SALAMANDERS AT BELFOUNTAIN SALAMANDER FESTIVAL

Belfountain was a fun place to be Saturday as the community hosted the annual Belfountain Salamander Festival. There were even Salamanders on hand. Sarah Labrie, a natural heritage assistant with Credit Valley Conservation was showing off this Jefferson Salamander. Charlotte De Bartolo, 1, of Cheltenham and her sister Norah, 3, were a little unsure about petting it, as their parents Marie and Ciaran looked on. Turn to page A6 for more scenes of the festival.

Motion to restore busing not debated

By Bill Rea

Trustees came close to debating a call to restore busing to some 100 students at St. Nicholas Catholic Elementary School in Bolton Tuesday night, but the motion never made it to the table.

The Dufferin-Peel Catholic District School board heard from delegations of parents asking for action. The main concern has been that students are expected to walk to school, crossing Coleraine Drive at the intersection with King Street and Emil Kolb Parkway. This came after Student Transportation of Peel Region (STOPR) announced it would not be busing students living east of Coleraine to St. Nicholas.

Mississauga Trustee Esther O'Toole put forth the motion calling on STOPR to re-instate the busing until Caledon can get its Traffic Safety Committee off the ground and it's had a chance to comment on the situation at the intersection. She commented the Board had information that such a safety council is coming, adding it would be "good customer relations" to restore the service in the interim. Board Chair Mario Pascucci ruled the motion out of order, arguing the Board doesn't have the authority to get involved in the operations of STOPR. Caledon representative Frank Di Cosola, who seconded the motion, challenged the ruling, but it was upheld by most of the trustees.

Parents are concerned about the safety of children crossing a road like Coleraine, which is considered a designated truck route. This is in light of trucks being banned from the village core since the Bolton Arterial Road (BAR) opened up. Coleraine and Emil Kolb Parkway are both part of BAR.

Parent Michelle Pacek told trustees she has two children attending St. Nicholas as she stressed her concerns over them crossing such a road. She said a lot of truck traffic is already using that route, as well as other traffic that is seeking a quick way around congestion in the core. She added the posted speed limit along Coleraine in that area is 60 km-h, but most traffic is going faster. She also pointed out there are about 1,400 vehicles passing there per day, and that number is sure to increase when the Canadian

Great weather for the 158th

There was great weather and lots of fun over the weekend as the Albion and Bolton Agricultural Society hosted the 158th edition of Bolton Fall Fair. The opening ceremonies included the crowning of the Junior and Senior Fair Ambassadors. Outgoing Junior Ambassador Callie Dowds took over the Senior duties from Ashley Harding, and then placed the crown on her successor as Junior Ambassador Kayla Emmerton.

Photos by Bill Rea

There were many interesting animals at the Fair and lots of people on hand to meet them. Carrie Lagace of Caledon East gave a boost to her son Liam Lagace-Froude, 4, as he fed a cracker to this miniature Sicilian donkey in the petting area.

These young folks from Ellwood Memorial Public School proved tough to beat at tug-of-war.

serious and reckless forms of aggressive driving. They support street racing/stunt driving legislation and other legislation aimed at saving lives and taking drivers off the road.

"This first case confirms that there is West Nile activity in Peel and is a reminder to residents to protect themselves from mosquito bites," said Regional Director of Environmental Health Paul Callanan. "While risk of becoming infected is still low, most people who contract the disease show no symptoms, 20 per cent will experience mild flu-like symptoms, and about one in 150 is at risk of developing a more severe form of the disease."

Police report the officer was conducting speed enforcement on Mayfield Road, near Summer Valley Drive and spotted a red 2011 Volkswagen going 128 km-h in a posted 60 zone.

A study conducted by Western University and the Ministry of Transportation revealed that there are approximately 58 per cent fewer speed-related deaths and injuries a month, particularly for young males, since the law took effect in 2007.

A 31-year-old man from Brampton was charged with racing a motor vehicle.

The car was impounded for seven days. Police report driving 50 km-h faster than the speed limit is one of the most

Trucks seen running reds

Tire Distribution Centre to the south opens.

She also handed trustees a petition with some 1,400 signatures calling for the buses to be restored. Pacek added the Town supports the effort.

Pacek's 12-year-old daughter Ashley told trustees she's seen a number of dangerous situations over the last couple of weeks, including trucks running red lights.

Pacek told Mississauga Trustee Bruno Iannicca police are aware of the situation and have had a presence there since the start of school. She has not noticed an improvement in the situation.

She also said the town has posted crossing guards at the intersection.

Mississauga Trustee Sharon Hobin said STOPR seems to be looking for someone to declare the intersection unsafe.

Pacek replied that Town council has passed two motions. One of them asking that busing be restored until the Traffic Safety Council can act. Both were declined by STOPR, she said.

Di Cosola told his colleagues has been to the intersection several times, and has spoken to the crossing guards.

"There have been several close calls," he said he's been told.

Plans to divert traffic from Belfountain shelved

By Bill Rea

It seems there's going to be no police effort to discourage traffic from passing through Belfountain this weekend or next.

Councillor Barb Shaughnessy said a pilot project that was going to be tried this weekend and Thanksgiving has been put off for this year. She added a meeting was planned between representatives of the Town and the business community in the hamlet for yesterday (Wednesday). The results were not known at press time.

The West Caledon Visitor Traffic Management Committee had come up with an idea that police would be encouraging traffic on Forks of the Credit Road, heading west from Highway 10, to go north on Mississauga Road, thus bypassing the hamlet. The idea was to reduce traffic congestions, which was feared, considering the number of tourists expected in the area this time of year to take in the fall colours. People who indicated they wanted to go into Belfountain would have been allowed to proceed.

But local business operators, including Garth Turner, who owns Belfountain General Store, were worried this was going to impact on commercial operations during some of the busiest weekends of the year.

Turner was pleased with the prospect of the meeting.

"Finally, some consultation will take place!" he declared, as he praised Mayor Allan Thompson for stepping in. "We're hoping to be actually listened to."

Community out for Belfountain Salamander Festival

The weather was perfect Saturday for exploring the sights at the annual Belfountain Salamander Festival. There were fun and educational games for the kids. Aleks Strasberg, 2, of Vaughan and his brother Asher, 7, got the chance to learn something about invasive species at this fish pond game.

There were some crafts for the younger folks to work on. Jakob Fuchs, 2, of Brampton got some help from his mother Christine as he worked on creating a watershed animal totem pole. His work depicted a wolf.

Let's work together to keep our school crossings safe

Pedestrians, school children and school crossing guards are among the most vulnerable road users. A few simple habit changes can make all the difference.

DRIVERS:

- Always look for pedestrians, especially when turning.
- Watch for children. Drive slowly and cautiously through school zones, residential areas, or any other area where children could be walking or playing.
- Be patient, especially with seniors or pedestrians with disabilities who need more time to cross the road

PEDESTRIANS:

- Cross only at marked crosswalks or traffic lights. Don't cross in the middle of the block or between parked cars.
- Make sure drivers see you before you cross. If the driver is stopped, make eye contact before you step into the road.
- Watch for traffic turning at intersections.

IT'S THE LAW:

Drivers - including cyclists - must stop and yield the whole roadway at pedestrian crossovers, school crossings and other locations where a school-crossing guard displays a red and white stop sign. Only when pedestrians and school crossing guards have crossed and are safely on the sidewalk can drivers and cyclists proceed. If you have any doubts about when it is safe to drive forward, wait until all the children and the guard have cleared the crossing.

Drivers will be fined $150 to $500 and 3 demerit points for offences at pedestrian crossings, school crossings and at crosswalks where there are traffic signals. This law applies province-wide.

