14 Critical Home Inspection Traps to be Aware of Weeks Before Listing Your Dufferin-Peel Home for Sale in 2016

DUFFERIN-PEEL – According to industry experts, there are over 33 physical problems that will come under scrutiny during a home inspection when your home is for sale.

A new report has been prepared which identifies the fourteen most common of these problems, and what you should know about them before you list your home for sale in 2016.

Whether you own an old home or a brand new one, there are a number of things that can fall short of requirements during a home inspection. If not identified and dealt with, any of these 14 items could cost you dearly in terms of repair.

That's why it's critical that you read this report before you list your home. If you wait until the building inspector flags these issues for you, you will almost certainly experience costly delays in the close of your home sale or, worse, turn prospective buyers away all together.

In most cases, you can make a reasonable pre-inspection yourself if you know what you're looking for, and knowing what you're looking for can help you prevent little problems from growing into costly and unmanageable ones.

To help home-sellers deal with this issue before their homes are listed, a free report entitled "14 Critical Things You Need to Know to Pass Your Home Inspection" has been compiled which explains the issues involved.

To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report call toll-free 1-866-500-3429 and enter ID# 302. You can call any time, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Get your free special report NOW to learn how to ensure a home inspection doesn't cost you the sale of your home.

House Tour raised $75,000

The Headwaters Health Care Auxiliary's House Tour Committee announced a record $75,161 donation to Headwaters Health Care Foundation from its 21st annual House Tour, held in the fall.

This year's House Tour offered more than 700 participants the opportunity to explore, at their leisure, seven outstanding private properties and homes throughout the Hills of Headwaters, then stop into the beautifully decorated OAS Event Centre where they shopped at the Vendor Market Place, participated in the raffle of six exciting prizes and enjoyed a fantastic gourmet lunch with food provided by local chefs.

The House Tour's silent auction was featured online again this year, making it possible for the entire community to bid on the 240 donated auction prizes. The home owners and more than 300 loyal sponsors, donors and contributors must be thanked for making this year's House Tour such a memorable success.

As always, it was the dedicated volunteers who made it happen. The core group of 21 volunteers on the 2015 Headwaters House Tour Committee worked hard for 11 months to plan the event. In addition, the crew of extra volunteers who came in the day of the tour to help at the hall, in the homes, and with parking made the total add up to close to 100 people who helped make it a perfect day.

The Headwaters House Tour proceeds contribute to Headwaters Health Care Auxiliary's $750,000 five year pledge to the Commitment to Care Campaign, launched in October 2012 in partnership with Headwaters Health Care Foundation. Since 1995 the Headwaters House Tour fundraising event has raised $667,358 for new hospital equipment.

The Headwaters Health Care Auxiliary, with approximately 240 volunteers, is an integral part of Headwaters Health Care Centre. In addition to their patient support, the Auxiliary helps raise funds for hospital equipment purchases through a number of events and activities, the House Tour being one of them. Other community and fundraising events of the Auxiliary are the Teddy Bear Clinic, Candy Cane Fair, quilt raffle, used book sales, the main level coffee bar and gift shop at the hospital, and the new thrift store Seconds Count, at 127 Broadway in Orangeville, which opened in October 2014. All the proceeds from the fundraising efforts flow through to the Headwaters Health Care Foundation.

Time to register for winter programs at CPCC

A new year is here and Caledon Parent-Child Centre (CPCC) is looking forward to its Winter Program Registration, when they will offer local families the opportunity to register for the next eight-week session of early learning programs and activities.

The years from birth to age six are the most influential in a child's development and how children are cared for during those first six years sets the stage for lifelong learning, behaviour and health. At CPCC, families with young children can take part in a variety of free early learning programs and activities.

Parents and caregivers may also get helpful information about the child's development and about services to support that development.

Be sure to register for the winter session of programs the week of Feb. 1 to

This winter's schedule of parenting and infant development programs includes You and Your Baby, Shake Rattle and Roll and Infant Mother Goose. Preschool and early learning programs will also be offered, including Toddler Move and Groove, School Here I Come, Math is Everywhere and Adventures In Science. Based on registration volume and space limitations, a lottery system may be used to determine participation.

For more information on the winter schedule, including detailed program descriptions and registration guidelines, visit www.cp-cc.org or call 905-857-0090.

Family Time drop-in is open five days a week and programs are also being offered at the Cheltenham and Caledon East locations.

Kathleen Megna and Chris Broomhead of Skylark Framing and Fine Art in Bolton.

New owners at Skylark Framing and Fine Art

When opportunity knocks, answer the door!

At some point or another we have all asked ourselves the question "If I could do anything I wanted, what would my job be?"

Husband and wife team Chris Broomhead and Kathleen Megna asked themselves this question often. Megna joked that, in her adult life, when being a professional bubble gum tester eventually lost its appeal, her answer was always "traveling the world and taking pictures."

As for Broomhead "opening a custom framing shop" has been at the top of his list for as long as they have known each other. Until now, there was no reality . . . only a dream.

