Frank Dale is Peel Region's new Chair

By Bill Rea

Veteran Mississauga Councillor Frank Dale received a big promotion last Thursday.

He is the new Chair and CEO of Peel Region, replacing Emil Kolb, who has retired after 23 years on the job.

Dale, 62, was first elected to City council in 1988 and was re-elected to his seventh term as representative for Ward 4 in Mississauga in October.

He and his wife Terri have three children: Jennifer, Michael and Jonathan, and one grandson.

Dale was one of five people nominated for the position and the only one who was a sitting councillor.

The other four were former

Mississauga councillor Steve Mahoney, who made an unsuccessful bid for Mississauga Mayor in October, former Mississauga councillor Pat Mullin, who stood down from seeking re-election, former Brampton councillor John Sanderson, who ran for Mayor, and Shelley White, president and CEO of United Way of Peel Region.

It took five ballots before Dale was able to get a clear majority of the 24 Regional councillors who were voting.

Dale had eight votes after the first round, and his supporters included Caledon Councillor Annette Groves. Mahoney had four votes, including those of Caledon Councillors Johanna Downey and Jennifer Innis. Mullin also had four votes, as did Sanderson, who had the backing of Caledon Mayor Alan Thompson. White got three votes, including that of Caledon Councillor Barb Shaughnessy.

Mahoney's son Matt was elected to Mississauga council in October, so he declared a conflict of interest and stood down from voting until his father was eliminated.

White was dropped from the running at that point, and Shaughnessy switched to Sanderson.

The second ballot saw Dale get 10 votes, to six for Mahoney, three for Mullin and four for Sanderson.

With Mullin dropped, Dale got 11 votes on the third ballot, with Mahoney and Sanderson tied with six each. Lots were drawn, and Mahoney's evening was over.

Downey and Innis switched to Sanderson for the next ballot, which ended in a 12-12 tie.

The next vote was taken after a brief recess and it saw Mississauga Councillors Pat Saito and Karen Ras switching over the Dale to break the tie.

Groves said later they were all approached by the candidates, and she took the opportunity to listen to what they all had to say, and how they would

Three drinking and driving charges in Caledon last week

Caledon OPP officers are still finding people driving after having had too much to drink.

Man arrested for fraud

A man who apparently skimmed gas card information has been charged with fraud.

Caledon OPP reports officers were called to investigate a complaint March 10, and their investigation revealed that a man had skimmed gas card information and was using the stolen information to make fuel purchases. Investigators learned that the card was used extensively between March 7th to March 10th throughout Ontario and into Quebec. The total amount of fraudulently purchased fuel exceeded $26,000.

The Caledon OPP Street Crime officers continued with the investigation which resulted in an Oct. 23 arrest.

A 34-year-old man from North York was charged with three counts each of possession of a stolen credit card and fraud under $5,000.

Police are asking anyone with information about this fraud to contact them at 905-584-2241 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).

There were three people charged last week, and one of them was caught at a festive Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere (RIDE) spot check.

That took place Dec. 1 shortly after 4 p.m. Police were running spot check in the area of King Street and Winston Churchill Boulevard in Terra Cotta when they saw the driver of a vehicle trying to evade their check. Officers went after the vehicle and pulled it over. Upon speaking to the driver, they determined he was under the influence of alcohol, so they administered a breath test, which he failed. The 51-year-old man from Brampton was charged with driving with more than the legal limit of alcohol in his system.

In other incidents, a 56-year-old man from Caledon was arrested Dec. 4 after an officer stopped him in the area of Mayfield Road and Torbram Road at about 1 a.m. The officer determined the man was under the influence, so he demanded a breath sample. He failed the roadside test and was charged with driving with more than the legal limit.

The following day, a 57-year-old Caledon man was stopped in Bolton at about 1:40 p.m. after police were informed of a possible impaired driver in a parking lot. Officers located the suspect vehicle exiting the Beer Store parking lot. They conducted a vehicle stop and determined the driver was under the influence. He was arrested and charged with impaired operation of a motor vehicle and driving with more than the legal limit.

Caledon officers ran 27 spot checks last week in various locations around town.

In addition to the one charge, 15 people were asked to provide breath samples and passed. There were two three-day licence suspensions handed out and three drug possession warnings.

Police are reminding motorists that impaired driving means driving while one's ability is affected by alcohol or drugs. It is a crime under the Criminal Code of Canada. If convicted, drivers can lose their licences, be fined, or spend time in jail. The vehicle does not even have to be moving; a person can be charged if they are impaired behind the wheel, even if they have not started to drive.

OPP supporting positive actions of young people

Young people doing the right thing may earn themselves some well-deserved recognition this winter.

OPP will be continuing its partnership with Mac's Convenience Stores across Ontario again this year for Operation Heat 2014, a program that rewards children who demonstrate positive actions, positive behaviour and show acts of kindness toward others.

OPP officers will be keeping a watchful eye for young people carrying out good deeds in communities across the province; and when they catch someone in an act of kindness, the "thank you" which they will receive in the form of free "ticket" for hot chocolate.

Operation Heat is a positive ticketing program that provides opportunities for OPP officers to interact with young people in their communities while recognizing youth for doing good deeds. Officers can use the coupons in a "positive" way to establish a dialogue with children in their patrol area and build relationships that will last for years to come.

"The OPP is pleased to participate again this year in this highly successful initiative that recognizes youth for responsible and caring behaviour," said Inspector Robyn MacEachern, of OPP Community Safety Services. "Any opportunity we have to interact with young people is a good thing. Engaging our business communities in support of youth programs also helps make our communities stronger."