Caledon Chamber Concert season starts next month

Caledon Chamber Concerts will open the next season Oct. 15 with a concert by musica fantasia.

Emerging as one of Canada's most captivating young early music groups and recognized internationally for their interpretation of historical repertoire, ensemble musica fantasia specializes in the creative performance of music from the 13th to 15th centuries. The ensemble draws inspiration from courtly life, particularly music performed by noble women. Pairing voice with clavicimbalum and organetto, they transfix audiences with a rare glimpse into the musical world of secular medieval performance. Musica fantasia was founded by Julie Ryning (soprano) and Katelyn Clark (clavicymbalum/organetto).

A native of Vancouver, Ryning holds a master's degree in early music performance from McGill University, where she studied in the voice studios of Thérèse Boudreault-Sevadjian and Suzie LeBlanc. She has had the pleasure of singing in masterclasses with many of the world's most renowned early music singers, including Emma Kirkby, Ellen Hargis, James Bowman and Harry van der Kamp. She has performed across Canada and Europe, and has been broadcast on WFMT Radio in Chicago.

Clark specializes in the performance of historical and experimental repertoire on early keyboards. As a soloist and chamber musician, she performs internationally, and has been an artist in residence at the Banff Centre, NES in Iceland, and OMI in New York. A native of Victoria, British Columbia, she completed a master's degree in harpsichord and basso continuo at the Amsterdam Conservatory in The Netherlands. She also studied at the Accademia Musicale Chigiana in Siena, Italy, and holds a doctorate in performance from McGill University.

The clavicymbalum is an early keyboard instrument and ancestor of the harpsichord.

The medieval organetto is a portable pipe instrument, allied to the later classical pipe organ, and pumped with the hand. It was among the most popular instruments in Europe from the 13th to the 16th century.

The concert takes place at St. James' Anglican Church, Caledon East at 8 p.m. Tickets are $35 for adults and $15 for students 16 years and younger and may be purchased in advance at Forster's Book Garden, Howard the Butcher and BookLore. A limited number of tickets may also be available at the door on the night of the concert.

For more information call 905-880-2445. For details about the other concerts in the 2016-2017 season go to www.caledonchamberconcerts.com

Katelyn Clark and Julie Ryning will be performing at the first offering of this year's Caledon Chamber Concert series Oct. 15.

Belfountain library to close

The Caledon Public Library Board approved the closure of its branch at Belfountain Public School at its Sept. 12 meeting.

As per the terms of the Joint Use Agreement with the Peel District School Board, the branch will close in June 2017. The Board also approved the reallocation of existing branch staff in support of expanded hours of operation at the Alton, Inglewood and/or Caledon village locations.

Given the long history of library support within Belfountain, the Board backed a recommendation that services to the community continue through the availability of remote holds lockers within the newly renovated Belfountain Community Centre. Available space within the facility has been confirmed and a related Capital Project request is reflected within the Library's 2017 Draft Budget.

This decision follows a year-long review of branch's performance and community use.

In July 2015, the Library Board approved a pilot project, reducing the hours of operation at the Belfountain Branch to encourage a more concentrated and timely use of the facility while reducing related staff costs. As highlighted in the initial recommendation, the Belfountain Branch accounted for only 2.7 per cent of the items borrowed across the library system during the first six months of 2015 and the staffing cost of lending one item at the branch was more than double the average cost for the full system during the same period.

One year later, the number of items borrowed from the branch accounted for less than 2.5 per cent of all materials borrowed throughout the system and has declined from 2.46 per cent for the period from January to July 2015 to 2.28 per cent in the same period in 2016. Participation in programs has also dropped, with children's programs regularly cancelled due to lack of registrants.

The branch's long history of disappointing community use is the result of a combination of factors including:

- The very nature of a joint facility within a public school, which limits available hours of operation to evening and weekend hours and hinders the ability to offer an after-hours book drop.
- Though the school meets accessibility requirements, the library itself is not fully accessible with a significant step at the entrance, hindering access by those with strollers, in wheelchairs or with limited mobility.
- The facility is not able to meet current expectations of library services, offer no dedicated space for programming or quiet study, and does not offer a welcoming environment where visitors may wish to spend any significant amount of time.

"Let's Exchange ideas NOW for OUR Caledon tomorrow is well underway!" by Karla Stroud, MA, Taylor Newberry Consulting

June 2016 marked the launch of "Let's Exchange ideas now for our Caledon tomorrow!"-an exciting initiative aimed at understanding

We have been hearing that residents of Caledon struggle with some of the same challenges that people in other communities face, but that these struggles sometimes look different here. For example, people have told us that seniors living in Caledon might have stronger connections to family members than seniors who live in bigger cities, but the struggle to find a family doctor or to get help moving around the community is bigger somehow. As we move forward this project will help us learn more about the actual needs of residents and their hopes for the community where they live and work.

the issues that matter most to residents. This work is being led by the Exchange, a collaborative that today has thirteen partner agencies committed to serving Caledon better. The Exchange helps families and individuals meet basic needs and the whole community to pursue their interests through innovative approaches to programming and community development.

Soon a survey will be launched to gain further community input. Watch for it and be sure to complete it. It will be a great opportunity for community members to share their perspectives about life in Caledon and provide important input into this unique initiative.

It isn't always easy to get clear data about local social issues in a community the size of Caledon. Many studies and reports cover all of Peel Region, and the unique issues facing Caledon can get lost in the mix.

The information that is collected will inform the development of meaningful goals within the Exchange that reflect the needs and aspirations of the community. These goals will provide a road map to the very best quality of life for OUR Caledon tomorrow.

To address this gap, a community engagement approach has been implemented. Focus groups and community forums have been organized and conducted across Caledon with the support of the firm I work for, Taylor Newberry Consulting. Residents have been asked to reflect on the strengths of their community and the barriers that prevent the very best quality of life from being achieved.

So what matters most to you? The Exchange is listening! Caledon Community Services is a proud partner in The Exchange. www.caledonexchange.org

D-P Catholic students fare well in EQAO's latest assessments

Students in Dufferin-Peel Catholic schools are outpacing the provincial average in the latest Education Quality and Accountability Office (EQAO) testing.

Announcing the results last Wednesday, the school board said they involve the 2015-16 annual assessments completed in Grades 3, 6, 9 and 10.

The EQAO assessments and the Ontario Secondary School Literacy Test (OSSLT) provide an indication of each student's achievement in reading, writing and/or mathematics at key points throughout formal schooling.

The assessment results for elementary students report on reading, writing and mathematics at both the primary and junior levels of study. Grade 3 students participate in the primary assessments and Grade 6 students complete the junior assessments.

The Grade 9 EQAO assessment focuses on mathematics achievement, while the OSSLT assesses students' proficiency in reading and writing. Successful completion of this test (or the Ontario Secondary School Literacy Course) is one of the 32 requirements necessary to obtain the Ontario Secondary School Diploma (OSSD).

The OSSLT results are provided for two groups of students: those eligible to write for the first time in Grade 10, and those who were previously eligible to write, but who were unsuccessful in a prior year.

"Results of the primary EQAO assessments indicate notable growth on the Grade 3 assessment of reading, as well as a return to the trend of high proportions of Dufferin-Peel students meeting, or exceeding the provincial standard (Levels 3 or 4) in primary writing," the school board said in a release. "In primary mathematics, the results indicate a modest recovery after a period of decline. Compared to the province, Dufferin-Peel primary students continue to outperform the province as a whole."

Dufferin-Peel's junior EQAO assessments were higher than the provincial results and indicated continued steady growth in reading and writing. A slight decline continued to be observed in junior mathematics among both Dufferin-Peel students and students across the province.