Megna loved working as a personal stylist and manager at a Designer Consignment Boutique in Schomberg, where the couple and their 22-month-old son Pete live. Broomhead has spent the past 14 years as a customer framer with one of Canada's most respected wholesalers representing prominent Canadian artists' works. His attention to detail and creative eye allowed him to ensure that every great piece of art was showcased with the perfect frame. Megna knew that Broomhead could bring her photography to life with just the right mat and frame. She exhibited at shows like the Schomberg Street Gallery and Covernotes Tea and Coffee House, and always was complimented on the framing as well as the art. Each sale made them think more and more about how much they would love to make this a full-time business.

Several months ago, that opportunity presented itself and was too good not to put into action. A spur of the moment online search pinpointed a laser beam at "their dream." The advertisement indicated not only a framing store but a fine art gallery for sale in their area. Here was the opportunity for Broomhead to utilize his skills and passion for art as well as for Megna to bring her love of working with customers and her knowledge of photography to make "the dream" a reality.

After extensive research and motivated by a YouTube video of an inspiring and positive commencement speech by actor Jim Carrey, they determined that this chance had presented itself for a reason. Call it fate, luck or coincidence, opportunity knocked and they have answered the door. Broomhead and Megna are delighted to announce that they are now the proud new owners of Skylark Framing and Fine Art in Bolton, and they are excited to be bringing their dream to the community.

Nothing wrong with pressuring Province

We were a little disappointed in the way Peel Regional council decided last week to address the suspension of work on the GTA West Corridor environmental assessment (EA) study. Caledon councillors, earlier in the week, passed motion asking Transportation Minister Steve Del Duca to resume and complete the study immediately. We saw nothing wrong with that. Yet some people at the Region weren't too pleased with the tone. There were concerns that it put too much pressure on officials at Queen's Park. They opted, instead, to ask for a meeting between the Minister and Regional Chair Frank Dale and the Mayors of Caledon, Brampton and Mississauga. Brampton Mayor Linda Jeffrey was among those stressing the need for the tone to be respectful. "We're not in the driver's seat," she correctly observed. Let us not forget that Jeffrey herself is a former Provincial cabinet minister, and thus has some idea on how things are run down at Queen's Park and how well various different approaches are received there.

But let us also not forget that there is a lot riding on this study, and on the future of the Corridor. Land use planning issues are being held up, especially in Caledon, as well as in Brampton. Decisions at the municipal level are being delayed. As well, long-range plans for individuals, families, farmers and business people are also on hold. The Corridor takes up a lot of land which figures every prominently in the lives of many people. Residents sit in their living rooms, wondering if the spot they're sitting in is to one day become part of a super highway. Farmers already have enough trouble trying to make sure their operations are profitable. What is going to be the impact of this Corridor on their futures. They have a right to know.

We are not without sympathy over the task that is facing the Province. This involves some hard decisions that will have massive impacts on a lot of people, and influence municipal planning for years and decades to come. Yes, these decisions are hard. But wasn't the government elected to make those hard decisions? We don't think it's too much to ask the government to do it's job. Jeffrey and other councillors were right when they referred to the importance of tone and respect.

But with that in mind, what are all of us to think of a Provincial government that in December slammed the brakes on a process that it had started, and with very little in the way of explanation. Was that respectful? The people who were impacted by this decision deserved better. Thus we think the Town was right to ask for the EA study to resume immediately. Failing that, there should be more details as to why it was suspended. If there was a good reason, then let's hear it. The people who are asking for all this are not nonentities asking pestering questions. They are also voters in this province, and taxpayers too. They deserve better than what they're getting.

Gratitude expressed

Dear Anonymous Firefighter:
Thank you for taking the time to file a report against the hit and run culprit in December 2015 in the Walmart parking lot in Bolton.
I wanted to thank you in person, but I understand that you wish to remain anonymous. So I hope you read this letter and know that I am very grateful. Thank you from the bottom of my heart!

Thank you to all volunteers and participants

On behalf of everyone associated with the Fire and Ice Festival and Alton Millpond Hockey Classic, I am writing to express our most sincere thanks and appreciation for your contribution to both events.
We were blessed with a number of things that converged to make this year's events the most successful yet: Amazing weather that made for near-perfect ice conditions on the millpond, temperatures that were cold but not too cold for snow and ice carving, fat biking, hiking, fire sculpture and more; a roster of more than 40 volunteers of all ages; dedicated staff and artist tenants at the Alton Mill, vendors, sponsors and other participants; enthusiastic hockey players and fans; and a supportive community and municipality.
With approximately 1,100 attendees Saturday and 500 Sunday, the overall attendance for the weekend was the highest we've ever had for a public event at the Alton Mill.
Over the next few days, we'll be doing the accounting for the Hockey Classic to determine how much was raised for the millpond project. I am confident we will meet or exceed our target figure of $10,000, thanks to the hard work and contributions from so many people.
The overall "vibe" was positive, fun and authentic, which is exactly what we were hoping for.