"Operation Heat provides law enforcement with an additional tool to initiate communication and reward our youth in a positive way," commented Sean Sportun, manager of loss prevention and security for Mac's in Central Canada.

Search warrant results in arrests

Five Caledon men, ranging in age from 19 to 54, are facing charges after members of the Caledon OPP Street Crime Unit, along with members from the Tactical Response Unit, Emergency Response Unit, Drug Enforcement Unit and K-9 executed a Controlled Drug and Substances Act warrant Nov. 20 at a Caledon residence.

While executing the warrant, officers located a quantity drugs, believed to marijuana, drug paraphernalia as well as long guns, ammunition, cross bows and cash.

The five were charged with possession of a schedule II substance for the purpose of trafficking, possession of property obtained by crime over $5,000, and careless storage of a firearm, weapon, prohibited device or ammunition.

Traffic stop leads to arrest

A 27-year-old man faces drug charges after a traffic stop in the Bolton area Dec. 3.

Caledon OPP reports officers were on general patrol in the area of Coleraine Drive and Mayfield Road when they saw a pick-up truck with an exhaust pipe dragging on the road. They pulled the truck over and noticed the driver was acting suspiciously, reaching over to the passenger side before stopping.

After talking to the driver, officers learned he was bound by a Recognizance Order with conditions; to "keep the peace and be of good behaviour, to not possess non-prescribed drugs and to carry a copy of his release documents with him at all times."

The driver was requested to produce the release documents, but was unable to comply. Subsequently, he was arrested and a search of the vehicle uncovered a quantity of drugs, believed to be marijuana. Officers also found full and empty containers of alcohol which had been recently purchased.

The accused was transported to the detachment and a further search uncovered more illegal substances, suspected to be crystal meth and ecstasy.

The man was arrested and charged with two counts of possession of a schedule I substance, possession of a schedule II substance and failure to comply with recognizance. The driver is further charged with offences under the Liquor Licence Act and the Highway Traffic Act.

Break-in at garage

A Milwaukee construction radio, a Tom-Tom GPS; Stihl weed eater, backpack leaf blower, Karcher pressure washer and a sandblaster were among the items reported stolen after a garage adjacent to a Chinguacousy Road home was entered.

Caledon OPP reports they learned of the incident Dec. 1, and believe it happened sometime between then and the previous day. Police learned that the suspect(s) gained access through an insecure door.

Police are reminding residents to contact the OPP Communications Centre immediately at 1-888-310-1122 to report any suspicious activity or suspicious vehicles in the area. Information such as suspect physical descriptions, suspect vehicles and direction of travel are useful tools for investigators.

Police are asking anyone with information about this break and enter to contact them at 905-584-2241 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).

Santa welcomed back to Caledon village

The Caledon Village Association had a big welcome already for Santa Claus Saturday night, putting on their biggest parade ever. The parade formed up in the parking lot of Caledon Central Public School and made its way through the village to Knox United Church for a community celebration. The festivities included the presentation of this cheque for $200 to the Caledon village firefighters from the Caledon Optimists. Paul Reder, Eric Mileham, Jake Haines, David Lambert, Ted Simmonds and Sue Montgomery made the presentation to Melinda Elen, Sandra Graham, Brandon Quirk, Ryan East and Eric Brown.

The congregation of Caledon Hills Fellowship Baptist Church was behind this colourful float.

Rocky, the Husky mascot from Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School, was among the school's representation in the parade.

Santa Claus travelled in the parade in style, with help from Caledon Fire and Emergency Services.

Riding on the Town of Caledon Float was Councillor Barb Shaughnessy, Mayor Allan Thompson, Inspector Tim Melanson of Caledon OPP and Councillor Doug Beffort.

Brampton mayor calling for electing Peel Region's Chair in future

By Bill Rea

With a new Chair of Peel Region in place, there are more calls to change the method of choosing them.

Frank Dale of Mississauga got the job last Thursday, being elected by a majority of the 24 Regional councillors. But Brampton Mayor Linda Jeffrey brought the issues up in her remarks, suggesting it's time that be revisited, calling the current process "flawed."

"It is time for the more than 1.4 million residents of the Region of Peel to elect their Chair, just as they elect their other municipal officials," Jeffrey stated. "In the interest of democracy, the position of regional chair needs to be decided directly by voters."

"I look to all of my council colleagues to consider a more transparent and accountable method of choosing the Chair for the 2018 term," she added.

That position is drawing some support from Caledon, but not a lot.

Councillor Annette Groves indicated she thought it might be time to have the Chair elected at large.

"That's a decision I think all the regions are going to be having," she said.

"I think the Chair should be elected at large," she added. "It's democratic and people should have a say on who their chair is."

But Mayor Allan Thompson wasn't as enthused.

"That's politics," he replied when asked about the matter after last Thursday's meeting. "It will be a City of Peel," he added. "Give the Region a chance."

"In reality, you're thinking of creating a super mayor," Councillor Johanna Downey observed. "That's unfair to the mayors of the three municipalities."

"It creates a super mayor, which is not something I would support," Councillor Jennifer Innis remarked, adding to could make things difficult when it comes to making the Region function, as she pointed out an elected chair could wind up being at odds with the three elected mayors.

"I think the role of the Regional Chair is to find cohesiveness," she said.

Councillor Barb Shaughnessy questioned whether last week's meeting was the forum for Jeffrey to have raised the issue, and she also expressed her doubts over the idea.

"I believe that this becomes a popularity contest and name recognition," she said.

Jones' bill to respect private property passes key vote

The private member's bill of Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones, Bill 36, the Respecting Private Property Act, passed second reading in the Legislature last week.