"At the secondary level, the 2015-16 EQAO assessment results for Grade 9 mathematics indicate that Dufferin-Peel students continue to demonstrate high levels of performance at the academic level of study," the board said. "The proportion of students who achieved the provincial standard on the academic assessment was relatively consistent with the previous assessment year, and was notably higher than that of the province."

Although Grade 9 applied mathematics achievement in Dufferin-Peel showed some recent decline, D-P students continued to outperform their provincial peers on this assessment. "Given the results in both elementary and Grade 9 EQAO mathematics assessments, the board continues to dedicate a wide range of supports to schools to focus on improving learning in this key subject area for all students."

Success rates for Dufferin-Peel students on the OSSLT administered by EQAO indicate that Dufferin-Peel students exceeded the provincial success rates by between two and four per cent. The percentage of Dufferin-Peel students passing the OSSLT on their first attempt continues to exceed provincial performance and highlights the ongoing excellence of Dufferin-Peel students in terms of literacy skills. Additionally, among students who were previously unsuccessful on the OSSLT, Dufferin-Peel demonstrated much higher success rates than the province as a whole.

"EQAO assessments are but one of the tools we use to gauge student achievement," said Director of Education Marianne Mazzorato. "This year's assessment results tell us that our students continue to demonstrate strong levels of achievement, particularly in literacy. These results reflect our trustees' commitment to the well-being and success of all students as demonstrated by the Board's Strategic System Plan and the dedication of resources intended to put students in positions to succeed."

The board said it will further analyze the EQAO and OSSLT results to provide support to schools, students and parents/guardians to ensure that more students continue to improve in all assessment areas. "Each school has its own plan, which will be reviewed in the context of the test results, to improve students' skills in all subject areas. School plans include strategies to assist all students, including intervention and reinforcement for students who did not achieve the provincial standard or who were not successful on the OSSLT."

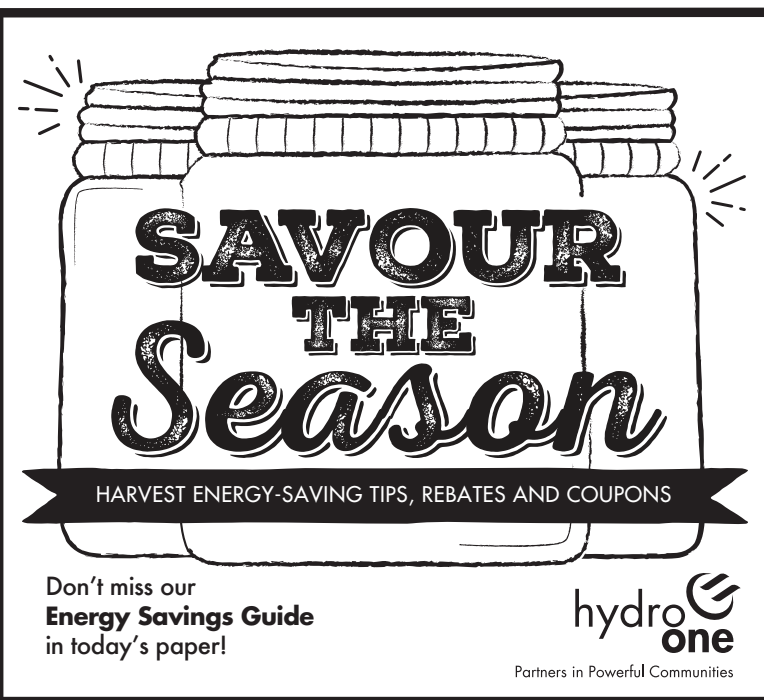

"As trustees, we are committed to allocating resources and supports to ensure that our students are put in the best possible position to succeed," said Board Chair Mario Pascucci. "We are encouraged by this year's results and acknowledge and commend our teachers, support staff and administrators under the leadership of our senior management team, for supporting the vision of the Board of Trustees."

Board and individual school results will be available on the board website at www.dpedsb.org later this fall. Additional information on the various assessments can be obtained through the EQAO website at www.eqao.com.

The EQAO is an independent agency whose mandate is to ensure greater accountability and help improve the quality of education.

The 2015-2016 results for Dufferin-Peel students and the province in all six elementary EQAO assessments, the Grade 9 mathematics assessments, and the OSSLT are presented below (provincial average in parentheses)

Primary Reading, 77% (72%)
Primary Writing, 79% (74%)
Primary Mathematics, 65% (63%)
Junior Reading, 83% (81%)
Junior Writing, 83% (80%)
Junior Mathematics, 52% (50%)
Grade 9 Academic Mathematics, 87% (83%)
Grade 9 Applied Mathematics, 54% (45%)

Family members commemorated at memorial day

By Jake Courtepatte

To the words of Over the Rainbow, the Neville-Lake children's favourite song, four doves were released Aug. 14 to honour the four lives lost in a tragic drunk-driving accident last year.

Daniel, Harry and Milly Neville-Lake, along with their grandfather Gary, all received permanent memorials in the forms of trees and park benches. "Overwhelmed" by support, parents Jennifer and Edward could not attend the event held at King City's Wellesley Park, but gave a written statement.

"From the bottom of our hearts, we want to thank you for the love and support you have shown us and our family," the statement read, "We truly wish that we were all together for any other reason and our children could be playing with yours today."

"It means so much to us that (the bench and trees) were placed in a playground that our children were so anxious to see and play on."

The day included many family-friendly activities for the public to enjoy.

In March, 29-year-old Marco Muzzo pleaded guilty to four counts of impaired driving causing death and two counts of impaired driving causing bodily harm in connection with the crash in Vaughan. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison, and will be subject to a 12-year-ban on driving following his release.

King Nursing Home residents go camping

By Katie Hutchins
Director of Resident and Family Services
King Nursing Home

King Nursing Home staff and 14 residents packed their bags Aug. 9 and loaded up for the first ever overnight camping trip in the history of the home. Months of planning took place prior to this new adventure, and all hands were on deck to make this a meaningful and flawless experience for our residents. A huge shout-out and thank you to the staff at Albion Hills Conservation Area, who were more than kind and accommodating to our group. They assisted with our every need and unique request. Staff at King Nursing Home were excited and eager to get involved in this outing. A special thank you goes out to Baljit U., Jaspreet M., Jennifer R., Jamie W. and Katie H. for going above and beyond, and voluntarily donating their time to make this outing an incredible experience for all involved. Recreation staff members; Meghan C., Sydon C. and Michelle C., along with our amazing volunteer Ross P., also took an active role in the day and evening as they facilitated various therapeutic programs. Residents took part in a water balloon toss, a parachute game, an evening dance off, preparing their own supper and making s'mores at the evening campfire before retiring to the stationary trailers provided by Albion Hills. Due to the outstanding success of this trip, King Nursing Home is excitedly planning to make camping at Albion Hills an annual excursion. There were numerous testimonials from residents, including "The best vacation I've ever had," (Irene P.), "I give it a 10 of 10," (Kamaljit G.), "Can we do this every day?" (Michael D.) and "Can we live here forever?" (Ebenezer M.) A true example of Therapeutic Recreation and what it does for the soul.

Hall grad makes Distinguished Alumni list

The Dufferin-Peel Catholic District School Board has announced its 2016 Distinguished Alumni, and a graduate from Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School in on it.

Sean Cisterna has been recognized as a feature film maker who's based in Toronto.

A member of Hall's Class of '96, he graduated from York University's film and video program, and started his directing career with PBS. He has done commercials for Corus Entertainment, produced the feature film My Brother's Keeper and directed a YTV musical King of the Camp.