Garbage system working well

So how do you like them so far?
In case you're wondering, I'm referring to those bins that we Caledon folks (along with everyone else in Peel) are now obliged to use to get rid of our garbage.
From all accounts, there have been a few problems settling into the new system. On the other hand, I think it would have been very short-sighted of anyone to think that everything would have gone smoothly right from the starting line. A few problems were inevitable.

That's pretty much what Peel's Director of Waste Management Norman Lee told Regional councillors last week when he updated them on the program.
"There were going to be some challenges," he said. "We've had some."
And it is true that it takes getting used to. But is that not the case with all new systems? And since we're on the topic, if there are people out there who don't think much of this new method, I think they owe it to their fellow residents to speak up and tell us what method they would prefer to employ to get rid of their garbage. They must, of course, understand that dumping it on your neighbour's property (or anyone else's for that matter) is not an option. Chucking it all out into your backyard isn't an appealing alternative either, although I guess if someone wants to live with the consequences, that's up to them. Just don't live near me, okay?

The settling-in problems included things like homes being missed. Actually, Lee said that was quite a large problem the first week. Again, although it would have been frustrating for the people who were impacted, I think we all have to agree problems like this would have been inevitable. But by the fourth week, a lot of the problems had been dealt with. So things are working out roughly the way they should.
Councillors raised some concerns too. There was a suggestion that maybe the green bins should be collected every other week, rather than every week. I thought Lee handled it well by suggesting we wait until the summer heat to see how good an idea that was. Frankly, I won't be surprised to hear calls for having them collected twice a week during August heat waves. Incidentally, my wife and I are having trouble filling that bin on a weekly basis, but more about that later.

Then there's the problem of the recycling bins getting too full, and indeed, that's an issue with me too. It is, however, largely an issue of my own making. The facility in which the Citizen offices are now located (we moved in the last year) does not have recycling. My conscience gets its back up a bit at the thought of putting recyclable material into the garbage stream (and a newspaper office creates a lot of waste paper), so I've got into the habit of taking some of this material home and putting it in my recycling bin. One household bin cannot, however, handle the entire production of a community newspaper office, and Beth would probably kick me out of the house if I even tried. But I like to think I'm doing my bit.
The point, stated briefly, is our recycling cart gets full too quickly. But Lee also said it's okay to put out those blue recycling bags, if necessary.
This whole thing is evolving.

Another problem I've had was brought up at council by Carolyn Parrish of Mississauga (Parrish and I agreeing on something — I don't know which of the two of us is more astonished). The wind tends to knock these carts over. I've driven enough roads over the last couple of weeks to see lots of carts on their sides on curbs and shoulders. I have not yet had to swerve to avoid one, but I can see that day coming. On the other side, have we not always had such problems with empty blue boxes sliding across the road, or barrels rolling on the shoulders?

But it can be a pain when they're on their sides.
In the case of Beth and myself, our collection day is Monday, meaning we are expected to have our carts in position for collection by 7 a.m. that day. My usual waking up time is 7. Since I'm not a big fan of exposing myself to the winter elements that early in the morning, I usually have the carts put out the night before. You have probably seen the ads in the Citizen from the Region with a picture depicting a woman towing her cart, running after the collection truck, dressed in a bathrobe and bunny slippers. I don't want to end up like her. For one thing, I don't own bunny slippers and I have absolutely no desire for that to change (and since I have a birthday coming soon, I hope Beth pays close attention to this sentence).

There was, however, a Sunday night not long ago when I lugged the green bin and the other (it was garbage week, if memory serves) down to the end of our long driveway just after it got dark. It was a windy night, and I looked out the window about an hour later and noticed the green bin was on its side. I got my coat on and went out into the chill to set it back up again. I tried to anchor into the ground on the shoulder of the road as best I could, then head back to the house. I got about halfway up the driveway when I heard a thump, and looked to see the bin back on its side. The fact was we didn't have a lot of stuff to put in it. Ballast was lacking.

Muttering words I can't print in a community newspaper, I dragged both carts back up to the porch, and took them both down again at 6:30 the next morning.
The other problem is where to store them. They currently take up space on our front porch, and Beth doesn't like that arrangement. I'm not too pleased with it either, but these things do take up a lot of room, and we're not swimming in alternative choices. We do have a two-car garage, but Beth and I moved into the house less than a year ago, and we're still trying to decide where to put stuff. The garage is crammed with furniture and packing boxes. I think my income tax records are in one of those boxes, and I'm going to need them in the next couple of weeks.

So yeah, there have been some problems, but like I stated above, any new system is going to have some settling-in challenges. And I thought Mississauga Councillor Jim Tovey made a good point last Thursday that we were lucky it's been a mild winter. I haven't yet figured out how I'm going to lug those carts through two feet of snow, assuming collections go ahead as planned such days. That's another challenge I have to look forward to, but so do the rest of us.

Bill Rea

Check out the fun in Caledon in February

The Town of Caledon Council approved a historic 2016 budget Jan. 19 with a responsible blended increase of 1.97 per cent.

I say historic because of the unprecedented level of community engagement. This was a budget by the people, for the people.