It has been sent to the Standing Committee on Justice Policy for public consultation.

"I am happy to see Bill 36 pass second reading today," Jones said. "My bill has received support from a wide range of stakeholders and residents."

Jones' bill has received support from the Ontario Federation of Agriculture (OFA), the Peel Federation of Agriculture, as well as local residents of Dufferin-Caledon.

If enacted, it would amend the Trespass to Property Act by creating a minimum fine of $500 for trespassing and by increasing the maximum compensation for damages to $25,000. Currently the Trespass to Property Act has no minimum fine for those who trespass, and has a maximum limit of $1,000 on compensation for damages.

"We cannot expect property owners to foot the bill themselves when someone else has caused the damage," Jones said. "In addition, we cannot allow trespassers to get away without facing a penalty for committing a crime."

"We need to ensure property owners are fairly compensated for destruction to their property, and we need to signal that trespassing is a serious issue and will not be taken lightly," Jones added.

20th House Tour raises $84,312 for Headwaters

The 20th annual Headwaters House Tour has raised $84,312.

The money will be used by the Headwaters Health Care Foundation toward its $16-million Commitment to Care campaign that will finance expansion of the hospital.

More than 700 House Tour participants had an opportunity to explore nine outstanding private homes throughout the Hills of Headwaters Sept. 20 and enjoy a gourmet lunch buffet at the OAS Event Centre.

In celebration of the 20th anniversary, the House Tour went through a modernization, with an online auction. This new venture opened up the auction to everyone, not just House Tour ticket purchasers.

The online auction, raffle tickets, ticket sales and corporate sponsors all contributed to a record-breaking year.

"We want to extend our profound appreciation to the homeowners, corporate sponsors, auction donors and volunteers who made this event, and our record-breaking donation, a reality this year," said Simone Christensen-Harris, chair of the House Tour Committee.

"As well, a big thanks to the House Tour Committee. Together, we integrated past experience with innovative approaches, creating a House Tour that appealed to all ages and interests."

"Thank you to the House Tour Committee for organizing an amazing 20th anniversary event!" Foundation Executive Director Joan Burdette said.

"The house choices were absolutely fantastic and guests were having a wonderful time. The partnership we have with Headwaters Health Care Auxiliary is an important one, and we are very grateful for the funds we receive annually from this hard-working group of dedicated volunteers."

The House Tour proceeds contribute to Headwaters Healthcare Auxiliary's $750,000 pledge to the Commitment to Care Campaign, launched in October 2012.

In partnership with the Foundation, the Auxiliary helps to raise funds for hospital equipment purchases through a number of its events and activities. In addition to the annual House Tour, the Auxiliary plans, organizes and hosts annual events like the Teddy Bear Clinic in the spring and the Candy Cane Fair in the winter, as well as a year-long quilt raffle. The hospital's gift shop, Headwaters Hospital Thrift Store, coffee bar and book exchange are other ways in which the Auxiliary raises funds for the facility.

For more information about the 20th Annual House Tour, visit www.headwatershousetour.com.

Caledon's councillors looking forward to working with Chair Dale protect the position of Caledon at the Region.

"I am pleased with the way things turned out," she said.

"We got a good Regional Chair," Thompson remarked after the meeting. "I think we'll be fine with Frank."

"I think Frank's a really nice guy," Downey commented. "I think he's got a lot of Regional experience that's going to serve us well as we go forward."

"He has big shoes to fill," she added.

"I think that experience matters," Innis said. "I think Frank brings a lot of experience and knowledge to the position of Chair."

"I like Frank," Shaughnessy said, although she had supported White at the start. She said she ran on bringing in new energy and perspective, "and that's what Shelley offered."

Shaughnessy added she could work with either Dale or White.

Mississauga Councillor Nando Iannicca entered Dale's name in nomination, calling him "the finest candidate we could ever hope for."

Iannicca reflected that Dale started working for the Region in 1974 in an entry-level position, and stayed there until 1988 when he was elected to council.

"He has done it all and seen it all," he said.

Iannicca added Dale has never been known to raise his voice or have his integrity questioned.

"He's a fair man, he's a just man, he's an honourable man and he's a gentleman," Iannicca commented.

Mississauga Councillor George Carlson seconded the nomination, saying Dale had been a mentor and friend to him from the time he was a school trustee. He praised Dale's experience, calling him "kind of a renaissance man."

In his address to councillors before the first vote, Dale said he was approached by colleagues to seek the Chair, telling him the Region needed proven and trusted experience, and he said such experience is needed at the Region at this time. New growth and development pressures are going to be faced, and he commented on the need to preserve established communities, balancing that with the new development.

Dale has served 15 years on Credit Valley Conservation, spending six years as chair. He pointed out he's had experience dealing with the three area municipalities in Peel, as well as protecting the environment.

He added experience helps teach one to make tough decisions.

Dale also pointed out there are 11 new members sitting at the council table this term (including some who are returning to council). He said they represent fresh ideas and he promised to work with each of them.

He also spoke on the need to review the structure of council to make Regional government more responsive. He added he will fight to make sure Caledon and Brampton have the Regional representation they deserve.

Thompson nominated Sanderson, commenting on the good qualities he's observed in the years he's worked with him, observing he's promoted Regional issues. He's also been frugal, finding lots of savings at the Region, especially in the area of waste management.

Thompson also observed that Sanderson has shown an understanding of the needs of Caledon and Mississauga, as well as Brampton.

Brampton Councillor Elaine Moore seconded the nomination.