His feature length documentary 30 Ghosts was developed out of the Hot Docs International Documentary Film Festival's Doc Ignite program, and can now be found streaming with the National Film Board of Canada.

His current project, Kiss and Cry (2017), is based on the true story of Carley Allison, a promising 18-year-old figure skater and singer who made medical history in her fight against a rare 1-in-3.5 billion type of cancer.

"Aside from my teachers at Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School fostering my love of film from an early age, I've also come to realize the virtues instilled in each of us through our education play an integral part in the directing of a film," he's quoted by the Board as saying. "Justice is giving each character what he or she is rightfully due, and treating them with respect. Fortitude is needed when you approach the 16-hour mark on set and your ability to think creatively is impaired. And patience is key when there are many scenes to shoot, a key crew member is late, an actor forgets his lines and time and money are running out."

Headwaters' redevelopment project reaching new heights

In June, Headwaters officially kicked off the start of construction on the hospital's highly-anticipated expansion and renovation project designed to help meet the community's growing health care needs. In just three months, the hospital has made incredible progress on this transformative project.

An 8,700 square foot expansion located next to the hospital's existing Dialysis and Ambulatory Care units marks the first phase of this major redevelopment - a project which will also include 11,800 square feet of renovated existing space. Throughout the summer, the project contractors worked on clearing and levelling the site, and pouring the concrete that will serve as the foundation for the new building.

By the end of this month, the first steel beams will be raised, and the community will see this important new hospital addition start to take shape. It is anticipated that the exterior of the new structure will be completed by the end of the year, which will be marked as "topping off" the building with the installation of the roof.

Honouring retired President and CEO

Last month, a portion of the Friendship Gardens at Headwaters, known as the Fountain Gardens Lounge, was dedicated to Liz Ruegg before she retired. Lynn Sinclair-Smith, the lead organizer and fundraiser of the Friendship Gardens made the dedication in honour of Liz.

Liz spent 10 years at Headwaters, including the last five years as President and CEO. During her time at Headwaters, she helped to build innovative strategic partnerships across the region to enhance cancer care, dialysis, mental health and other much-needed specialty services at the hospital.

Donna Clark has assumed the role of Interim President and CEO of Headwaters. A seasoned leader with a clinical background as a Registered Nurse, Donna was previously appointed as Headwaters' Chief Nursing Executive and Vice President, Patient Services in 2012. Headwaters Board of Directors has struck a search committee to lead a recruitment process to find a new President and CEO.

Behavioural Supports Program goes online to help patients

The Central West CCAC's Behavioural Supports program is helping to support seniors living with mental health, dementia, addictions and other neurological conditions. Funded by the Behavioural Supports Ontario (BSO) initiative, the program aims to enhance health care services for individuals with "responsive" behaviours like acting out physically and verbally, wandering, and resisting care.

This fall, CCAC took the program one step further by launching a BSO-specific website to help link patients and families to available resources, information and community programs, which can help support individuals to cope with these behaviours.

To learn more about the BSO program and resources, visit centralwest.behaviouralsupportsontario.ca.

Headwaters Accepting New Patients for Dialysis

Cyclists gear up support at Tour de Headwaters

Cycling enthusiasts of all ages braved rainy weather and damp road conditions on September 17 for Headwaters Health Care Foundation's second annual Tour de Headwaters. The 231 riders had their choice of three routes - a 25K Family Friendly Trail Route, or a 50K or 101.5K Road Route - through the beautiful Hills of the Headwaters. Through sponsorships, rider fees and pledges, the event raised net proceeds of $47,155.89 to purchase important medical equipment for the hospital!

Opposition was stronger than Mezzapelli lets on

Regarding "Some people still angry over Canadian Tire" (Citizen, Sept. 15): I just couldn't let this article go without clarifying some issues, and Councillor Rob Mezzapelli's remarks to constituents in attendance at the recent community meeting.

I was at the meeting and didn't notice people trying to "shout him down" when he put forth his positions. People weren't happy that he voted in favour of Canadian Tire, despite a petition with 1,000 names.

"He expressed his believe (sic) that the majority of Bolton residents are not opposed to the Canadian Tire development."

Obviously he didn't take the petition signed by his constituents seriously, criticizing the method of collecting signatures, as the work of one individual, who mainly tried to get folks with English as a second language to sign on. Well, I was part of a team and I personally collected 100 signatures, and only two people refused to sign — one just didn't sign petitions, the other had no opinion. Therefore, where I polled, 98 per cent of constituents were opposed and strongly so.

Mezzapelli also stated that a giant development like Canadian Tire was preferable to approximately 30 smaller businesses. Well, all I can say is these smaller businesses would operate Monday to Friday, with weekends and holidays off. Canadian Tire will operate 24/7 and 365 days per year. Quite a difference, and those poor souls that live adjacent to Canadian Tire will never get a break from the noise, pollution and truck traffic — reported to be 650 per day.

Is it any wonder they don't want their children crossing Coleraine going to school, even with a crossing guard? Simply too many trucks, going too fast, according to parents at this meeting, whose children attend St. Nicholas Elementary School. I know most people will rue the day this development got approved, once they see the traffic during the morning and evening commutes; every day of the year.

Bolton residents have never complained about having the industrial tax base for all of Caledon, but this case is unique. The previous council voted unanimously in favour of this development, despite known local opposition. A meeting was held during the summer months when folks are on vacation, for example. A Ministerial Zoning Order (MZO) had to be obtained to speed up the process, due to public opposition.

Now there is to be hydrogen production at the plant, that constituents were never advised about, not even the Fire Chief. So much for transparency with council. Fortunately, we now have two Regional Councillors — Annette Groves and Barb Shaughnessy, who are showing their disagreement with the manner that council employs when dealing with Canadian Tire and the lack of transparency of the serious issues regarding this monstrous development in our midst.

Please remember Bolton has 50 per cent of the taxpayers in Caledon, and only 20 per cent of the votes on council, so we have the industrial tax base, plus we are under-represented on council.

Additionally, there were other issues discussed: intensification, busing, resources for teenagers, so Canadian Tire wasn't the only item that was discussed.

I think these community meetings that Groves is hosting are an excellent idea.

Oh yes, the Mayor was also invited, so was an executive of Canadian Tire, but they didn't appear or send a statement even.

Rotary Club of Palgrave's Weekly Rotary Minute

By Krysta Cadden

This week at our Club, we were honoured to welcome many of our sponsors.

Community members, organizations, businesses who have supported our events over the years were welcomed to our regular weekly meeting so that we could celebrate them and thank them for their ongoing support.

Throughout the years, these partners have provided us with both financial and in-kind support at many of our fundraising events — primarily our Wines of the World and Silent Auction Gala — lending us their philanthropic arms to help us continue to do the good that we do at Rotary.

While we cannot list them all — and would fear leaving anyone out by doing so — on behalf of our Club, we would like to thank each and every one of you — individual, group, business or other — who have supported us along the way throughout our 35 years.

It is because of people and organizations such as yourselves that keep Rotary going. You fuel the flames of believing in "service above self" and give us the means to continue to support our community both in Caledon and abroad.

Thank you. All of you. With all of our hearts.

Please visit www.rotaryclubofpalgrave.com for more information on our Club and all the wonderful ways you could get involved.

THE POST-DEBATE ANALYSIS

Watching time pass

There is such a concept known as the passage of time.

It's one in which people like me can get lost in sort of philosophic thought, which is not a bad thing, as long as one doesn't hang around there too long.