Some of the highlights include the capital investment of a Fire Training Facility and a Broadband Levy that will allow us to take full advantage of Federal and Provincial funding. As well, we are continuing to invest in our road networks and bridges and we are delivering on the priorities outlined in the 55 Plus Strategic Plan, Council Workplan and the Parks and Recreation Visioning Exercise.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mayor Allan Thompson

Family Day is Feb. 15 and we have lots of fun and exciting free events planned for all ages. The Albion-Bolton Community Centre will feature skating and the Mayfield complex will offer public swimming, skating, parent and child shinny and other family focused activities.

Dress warmly and get outdoors this month to explore one of our many trails and conversation areas in Caledon. It's an opportunity to unplug, and reconnect with nature. Here are some of the amazing winter sports you can take part in at Albion Hills Conservation Area (either bring your own equipment or rent it on site): cross country skiing, tobogganing, skating or check out the Fat Bikes. Afterwards, enjoy a hot chocolate in the heated chalet.

Even though we've had a mild winter so far, the weather and road conditions can change quickly, a reminder to take extra care while driving. The OPP have a slogan, "See snow, go slow." Leave a good distance between you and the car in front of you, and if it's really bad, stay in and stay safe.

February maybe short on days but it's full of fun. Check out our tourism website for a full list of the many things to do around Caledon.

Are you interested in becoming a CBSA officer?

The Canada Border Services Agency (CBSA) has a wide range of responsibilities as a federal agency.

The responsibilities range from enforcing laws, facilitating trade entering Canada and assisting visitors to Canada, to securing our borders. The broad range of services and programs performed by CBSA requires skilled and professional individuals to carry out these responsibilities. Becoming a CBSA officer can be an exciting and rewarding career opportunity to help ensure Canada's borders remain safe and secure.

In order to apply to be a CBSA officer, there are some basic requirements that you must meet, which include successful completion of a secondary school education; holding a valid driver's licence; and the successful completion of the Canadian Firearms Safety Course (CFSC), as well as the Canadian Restricted Firearms Safety Course (CRFSC) and you must pass the tests. More information on these courses may be found on the Canadian Firearms Program website (www.rcmp-grc.gc.ca). It is also important to know that you are responsible for all of the costs associated with these requirements and that you may be asked to show proof that you've met them at any point during the assessment process.

Another important factor to consider if you're contemplating a career with CBSA is that you must be fully prepared and committed to relocating anywhere within Canada for an assigned posting. For example, this could mean accepting a posting in a rural or remote area of the country. There is, of course, a range of locations available, as well as a process where you may express your preference of location, but at the end of the day, it is highly possible that you will be assigned and you must be prepared to move yourself and your family to another area of Canada that may be completely unfamiliar to you.

OTTAWA JOURNAL

David Tilson
MP Dufferin-Caledon

Another consideration is that you will be required to become familiarized with CBSA's mission, vision and the Agency's Code of Conduct. All employees of the CBSA, including those in training, must adhere to the Code and policy. Any breaches of the policy are sternly addressed, which may include discipline, release from the training or development programs, termination (for public servants) and/or legal action.

In addition to the other requirements, all applicants wishing to apply to the CBSA Officer Trainee - Developmental Program must read and understand the requirements as shown in the job advertisement. During the training period in Rigaud, Quebec, CBSA will provide coverage of the following costs — room, board, food, uniforms, one return trip from the trainee's home to the college and a stipend of $125 per week for minor personal expenses that may be incurred.

Once you've applied to the CBSA and it has decided you've met the basic requirements and you've accepted the personal decision point on mobility from the job advertisement, there are several remaining steps to take before becoming a border services officer: 1) pass written standardized test(s), interview(s), medical and psychological tests; 2) complete CBSA's physical abilities standard, the Physical Abilities Requirement Evaluation in 4:45 minutes or less; 3) obtain and be able to maintain a secret security clearance as per CBSA security standards; 4) complete the Officer Induction Training Program; 5) meet and be able to maintain the Conditions of Employment as outlined in the job advertisement; and 6) complete the Officer Induction Development Program as an officer trainee. After successfully completing these steps, you are then eligible to be appointed as a border services officer.

The road to becoming a CBSA officer may be a very involved process and require a great deal of commitment, but is very worthwhile, as it can be a very interesting and gratifying career opportunity.

If you would like to learn more about becoming a border services officer, please visit the CBSA website at www.cbsa.gc.ca

Decrease in auto insurance rates was a 'stretch'

FROM QUEEN'S PARK

Sylvia Jones
MPP Dufferin-Caledon

In 2013, the Liberal government promised to lower auto insurance rates by 15 per cent by August 2015, in order to gain NDP support for their budget.

As the August deadline passed and as we begin a new year, the goal of a 15 per cent reduction has become another unfulfilled promise.

After multiple missed deadlines, and rates nowhere near the 15 per cent reduction, the Premier finally admitted that her promised 15 per cent reduction was a "stretch goal."

