FUN TIMES AT CALEDON FAIR

The weather turned out to be pretty good over the weekend; almost ideal for the annual Caledon Fair. It was a time for fun for everyone, and the midway was the source of much of that fun. Area resident Liam Unwin, 9, and his sister Julia, 11, were trying their skill at Skee ball. Turn to pages A14 and A16 for more on the fair.

OPP plans to stand by budget proposal

By Bill Rea

Peel Region wants Caledon OPP to chop one per cent from its proposed budget increase for 2014, and the Region can expect to hear reaction to that today (Thursday).

Inspector Rose DiMarco, detachment commander, appeared before Town council Tuesday outlining her opposition to the idea. She is on the agenda to address Regional council today, accompanied by Town Treasurer Fuwing Wong. Town councillors urged them both to stress the savings and efficiencies that the detachment has already realized.

In his report to Town council, Wong stated the Region has asked all tax-supported programs look at impacts of a one per cent cut. He added the current forecasted increase for next year is 5.6 per cent, and a one per cent cut from that would amount to almost $120,000.

There are couple of options that could reduce the local OPP programs to realize the savings. Wong stated staff was recommending none of them.

DiMarco told Town councillors crime rates in Caledon dropped slightly from 2011 to 2012, but she added the complexity of police work, and the amount of work officers have to do to prepare cases for court, etc. has increased.

The vast majority of calls the Caledon detachment receives (on the order of 91 per cent) are not related to criminal activity. "We still deal with many, many calls that are not captured in the crime statistics," she observed, adding that while they may not be crime-related, these calls often have to be answered by two officers. DiMarco cited the example of mental health occurrences, which have been increasing over the last couple of years. Once a person has been arrested under the Mental Health Act, she said officers have to stay with them at the hospital until patient has been seen by a doctor. In the average case, officers have to stay at the hospital for up to three hours, but there are times when they have to stay there six to eight hours.

Officers are also busy on traffic enforcement, with an average of 27 speeding tickets handed out per day.

DiMarco said a community satisfaction survey was conducted on the detachment last year. It revealed 85 per cent were satisfied or very satisfied with enforcement of aggressive driving laws, and 93 per cent are satisfied with drinking and driving enforcement. The quality of police service provided in Caledon received 93 per cent approval, she said.

She added the crimes that are of most concern to residents are violence and drugs in schools, break-ins and thefts, vandalism and property crime, drug and alcohol crimes and youth crime, including kids gathering in streets.

Wong told councillors the detachment's budget for 2012 was about $11 million, but the expenditures came in about $100,000 under budget, and that money went into the Caledon OPP Stabilization Reserve Fund. Wong added there had been a budgeted draw of $700,000 from that fund which wasn't used.

There have been other efficiencies.

Wong pointed to the consolidation of police facilities in town through last year's opening of the new station near Caledon East. He said that amounts to a saving of about $300,000 annually.

Wong added there are a number of pressures that will be on the OPP budget next year. The proposed budget increase would amount to a little more than $647,000. That's based a projected labour settlement anticipated for 2014, as well as anticipated inflationary costs that aren't connected with salaries,

Hall students win national award for workplace safety video

By Nick Fernandes

A group of four students from Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School gained both provincial and national attention last week, due to their contribution to a workplace safety video contest.

The members of the winning team are Vanessa DeMaria, Shandra Romanoff, Christian Arcuri and Ruby Komisar. The video was part of a class project, and they produced a work that impressed the Ministry of Labour above all others involved in a nationwide competition.

“You never think it's going to be you,” said the video. It was shot in a testimonial style, with the student actors playing the part of victims or family members of victims of workplace accidents; people who have suffered grief or injury due to incidents that could have been prevented by caution or greater awareness. It highlights the emotional toll senseless accidents can have for the victims' loved ones, and emphasizes the fact that workplace safety concerns the lives and well-being of real people, and is not just an issue of keeping a job. The video cuts between the perspectives of several of these victims, the testimonials melding into one another until it sounds like a constant stream.

“I'm still not sure if this was acting” said George Gritziotis, chief prevention officer for the Ministry of Labour, as he paraphrased one of the competition judges “or if they're remembering a real life event. It was very convincing.”

Gritziotis echoed several words of praise from the competition judges for the pure effectiveness of the video's message and its possible use for educating workers across Canada.

The video was made as part of a project in the communications technology class taught by Denise Chuck.

“It was a great learning experience for them, to learn the editing process, filming, production, and finding royalty-free music,” she said, adding the project took about three weeks, with the team receiving hands-on training with storyboarding, filming and post-production work.

The video won $1,000 through the provincial competition. At the presentation assembly last week, it was revealed that is also won the $2,000 purse from the national level contest.

The students were excited and humbled by the nation wide recognition.

“We worked very hard on the video,” Arcuri said, “and it's nice to be recognized for that.”

David Tilson highlights Canada's assumption of Arctic Council chair

Dufferin-Caledon MP David Tilson recently rose in the House of Commons to pay tribute to Health Minister Leona Aglukkaq, MP for Nunavut, as the incoming Chair of the Arctic Council.

“As president of the Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, it gives me great pleasure to congratulate the Minister of Health and the Member for Nunavut on assuming the role of Chair of the Arctic Council at next week's Ministerial meeting in Kiruna, Sweden,” Tilson told the House. “During her two-year term as Chair, the Minister will be promoting the overall theme of Development for the People of the North, with responsible Arctic resource development, safe Arctic shipping and sustainable circumpolar communities as areas of focus”.

“The Minister is an ideal choice for this prestigious role,” he added. “As the first Inuk to hold the post of Chair, the Minister will be a strong champion and will advance the government's arctic foreign policy and our domestic Northern Strategy.”

“We are a proud and strong arctic nation, Mr. Speaker,” Tilson concluded. “As the north faces new challenges, I know that as a northerner herself, the Minister will represent Canada's arctic as the true north, strong and free.”

Project 10-4 looking for speeders this week

Peel Regional Police Constable Gord Middleton and Caledon OPP Constable Ian Michel were looking for speeders Monday morning in Caledon village. Photo by Bill Rea

Written By BILL REA

The way some people drive on Highway 10 is a concern for a number of police services, and they have started cracking down, as of Monday.

Representatives of Caledon OPP were on hand in Caledon village Monday morning, braving the rain with officers from Peel Regional Police and Shelburne Police Service to launch Project 10-4. The Owen Sound Police Service is also involved in the program, but they did not have representation at Monday's event.

In police jargon, the term "10-4" means "message understood, received and acknowledged." The name of the program refers to Highway 10 and the four police agencies that patrol the roughly 170 kilometres, from Lake Ontario north into Owen Sound.

Caledon OPP Constable Dale Smewing said speed is a big concern. He pointed out that over 2011 and 2012, there were 583 collisions on the OPP-patrolled portion of Highway 10. "A lot of them were speed related," he observed.

They are also on the look-out for other hazardous traffic practices, such as inattentive driving, seatbelt infractions, and impaired driving.

He added that speed is a main focus of the effort. The theory is if the traffic speeds can be reduced, the number of accidents is likely to drop too.

High speeds are a problem on the highway, with numerous drivers going 120 km-h, with others going into the stunt-driving zone.

The concerns are spread along the entire stretch of the road.

Shelburne Police Chief Kent Moore said the highway takes in stretches of Main Street and Owen Sound Street in the middle of town, and traffic numbers in that area are high.

He said traffic counts taken in 2009 revealed an average of 18,500 trips passing through per day on Main Street, and some 50,000 on weekends.

Constable Paul Neumann observed that most of the collisions in Shelburne are on that stretch.