The concept was kind of driven into my head Friday night at the opening ceremonies of Bolton Fall Fair. One of the speakers made the point that this was the 158th edition of the Fair. It caused me a bit of a start when I realized that the Fair is 100 years older than me. I'm assuming it has always been held in September (I confess I have not done the necessary research to verify that), and since my birthday is in February, that means I had been driving my parents up the wall for about seven months before local organizers put on the centennial version of the Fair.

No, my folks did not take me to the Fair that year. If there was a Baby Contest at that Fair, I did not get a chance to enter it. Even if we had attended the Fair, I doubt my folks would have entered me — they tended to get a little embarrassed when they won at such things.

But they might have attended the Fair, even though we were living in Toronto at the time (west end, that is). There was a local connection to my family, even that far back — actually, a lot farther back.

The passage of time included Caledon connections for both my parents, both independent of each other. And both were centred not far from Tullamore, which is near where I now reside.

My mother had friends who lived on what is now known as Airport Road. I learned about that some time after my mom had met a local lass who in time became her daughter-in-law.

My father's connection is somewhat stronger. When his mother's family came over from Ireland early in the past century, they settled in Brampton, and in time, acquired a certain amount of land in the area. One of the land holdings included a plot near Tullamore. My dad's Uncle Clint actually ran a small hobby farm there, and my old man used to tell stories of the times he spent helping his uncle on the land. I was told some years ago that there was talk that my dad was in line to inherit the property, but that never happened.

Yet the passage of time saw me end up here on my own.

Passage like this is marked, sometimes, by the correlation between ages of people and the time that has passed since certain events. For example, it comes as something of a start that my parents would be into their 90s by now, were they both still alive and kicking. They both died in October, so next month will mark the 12th anniversary of my mother's death and the 24th for my dad.

But it also makes me think that my father was in uniform during the Second World War. Since he was 20 when the War ended, I have often thought there would have been some veterans younger than he who saw action in that conflict, but not many. It's sometimes hard to grasp the fact that war has been over for more than 70 years. My father didn't even live that long, and neither did his father.

There was a time in my life when just about every adult I knew could (and often would) offer their sage memories of what went on during those days. But the reality of the passage of time tells me their numbers are dwindling. That's regrettable because of the stories they can tell, which will eventually be unavailable.

I was talking to a man a couple of months ago who had served in the merchant marine. History tells us that might not have been the stuff military war heroes were made of, but it was a bloody dangerous job, and there are many men lying at the bottom of the sea as proof of that.

The passage of time can sometimes rear its head in unexpected ways.

It's been more than 50 years, but people of a certain age have vivid memories of the time when the Beatles were all the rage. I remember watching them the first time they appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show. Being a kid who had just turned six, I was wondering what all the fuss was about.

My wife and I were watching The Beatles: Eight Days a Week, the documentary on the Fab Four by director Ron Howard, the other night on TV.

It was pretty good. I've seen a number of documentaries over the years about the group, and this latest offering has footage I had never seen before. It included, of course, shots of girls watching them perform and going absolutely nuts, which was to be expected of girls at that age at that time.

Then Beth made the observation that those girls we were watching would all be seniors today. That caused a bit of a jolt in the pit of my stomach, as I again faced the reality of the passage to time.

Reflecting on the passage of time often involves milestones. It was 50 years ago this month that I started Grade 3. Up until then, I had always been quite a well-behaved little fellow in class, seldom drawing the wrath of teachers for acting up. But as time went by, I had noticed some of the kids who were causing the disruptions also seemed to be having the most fun. It was about 50 years ago that I decided to experience how the other side lived. My teacher that year was one of those hard cases who handed out detentions in bunches. And if enough of the students got out of line, the whole class was kept in after school. I guess my logical patterns of thought were starting to kick in, because I realized there were enough trouble makers in the class that eventually the whole group of us would face punishment. Since I was going to be kept after school anyway, I figured I might as well do something to deserve it and have fun in the process.

The strict teacher notwithstanding, that was a fun year for me, although my parents had trouble understanding why my report cards suddenly started showing negative marks for "Conduct."

I should probably be grateful to the school administration for putting me in a class without the traditional trouble makers the following year. I didn't get into nearly as much trouble. If memory serves, I didn't have quite as much fun either.

As time passes by, we have the leisure to reflect back on the old days, to wonder what we would have done differently, or maybe to just realize that the way things turned out hasn't been that bad after all.

And even if time is passing, we still have the future to which to look ahead, and that may not be too bad either.

Who knows? The Jays might still be able to catch Boston. Failing that, there are the Leafs.

Trudeau's visit to China didn't accomplish much

Prime Minister Justin Trudeau recently concluded his official visit to China.

He travelled to Beijing, Shanghai, Hangzhou and Hong Kong with the aim to build a stronger, more stable relationship with the country, as well as to identify new ways Canada and China could mutually benefit from closer ties, such as trade and investment. Unfortunately, his visit resulted in little benefits for our country and he is instead moving closer to meeting China's demand that Canada join the controversial Asia Infrastructure Investment Bank and launch a feasibility study on a bilateral free trade agreement, while failing to secure a long-term deal on canola access.

Prime Minister Trudeau had an opportunity to build on the record of the previous Conservative government's strong record on China, but failed to do so. The previous Conservative government was able to sign agreements on investment, airline flights and market access for key agricultural products, such as beef and blueberries. The current Liberal government campaigned on openness and transparency; however, Prime Minister Trudeau hasn't been open with Canadians about his free trade talks with China. Canadians deserve to know which agreements the government is pursuing. It is extremely disappointing that the current government isn't being transparent with their plans to pursue a free trade agreement with China. This is a huge departure from their approach to the Trans-Pacific Partnership, which they continue to delay through endless consultations.

Another troubling development resulting from Prime Minister Trudeau's visit to China is the current government's steps towards having Canada join the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB). In bringing Canada into this investment bank, the current Liberal government will plan on sending hundreds of millions of Canadian taxpayer dollars to a Chinese government bank without control over how the money will be spent or whether there will be benefit for Canadian companies. In stark contrast, the previous Conservative government, along with other nations such as the United States and Japan, did not join the AIIB. The previous Conservative government could not and the current Liberal government cannot ensure this bank will follow the environmental, social and human rights standards Canadians expect from development institutions.

OTTAWA JOURNAL

David Tilson
MP Dufferin-Caledon

Prime Minister Trudeau's visit to China also failed to deliver any real, long-term solutions for Canadian canola farmers and their access to the Chinese market. A temporary extension doesn't provide any certainty for farmers who are harvesting their crops. Forty per cent and $2 billion of Canada's canola seed exports go to China and sadly, the current Liberal government continues to put this industry at risk. It is unfortunate, but China has been playing politics with the industry and the current government has been falling for it and as a result, isn't standing up for Canadian canola farmers.

Prime Minister Trudeau's aims to build a stronger, more stable relationship with China and to identify new, mutually beneficial initiatives for both countries failed to occur during his recent visit to China at a time when Canada's economy is performing worse than it has since the Great Recession. Instead of working with other countries on a common agenda, Prime Minister Trudeau and the current Liberal government appear to be going it alone and sadly, Canada is sacrificing too much for too little in return.

Liberal government reinstates prescription heroin for addicts

All political parties in Canada can agree that drug addiction is an important issue for our country.

Highly addictive drugs, such as heroin and opioids, can take a horrible toll on families, lead users into criminal activity and destroy lives. The previous Conservative government took decisive steps to protect Canadians and our communities from these dangerous substances and the terrible consequences they far too often bring with them. One such step was to protect the integrity of the Special Access Program. However, as of Sept. 7, 2016, the current Liberal government took its own steps to reverse our previous government's policy with respect to this program, which now allows Canadian doctors the ability to prescribe patients with severe opioid addiction prescription heroin as a form of treatment.