What is a stretch goal? One can only assume it is one made that you're confident you can't achieve

Auto insurance rates are a major concern for Ontarians, and in particular in the Greater Toronto Area; as we pay twice as much compared to the Maritime provinces and 45 per cent more than Albertans. Over the last couple of years, residents of Dufferin-Caledon have seen a spike in their auto insurance rates due to postal code changes made by Canada Post. In one case, an individual informed me that their insurance increased by $500 because their postal code had changed.

We contacted the Financial Services Commission of Ontario (FSCO) on behalf of residents and FSCO issued a bulletin notifying insurance companies they could not increase insurance premiums based on postal code changes and must maintain the insurance rates that existed prior to the changes. Another individual called my office and informed us that their rates were going up even though she never had an accident, drove average vehicles, and lived in a safe neighborhood. Fortunately, my office was able to help resolve this issue, and many issues like it.

It's important when attempting to lower auto insurance rates that all changes must be done thoughtfully and with a thorough understanding of what is causing the increases.

The Progressive Conservative caucus has continuously recommended the government tackle insurance fraud, which is a major reason for high insurance premiums. In 2012, the Ontario Automobile Insurance Anti-Fraud Task Force brought forward 38 recommendations on how to tackle the issue of fraud. Unfortunately, as of July 2015, the government has acted on very few of their recommendations. I encourage the government to tackle the issue of fraud, instead of making promises they never intended to keep.

Rotary Club of Palgrave's Weekly Rotary Minute

By Gary Walters

As Rotarians, we receive monthly publications titled The Rotarian.

One is international and one focusses on Canadian clubs. Each edition is filled with the stories of wonderful projects to support humanity all across the globe. Projects ranging from small, localized initiatives to better one's own community to those that take the world by storm (think Polio Plus).

While reading through these magazines, it struck me that every good deed, every successful project was all started by one person who had a passion for an idea.

They then brought that idea to their club, which enabled the passion to spread and the idea then became a project.

Sometimes, it spreads from club to club and becomes much bigger than even the original passionate soul could have imagined.

That is the power of passion and Rotary.

Teen charged with stunt driving

A 17-year-old Brampton resident is facing charges after a Caledon OPP officer spotted a speeding vehicle Jan. 7.

Police report the officer was on Dixie Road, north of Mayfield Road and saw a red Toyota Camry travelling at high speed. It was determined to be going 165 km-h in a posted 80 zone.

The driver was charged with racing a motor vehicle.

The car was impounded for seven days.

A new means of burying issues

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Claire Hoy

Back in a day — as those of us of a certain age like to say — Ottawa had a routine way of burying issues which they didn't want to deal with.

They set up a Royal Commission, a process which a)- cost untold millions; b)- gave people a chance to vent; c)- dragged on for years; and d)- gathered enough dust on official shelves to have a direct impact on global climate.

In other words, as the saying goes, much sound and fury signifying nothing.

Things have changed. We are now in the modern era.

And so, Royal Commissions have been deftly replaced by — wait for it — government reviews, particularly environmental reviews.

Just as Royal Commissions gave the impression that the government of the day was dealing with a sticky issue, government reviews suggest that the wider public, i.e. the "stakeholders" as they're called now, will have their say before the shovels hit the ground.

The reality is, of course, that most of the time the intent is to appear to be dealing with an issue, all the while having absolutely no intent upon doing anything about it beyond stalling until the next government comes along and has to deal with it.

U.S. President Barrack Obama, (in) famously, used this technique to block the Keystone Pipeline, calling for reviews and more reviews — then even more reviews when early returns debunked his fallacious "environmental" concerns — until finally, nearly eight years later, he did what he had always wanted to do, i.e. he killed the project.

Fast forward to Prime Minister Justin Trudeau's neophyte government, which last week announced "interim" changes to the National Energy Board's system of pipeline reviews — which were already extraordinarily cumbersome — including a rule to consider the CO2 impacts of projects, virtually condemning a host of job-creating projects to a virtual halt for years to come and, more likely, forever.

That followed a very public declaration from Montreal mayor Denis Coderre, a former federal Liberal cabinet minister, that the Energy East pipeline — which would convert an existing pipeline from natural gas to oil feedstock — is too dangerous to the environment to be built.

Never mind that we already have hundreds of thousands of miles of pipelines operating quite safely in Canada — certainly far more safely than trucks or rail, which is what the anti-pipeline forces continue to perpetuate — and that it would feed western oil to refineries in Montreal, Quebec and Saint John, enabling them to replace more costly — and more environmentally risky — shipped-in oil from abroad.

Coderre — whose city recently soiled the St. Lawrence river by pouring tons of its garbage into it, with Trudeau, alas, giving his approval — is suddenly so worried about virtually non-existent dangers that he's prepared to champion real and present dangers.

So too, it seems, is Trudeau's new "sunny" Ottawa.

The whole exercise is a dream come true for the well-financed environmental lobby — which loves to portray itself as little people versus "big oil," and has succeeded brilliantly in this propaganda ruse — but an absolute nightmare for the thousands of workers who have already lost their jobs in the embattled oil industry and the thousands more who will suffer the same fate as the essentially endless review process continues.