"We've got a high volume of traffic in our town," the Chief said. "We're hoping with increased police work that it serves as a reminder to motorists to slow down and follow the rules of the road."

The stretch of Highway 10 patrolled by Peel Regional Police is not very long. Inspector Robert Orr said it's only about 29 kilometres, but it's also very busy, with high traffic volumes traversing high and low density residential areas.

"It presents some policing challenges to us," he said.

He said he was hoping this program would generate awareness.

"Everybody's in a hurry," he said, but added speed causes accidents. "If we can educate the public, possibly we don't have to enforce as often as we do."

"This initiative will reinforce the need to educate the public on the dangers of displaying aggressive driving behaviours on our roadways," said Inspector Rose DiMarco, Commander of Caledon OPP. "All police agencies are committed to reducing the number of vehicle collisions, injuries and deaths on our highways and we are pleased to come together with our neighbouring police partners to get the message across."

Break-in on Beach Grove Sideroad

Various tools and pieces of equipment were reported stolen June 8 after a garage on Beach Grove Sideroad was broken into.

Caledon OPP reports the incident apparently took place some time between noon and 4:30 p.m. when a padlock on the door was broken.

The missing goods include a Mastercraft compressor, three red gasoline containers, a 4000-watt Champion portable generator and two containers of Roundup weed killer.

Police are reminding residents to contact them immediately to report any suspicious activity or suspicious vehicles in the area. Information, such as suspect physical descriptions, suspect vehicles and direction of travel, are useful tools for investigators. Police are asking anyone with information about this break and enter to contact them at 905-584-2241 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).

Drug charges after traffic stop

A 33-year-old man from Thornhill was charged May 28 after police spotted a car running a stop sign in Terra Cotta.

Caledon OPP reports officers were conducting a Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere (RIDE) spot check at around 2:30 p.m. when they spotted the black Chrysler fair to stop. They approached the car to deal with this infraction, and immediately detected a strong smell coming from within, which they believed was marijuana. Police said the driver then produced a quantity of the substance.

The man has been charged with possession of a controlled substance.

No change to busing in Caledon East for one more year

By Bill Rea

A group of Caledon East parents got a reprieve from losing their school bus service, but only for one year.

The Peel District School Board Tuesday night approved a modified version of the motion put forth by local Trustee Stan Cameron.

Parents have expressed concern because Student Transportation of Peel Region (STOPR), the consortium that decides busing eligibility for Peel's two school boards, has announced that busing to Caledon East Public School will be cancelled for students living north of Larry Street and east of Airport Road.

Cameron's motion noted the "considerable anxiety" of parents over their kids having to walk up the hill along Airport Road to get to school, and called for an exception to the policy by keeping the bus in place.

But Brampton Trustee Beryl Ford put forth an amendment to keep the service in place for one year to give the Town of Caledon, Peel Region, the school and community work to implement safety measures. And fellow Brampton Trustee Steve Kavanagh proposed an amendment to the amendment, which was carried, calling for guarantees that the other parties would work for a solution within a year.

Cameron recalled a delegation to the board made four weeks before by Adam Martin-Robbins, who pushed the case that it's dangerous for children to be walking the sidewalks of Airport Road.

Cameron pointed out the road has been approved by the Ministry of Transportation as a haul route for heavy trucks carrying aggregate, adding the stretch of road running through the village sees more than 10,000 vehicles per day, with the peak hours being from 6 to 9 a.m. and 3 to 6 p.m., or the hours in which kids would be walking to and from school.

He also pointed out Caledon OPP has designated the stretch of road as one of its "hot spots," in terms of speed and accidents.

As well, Cameron pointed to the tragic deaths of two young girls on the road over the last couple of years.

"It is clearly a fearful community," he said.

There are problems with sightlines coming out of driveways on the hill because of retaining walls.

"This isn't safe for children those drivers can't possibly see," he observed.

Other problems he cited include the fact there's only one set of traffic lights in Caledon East (at the intersection of Old Church Road), which Cameron pointed out is some distance from the school. That intersection is a confusing one too, because it's at the access to the LCBO parking lot.

Cameron said there has been talk of the Town providing a crossing guard, but said the public works department had issued an email stating that would happen if the bus service was stopped. He said that mean STOPR was ready to cancel the bus without anything changing.

This reduction in service will impact 49 children from 36 families, Cameron said, adding he's heard some of these families are not willing to let their kids walk along the sidewalks on Airport Road. There has been talk of transferring students to St. Cornelius Elementary School, which is part of the Dufferin-Peel Catholic District School Board. Caledon East is a small school that can't afford to lose enrolment over something like this, he argued.

"It is not safe," he declared. "I would not allow my child to walk along Airport Road from Larry Street to Hilltop."

He also said youngsters living on the east side of the road are not going to walk 600 metres north to Old Church to cross at the lights, and then walk 600 metres south again. They are more likely to run across the road.

The items Cameron said he wants to see include flashing signs, both north and south of the school, telling motorists to reduce speed (he said such signs are in place around Herb Campbell, Palgrave and Macville Public Schools); having the area declared a community safety zone; signs that more clearly state that Larry and Marion Streets, along with Hilltop Drive are 40 km-h zones; efforts to look into safety programs, such as The Walking School Bus program; a pedestrian walkway across Airport Road at the Caledon Trailway.

Ford said she was in the area Monday, walking along Airport Road in the rain.

"I've never experienced what I experienced yesterday," she said, commenting on the number of heavy trucks going up and down the hill just feet from the sidewalk and ignoring the speed limit. She added she can't imagine kids walking along that route without safety measures in place, commenting that if the bus stopped before they're implemented, the board will regret it.

Kavanagh explained his proposal, commenting he didn't want Town officials coming back after a year and saying they couldn't resolve things.

Mississauga Trustee Sue Lawton said there are dangerous roads all over. If this area is exceptional, she said responsibility lies with Caledon council. She added if exceptions to busing policy is to be made in one area, there are others where they should be made too.

Mississauga Trustee Rick Williams agreed.

"Where is the fairness to all the other communities in the Region of Peel?" he asked.

"It's a step in the right direction," Martin-Robbins commented after trustees had dealt with the issue. He said he wasn't completely sure the measures Cameron was calling for will solve all the issues, adding a long-term solution might be to ban trucks from the road.

"I haven't had that discussion," he said. "We'll see if that's achievable."

Council wants community safety zone in Caledon East

By Nick Fernandes

Caledon council is calling on Peel Region to designate a section of Airport Road in Caledon East a community safety zone.

Council Tuesday passed the motion put forth by Councillor Richard Whitehead without comment to seek the designation on the stretch between old Church Road south to the entrance to Caledon East Public School.

This is a safety measure aimed at addressing concerns in the community, and reducing the danger presented by increasing of traffic and pedestrians numbers on the narrow road.

The motion mentioned several residential streets that connect directly to Airport Road, as well as driveways that empty out onto the busy street. With Caledon East Public School in the immediate area, there is concern about children walking by them. The road also comes to a steep grade in that area and some parts lack paved sidewalks, compounding the danger.

The community safety zone designation would tighten enforcement of speed limits on the stretch of road. Speeders who are stopped there will be subject to double the usual fine.

FINER POINTS OF CAMPING TAUGHT

There was plenty of information available recently at the Albion-Bolton branch of Caledon Public Library on camping. Kaitlyn Fulton and Lyndsay Wallis of Ontario Parks were offering advice at the Learn to Camp workshop.

Councillors advise stressing efficiencies that have already been found

such as vehicles, uniforms, equipment, etc.

There are no plans to increase the complement of the detachment.