As stated on Health Canada's website, the Special Access Program, "provides access to nonmarketed drugs for practitioners treating patients with serious or life-threatening conditions when conventional therapies have failed, are unsuitable, or unavailable." The intent of the program was not to give drug addicts access to illicit drugs. Our previous Conservative government closed this loophole in 2013, which up to that point allowed for the enabling of illicit drug addiction under the guise of treatment.

Our previous Conservative government sought to ensure the Special Access Program's intent was protected and thus removed the ability of doctors to prescribe illicit, dangerous drugs to patients battling severe opioid addiction. When former minister of Health Rona Ambrose made the announcement Oct. 3, 2013, the changes in the regulations included products containing heroin, unauthorized forms of cocaine, or other restricted drugs (such as LSD, ecstasy, "magic" mushrooms, and "bath salts"). Moreover, there are other approved, recognized and safe medical treatments made available to doctors to be used to treat addiction, such as methadone.

The Official Opposition is disappointed that current Health Minister Jane Philpott has chosen to reverse our previous policy to protect the integrity of Health Canada's Special Access Program. In doing so, the Health Minister is facilitating access to prescription heroin.

The Official Opposition takes drug addiction very seriously, as demonstrated by our actions in 2013 to close the loophole in the Special Access Program. The current Liberal government's reversal of our previous Conservative government's policy is regretful and is a major step backwards for those battling opioid addiction by facilitating access to prescription heroin instead of focusing efforts on treatment and recovery.

International Plowing Match 2016 highlighted agriculture

FROM QUEEN'S PARK

Sylvia Jones
MPP Dufferin-Caledon

Dufferin-Caledon and Ontario have a rich agriculture history.

Our agriculture sector plays a significant role in our local communities, with more than 70,000 farms across the province which employ over 15,000 individuals.

Every year, the agriculture community from across the province celebrates Ontario's proud agriculture history by attending the International Plowing Match and Rural Expo (IPM). The IPM showcases our province's renowned agriculture sector and provides an opportunity for individuals and families to learn about the sector and its rich history. This year's IPM took place close by, in the Town of Minto in Wellington County from Sept. 20 to 24.

Representatives from all levels of government, including all three political parties, attended the IPM. The Plowing Match was kicked-off with the opening parade followed by the opening ceremonies. There were a variety of events for families and individuals to enjoy, including live entertainment, medieval jousting, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride, an antique show, as well as more than 500 vendors. There was truly something for everyone at the IPM! This yearly tradition could not happen without the help of local volunteers. I want to thank all the volunteers for their effort in making this year's IPM a success.

In addition to being an opportunity to showcase our province's agriculture sector, the IPM also provided a chance to talk about the issues impacting our agriculture community. This summer's hot and sunny weather has severely impacted the livelihood of our province's farmers, who experienced a drought due to the lack of rain. As a result, it has led to lower crop yields as well as higher susceptibility to insect damage.

Another major issue for farmers across Ontario are rising hydro rates. Families and businesses in rural Ontario have been negatively impacted by the government's mismanagement of the province's energy sector. Many Dufferin-Caledon residents have been driven into energy poverty. Last year, there were 567,000 electricity customers in arrears. In fact, in rural Ontario more than one in five business are in arrears. There seems to be no end in sight to rising hydro bills as many rural Ontario families will pay an 11.5 per cent increase on their hydro bills due to distribution costs. It's time for the government to recognize their years of mismanagement have resulted in unaffordable energy, and provide real change to Ontarians and businesses across the province.

One thing I know about our agricultural industry and the people of Dufferin-Caledon is that they work hard and add life and employment to our community. As we celebrate the hard work and history of agriculture in our communities, I am reminded that we need to do more to make things easier for our farmers and businesses, so they can continue to be essential partners in our community.

Liberals back enjoying double standard

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Claire Hoy

Remember Tory Senator Mike Duffy?

He's the guy — at least, according to the opposition and most journalists — who threatened the very basis of our democracy (along with Stephen Harper, of course) because of some questionable housing expenses amounting to $90,000.

Even though that total was paid privately by Harper's chief of staff — and did not come out of the public's pocket — you'll recall that during the months leading up to and during the last election campaign, Duffy was constantly in the news, with both him and the dreaded Tories constantly bombarded for what was claimed to be their quasi-criminal abuse of public funds. There is no doubt it helped Justin Trudeau win the election, as he milked this imagined "scandal" for all it was worth.

As it turned out, a court found that Duffy was not only innocent of any criminal wrongdoing, but he had not even broken any Senate rules whatsoever. And, despite the best efforts of the media and the opposition parties to tie the money directly to Harper, not a shred of evidence was ever produced to show that Harper was directly involved in the matter.

Fast forward to Prime Minister Trudeau and his two most senior official apologists, Katie Telford and Gerald Butts.

As you likely know, these two highly-paid Trudeau pals have agreed — under considerable duress — to pay back $65,000 in public funds in what they acknowledge were "unreasonable" relocation expenses, part of the sweet deal they enjoyed shuffling off to the nation's capital to serve their friend the prime minister.

And they're not alone. It seems two more senior staffers have also agreed to return some $55,000 in moving expenses. In their first nine months in office, the Liberals managed to wrack up $1.1 million in relocation costs, a clear indication that the traditional overweening Liberal sense of entitlement is still alive and well in the new regime.

In a joint statement, Butts and Telford — having been caught in the act — said "when we reviewed these costs, we decided that the amount called 'personalized cash payout' which is for miscellaneous moving expenses, is unreasonable, and we will both be reimbursing that amount."

The Liberals tried to turn the spotlight away from themselves by claiming that the Tories chalked up even more in moving senior staff to Ottawa under this provision, a total of $325,000 for 29 staffers. But the Tories — many of whom came from the West, a more expensive move than from Toronto, where most Liberals came from — covers nine years, as opposed to just nine months for the fatcat Liberals, hardly a legitimate comparison.

Here's the thing: where is the media outrage over this wanton spending? Where is the sort of non-stop attack that was launched on the Tories during the Duffy thing, even though, as we've said, the Duffy affair covered less money and wasn't even public cash to begin with?

Why aren't reporters questioning Trudeau himself over these expenses? While the Liberals, including Trudeau himself, claimed they were just following the rules as written by the Tories — which was also Duffy's defence — the fact is, unlike Harper's role in that affair, Trudeau personally had to sign off on those expenses before they were paid out.

So if Harper threatened democracy and everything we love about Canada over the Duffy affair, even though he wasn't directly involved in the controversial $90,000 repayment, how is that Trudeau is enjoying mostly a free ride when he was directly involved and when he only got religion when his senior pals were caught flat-footed trying to squeeze tens of thousands of dollars from the unsuspecting public?

Talk about a double standard. If the Tories do something — or even if they are accused of it — it's an outrage. If the Liberals do the same thing, or worse, oh well, not to worry. Unlike mean-spirited Tories, after all, Liberal hearts are in the right place, so it's no big deal.

Another example of this double standard: you'll recall the phony outrage over Harper's supposed destruction of our way of life when he decided to end the long-form census by Statistics Canada? Trudeau, bless his heart, once again rode to the rescue of our nation and promised that he, as prime minister, would reverse that decision. And indeed he did.

And yet — yet — last week, StatsCan chief Wayne Smith resigned over continued Liberal meddling in his department, and you have to search for the few stories this resignation generated.

It was ever thus.

United Way launches annual campaign

United Way of Peel Region kicked off its 49th annual workplace campaign last week at the Vic Johnson Community Centre in Mississauga.