The fact is, the international environmental movement wants no development of those resources. Period. Full stop.

But short of Trudeau acceding directly to their real wishes, imposing an endless review process will do just fine.

In a column last week in the National Post, former Tory finance minister Joe Oliver put it this way:

"Very few countries have vast natural resources like Canada, but if they do, they are actively developing them for the benefit of their people. If we do not take advantage of our good fortune, our oil and gas will be stranded in the ground and our legacy will be lost. What kind of fools would we be? I believe Canadians are far too smart to let that happen."

I don't. Not as long as we keep electing both federal and provincial governments who would rather take applause from the well-heeled champions of environmental purity than actually use our natural resources to create jobs, economic growth, prosperity and, let us not forget, dependence upon energy supplies from a part of the world which, as we all know, is not exactly an oasis of stability.

LOOK HOW FAR WE'VE COME!

CDS Opens its Rejuvenated Senior School

The $10M Making Connections campaign, the largest campaign in The Country Day School's history, is nearly complete and the School celebrated the grand opening of its new building at a reception and ribbon cutting on January 26.

Following remarks, Head of School John Liggett, accompanied by the Mayor of the Township of King Steve Pellegrini and members of the CDS Board of Directors, were joined on stage by lead donor families for the official ribbon cutting. Guests toured the new facilities throughout the evening and CDS Student Ambassadors were available to assist and answer questions.

The CDS community gathered for the grand opening of a 51,000 square-foot addition to the School, which includes a state-of-the-art Marché style Dining Hall and a spectacular expansion of the Senior School.

Guests commented on the extraordinary architectural design, which not only provides an entirely new look to the main entrance of the Senior School, but includes unique spaces to optimize learning.

Hallways and classrooms are flooded with natural light and afford beautiful views of CDS' rural 100-acre setting. Students now have significantly more breakout areas and inspirational spaces for learning and creativity.

We are incredibly proud of how far our school has come in just 43 years. Thank you to our community for helping us achieve this milestone!

To learn more, please visit www.cds.on.ca. Better yet, call us at 905 833 1972 to book a personal tour. We would love to show you how far we have come in our first 43 years and invite you to be part of our future.

Golden Hawks land Siskins in first round of GMOHL playoffs

By Jake Courtepatte
If the Caledon Golden Hawks want to get out of the first round of the Georgian Mid-Ontario Hockey League playoffs unscathed for the first time in team history, it's going to be through the Stayner Siskins.

The Hawks drew the Siskins in the quarter-finals of the junior C league after going 0-1-1 in the final week of regular season play, landing in fifth spot with a record of 17-20-3. Stayner, meanwhile, will enjoy home ice advantage in the seven-game series after finishing in fourth place with an 18-17-5 record.

Caledon rides a bit of a slump into the postseason, going without a win in two weeks. On a positive note, however, they played the Alliston Hornets to a 2-2 tie on the road Friday; quite a feat considering the dominating performance of the Hornets this year.

All four goals in the game were scored in the first period, with Kevin Pleasance and Ryan Mouser scoring for the Hawks.

Sam Procopio was lights-out in net, stopping 34 of the 36 Alliston shots he faced. The Hawks actually attacked the Alliston net with 45 shots of their own; one of the very few times all season the Hornets have been outshot.

Though they ended the regular season with a 7-2 loss at home Sunday to the Penetang Kings, the Hawks have to be commended for the turnaround season they've experienced. They went 17-3-3 after a horrendous start, putting up a season-high five game winning streak in November.

They had a chance to vault as high as second place in the standings in the final month of play, but landing in fifth may turn out to be a blessing in disguise: the season series between the two teams ended 3-1-1 in favour of the Hawks, with Stayner's only victory coming in late September.

It's a key opportunity for the Hawks to finally see semifinal action, having been knocked out in the quarter-final round in each of the five years of the club's existence. They were swept by the Kings in four games in 2014-15.

The series kicks off in Stayner tonight (Thursday), shifting to Caledon East Saturday. The two teams will alternate home ice throughout the series, with the third game set for Feb. 7, the fourth Feb. 9, and if necessary, game five will be Feb. 11, game six Feb. 12, and game seven Feb. 14.

Elsewhere around the league, the Schomberg Cougars have drawn the unfortunate task of taking on the Hornets in the first round. Alliston is coming off one of the best seasons ever seen in the junior C league with a 35-2-3 record. The Huntsville Otters will take on the Erin Shamrocks, and the Midland Flyers will take on the Kings.

Local kicker to suit up for International Bowl

By Bill Rea
Inglewood native Michael Bobak is looking forward to some great times ahead in football.

He has been selected to play this weekend in the International Bowl at AT&T Stadium in Dallas. This is the home of the Cowboys.

Bobak, 16, attended Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School last year, but he's now going to The Kiski School, a preparatory facility in Saltsburgh, near Pittsburgh, on a football scholarship.

He will be representing Ontario in the tournament, as the kicker, playing two games against American Under-17 opponents.

Bobak said he's been playing football since he was seven. In addition to his exploits at Hall, he's played for the Brampton Bulldogs and Guelph Junior Gryphons.