To cut $120,000 from the budget would mean a reduction of one uniformed officer from one of the programs. That could be from Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) or the OPP Kids programs, or one of the school resource officers. That officer could also come from the Community Response Unit or Traffic Unit.

Wong repeated none of these options were being recommended.

Mayor Marolyn Morrison observed the ratio of officers to residents in Caledon is low compared to the rest of Peel or the rest of Ontario. She urged DiMarco and Wong to highlight that.

She also anticipated Regional councillors or staff would argue that all the departments are being asked to shave one per cent from their budget increases. She stressed the need to make the point that the Regional police service has grown steadily over the years, while the policing numbers in Caledon have not.

“I think we’ve been very, very responsible in the way we’ve been doing it,” she remarked.

Councillor Patti Foley pointed to the geographic size of Caledon, also observing police are very visible and effective in Bolton. She also said the items that could be cut, like the school programs, are proactive. Getting rid of them would be a backwards step and a mistake, she argued. “I wouldn’t be prepared to accept that,” she declared.

Councillor Richard Paterak observed that Caledon has been moving from a rural to urban community, pointing out that urban policing is more expensive. He commented on the need to stay on top of it.

DiMarco agreed that as things get more urbanized the calls for service are likely to increase.

Councillor Rob Mezzapelli commented on the importance to stress the fact that calls to police are up in Caledon, even if crime is down. He added one of the reasons crime is down is because of the police presence in schools, and he stressed the need to promote that to the Region.

As well, Mezzapelli said they should expressed the efficiency of OPP at the Region, noting the policing cost per resident is lower in Caledon than the rest of Peel.

Councillor Allan Thompson didn’t want to see any of the school programs dropped. “It’s 100 per cent of our future,” he remarked.

He also pointed to the results of the community satisfaction survey.

“I don’t know of another police force that can get that kind of endorsement,” he declared.

Morrison observed the detachment has already found more than a one per cent saving from the consolidation of stations.

“I think you need to just show it to them,” she commented.

Councillor Nick deBoer observed a lot of the traffic running through Caledon is from outside the town. He said this is not the time to be cutting back on policing, adding if anything, more is needed, especially in terms of traffic enforcement.

Bolton native to perform at North by Northeast festival

Skye Sweetnam at live music festival

Written By NICK FERNANDES

Skye Sweetnam, a pop and rock musician born in Bolton, is headed to Toronto to play at the North by Northeast (NXNE) live music festival this week.

She will play alongside almost 1,000 other artists in the week-long festival that will take place all across downtown. “Growing up my house was surrounded by 13 acres of property,” she said, talking about her childhood home in Bolton that formed her love for self-expression. “I was an adventurous kid. I would sing at the top of my lungs when I thought no one would hear.” She thanks the Bolton community for helping her form her own musical style. “I was so isolated from the world of glamour and hollywood and Toronto,” she said, fondly recalling her childhood for allowing her to find her own voice. Her mainstream success came with her release of the pop single Billy S. But even before then, she found local recognition at some of Caledon’s local venues, such as a the Kate Moura Music Studio, where she built up her talents and performed for the community. Sweetnam is currently fronting the band Sumo Cyco as the singer under the stage name Sever. As Sever, she has put seven songs under her belt with an original self-directed music video for each. The band has already won accolades for best female fronted band at the 2012 Toronto Independent Music Awards. With Sumo Cyco, Sweetnam said she has been moving further toward more hard rock, punk and metal influenced style than her previous album Sound Soldier. Sumo Cyco’s performance at NXNE will be the second time the band has participated in the music festival, they will be playing at Cherry Cola’s N Rock & Rolla Cabaret Lounge near the intersection of Bathurst and Queen Street West, more than halfway through the run of the festival.

A TOUCH OF BLONDE PERFORMS IN ORANGEVILLE
Local classic rock band A Touch of Blonde played a number of favourites during the Blues and Bikes Show and Shine at the recent Orangeville Blues and Jazz Festival. The band consists of John Sanzo on bass, Gail King on vocals, Dave Saunders on drums and Jeff Kralka on guitar. The group will be performing this Friday (June 14) at Macleod’s American House, 324 Dundas St. East, in Waterdown, starting at 9 p.m.

King City Festival hits town June 15

Written By MARK PAVILONS

The stage is set for King City’s summer festival, hitting the community June 15. In 2011, the King City Lions started with an idea to have a small event to provide the residents of King City with a day in September to have fun with their families in village’s Memorial Park. In partnership with the Lions and Township of King, the King City Bash was born. Last year, it was moved to June to take advantage of the summer weather. This year’s Festival boasts an impressive lineup of entertainment and events for the whole family. This year’s Bouncy Castle Fun Zone reaches midway proportions with six huge inflatable bouncy castles featuring Adrenalin Rush II, a huge bouncer measuring 40 feet long, 27 feet wide and 16 feet high. Get extreme, go vertical, there are no rules. The most radical departure from a straight line obstacle course, participants will jump, climb, crawl, squeeze and slide their way through this medley of obstacles. One of the highlights of the day will be the official opening of the popular skateboard park. Dignitaries will be on hand at noon to kick off the ceremony. Sanction Skate Shop is bringing some pro level skateboarders to offer some tips for enthusiasts. There will be a never-ending stream of musical entertainment, ranging from jazz and blues, to pop and rock, from some talented local and regional musicians. Tom Walker and the King City Secondary School (KCSS) Senior Jazz Band and Rock Band will be on hand. Walker is head of the music department of the school and his students will perform. They will be followed by the King City Rock Band Mk III and then local blues artist Joel Krivy. Krivy, a long-time resident of King City, has been playing the guitar for most of his life and has been performing since he was invited to play an acoustic blues set at Kingfest in 2005. His musical genre is acoustic blues/roots played on acoustic finger style and slide guitars. His performance includes a variety of original material, as well as covers of many of the old blues masters. The Blackboard Blues Band is a 10-piece group dedicated to the finest rhythm and blues, funk, soul, blues, and rock music from the ’70s to present day. The group has released two CDs and has made appearances across the GTA and on TV. The festival runs from noon to 9 p.m. and also includes firefighter demonstrations, a Lions barbecue, vendors, ice cream and more. The Lions will hold their annual cash draw at 5 p.m.

Bolton Camp Survey

The Toronto and Region Conservation Authority (TRCA) is looking for community feedback on an exciting new project. The TRCA is proposing to 'repurpose' the Bolton Camp from its previous use as an overnight summer camp to an outdoor centre for participants of all ages. This is an incredible opportunity to maximize this amenity located in the heart of Bolton. The TRCA's vision for this new facility is a place where people can come together to learn, live, play and share in experiences.

Proposed programming will include adventure, fitness activities, community art and culture programs, outdoor education, leadership development and social entrepreneurship. It may also have sports fields, a gym, pool, green fitness equipment, an outdoor community kitchen, smoothie or coffee bar, tree-top/canopy tours, theatre and art spaces, market space and outdoor classrooms. . . . TRCA is looking for feedback. Their view is that for the new Bolton Camp to be successful, programming should be community driven and responsive to the needs of all. Your input will help shape the future of Bolton Camp. For information on the plans, or to participate in a survey about potential uses, visit www.surveymonkey.com/s/BoltonCamp.

Caledon Arts Advisory Committee is "Looking for the Arts"

"Arts and culture are vital to the quality of life, economic sustainability and long-term creative foundation of our community," said Ward 5 Councillor Rob Mezzapelli. To this end, Council has established an Arts Advisory Committee to assist with matters relating to arts and culture in Caledon.