Mississauga Councillor Ron Starr nominated Mahoney, seconded by Gael Miles of Brampton. Mullin was nominated by Saito, with Mississauga Councillor Jim Tovey seconding it. It was rookie Brampton Councillor Martin Medeiros who nominated White, and that was seconded by Brampton Mayor Linda Jeffrey.

In his acceptance address, Dale reflected that he and Iannicca were rookie councillors together, both being first elected in 1988. He recalled Kolb had approached both of them at the time, trying to be a mentor.

"Emil never changed," he said. "Emil was always there."

"This Region is rapidly growing," he told the large crowd at Mississauga Convention Centre, "and is faced by many challenges ahead of us."

He also vowed to work as hard as he could to make it the best Region.

"It's overwhelming," Dale told reporters after the meeting. "It's a great feeling."

He acknowledged there will probably have to be a byelection to fill his old council seat, which is now vacant.

"I felt awkward with respect to that fact," he said. "It's the system and maybe that system has to be changed."

Dale said he wasn't too surprised by the results.

"I've never entered any election where I didn't think I had an opportunity to win," he remarked. "I didn't feel as nervous as I thought I might have been."

"I'm very happy that Frank has been able to convince the members of council and the new members of council that he's the right person to take the council through the next four years," Kolb commented.

He observed there's a lot of work to be done, especially involving infrastructure and service delivery.

Justice of the Peace (and former Caledon mayor) Carol Seglins administered the Declaration of Office to new Regional Chair Frank Dale.

Mississauga Mayor Bonnie Crombie, Brampton Mayor Linda Jeffrey and Caledon Mayor Allan Thompson placed the Chain of Office on Frank Dale.

Police officer says the Montreal victims' 'spirit lives on'

"Because December 6 happened . . . we know that we still have much work to do," Kennedy said. "And a large part of that work is too big for us to do alone because we need to change the culture. This is a social movement. And a movement, because it is so massive, is slow. As our friends on the MENTors committee will say — we need to 'redefine masculinity.' We have to educate men and boys that they do not have to be threatened by women wanting equality."

She asked everyone to make a commitment.

"We would like to ask each of you, when, in a few minutes, I will ask you to take a moment to reflect and make a commitment to do something this year to contribute to equality between the genders and to ending violence," said Kennedy. "It doesn't have to be big. It can be as simple as vowing to yourself that the next time you hear a sexist joke or comment that you speak up. In doing so, you help educate others that big acts of violence often stem from small acts of disrespect, but that small acts of respect can help change the world."

Family Transition Place will always be there to support women in need in Dufferin and Caledon.

"I pledge that as long as violence against women exists, as long as women aren't safe in their own homes, for as long as inequality between the genders persists, we at FTP will continue to work with women, youth, men and boys to educate them and help them grow. As long as women need refuge and support, we will not give up working to support them and keep them safe," said Kennedy. "We will not despair. We will not walk away. We will go on."

Dave Quinton was on-hand to speak about MENTors and the Headwaters White Ribbon Campaign, a group of men working to end violence against women.

"Gender-based violence has no place in our community," said Quinton. "Please remember these victims not just today, but keep them in your thoughts often and in your prayers and actions."

Student Emily Rowsell shared a personal story with the group gathered for the vigil. As a high school student, gender-based violence did not affect her.

Since starting university she now knows of three women and three incidents.

"They didn't want to report what happened because there is a stigma around violence against women," said Rowsell. "The scars are still there and they walk around knowing they are victims of gender based violence. Gender inequality is an issue that needs to be addressed."

Pina Marino of Caledon-Dufferin Victim Services also spoke at the vigil.

"The world has lost beautiful souls," said Marino. "Let us all remember what they stood for. It is a basic human right to live a life free of violence."

Caledon OPP officer Lori Mournahan said the police service has proactive programs aimed at preventing violence against women. Officers are also trained to deal with gender-based violence.

"Even though the voices of these women have been silenced, their spirit lives on," she said.

Caledon Councillor Doug Beffort said the National Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women is a time to reflect on this tragedy.

"As a councillor representing my residents, I will commit to being a public advocate to strengthen the fight against violence against women and to pledge to never contain these acts, or remain silent," said Beffort.

Kelley Potter, a Caledon community member and volunteer, also spoke out on violence against women.

"What is going on in the world today can sometimes be daunting," said Potter. "It is important for us to understand we are not powerless to end violence against women and girls. The 14 women and what they will not be able to experience, the senselessness of it all — nothing can be said to explain away the tragedy of being murdered just because you are a woman."

The ceremony concluded with a reading of the 14 names of the women who died at l'École Polytechnique Dec. 6 1989 and a reflection on the tragedy.

People attending last Thursday's vigil in Bolton held up signs bearing the names of the women who were killed 25 years ago.

Governor General has proclaimed 2015 as the Year of Sport in Canada

As we navigate our way to the end of a successful 2014 in Canadian sports, following the Winter Olympics and Commonwealth Games, Gov.-Gen. David Johnston has now proclaimed 2015 to be the Year of Sport in Canada.

In celebration of the role that sport plays in our country, the Year of Sport will help encourage Canadians to participate in, and seek the benefits of, sport.

Indeed, 2015 coincides with Canada's hosting of several high-profile national and international sporting events. The Year of Sport will focus on making the most of these events to highlight the advantages of sport to all Canadians. Next year, we will host the International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF) World Junior Hockey Championship, the 25th edition of the Canada Games, the FIFA Women's World Cup and the 2015 Pan American Games and Parapan American Games, amongst others.