While he's also a linebacker, Bobak said he was just kicking in the tournament. "At school, I play both," he said.

Bobak said he had to go through multiple try-outs to make the team, learning he had been successful Dec. 7, which is also his birthday. "It was really cool," he said.

He also said he's really looking forward to the experience, because it will get him American exposure, "which is one of the big things I really need."

He will be playing American football rules, which includes four downs instead of three, and the American field is a lot smaller than the Canadian. Those are the rules he plays in school, and he added that's not required a great adjustment. He also played in the Ontario Varsity Football League, and they use American rules, as did the bulldogs.

"It's not that big of a change for me," he commented.

Bobak is looking far ahead when it comes to football. He hopes to attend an American university, and eventually play in the NFL.

He would like to attend Ohio State, citing it has a very good football program and it would be close to his home. He added he has relatives living nearby.

Bobak said he's had a passion for football since his younger years. One of his friends' brother was a football player. "I just wanted to be like him," he said.

"I'm still hoping I can get pretty far in a career in this sport I love playing," he added.

He was also asked for his prediction in this Sunday's Super Bowl. "That's a tough one," he said, adding he would lean to the Carolina Panthers.

Michael Bobak is looking forward to playing this weekend in the International Bowl in Dallas.

Double gold for Midget Hawks at Silver Stick tournament

By Jake Courtepatte

The Caledon Hawks organization pulled off an incredible feat in Sarnia recently, skating away with two International Silver Stick titles over the course of only a few hours.

Both the Midget A and Midget AA Hawks took on the top teams from across Canada and the United States and came away the victors, just two weeks after winning their respected regional tournaments to guarantee a spot on minor hockey's biggest stage.

The As cruised through round-robin play, first putting up big numbers against two of the best squads Pennsylvania had to offer, the Leigh Valley Phantoms and the Haverford Hawks. A 3-0 shutout for goaltender Justin Lowe in game three over the Quinte West Hawks set up a semifinal match up with Southern Ontario's Erindale Spitfires, the first closely-contested game for the Hawks so far, squeaking out a 4-2 win and a trip to the final.

There the Hawks handled the Thor-old Blackhawks with ease, going out in style with an 8-1 championship win. Goalies Lowe and Dalton Cooke allowed only seven goals through the five games of the tournament, and were both acknowledged with nods on the tournament all-star team.

They were joined by their teammate, defenceman Anthony Esteves. Congratulations go out as well to Jonathan Sunseri, Nicolas Saville, Gabe Baldassarra, Sam Siskos, Luke Caleca, Michael Carnevale, Nicholas Palumbo, Tyler Halls, Steve Luongo, Rocco Marinaccio, Ryan Griffin, Tyler Giancos and Jake Reid.

For the AA Hawks, it was a similar path to the winner's circle. Going undefeated in the round robin, they met the Oakland Jr. Grizzlies in Sunday's semifinal, pulling together a 3-2 win.

Back on the ice later that afternoon, they came out on top 4-3 over the St. Clair Shores Saints, capturing the Hawks' second Silver Stick title of the afternoon.

An impressive list of hardware followed as well, including the Lyle Kirk Memorial Award for best attitude and sportsmanship, the John Slobodnik Award for least penalty minutes, MVP honours for Nicholas Barbosa, and induction to the tournament all-star team for both Barbosa and Franco Zuccato.

And perhaps the greatest award of all? Both teams will have their names added permanently into the Hockey Hall of Fame.

Nicole Smith and Georgie Ledson stand with the two racers of the family, Cole and Nick.

Ledson Motorsports had a successful 2015

By Bill Rea

Brothers Cole Smith-Ledson and Nick Ledson like to drive fast, and they've also demonstrated their good at it.

The two brothers of Ledson Motorsports have been making their mark on the tracks as far away as South Carolina.

Cole, now 16, earned the right in November to compete in the Young Lions section of the 2015 Legends Car Nationals at Anderson Motor Speedway, performing well. He won the Young Lions Race of Champions, after winning the championship of Central Canada.

His father Georgie said he finished fourth in the main event of the competition, which was impressive, considering he started 12th in the field, then was involved in an accident and was sent to the back of the pack for the last 15 laps of a 35-lap race.

The Grade 11 student at Humberview Secondary School has been racing go carts since he was eight, and won the novice championship in the Simcoe Kart Club in 2009, graduating to junior lights the following year.

He started in the Legends Car series in 2013, following his brother Nick, 19, who got into it the previous year.

"It's almost like the next step up," he said.

He races mainly at Sunset International Speedway near Innisfil and Peterborough Speedway.

"I like speed," he said is the simple explanation for his attraction to the sport.

"Oh my God, the emotions are crazy," his mother Nicole Smith said.

Cole watches various types of racing, including NASCAR Indy and Formula One, and he hopes to keep moving up in the sport.

"There's a wide range," he father said. "It's endless."

He's also thought about racing at Daytona. "That'd be fun," he said.

Racing can sometimes be a dangerous sport. Cole admitted it can be scary when he sees a crash taking place up ahead.