One of the first initiatives of the Arts Advisory Committee is to develop an up-to-date inventory of the individuals, groups, organizations, arts/culture associations and disciplines presently operating within the Town. "This inventory will ultimately become a valuable resource for consulting with the arts community," said Ward 5 Regional Councillor Patti Foley, "it will help us establish programs, services and/or facilities that will sustain the arts in Caledon."

Please take the time to complete the questionnaire at www.caledon.ca/arts if you are a practicing artist or are the official representative of an artistic group or association, and feel free to pass this article along to other Caledon artists you know. Artists are an integral part of civic life as they stimulate creativity, innovation and dialogue. Our communities vibrate with the energy of the arts; reach deep into their roots and celebrate their unique traditions.

Bolton Councillors Spring Hike

"A small town with proximity to trails was a definitely a selling point for our families when we chose to call Bolton home," said both Councillors Foley and Mezzapelli. "This combination of urban conveniences and easy access to nature is something to treasure and we've made it our mission to try to acquaint other families with, in particular, the Humber Valley Heritage Trail as it winds along the river through Bolton."

Each year the Ward 5 Councillors host spring and fall guided hikes that offer a great opportunity to become more familiar with the trails. They invite you to join them on Sunday, June 16th departing at 10:00 a.m. from the municipal parking lot on the northeast corner of Stern and Ann Streets in the downtown core. Highlights of this 2-hour hike will include the new Rivers Edge pathway, Dicks Dam Park and bridge, Bolton Mill Park, returning through a portion of the historic section of downtown.

Lots to do at the Caledon Seniors Centre

The Caledon Seniors Centre is a not-for-profit, charitable organization that was created to provide the opportunity for older adults to come together to fulfill many of their social, educational, cultural and recreational needs. The Centre is for individuals, aged 55 and over, interested in active living and wellness, to assist with maintaining a healthy lifestyle. There are many opportunities for expanding personal growth, interests, potential and talent so why not contact the Centre in Bolton at 905.951.6114 or www.caledonseniors.ca

Volunteering: a Caledon Tradition

Volunteers have long been part of the Caledon community fabric. Harkening back to the community's agricultural roots, the act of helping out a neighbour not only ensured success of that individual but, in a broader sense, laid the foundation for the success of the whole community. "Residents of Caledon have always benefited from a strong sense of community spirit and cooperation," said Ward 5 Councillor Rob Mezzapelli, "it is these fundamental rural values that underpin the strong sense of volunteerism in our community."

In addition to supporting community organizations and service clubs, volunteers give generously of their time and experience so residents can enjoy a range of events and activities that continue to build on the community's character. "From family events and fairs, to street parties and farmers' markets, our volunteers offer the extra effort, experience and, most importantly, an unbridled passion for our community," said Ward 5 Regional Councillor Patti Foley.

Consider participating in these upcoming events largely possible due to our dedicated volunteers.

Canadian Tire will be a benefit

Canadian Tire has big plans for Caledon, and Caledon should jump at the opportunity.

Canadian Tire is interested in placing a large distribution centre and office facility on about 180 acres at the northwest corner of Coleraine Drive and Healey Road in Bolton.

It will be a very large development, and we believe that's one of the reasons some area residents are apprehensive. It is very big, and it might spook a few people.

But there are certain realities involved here.

The lands have been slated for industrial and employment development for years, and whether the opponents like it or not, that development is coming, in one form or another.

There is one option, in which Canadian Tire develops the lands in question. This is a large and prestigious Canadian corporation with a proud history that includes considerable community involvement, and which has touched many of us. How many of you reading this had your first bicycle or first pair of skates bought at a Canadian Tire store?

The company proposes to make a massive investment in this area. Simple economics alone clearly states they are not interested in throwing their money away. Thus it stands to reason that they think this is a good place to invest, and it stands to even stronger reason that they are going to take care of that investment. The chances are strongly in favour of this being a very well-run facility.

The opponents should take a moment to think of the other option; of what might go on that land if the Canadian Tire facility does not. In that event, the lands will probably be developed by smaller operators, and some of them might not have the reputation of Canadian Tire, or be as conscious of their surroundings.

One of the main concerns is the truck traffic this development will generate. There is discrepancy into the numbers, with the figure ranging from 350 to the area of 800 per day.

Development like what this area is slated for is going to attract traffic; lots of it, including trucks. Again, we can have a well-reputed company like Canadian Tire regulating the bulk of it, or some other outfit.

Besides, the consultant retained by Canadian Tire has said the diesel emissions from the facility are going to have minimal impact to the local air quality, and more than alternative land uses, such as a business park, retail development and 1,200-unit residential subdivision.

There are also economic benefits to consider, in terms of development charges, property taxes, etc. True, there will be off-setting costs, such as infrastructure and wear and tear on the roads. But a lot of this will be in the form of one-time expenditures, with the local roads being designed to handle the loads for several years.

Also keep in mind that the roads heading south out of Bolton have been carrying sand and gravel trucks for years. Canadian Tire does not specialize in aggregates, so it's likely the truck loads will be lighter than what the roads have had to carry in the past.

There is also the likelihood of local jobs. Granted there might not be many in the short-term. But this facility is going to be around for a while, and those running it will always be looking for staff; probably nearby.

There are a number of very vocal people in the community who have voiced opposition to this proposal, and they have made their views known (sometimes quite eloquently) at numerous meetings.

But the final decision here has to be based on whether the proposal meets the required standards in terms of a number of factors, including good planning and, yes, safety. That has to be determined by the experts, and approved by the authorities (like Town council) they report to.

Sorry folks, but to just say "I don't want it" isn't going to cut it.

Besides, we think there are a lot of other people out there who do want it.

SouthFields residents to hold quarterly meeting

The SouthFields Village Residents Group will be holding their quarterly meeting tonight Thursday.

It will start at 7 p.m. at SouthFields Village Public School.

Residents of SouthFields Village, Anthem and the surrounding area are invited to attend and hear development and Town updates, learn about upcoming events, etc. They can bring their own questions too.

Hoy is entitled to his opinion too

"I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Evelyn Beatrice Hall

"You shouldn't be able to print anything like that."

J.D.

The first of these two quotes I learned, somewhat to my surprise, was not spoken by the French philosopher Voltaire, although it is commonly attributed to him. Hall was a biographer of Voltaire.

But no matter who came up with this famous quote, I've found myself thinking a lot about it since Saturday morning. And as a newspaper editor, I consider it part of my job to remember it. Be well assured, I have believed in the concept it represents since I first read it in my high school days, and I hope I will believe it until the day of my death.

I arrived in the office shortly before 10 a.m. Saturday and found a voice mail message from J.D. The woman left her name, but for these purposes, I'm going to use her initials to refer to her.

She was reacting to last week's column in the Citizen by Claire Hoy. The headline was "He devoted his life to killing unborn babies." Not surprisingly, Hoy was referring to the recent death of Dr. Henry Morgentaler, and he made it clear in his writing that he was not a fan, either of the man or the abortions he championed.

Although we haven't seen each other in some 20 years (if memory serves, the last time I spoke to him was at the 1993 federal Progressive Conservative leadership convention in Ottawa, and since we were both busy, our conversation was brief), I have known Hoy since my days as a journalism student at Humber College. Hoy was a part-time instructor at the time, with his full-time job being to keep track of the doings at Queen's Park. Those were the days when Bob Rae was leader of the NDP (a couple of years before he became Premier), and I had to endure some good-natured razzing in class when Hoy would refer to "your cousin who can't spell his last name."

Kidding aside, Hoy was (and I assume still is) a perfectionist. He had no use for sloppy journalism and made no bones about it.