Our government is proud to be the largest single investor in Canada's amateur sport system, supporting participation and excellence from the playground to the podium. To inspire the benefit of sport in children, our government delivered the

OTTAWA JOURNAL

David Tilson MP Dufferin-Caledon

Children's Fitness Tax Credit to help offset the costs of registration in sports programs. Recently, our government doubled the maximum expense that can be claimed to $1,000. Parents get back 15 per cent of this at tax time. We also announced the credit will be refundable starting in 2015.

Meanwhile, our investment in the Canadian sport system is at an all-time high.

Through the Athlete Assistance Program, every year $28 million in funding goes directly to approximately 1,800 athletes, giving them the help they need to pursue their world-class results. The Sport Support Program provides about $146 million to Canadian sport organizations to strengthen our national sport system and benefit our athletes and coaches.

Christians and non-Christians can celebrate Christmas

By Dely Farrace

Political correctness over Christmas began to evolve in the last half century, subtly at first, but so much more fiercely over the last decade.

In fact, Christmas is now actively being challenged. With an ever-diversifying population, it's no wonder Canada's holidays are being challenged. But is it right to do so?

Canada became a nation by the unified front of Loyalists and Native Aboriginal peoples. Celebrated holidays were based on Christianity. Canadians have been celebrating Christmas since colonial times, bringing these traditions with them from Europe. For decades, the word "Christmas" has been interchanged with "Holidays" or "Holiday Season" to somehow include non-Christians. Is it politically correct to call Christmas something else?

Over the last two millennia, Christmas has become a very special holiday, albeit emerging from a rather more sordid seasonal celebration centuries before Christ's birth. For devout Christians, the Christmas season emphasizes the religious aspects, advent, the birth of Jesus, the virgin mother, Mary, the feast of the epiphany.

For everyone, including non-Christians who wish to partake in the non-religious customs, Christmas is full of wonder and excitement, especially for children. Santa Claus, a Christmas tree (not a Holiday tree), presents, stockings, songs were all designed to bring joy to children, many of whom, at the time these traditions were developed, lived in abject poverty, with survival to adulthood a mere contingency. Instead of foolishly arguing over cultural differences, why not concentrate on the 29 per cent of our children today living in poverty in such an affluent society?

Although pernicious notions do exist in

In addition, the Hosting Program provides about $20 million annually to assist Canadian communities who host world-class sport events.

The Year of Sport will be an important opportunity to raise awareness of the health benefits that sport provides, while also showing what an important driver it is to Canada's economy. As any athlete will say, sport has the power to enhance our lives. As families, volunteers, local sports clubs and associations come together, let's celebrate 2015 as the Year of Sport.

the origins of Christmas, they exist in the origins of many things. But removing the hedonistic and vile parts of these customs has created a more civil society. Is that not the way of evolution? We simply have become better human beings, taking the good out of old ideas, and removing nefarious practices. Christ is not an evil thing. Who can condemn a man who was a prophet at the very least and the son of God to many?

Newcomers to Canada should be encouraged to educate themselves in and embrace these cherished traditions that Canadians have so enjoyed and shared for centuries. We come together as a people — all people, Christians and non-Christians — most during this special season of Christmas. Christmas is a time to share joy, give from the heart, spread love and good cheer to all. If we allow ourselves to become immersed in the joys, traditions and literature like The Gift of the Magi by O. Henry and A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens, we open up our hearts to receive the gifts of love, altruism and peace.

Instead of actively rejecting the most beautiful and peace-promoting holiday of the year, why not embrace it? If the gift of peace is allowed to permeate our hearts, the world around us could become a more hopeful and inspiring place. As Agnes M. Pharo wrote, "What is Christmas? It is tenderness for the past, courage for the present, hope for the future."

The path to peace is not one of war. Those of us in power can promote peace by extending true assistance, not benevolence, to those in need. Everyone can promote peace by replacing resentment with a positive attitude, anger with an open heart, and rejection with a warm embrace.

May all Canadians have a Merry Christmas!

The spirit of giving at this time of year

FROM QUEEN'S PARK

Sylvia Jones MPP Dufferin-Caledon

Christmas is indeed the most wonderful time of the year.

It's a time to celebrate, and a time to reflect on our many blessings.

It is also an opportunity to be mindful of those in our community who are in need, and assist organizations that are doing excellent work to help individuals who find themselves in difficult circumstances.

In December, one tradition in our home is a family discussion with our children as to which charity or organization they would like to donate to as part of their Christmas giving. Hearing them explain why they want to donate to a particular organization or group often leads to a wider discussion around challenges and solutions to problems facing our community.

Donations do not need to be limited to a financial commitment. Volunteering at the local food bank or Salvation Army kettle also helps at a time of year when everyone is trying to do more and volunteer time is at a premium.

The campaign that our Governor General David Johnston launched in November called, Dare2Give is an "opportunity for Canadians to dare their friends, family and colleagues to donate or volunteer with them. Each time someone gives their time, talent or money, they make Canada a more caring nation."

What a great reminder to all of us about the value Canadians place in the act of philanthropy.

In the spirit of Christmas, I dare you to donate your time, talents or treasures to an organization that you believe in.

From my family to yours, I wish you a very Merry Christmas and a healthy New Year.

Catering to anti-oil zealots

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Claire Hoy

Ah, how the worms turn.

In the late 1970s, when Ontario was still the engine that made Canada run and Alberta was the new kid just beginning to flex its new-found oil muscles, a bitter internecine dispute between three leading Tories kept the country spellbound and had a major impact on the defeat of the hapless Joe Clark as prime minister and the triumphant return from a walk in the snow of Pierre Trudeau.

At the time, Ontario's Bill Davis and Alberta's Peter Lougheed were locked in mortal combat over the domestic price of oil. Ontario, as the main user, wanted to keep prices down. Alberta, as the supplier, wanted to jack them up.