"At every track, you have to learn the line; that racing line," he said.

His father raced Formula 2000 cars for a couple of years.

"I started these guys young," he said, adding he's no desire to get back into racing. "I'm happy watching these guys."

Brother Nick, 19, said there's really no secret to the success he's enjoyed so far, apart from just doing what you can in the car and pushing yourself.

Nick is also considering his future in racing.

"Hopefully, into a full-size car," he said. "From there, it's who ever sees you and wants you to drive for them."

Ledson Motorsports team represents Cavalier Transportation Services, Ledson Wines, Cooksville Tire, Edgehill Insurance, RF Pathways, Peterbilt Region of London/Ayr, Shaw Tracking, TBM Legal Services and Trailcon Leasing.

Armstrong Muriel (Winters)

February 5th 2014

*On this day 2 years ago
I lost part of me as you were taken away,
The hurt is there, it will never go but time makes it bearable day by day,
So if you are looking down here at me,
Words are not needed because you can see.*

Sadly missed by loving husband Allan and daughter Dawn, Norma, Patricia, Karen and families xoxo

Tragically killed in Milton, Ontario February 2, 2007 - 9 years ago

Our hearts are full of memories
We treasure them with care,
The way you had to leave us
Will always seem unfair.
Sad are the hearts that love you
Silent are the tears that fall,
Living our lives without you
Is the hardest part of all.
In all that life has given us
And all that's left to do,
We will never have a greater gift
Than the time we spent with you.
We miss you every day...

It been 9 years since our last precious hugs.
Always loved and you will be forever with us!

Patricia Anne MacMillan R.N.

9 Nov 1942 - 24 Jan 2016

Our Pat passed away in Campbell House - Hospice Georgian Triangle on January 24, felled by a relentless cancer in what seemed like the twinkling of an eye. In the short time after her diagnosis, she fought courageously and, even near death, remained positive. Pat was raised in Musselburgh, near Edinburgh, Scotland, elder daughter of Cecil and Irene Torrance. She trained in the prestigious nursing programme of the Royal Infirmary of Edinburgh and, after only five years, was appointed Night Sister, supervising multiple wards along the medical corridor. She was asked to take charge of the two professorial surgical units, but chose to leave the Royal and join her future husband Jim, then a physician at the University Hospital of the West Indies. Pat worked there in the I.C.U. until they returned to Britain. In 1971, now with two children, Jim and Pat crossed the Atlantic to Shelburne, Ontario, to set up a medical practice in that medically underserved town. Pat continued nursing and took on responsibilities running the laboratory and managing the practice. They built a medical centre and set about cooperating with the few other doctors around in serving the medical needs of the community. It proved to be their main life work and was to last for thirty-eight years. Together with Jim and her three children, Pat enjoyed lovely times skiing in winter and sailing in summer. She was a sports-lover and enjoyed seeing the children compete in both those sports. Pat herself also loved tennis and played at inter-club level. She loved Scottish country dancing and attended many a glittering ball in Toronto. She loved sailing in Georgian Bay and was always up for a wee glass of wine at the docks. She was a drummer in the Beinn Gorm Highlanders Pipe Band. Our Pat had many facets. Throughout her life, Pat was a beloved friend to many, adored for her graciousness, vitality, and kindness. In recent years she made many new friends in the Probus Club of the Gateway. Most important to Pat was her family. She was a loving wife and mother and adoring grandmother. She assured each of her grandchildren that she would continue to watch over them, would be in the wind on their back in the ski race, and at every dance recital and hockey game. She will be missed dearly.

Pat is survived by her husband and partner of forty-eight years, Dr. Jim MacMillan; eldest son, Stuart, his wife Ju-Hyeon and their daughter Ciara [5]; daughter Clair, her husband Sam Kerner, and their two daughters Kaelie [13] and Alana [12]; and son, Douglas, Douglas' son Kieran, Doug's wife, Lisa Warll, and their three children Tessa [10], Wesley [8], and Rachael [7]. She is also survived by her sister Mrs. Dorothy Placido, her husband Prof. Francis Placido and their two daughters Laura and Anna.

Commemorative service Friday February 12th 2016 at 11 a.m. at First Presbyterian Church, 200 Maple St. Collingwood. In lieu of flowers donations may be made to Campbell House - Hospice Georgian Triangle or Collingwood General & Marine Hospital.

Friends may visit Pat's online Book of Memories at www.fawcettfuneralhomes.com

WE DON'T BREW OUR BEER FOR THE AWARDS!

BUT HE DOES!

Andrew threw away a successful career in Logistics to pursue his dream of reconnecting with the brewing roots of his family. This carried him to the UK's prestigious Brewlab in Sunderland, England, where he procured the alchemy that would drive his signature brewing style.

He took what he could from there and ventured to Scotland, Cornwall, and ultimately to Krefeld, Germany to pick up near where his mother's family brewery had been, working in the same brewery that had belonged to his ancestors. He came home to Canada for Hockley.

You could call it dumb, but we call it destiny.