I once met the late Dr. Morgentaler. I attended a talk (not work related) he gave about 20 years ago. I came away with two lasting impressions of the man. There was absolutely no doubt that he sincerely believed in the rightness of what he was doing. But what also came through, loud and clear, was a certain sanctimony. He left me with the feeling that he thought anyone who disagreed with him when it came to abortion was somehow evil.

For the purposes of this column, my position on abortion is irrelevant. I'm only interested in opinions, and which ones should be expressed.

I am not a stupid man. I know the issue of abortion is a highly charged one.

There is one side, which argues that a woman should have the right to do as she chooses with her body. The other side states that right should not extend to ending the lives of unborn children. And in between are a lot of other issues, like rape, incest, mother's health, etc. Of late, we have been hearing of gender-specific abortions — another issue to toss into the mix. The matter is also charged because there is so much emotion involved. I have had conversations with people who are pro-choice who will rudely shout down anyone who tries to put forth a counter argument. They are intolerant of opposing opinions. I expect there are pro-lifers who are just as ignorant, although I have never personally encountered any. It's been my experience that ignoramuses are well represented at all points of any spectrum.

When I read Hoy's column last week, I knew we were going to hear angry responses. Thus I was not too surprised when I heard J.D.'s message Saturday morning.

Since it was on my personal voice mail, she addressed me by name, calling me "Mr. Rea," and telling me she was "very upset."

What follows are portions of the message; not an actual transcript. But I believe I am being faithful in airing the substance of her concerns.

"I find it disgusting and repulsive that you should actually produce this material," she said. "It is terrible. It is so pro-life. You shouldn't be able to print anything like that."

"You are going to hear from me," she added. "I will not stand for something like this."

I will confess that my initial reaction when I heard this message was one of amusement. And when I sat down to write this column (Saturday evening), I had planned to taunt J.D. But as I reflected on this immediate matter, I realized J.D. was just like Hoy. She was expressing her honestly-held opinion. How could I defend Hoy's right while laughing at hers?

But there are some realities here. J.D. said she "will not stand for something like this."

What precisely she plans to do is beyond me. The day that action can be taken against a newspaper for allowing honourable people to express their honest opinions will be a very sad day indeed.

J.D. also said I would be hearing from her. Frankly, I hope I do.

But I have been in this business a long time and I have dealt with plenty of messages like the one J.D. left for me. I would be delighted if I could hear from her so we can discuss our concerns, but my experience tells me I'll never hear from her again.

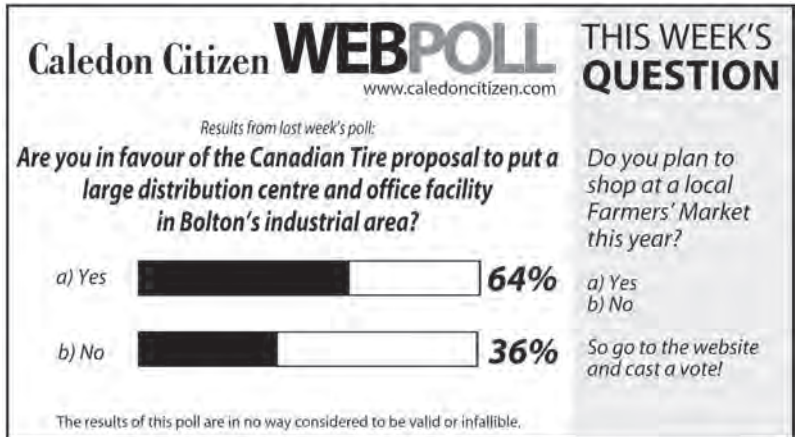

Issues need to be discussed in order for them to be resolved. And they sometimes have to be revisited.

We live in what is supposed to be a free society. That means we have the right and obligation to make our views known. But there is another end to it. We have to make sure the other side gets equal time, or equal ink. And we have to be prepared to make sure the people whose words make our blood boil are heard. If we're not, then we have no business calling this a free society.

I try to do that, partly because it's my job, but really because I believe in those words wrongly attributed to Voltaire. Hoy does it, and has been doing it for many years. The late Dr. Morgentaler spent most of his life defending a position, and the only way to effectively do that is to listen to and know where the other side stands.

The only person in this discussion who doesn't seem to get it is J.D., and that's upsetting.

It upsets me because I know she's not the only one. And I don't think the people like J.D. realize that they are the real problem.

Check out the sections of the Bruce Trail that are in Caledon

The Bruce Trail is Canada’s longest, and one of its oldest, marked footpaths.

It runs 885 kilometres from Queenston Heights on the Niagara River to Tobermory at the top of the Bruce Peninsula. There are 49 kilometres of the main Bruce Trail in the Town of Caledon, entering the Town at Winston Churchill Boulevard and exiting the Town as it crosses Highway 9 between Airport Road and Glen Haffy Road.

The Trail was built and is maintained by volunteers of the Bruce Trail Conservancy and its nine member clubs. The Conservancy is a charitable organization committed to establishing a conservation corridor containing a public footpath along the Niagara Escarpment, in order to protect its natural ecosystems and to promote environmentally responsible public access to this UNESCO World Biosphere Reserve. The Niagara Escarpment is the most significant landform in southern Ontario. It is a largely forested ridge of fossil-rich sedimentary rock (dolostone) which is 725 kilometres in length and, at its highest elevation, soars 510 metres (1,625 feet) above sea level. It traverses the most heavily developed and densely populated region of Canada. Six million people live within a 90-minute drive of the Escarpment. The Escarpment was declared a UNESCO World Biosphere Reserve in 1990.

The Escarpment is home to an astounding variety of flora and fauna, including 300 species of birds, 53 mammals, 36 rep tiles and amphibians and 90 species of fish. It also includes 37 species of wild orchids and the cliff faces of the Escarpment have eastern white cedar trees that are more than 1,000 years old. While at the University of Guelph, I worked with the professor who discovered the oldest Eastern White Cedar on the Niagara Escarpment. You might imagine that because of its age it would be huge, but, in fact it was a small, distorted looking tree.

Each of the nine member clubs of the Conservancy is responsible for maintaining a section of the Trail. Two Bruce Trail Clubs operate in Caledon, the Caledon Hills Bruce Trail Club (40.7 kilometres of main trail) and the Toronto Bruce Trail Club (8.3 kilometres of trail). Both clubs have side trails in the town; side trails provide access to viewpoints, parking lots and areas of special interest such as wetlands. For more information, check the club or conservancy (www.brucetrail.org) websites. You can download maps of the Trail to your computer or smartphone for a nominal cost.

The Bruce Trail is a public footpath. Any member of the public can walk, hike, snowshoe or ski on the Trail. Mountain bikes and all-terrain vehicles are not allowed, for a number of environmental and legal reasons.

The Bruce Trail is a valuable component of the outdoor recreation opportunities available to the residents and citizens of the Town of Caledon; I encourage you to take advantage of this world famous attraction.

Spreading awareness of Lou Gehrig’s disease during June

Every year, millions of Canadians will visit their doctors with diseases and illnesses ranging from the common cold to the terminally sick.

While many are easily treatable, some of the worst are those that still remain without a cure. One such disease is Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS) or Lou Gehrig’s disease as it is often called.

ALS is a fatal neurodegenerative disease. ALS causes the degeneration of motor neurons; the nerve cells in the brainstem and spinal cord that control muscle contractions. As the disease progresses, victims experience muscle atrophy throughout their body due to their inability to voluntarily initiate muscle movement. The disease targets muscles all through the body, which can lead to extreme difficulty eating, swallowing and even breathing. While the order and rate of symptoms varies from person to person, eventually most patients are unable to walk, get out of bed on their own, or use their hands and arms. However, as individuals living with ALS become increasing paralyzed, they do maintain their senses, as well as their intellect.