In those days, however, Ontario, given its economic clout, had considerable muscle, and although Davis ultimately didn't get everything he wanted, neither did Lougheed. But the subsequent growth of Alberta's oil industry has been a boon not only to them but to the entire country.

Fast forward to today.

Alberta, far from being the brash newbie it was three decades ago, has displaced Ontario as Canada's main economic engine.

As for Ontario, well, after years of profligate spending by the Liberals combined with tepid revenue — and the diminishing importance of the auto and steel industries — we've been relegated to a "have-not" province, joining Quebec in looking to Ottawa, caps-in-hand, to bail us out from our own fiscal incompetence.

So we have the spectre of both Ontario Premier Kathleen Wynne and Quebec Premier Philippe Couillard attempting to muscle their way into a federal matter, i.e. approval of the proposed repurposing of an Energy East pipeline to carry Alberta oil 4,600 kilometres to a terminal at Cacouna, N.B., on the St. Lawrence River.

Never mind that the $12 billion project would also be an economic boon to Ontario and Quebec — Alberta Premier Jim Prentice points out, for example, that 1,100 Ontario firms already do oilsands-related business and the pipeline refit (from natural gas to oil) would create many more Ontario and Quebec jobs in both construction and related industries.

No, no, just because both provinces are starving for jobs and increased economic activity doesn't stop them from grandstanding with the seven "conditions" they say must be met before they approve the project.

Never mind that the Constitution is quite clear — and the Supreme Court has upheld it — that provinces cannot interfere with interprovincial pipelines. (It's a good thing that neither Wynne nor Couillard were around in Canada's fledgling days when Ottawa built a national railway, thus making sure the west would not be swallowed up by the United States. Had such shortsighted NIMBYism prevailed, Canada today would be a much diminished country.)

But we digress.

Back to the grandstanding of the two Liberal premiers and their empty blathering about involving Aboriginals (as if Ottawa and Alberta wouldn't, for heaven's sake) and wringing their collective hands about environmental damage (ignoring the reality that pipelines are far, far safer and have a much smaller footprint than rail and/or truck deliveries).

To hear these two whiners talk, you'd think we already don't have hundreds of thousands of miles of pipelines running through Ontario and Quebec and, with rare exceptions, safely delivering their products.

Couillard in particular need only look to the tragic result of last year's horrible crash in Lac-Mégantic of a runaway train loaded with crude oil, killing 47 people and destroying much of the town.

Instead of playing to the few zealots out there who are against virtually any economic activity — particularly if it involves oil (as if, magically, we can live without it, when we can't) — both premiers should welcome the economic opportunities the project affords their respective provinces.

While Alberta's Prentice is playing the conciliatory card (unlike both Peter Lougheed and Ralph Klein in the Davis era), Saskatchewan Premier Brad Wall is ticked at the gall of Ontario and Quebec attempting to bite the hand that feeds them. And he should be.

To wild applause, Wall recently told the Regina Chamber of Commerce that he wouldn't play "boy scouts" to the "protectionism" from central Canada.

Both western premiers have met with Wynne and Couillard to explain the benefits to their respective provinces (and to Canada) of the project and the two malcontents have softened their "demands" a bit.

But they're still grousing. Instead of standing for what's best for the country — and by extension, their own provinces — Wynne and Couillard seem more interested in pleasing a small band of anti-oil zealots who, by the way, can never be placated so long as one drop of oil is extracted from anywhere, anytime, by anyone.

As premiers of our two most populous provinces, they should rise above such petty, obstructionist politicking and applaud responsible economic growth, which is exactly what the pipeline project would be.

Bolton Camp is still "a place of dreams"

By Bill Rea

There's been a lot going on at the Bolton Camp property, and a large crowd was on the site recently to see what's in the works, and celebrate the past.

Roughly 250 acres that had basically been vacant and abandoned for years was a hive of activity over the summer, with young people trying to claim back what was allowed to let go.

The public got the chance to see the progress, under the auspices of the Toronto and Region Conservation Authority (TRCA).

The camp on the site was established in 1922 as a facility for mothers with small children from low-income families to get away for a time. The property was acquired a little more than three years ago by TRCA, with the support of Peel Region and the City of Toronto.

Danielle Scepanivic was one of the roughly 70 young people who were working on the site over the summer, recalling that young people had got together in design charets to come up with ideas for the property. Matthew Pavusa, who along with Scepanivic was MC at the event, observed it provided summer jobs and also engaged young people in the project.

He also recalled there was a lot to be done, commenting the weeds were waste high when they started.

"It was a lot of hard work," he said, adding it was also rewarding.

Regional Chair Emil Kolb commented that he has many memories of the camp property, adding it's purpose was to provide camping opportunities for people who might not otherwise have the chance.

Kolb, who sat on the Conservation Authority from 1974 to '91, said there were several attempts to buy the site, but the necessary funds were always hard to come by. There was finally a meeting with the owner, and he said they were able to get the price down, with the help from Toronto and the Region.

"There's a lot of work that can be done here," he said, adding he hopes Toronto officials will continue to play a role.

Brian Denney, CEO of TRCA, commented that partnerships with municipalities are an important part of conservation authorities. He added the camp property is part of some 40,000 acres that make up the network of TRCA lands.

"This is a really significant addition to that network," he remarked.

He also thanked the two local school boards, as well as the students, for stepping up.

There is still a lot of work to be done, and Denney pointed out that will mean more productive experiences for young people in the summers to come. He said they have only scratched the surface.

"Keep thinking of what this place could be," he urged.