Kris Smith, 2016 campaign chair and executive vice-president of refining and marketing at Suncor Energy Inc., and Shelley White, president and CEO of United Way, kicked off the event that welcomed more than 300 community members.

"Last February, I participated in the Longest Night," Smith said. "It was cold, it was uncomfortable, it was eye opening. That experience has driven me to dig deeper. Knowing that there are men, women and children in our neighbourhoods in need — some sleeping in their cars has motivated me as the chair of the 2016 campaign."

"I am honoured and proud to lead this year's Campaign Cabinet," she added. "Poverty in our community is a very real issue, but together we can do something about it. Together, we are possibility!"

In 1980, two per cent of Peel's neighbourhoods were considered low income. Today it's 45 per cent. The needs of the community have evolved. More people are struggling — many are working multiple jobs to make ends meet, supporting an ill family member, or struggling to find work. With the continued support of concerned people throughout the region, United Way is working to reduce and prevent poverty, and support those in crisis right now.

"In our community, there are people among us that do not have a roof over their heads or enough to eat," said United Way of Peel Region Board Chair Tom Dyck, financial services senior executive with TD Bank Financial Group. "Your support is what changes lives. Together we are making Peel a safer, healthier, and more vibrant community."

"Poverty can happen to anyone at any time," White observed. "We will continue working with our partners because we know the need is growing. This year, together with all of our supporters and volunteers, we aim to impact over 200,000 lives. Our ultimate goal is to eliminate poverty in Peel."

Ken Weber to get stone on Caledon's Walk of Fame

Local author, educator and historian Ken Weber is about to receive some special recognition in the community.

He's about to get a stone unveiled on Caledon's Walk of Fame.

Weber, father of four, is a member of the Bruce Trail Conservancy, and he and his wife Cecile were named "benefactors" by the Conservancy. In addition, he created an endowment fund for the preservation of the Niagara Escarpment.

Weber has served on the Caledon Library Board for 12 years and has been a featured speaker at many Caledon organizations. He has served on the Board of the Caledon Heritage Foundation and writes regular Historic Hills articles for In The Hills magazine. He edited the first comprehensive book on the history of Caledon East, entitled Settling the Hills. He was presented with an Ontario Heritage Award for his work on that book. He also wrote the introductions to For Those Who Served, a tribute to those from Caledon who fought in First and Second World Wars.

He began his career as a high school teacher in 1960. He later became a Professor in the Faculty of Education at the University of Toronto, where he was the founder and First Chair of Special Education Studies at that faculty. He won many awards while there and retired as the youngest Professor Emeritus from that University.

"I am proud to add Mr. Weber to our prestigious Walk of Fame," Mayor Allan Thompson said. "He is a remarkable man."

The Caledon Walk of Fame Ceremony will be Oct. 1 at 11 a.m. on the Trans Canada Trail Pavilion Park.

Weber's stone will be joining those of past honourees like sports entrepreneur Conn Smythe, art collectors Robert and Signe McMichael, writer Farley Mowat and film director Norman Jewison.

The Trans Canada Trail Pavilion Park is in Caledon East on the Caledon Trailway, west side of Airport Road, just south of Emma Street and Old Church Road. Parking is available on Airport Road, Emma Street, and east on Old Church Road at Town Hall and Caledon Community Complex — a five-minute walk along the Caledon Trailway.

Town starts environmental assessment on Dominion Street

The Town of Caledon has initiated a Schedule 'C' Class Environmental Assessment Study and preliminary design, including an assessment of alternatives and long-term solutions for providing safe access to Dominion Street.

Dominion Street runs off Forks of the Credit Road, between McLaren Road and Mississauga Road. It runs north into Forks of the Credit Provincial Park.

Within the study area, Dominion Street consists of a rural two-lane roadway and a single lane bridge providing sole access to some homes. Features of the study area include the Dominion Street bridge and a section of the Credit River. The Study Area also encompasses a segment of the Provincial Park.

The study is aimed at investigating feasible bank stabilization and bridge rehabilitation activities in order to improve safety and access based on the current and future utilization of Dominion Street and the bridge. Alternative roadway re-alignments will be considered as part of this project, but will be limited, given the site's significant deviation in topography. Techniques to protect the road from further movement and improve the overall embankment stability will also be investigated.

Public participation will be part of the study to ensure that the ongoing concerns of the public and affected groups within the study area are identified, documented and assessed. At least two public information centres will be held and advertised in advance to enable the public to meet the project team, and to provide feedback to better address the needs and opportunities of the study corridor. It's anticipated the first one will be in the late fall or early winter.

Award-winning Canadian author to visit library

Did you know that the United States is the only remaining country in the world with a large population of chimpanzees held captive in its laboratories for use in research?

Did you know that Canada has a chimpanzee sanctuary whose primary objective is to create a protected environment for neglected, abused farm and domestic animals and former biomedical research chimpanzees?

Caledon Public Library welcomes Canadian author Andrew Westoll, who documents his intimate relationship with traumatized chimps in his novel, The Chimps of Fauna Sanctuary: a Canadian Story of Resilience and Recovery.

He will be appearing at the Albion-Bolton branch Oct. 4 at 7 p.m.

This book won the 2012 Charles Taylor Prize for Literary Non-Fiction and describes Westoll's heart-warming and heart-wrenching adventures as a volunteer caregiver in the chimpanzee at Fauna Sanctuary. He will speak about his experiences at the sanctuary and how he was witness to the chimps' remarkable recovery first-hand. He will also discuss his newly published debut fiction novel, The Jungle South of the Mountain.

Online self-registration is now open for this exciting free event. Just visit the library website at www.caledon.library.on.ca to register.

Copies of the Westoll's books will be available for purchase and signing through the partner for this event, Forster's Book Garden.

Turkey supper

The turkey supper in the Palgrave United Church Community Kitchen is set for this Saturday (Oct. 1).

It will run from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Church at 34 Pine Ave. There will be sittings at 4, 5:45 and 7 p.m.

Tickets can be obtained in advance on line at palgravekitchen.org or albionhillscommunityfarm.org, or they are available at Forster's Book Garden, Howard the Butcher Meats and Deli, Bolton Farmers' Market and Broadway Farm Markets.

Lots of variety over weekend at Bolton Fall Fair

Caledon OPP were on hand Saturday at Bolton Fall Fair to help teach young people some of the safety rules in traffic. Constable Stephanie Hammond was making sure Camila Dos Santos, 5, of Orangeville knew to look both ways before crossing the street.

Photos by Bill Rea

As usual, there was a good crowd out to watch cars take a beating in the Demolition Derby Friday night.

There were several birds of prey on display at the Fair. Nicole Morrison of Kingsport Environmental was holding Titan, a Harris hawk.

There were several categories in the Pet Show. Rowan Mainprize, 10, of Beeton was showing Apricot, who won the prize for being the biggest cat in the show.

The mechanical bull always provides lots of fun at the fair, even if it's hard to stay on. That's what Izabella Adamusiak, 8, of King City learned.

Matthew Gray River, 3, of Bolton was giving it all he had in the Kiddie Pedal Pull.

There was lots of fun to be had in Kids Land. Mason Melas, 3, of Bolton was having a good time in the sand pit.

There were lots of interesting animals to see and make friends with. Riley Masson, 10, of Bolton, got to hold one of the chicks that were on display Friday night. They were only three days old at that point.

Golden Hawks on four-game losing streak

By Jake Courtepatte

It has been a slow start to the junior C season for the Caledon Golden Hawks, but there is solace in that they are not alone. After jumping out the gate to a 1-0 start to the 2015-16 season with a win over the Schomberg Cougars, Caledon has lost four games in a row, one of four teams in their division without multiple wins after week two.