June is ALS Awareness Month.

Ottawa Journal

David Tilson MP Dufferin-Caledon

Groups and communities across Canada will develop public awareness projects and participate in a wide range of activities to raise awareness within their communities. For many citizens, this is a month close to their hearts, as the disease affects approximately 3,000 Canadians. The majority of these victims will eventually succumb to respiratory failure within three to five years of their diagnosis. To make matters even more pressing, the occurrence of the disease is increasing proportionally to Canada’s aging demographic, as is true of other neurodegenerative diseases like Parkinson’s and Alzheimer’s. In fact, according to the World Health Organization, neurodegenerative diseases are predicted to surpass cancer as the second leading cause of death in Canada by 2040.

Currently, ALS claims the lives of two to three Canadians each day, including the life of my father who succumbed to ALS a number of years ago. Since my personal encounter with the terrible disease, I introduced a Private Member’s Bill to have June officially designated as National ALS Month. Given the mysteries surrounding the causes and cure of ALS, it is my hope that the bill will serve to raise awareness and support for the many ongoing ALS research initiatives.

Due to the vast number of unknowns and a lack of effective treatment available, the importance of spreading awareness of this disease across Canada is crucial. I encourage all Canadians to take advantage of the wonderful weather June offers and participate in one of the many outdoor ALS fundraising events hosted by the ALS Society of Canada. Along with these organized events, you can also show your support by purchasing a cornflower, deemed ALS’ flower of hope. For more information on these wonderful events, or ALS in general, please visit the ALS society of Canada’s webpage at www.ALS.ca

Canadian Tire head hears from resident

The following letter, addressed to Canadian Tire Chief Operating Officer Allan MacDonald, was submitted to the Citizen for publication.

Your letter, A Message To Customers, a half page in the June 1 Toronto Star, caught my attention.

Kudos on your choice of communicating directly about your new job as Chief Operating Office at Canadian Tire.

You say, “I want you to know that we’ve got our priorities right and will always put our communities and your family at the center of everything we do. If you ever feel that isn’t the case, send me an email at allan@cantire.com and I will make sure your feedback is heard.”

So I am taking you up on you word.

As you know, Canadian Tire plans to build a massive 1.5 million square foot Distribution Center (DC) on 180 acres of prime agricultural land in our town of Bolton.

This facility will be very disruptive to our community. It threatens our health and safety and will reduce the quality of life of thousands of people in and around Bolton.

Increased air and water pollution; cancer causing diesel engine emissions from trucks; a significant increase in traffic congestion; poorer safety conditions on our roads; noise at night; and increased damaged to our roads from heavy trucks. These are some of our concerns.

The approximately 800 or more trucks daily will result in increased air and water pollution. Our air quality will undeniably deteriorate if this DC is built. For sure it will not improve. Truck diesel engine emissions, classified as a known carcinogen by the World Health Organization, will be detrimental to our health, and be a greater threat to the health of our children. A serious concern because the DC will be located close to a residential sub-division. Diesel engine emissions will also be carried downwind into the residential areas of Bolton.

Commuters using Highway 50 are already faced with horrible traffic congestion. An additional 800 Canadian Tire trucks daily, plus the vehicles of approximately 900 DC employees, will further exacerbate traffic congestion problems and safety hazards on our roads. It will undoubtedly result in increased time stuck in traffic, increased stress levels and a longer daily commute. The end result? Less time with the family and poorer quality of life, and likely a lower opinion and loyalty to Canadian Tire for contributing to the problem.

The town of Bolton is largely in a rural setting. It is very quiet here at night and sound carries for long distances.

The noise from this 24/7 DC operation will disrupt the peace and quiet at night in Bolton and deprive many people of a good night’s sleep.

It is a well-known fact that trucking operations and houses don’t make good neighbours.

We’ve had two public meetings on the proposed DC, and as the saying goes, they tried to put lipstick on a pig.

At the meetings, more than 200 residents of Caledon stated very strongly and unequivocally that we are opposed to this DC.

Additionally we have presented Caledon Town council with a petition containing more than 1,000 signatures opposing this DC.

This DC proposal has all the markings of causing on-going problems and battles between the residents of the town and Canadian Tire.

It creates many problems for our community, including health and safety issues that are surely paramount when weighed against meager commercial gain.

Your letter says we “will always put our communities and your family at the center of everything we do.”

If family and community values are truly central in your decision making, I ask that you withdraw your application to develop this DC.

We do not want it in Bolton.

I look forward to your reply.

Thank you.

Monty Wilson,
Bolton

Ford’s supporters sticking with him

In what may seem impossible looking back – and surely must have been in another universe – then NDP leader Bob Rae surprised Ontario – and himself – by winning an election and becoming premier.

As shocking as this was – and fortunately, Ontarians quickly came to their senses and booted him out the first chance they got – we still didn’t see a campaign of sustained, unrelenting, vicious personal attacks from the right against him.

Sure, there was the odd rally – one featured a group of businessmen on the Queen’s Park lawn , complaining politely of course – but overall, those who viewed the election of an NDP government as a tragedy of Shakespearean proportions, pretty well accepted the results and carried on.

As you likely know, Rae (who later jumped to the federal Liberals) lasted one term and was replaced by tough-talking (and just plain tough) Tory Mike Harris.

From the day Harris was elected by a clear majority of Ontarians, an equally clear majority of union activists and assorted lefties vowed to seek revenge on Harris, and, by extension the voters who dared support him, and spent the next four years constantly doing battle with him. Mammoth anti-Harris rallies were commonplace. Pretty well everything bad that happened – including perhaps the weather – was blamed on Harris.

The result of this four-year-festival-of-indignation was that Harris won an even bigger majority the next time out.

And that bit of history, dear hearts, brings us to the current hysteria being generated by the left – led by the Toronto Star – against Toronto mayor Rob Ford.

A prominent Star columnist pooh-poohed the notion last week that there is some kind of political-media conspiracy” at work against Ford. She’s right.

There is no conspiracy. The Ford haters are quite open and above board. They’ll do anything they can to overturn an election which – like the Harris election years before – they simply can’t accept.

My long experience – as someone right of centre, I confess – has been that generally speaking one thing that separates right from left (excluding fringe lunatics from both sides) is that the right accepts the fact that people have different views, even though they don’t agree with them, while the left generally believes that not only are their opponents wrong, they have no right to even subscribe to their views.

Writing recently in Maclean’s Magazine, for example, Nicholas Kohler – who did at least acknowledge that Ford has done some things well – was shocked to discover that even in Ward 20, which includes NDP MP Olivia Chow’s federal riding, “arguably one of the most progressive neighborhoods in the county, almost a quarter of the ballots cast went to Ford. People who really should have known better – avid newspaper readers, politically astute elites – voted for Rob Ford.

Imagine. Don’t they know that Ford is a menace? A clown? A fat pig? Don’t they know Toronto will never survive unless he’s ousted? Apparently not. Even some of those who, oh my god, actually can read and write, don’t understand this. How is it possible?

In a frenzied attempt to right the huge wrong of the last election results, rarely a week goes by – indeed, a day – where we don’t “discover” some other terrible “truth” about Ford, pretty much based on unnamed sources and innuendo. And with every “new” revelation we see the repeat of all the “old” allegations, presented for your reading and/or viewing pleasure as if they were all true.

Despite this, however, or perhaps because of it, public opinion polls continue to show that Torontonians who voted for Ford last time intend to vote for him again. You can include me in that category.