"The history of this place is absolutely magical," Denney added. "Please stay with us. This place is going to be absolutely magical."

Brian Porter of Family Service Toronto, said the camp was closed in 1999, after 77 years. He said it "was a place of dreams and magic."

Reflecting on the work being done, he said the property has a great future under TRCA. "You have an amazing future," he remarked.

"This place started as and will always remain a place of dreams," he added.

Meeting Santa Claus at Herb Campbell

There were lots of young folks anxious to have a couple of minutes last Saturday with Santa Claus. The event was the annual Breakfast with Santa at Herb Campbell Public School. Grade 2 student Leyla Garcia was among those who got to meet the guest of honour.

Herb Campbell alumni Kelsey Dale and Sarah McGonigal were helping to serve breakfast last Saturday.

Part of the recent festivities included former campers getting on stage to sing the camp's song.

Stagnant Golden Hawks fall apart in third in loss to Otters

By Jake Courtepatte

With only three games on the schedule over the last three weeks, the Junior C Caledon Golden Hawks have hit an offensive lull.

After scraping together two goals in a loss in Huntsville last Sunday, the Otters were in Caledon this week after disposing of the Erin Shamrocks the night before.

An exchange of penalties early on was not met with any significant scoring chances, until the Hawks went back on the man-advantage late in the first period.

Nicholas McNutt went on a slick end-to-end, eventually stopped by the pads of the Otter goaltender.

It lit a spark under the home team that was capitalized on less than a minute later on a similar play by Derek Czech.

Midway through the second, a hard hit against the boards by Ryan Mouser put the Hawks on the penalty kill for the second time in the game.

Goaltender Sam Procopio helped out his offence with a nice point-blank save with his shoulder on a wide-open chance on the kill.

Daniel Cafagna was sent to the box shortly after for tripping, giving the Otters a five-on-three advantage.

However, some good shot-blocking and a Hasek-esque stop by Procopio sprawled on his back kept the Hawks up by one.

The lead was almost doubled on a late powerplay in the period, when Jake Mottershaw's shot from the point deflected off a man in front and rang off the crossbar.

Team discipline fell apart early in the third, as just a minute in, the Otters were given a two-man advantage.

Josh Zantingh tied the game at the tail end of the powerplay.

At the six-minute mark, the Otters scored again to have the Hawks chasing for the first time in the game.

A late roughing call against Caledon left them with little chance of a comeback, ending the game in a 2-1 loss.

Procopio had a strong outing, stopping 27 of the 29 shots he faced.

Perhaps the hardest-hit statistic over the current two-game losing streak has been the special teams, as the Hawks have gone 1-17 on the powerplay.

The single loss doesn't make much of an impact in the standings, other than hurt the Hawks' home record, which is an impressive 8-4-1 on the year.

Two games are on tap for this week, beginning with a road game in Stayner to face the streaking Siskins. They've won 11 of their last 12 to jump to second place in the GMOHL.

The Hawks will then be looking to pad that home record at Caledon East Arena Sunday, taking on the last place Midland Flyers.

Noah DoPaco scores his first of two goals last week in Robert F. Hall's 4-1 win over St. Marguerite D'Youville.

Hall Wolfpack win big in season opener

By Jake Courtepatte

The Wolfpack from Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School hit the ice last week for the first time this season, kicking off their ROPSSAA schedule against St. Marguerite D'Youville of Brampton in an afternoon road matchup.

The Hall team came in as a much more inexperienced squad, while the Panthers were already skating in their fourth game of the season.

However, it didn't show on the ice, as the Wolfpack took an early lead less than five minutes into the match.

With four minutes left in the first frame, Noah DoPaco took a nice cross-ice feed at the side of the net, burying it over the Panther goaltender's stacked pads to double the lead.

The offence was complimented by a nice penalty kill to end the first, with the Hall players executing an effective box in their own zone to keep the opponent to the outside.

It didn't take long to add another marker in the second period, as 30 seconds in, a nice forecheck by Vito Sica resulted in a Panthers hooking call in their own end.

Hall capitalized shortly after, on a scramble out front for the 3-0 lead.

Before the end of the period, DoPaco put the game out of reach with a tipped-in shot.

The Panthers were able to break the shutout in the third, but that would be as close as they would come, with the last five minutes of play spent almost entirely in the D'Youville end.

The Wolfpack continue their slow and steady start to the season Thursday against North Park Secondary, who already sit at a 4-2 record.

Derek Czech scored the Golden Hawk's lone goal in a 2-1 loss to the Huntsville Otters Sunday.

St. Michael Thunder hockey off to .500 start for the season

By Jake Courtepatte

Three games into the ROPSSAA season, the St. Michael Catholic Secondary School varsity hockey team out of Bolton were off to a strong start after a 5-1 stomping of Loyola last Monday.

They took on the St. Thomas Aquinas Raiders last Thursday, looking to cement their position atop the Tier1 North Division.

Meanwhile, the Raiders were looking for their first win of the season after ending in a tie a week earlier.

Aquinas came out ready to play, taking a 2-0 lead just four minutes into the opening frame.

St. Mike's team got their first real chance of the game with an extended five-on-three powerplay shortly after, but were unable to capitalize.

However, while still pressing after returning to full strength, a scramble in front found the puck in the back of the net to cut the lead in half.

The Raiders restored the two-goal lead before the end of the period, beating the Thunder goaltender low on the glove side.

After exchanging goals in the second, the St. Mike crew once again made the action interesting in the third period.

Just nine seconds in, a St. Mike's goal celebration was cut short by being called off for a kicking motion.

But they didn't back down, storming back with a legitimate goal 30 seconds later for a 4-3 score.