To be sure, Ford has done and said some stupid things. What politician hasn’t? But he’s also cut the spiralling municipal costs. He cut a deal with the unions without either breaking the bank or plunging the city into a strike, something the previous union-friendly mayor couldn’t do. He said he’d cut spending growth and he has.

He privatized some garbage collection and studies show it’s working better than the public collectors. Just last week we learned Toronto ended 2012 with a “SURPLUS” of $248 million, and this despite the concerted vicious personal attacks against Ford – much of it beyond anything I’ve ever seen in the media and elsewhere.

Ford says he’s running again. I hope he does. I’m not sure why he wants to, given the nature of the ongoing attacks against him, but hey, he’s a tough guy. That’s why so many people support him.

Those who hate him always did. Those who like him, still do. That’s not going to change, no matter how much vitriol the haters toss at him.

5 ways to make sure that you are buying the right home

With real estate high season in full swing, homes are moving fast and buyers and sellers are keen to get deals signed, sealed and delivered so that they can enjoy their new home and start their new lives.

Since a home is life's biggest investment, it probably comes as no surprise that this is an emotionally charged decision. In fact, a recent Bank of Montreal report found that 80 per cent of prospective homebuyers know if a house is the right one for them the moment they step inside.

According to Phil Dörner, president of the Ontario Real Estate Association, while that initial feeling is important, buyers should keep in mind that there are several other factors to consider before making a final decision.

"There is no doubt that the initial impression and emotional connection to a property is key but buyers should keep in mind the important logistical questions as well," says Dörner.

Here are 5 important steps for prospective buyers to take before making any decisions:

Talk to the neighbours: The best way to get an idea of what it would be like to live in a particular neighbourhood is to talk to someone who already lives there. Chat with neighbours about the community, schools, commute and any potential surprises that you should know about.

Work with a local Realtor: Look for a Realtor who works in the area and knows the ins and outs of the community. Asking friends, family and colleagues for references is a great place to start. Another good way to find a Realtor active in the area is to go to open houses in the neighbourhood.

Know what you can afford: Start by figuring out your Gross Debt Service (GDS) Ratio. This ratio is a calculation of the maximum housing payment that you can afford, including your mortgage, property taxes, heating and cooling costs and condo fees. To figure out your GDS Ratio, add up your gross monthly income and multiply by 32 per cent.

This figure should never exceed 32 per cent of your gross monthly income.

Get a home inspection: In Ontario, a home inspection reports on the condition of the roof, structure, foundation, drainage, heating, cooling, plumbing, insulation, walls, doors and electrical system. The cost of a home inspection can vary so do your research and make sure to choose a qualified home inspector who will also inform you of the scope and limitations of the inspection.

Check with the city: Visit your local building department and find out if any new developments are planned. Check to see how many owners have applied to build homes or additions that are larger than the by-law permits – this gives an indication of the neighbourhood's future.

"Although your initial feeling about a property is a powerful force, make sure to follow these five steps to help ensure that you aren't going to be faced with unwelcome surprises," says Dörner.

When it comes to making a home buying decision, do your homework and be sure to enlist a real estate professional to guide you through the process.

Community was out for the 153rd Caledon Fair

The weather started off looking a little ominous, but things improved over the week-end to help make Caledon Fair a success. Being an agricultural fair, there were many animals being shown, and Kyle Stevenson from Action had the best one in Cedardale Miss Zaida, a pure bred Charolais yearling. They are seen here with the judge Nathan Stirk, fair volunteer Matthew Stevens and Fair Ambassador Patrick Forster.

RV stolen from Bolton parking lot

A 45-foot 2008 American Motors Heritage recreational vehicle was reported stolen from the business parking lot where it was stored in Bolton. Caledon OPP reports the vehicle was taken sometime between 9 and 10 p.m. April 28, when a suspect or suspects apparently got onto the fenced property and took the RV. Police said it's beige with red and grey swooshing stripes. Police are asking anyone with information about this incident to contact them at 905-584-2241 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).

Historic Melville White Church near Belfountain entered this float in the Fair parade, advertising it's available for various functions like weddings. Jim Muir of Sleswick had Rocky and Troy draw the float, accompanied by "bride and groom" Wendy Mitchell-Burke and David Burke.

Kalhi Nivins, 4, of Palgrave was taking advantage of the pony rides at the Fair.

Caledon Agricultural Society Treasurer Christine Onodi greeted Elvis Tribute Artist Glenn Aitchison from Brampton at the Fair Saturday.

Giant Tiger can fill lots of needs, including fireworks

By Bill Rea

Canada Day is coming up, and for many, the festivities would not be complete without an evening firework display.

For those who like to have their own displays, Giant Tiger in Bolton can provide the raw materials; namely the fireworks. Peter Haldimand, manager of the store, said these private displays remain popular, and they have a variety of price ranges to suit just about any need.

"I think our prices are pretty decent — competitive," he said. "The way we sell it, it suits everybody's budget."

Having been operating for about 10 years, Giant Tiger is well positioned to serve not only this upcoming holiday, but just about any occasion, any season of the year.

As summer approaches, Haldimand said he's waiting for the appropriate weather to see business pick up. "Get a hot streak going, and it will be a lot better," he said.

Haldimand summed up the store simply.

"We sell fashion, we sell food and we have fun," he said. "Food, fashion and fun."

He observed that the fun comes in several forms, including an entertainment zone.

There is also the sale of seasonal items, be it for spring, summer or the Holidays. That includes charity barbecues, with assorted fun activities, like face painting and rock climbing — "Fun for the whole family."

Bandits split their week with loss at home, but win on the road

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The Caledon Junior C Bandits are getting closer to breaking .500 for the season.

After three consecutive losses, including a one-goal defeat from Fergus June 4, the Bandits turned it around with a 7-4 win over Shelburne Friday.

The loss to Fergus at the Mayfield Recreation Complex came in the third period, when the visitors tied it at three, then took a lead late in the game.

Fergus scored the winner on a powerplay with 1:43 remaining on the clock.

The Bandits regrouped for their next outing when they travelled to Shelburne to face the Vets.

Leading 3-2 at the end of the first period, the Caledon squad kept up the pressure for the entire game and delivered a volley of shots at the Shelburne goalie. They just couldn't find the back of the net.

"With some of our regular players — they were scoring a lot in previous years, but now they have had a bit of a monkey on their back," said Bandits' head coach Mike Gillian. "But they are coming together."

First period Bandit goals came from Chris Sehl, Sam McCanna and Michael Rybka.

The second period saw a single goal from each team, making it a 4-3 game going into the final 20 minutes. Caledon's Rybka scored the second period Bandits' goal.

The last frame starting with only a one-goal difference, but the squads turned it up a notch to try to get the advantage.

Two Caledon powerplay goals tipped the balance in the Bandits' favour when Blaine Schmidt scored at 2:40 into the period, followed by another from Rybka; his third of the game.

A final Caledon goal on an empty net sealed the deal and the Bandits recorded their third win of the season.

"The kids realize that no game is a 'gimme', they've got to work on it," Gillian said after Friday's win. "We're using a motion offence. Eventually they'll get it.

We've only played two games with it."

After Friday's game, the Bandits have a 3-4 record so far for the season.

Over all, Clarington is leading the league, going undefeated after nine games.

In the West Division, Wilmot is in the top spot with no losses after six matches.

The Bandits will return home to Mayfield arena Saturday to host Huntsville.

The game is scheduled for a 7 p.m. start.

Brewers lead NDLB

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The Bolton Brewers continue to lead the North Dufferin Baseball League's senior division.

The Bolton squad has been driving up the total, especially in their last few games.

In their double header against the Angus Black Sox May 26, the Brewers blanked the Sox in both games scoring 22 runs while not allowing a single run against.

That game came on the heels of the outing against the Lisle Astros, in which the Brewers scored 12 and held the Astros to two runs for the game.

While the Brewers may be at the top of the pile, it doesn't mean they don't have some serious competition.

The Orillia Majors have the same record, but are in second place, based on the runs for and against. The New Lowell Knights are in third place with 10 points. The Midland Indians also have a strong team.

There will be a lot of home town action this coming weekend when the two Bolton teams in the NDLB will meet up for a double header at North Hill Park in Bolton.

The Bolton Brewers and the Bolton Dodgers will meet for the double header at the south diamond at North Hill Park Saturday. Game one is scheduled for 1 p.m., with game two following.

Shutout at North Hill Park leaves Dodgers with 3-5 record

By Brian Lockhart

Despite being blanked in their last two at-bats, the Bolton Dodgers still have a decent spot in the North Dufferin Baseball League standings.

After eight games, the Dodgers have a 3-5 record, but that's still good for ninth spot in the standings of the 14-team league.

After winning over the Clearview Orioles May 26, the Dodgers hit a wall and failed to score a single run in their next two games.

They were shut out June 1, with a 1-0 loss to the Orillia Majors.

On the return to their home diamond at North Hill Park in Bolton last Wednesday (June 5), they came up short with a 6-0 loss to the visiting Ivy Leafs.

The Leafs led the scoring in Wednesday's game with a first inning that saw the Ivy squad load the bases, then drive in two runs with a hit to mid field.

The Dodgers started the game with three men up and three down, ending with a line drive to first base the stopped the inning.

Hitting wasn't a problem for the Dodgers. They just managed to hit to all the wrong places.

A third-inning fly to deep centre field and an infield fly started the Dodgers with two quick outs. That was followed by a nice line drive that got by the Ivy shortstop to give Bolton a man on base. The inning ended with slick play by the Ivy shortstop when he caught a hard drive and followed up with a throw to second to catch the runner off base.

The Leafs notched another run in the fourth inning when an error at first base gave another runner time to score.

At the end, the Dodgers couldn't get a run and they lost 6-0 to the visitors.

The Bolton Brewers are currently leading the NDBL senior division followed by the Orillia Majors in second place.

The Dodgers have three road games on the schedule this week, including a double header against the Barrie Angels this weekend, and an evening game against the Creemore Braves.

They will return to the diamond at North Hill Park in Bolton this Saturday (June 15), for another double header.

This time they will face the first place Bolton Brewers in a hometown match up.

The first game will get underway at 1 p.m. followed by the second game immediately after.

Bolton Dodgers pitcher Shawn English delivers from the mound in the first inning of the Dodgers game against the Ivy Leafs last Wednesday at North Hill Park.

Public input wanted on accessible transportation plan

Peel Region is inviting current and future clients, caregivers, social service providers and advocates to take part in the planning for accessible transportation services in Peel.

Anyone who is interested in shaping

Peel's Accessible Transportation Master Plan is welcome to attend an open house this coming Monday (June 17). It will be from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. at Century Gardens Community Centre at 340 Vodden St. East, in Brampton.

Attendees are invited to learn and provide input on such topics as electronic fare payment, travel training, eligibility requirements and a rider Bill of Rights. The Region will use the feedback from the process to clarify the vision, plan for the future of accessible transportation and recommend specific improvements.

The master plan is scheduled for completion in summer 2014.

In 2012, TransHelp had approximately 12,000 clients and more than 450,000 trips were provided. The number of clients increased by 140 per cent and 74 per cent more trips were provided since 2007. Peel needs to be positioned for growth and compliance with the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act. To accomplish this, the Region will consider the full menu of service delivery options and new approaches to providing the best possible accessible transit service to people who need it the most.

"The Region is exploring ideas on how to collaborate with our transit partners while also investigating options to meet the growing demand for accessible transportation in the years to come," said Regional Manager of Accessible Transportation Mark Castro. "The open house event gives residents an opportunity to learn about potential solutions and tell us what they think. This is a chance for the public to work together with the Region to shape the future of accessible transportation in Peel and have their voices heard."

The Region is committed to providing accessible transportation services, but needs public input on how best to balance the financial constraints while maintaining an appropriate level of service for the next 20 years. The plan will provide recommendations and strategic direction based on sound financial analysis, industry best practices and customer feedback.

Attendees can meet the people who work behind the scenes providing accessible transportation services in Peel.

All are 'dared' to join Pink Hair Dare for Wellspring

Wellspring Chinguacousy has announced the official launch of the second annual Show You Care, Take the Pink Hair Dare campaign, taking place during Caledon Day celebrations this Saturday (June 15) in Caledon East.

The Pink Hair Dare is a challenge to everyone. Both men and women, the young and young at heart, school children and teachers, are all dared to have a temporary pink hair extension added to their natural hair. They can wear it with pride, throughout October, in support of anyone fighting cancer.

Hair salons in Caledon, Brampton and Mississauga, as well as corporate partners, community groups and schools will all be supporting the Pink Hair Dare by promoting and fitting pink hair extensions during regular salon appointments and at special events hosted onsite.

"The campaign has two purposes," explained Campaign Chair Gayle Wilding. "The first is to raise funds for cancer support programs here in our community, and the second is to give people an opportunity to honor a family member, friend, or anyone they know who has suffered from cancer."

The launch is taking place in June to help draw attention to the October month-long campaign and will feature Caledon Mayor Marilyn Morrison and Councilor Patti Foley, along with a group of committed friends, having their hair extensions installed at the Pink Hair Dare booth, between 2:30 and 3 p.m. this Saturday at Caledon Day. Interested visitors are also encouraged that day to have their own extension installed for a minimum $20 gift and/or to pick up a pledge form and start collecting towards their own personal fundraising goal. Last year, the inaugural year of this unique fundraiser raised more than $80,000 and the goal is to double that in 2013.

During October, participants can have their hair installed at any participating salons and turn in their pledges during a special event to take place at Wellspring Chinguacousy. Featured events will also take place throughout the month in a variety of public venues, including Bramalea City Centre.

Wellspring Chinguacousy provides more than 20 cancer support programs, free of charge, at the Brampton centre, at 5 Inspiration Way (Torbram Road and Father Tobin Road). These programs help cancer patients and their families deal with the emotional, physiological, spiritual and financial challenges that a cancer diagnosis often brings.

Since opening its doors in April, 2008, Wellspring Chinguacousy has received more than 25,000 visits.

More information about Wellspring programs is available at www.wellspringching.ca

Thank you

Ingrid Brasse

Feb. 13, 1930 – May 22, 2013

Our deepest and heartfelt thanks go to everyone who supported us throughout this difficult journey. We thank everyone for their prayers and support, for gifts of food, for the beauty of flowers and plants, for the many donations to Bethell Hospice, Wellspring, Westminster United Church and New Hope Salvation Army.

Special thanks go to the caring doctors and nurses at Credit Valley Hospital, Brampton Civic as well as Headwaters Health Care Centre, especially Dr Mauro who guided us through this last phase of life. Thanks and appreciation to the Orangeville Fire Department, Dufferin Caledon Ambulance, and to mom's many neighbours and friends. Our very heartfelt thanks to Heather Katz who, as per mom's wishes, performed "Hallelujah" during her Celebration of Life.

Deep appreciation to Reverend Sandra McLauchlan-Abuja who supported us and truly portrayed mom's character to all in attendance; our thanks also to everyone at Dods & McNair Funeral Home for their caring professionalism.