With just more than 10 minutes remaining, a pretty wraparound Thunder goal tied the game at four apiece.

Unfortunately, St. Mike would shoot themselves in the foot with a five-on-three penalty kill of their own, when a shot from the point found its way through traffic into the Thunder net.

An empty net with one minute left solved nothing, as the Thunder's record fell to 2-2 on the season.

Despite the loss, the Thunder maintained the top spot in the division with four points.

The St. Michael Thunder lost 5-4 to St. Thomas Aquinas last Thursday in Brampton. Their season record fell to 2-2.

Curling Across the Nation tour stops in King

By Shellee Morning

Ron Swan is slowly becoming a household name as he is attempting to curl in 100 sponsored games in 100 different clubs across Canada.

His journey began in October in Winnipeg with efforts to help raise money for his own hometown curling club in Harvey Station, New Brunswick. After calling a list of clubs last July to schedule games to play, he has gathered far more attention about his cause than he would ever have believed, including a segment on Canada AM. Members of his community have also grasped his energy with a fierce amount of pride, seeking sponsors for every game he plays. All money that is raised will go directly toward the 53-year-old club and its repairs.

This past weekend, Swan was invited to play in the King Country Invitational, hosted by the Men's League at the King Curling Club. His game in Schomberg was the second game for the day, as he played one in Bradford in the morning, then completed his day with a third game in Scarborough later that evening.

Swan, who has a cousin who lives in Schomberg and who he hadn't seen in many years, was able to visit in between games as the two travelled together for the day.

Swan, a very humble man, hopes that what he is doing will also shine some light and create more of an interest in curling. With many older clubs being shut down, he said it is "vital" to help promote curling and get the younger generation involved in a sport that has minimal costs to join and can be played from an early age and well into the senior ages, unlike many other sports.

King Curling Club Men's League is proud to support Swan's ambitious efforts with a donation on Swan's behalf and wish him and his club best of luck in the repairs. Relatively a new club themselves, King Curling too was fortunate to receive aid in financial support from various local, regional, provincial and federal funding platforms. The King Curling Club is pleased to "pay it forward" and wish everyone good curling in Harvey Station. It was an honour to have Swan join us in our bonspiel.

Anyone wanting to follow Swan on his Curling Across the Nation mission can visit him on Facebook and make a donation to his cause.

FARMLAND PRICES

The Price Of Farmland In Most Canadian Markets Has Either Held Steady Or Increased This Year, Following A Period Of Strong Year-Over-Year Growth.

Mirroring The Trend In Residential And Recreational Property Values, Lower Crop Prices, Floods And Challenging Winter Weather Conditions Have Failed To Significantly Impact The Canadian Agricultural Real Estate Market.

There Is Significant Variation In Price And Productive Capacity Of Farmland Across Canada. Macroeconomic Factors Impacted Prices To A Degree; However, Practical Considerations Such As The Proximity To A Processing Facility Or Prospective Buyer's Existing Operations Drove Individual Transactions.

While Prices Across Ontario Have Started To Level Off, The Value Of Farmland In Some Pockets Rose Significantly. North Of The Greater Toronto Area, Agricultural Land Slated For Development Reached $54,000 Per Acre. While Some Prices Here In Caledon Have Reached Upwards Of $400,000 Per Acre And In Brampton Acreage Has Reached Over $600,000 Per Acre Of Developable Land as More And More Land Is Being Gobbled Up By Developers.

I Am Constantly Being Asked For Farmland In This Area From Developers And Investors And It Seems There Is Not Enough Supply For The Demand. If You Are Thinking Of Selling And You Have Land Attached To A Home Or A Vacant Land Parcel Call Me For A Free Market Evaluation.

William Kurt Kiser
 December 11, 2013

In Loving Memory of Kurt Kiser who left us a year ago today. As we loved you, so we miss you; In our memory you are always near. Loved, remembered, longed for always, Bringing many a silent tear. Forever in our hearts, Love Darlene, Mom (Joanne), Amanda, Melissa, John, Elizabeth, Dianna, Gary, Joseph and Douglas. As well as your many bother and sister in laws, nieces, nephews and friends.

The McIntyre family would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to all of those who helped during the loss of our barn to a fire on Wednesday, November 19th.

First, thank you to the quick responding firefighters from Shelburne, Orangeville and Grand Valley who worked tirelessly through the night to extinguish the fire and prevent it from spreading to other out buildings on the property. Their passion and dedication to their profession were apparent.

We would also like to thank Reeves Construction for their quick response and professionalism in ensuring the debris was cleaned up in a timely manner.

Finally, thank you to the neighbours, friends and family for all the support shown in so many ways. Whether it was a meal delivered, a concerned phone call with words of encouragement, a hug in the time of need, or countless hours of hard work to help clean up the wreckage, your kind gestures did not go unnoticed; each and every one of you helped to make this tragedy a little easier to cope with. There are so many kind and generous people that we are so very lucky to call our friends.

Thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

LARGE, Jean Elizabeth
 In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, who passed away December 11, 1989.

25 years ago you passed away Mom, but our memories of you will never fade, only grow stronger.

Do not stand at my grave and weep; I am not there, I do not sleep, I am a thousand winds that blow I am the diamond glints on snow

I am the sunlight on ripened grain
 I am the gentle autumn's rain
 When you awaken in the morning's hush,
 I am the swift uplifting rush,
 Of quiet birds in circled flight
 I am the soft stars that shine at night
 Do not stand at my grave and cry;
 I am not there, I did not die.

Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Jim, Brenda & family, Bob, Joan & family, Kathy & family & Linda