They stood little chance against the perennial powerhouse Alliston Hornets at the raucous New Tec Rec Friday, facing an Alliston team with a handful of key returning players from their stellar 2015-16 campaign.

Ryan Young, who put up close to a point-per-game effort with the junior A Newmarket Hurricanes last season, scored two quick goals for the Hornets just two minutes into the game.

Caledon captain Nicholas McNutt countered at just past the midway mark of the first period, though Alliston regained a two-goal lead before intermission.

From there, it was all Alliston, forcing rookie goaltender Andrew Ireland to stand on his head and make an incredible 32 saves in the second period while allowing only one goal on the power play with six seconds remaining.

With the pressure continuing into the third, Alliston notched three more goals to one Caledon goal from vet Ryan Mouser. The final score at the buzzer was 7-2.

There were 150 fans who made the trip to Caledon East Sunday night to see the Hawks host the Huntsville Otters in their first meeting of the year. It was the Hawks who got on the board first, thanks to Josh Hachey notching his first junior

C goal.

The two squads traded goals until the final five minutes of the second period, when Huntsville exploded for three unanswered before the end of the period.

McNutt brought the score to 5-3 early in the third, but it would be as close as they would get.

Two weeks into the inaugural Provincial Junior Hockey League season, the Hawks sit in the basement of the Carruthers division (formerly the GMOHL) with two points through five games. Their 1-4-0 record matches that of both the Schomberg Cougars and Orillia Terriers, while the Penetang Kings have also secured only one win albeit in only three games played.

In what should come as no surprise to those versed in GMOHL history, the Hornets are the early leaders in the eight-team division. The reigning GMOHL champions have given up only seven goals en route to a 4-0 start to the season.

A pair of games are on the docket for the Hawks this weekend, first visiting the Terriers Saturday night. The weekly Sunday home game features the Hawks hosting the Kings, with an incentive to move up the standings ladder with a win in either game.

Puck drop Sunday is at 6:30 p.m. at Caledon East arena.

For stats, schedules, and more information, visit www.jrcgoldenhawks.pointstreaksites.com

Golden Hawks' captain Nicholas McNutt scored his fourth goal of the year in Caledon's 5-3 loss to the Huntsville Otters in Caledon East Sunday.

Minor midget Hawks take Orangeville Fall Classic

The Caledon Hawks minor midget AA Team painted the Town of Orangeville red as they recently defeated teams from Orillia, Clarington and Barrie to take the championship at the Fall Classic.

The competition was strong and all the teams showed well as the game scores reflected a balance in skill and strength.

In their first game, the Hawks were pitted against Clarington Toros and managed to secure a 3-1 win.

In the second match, Caledon again dominated in goals with another 3-1 win, this time against the Orillia Terriers.

In the third game, the Hawks fell hard to the fast flying Barrie Colts with a 4-2 loss, but regained their ground in the next outing by defeating Clarington again with a 3-0 win.

The championship came down to Orillia versus Caledon, after the Terriers bumped Barrie out of the Tournament.

Then the Hawks beat the Terriers 3-2 for the championship of the Classic.

Head Coach Brett Moore noted that the coaching staff are satisfied with the progress of the team so far this season.

"The players are enjoying the camaradery and the competition," he said. "A win this early in the season requires hard work and team play. Well done!"

Nicole Walker wins the Caledon Cup in show jumping

By Bill Rea

Aurora resident Nicole Walker started competing at the international level just three years ago, but she's got a lot to show for it.

As of Sunday, she is the Caledon Cup champion after the Canadian Show Jumping Tournament Caledon at Caledon Equestrian Park in Palgrave.

Walker, 22, and her mount Deko De Landetta Z won the $86,000 Caledon Cup Phase 3 Sunday. She combined that with a second-place performance in the first phase last Thursday afternoon and a fourth-place showing Friday evening in the indoor ring.

Sunday saw 33 horse-rider combinations enter the event on the course designed by Leopoldo Palacios from Venezuela, and Walker was the last one to go. She was among nine to make it to the jump-off, where again she and her mount were the last to enter the ring. She agreed that was an advantage, because she knew what numbers she had to beat.

And she did it by just a fraction of a second. They turned in a clear round in the jump-off in 41.91 seconds, shaving less than half a second off the time turned in by Keenan White of Rockwood aboard For Freedom Z, and Ali Ramsay from Victoria, B.C., who was riding Hermelien. They both completed the course in 42.36, tying them for second place in Sunday's event.

"I don't know what the secret's been," Walker commented after the award ceremony.

She gave good deal of the credit to her horse, a 12-year-old bay stallion.

"He's been jumping well all week," she said.

In addition to her share of the prize money, Walker also received a $1,000 bonus from class sponsor HEP for wearing its branded saddle pad in all three phases of competition.

"I knew what I had to do!" she told Starting Gate Communications after the event. "I think the jump-off suited my horse really well. He's fast in the turns and he's fast on the straightaways, so it was a good jump-off course for him. I didn't want to give a pull on the reins; I know he is fast, I knew I could trust him, and he was super for me."

The win was Walker's second career victory in International Equestrian Federation (FIE) sanctioned competition, with the other coming earlier this summer in the €25,000 CSI2* Prix Hotel Byblos in St. Tropez, France.

"Thank you to the sponsors," added Walker, who trains with Irish Olympic medalist Cian O'Connor. "Without them, these classes wouldn't exist. Luckily, I had the HEP saddle pad on all week long and got the extra $1,000 there as well!"

Friday evening's $35,000 event was won by Ramsay and Hermelien. She was among eight out of 39 riders to jump clear and make it to the jump-off, and in the final round, she was almost half a second faster than Ian Millar aboard Baranus.

Ramsay, 24, is just starting her second year at this level of competition, and Friday's was her first Grand Prix victory.

"I've been second and third and fourth enough," she declared with a big grin.

Hermelien is a nine-year-old Belgian warmblood mare.

"The horse always feels great," Ramsay said. "I guess she was extra reliable today."

The first phase of the Caledon Cup last Thursday was a speed event, meaning there was no jump-off. The $10,000 event was taken by Orangeville's Kim Farlinger, riding Stanley Stone, who's owned by Alan Chesler.

Stanley Stone and I have been together a couple of years now," she commented after Thursday's action with her 11-year-old warmblood mount. "He's a fast horse. He's very careful and he's fast along the ground."

Last Thursday saw Farlinger and Stanley Stone complete the clear round in 69.76 seconds, about a second and a half faster than the second-place combination of Walker and Deko De Landetta Z.

Farlinger and Stanley Stone were in Friday's event, but picked up a total of nine faults.

Thing's were looking good in Sunday's event until a frightening moment about halfway through the course, when Farlinger fell from her mount. It took her a few minutes and some assistance to get back on her feet, but she was able to leave the ring under her own power. Sunday's competition saw Beth Underhill get into the jump-off on Count Me In, but they had a rough time in the second round. The horse refused at one jump, and piled up seconds on the clock, emerging with 11 faults.

Mac Cone from King City made it to the jump-off Friday night and turned in a clear round on Gasper van den Doorn to take third spot. Four jumping faults kept them out of the jump-off Sunday. Olympian Millar won the Caledon Cup two years on Dixon, but they missed getting into Sunday's jump-off by a fraction of a second. Susan Horn from Bolton was 0.18 seconds faster than Millar, riding Balintore, and that was good enough to get her 10th place for the day.

Beth Underhill of Schomberg and Count Me In made it to the jump-off Sunday.

Kim Farlinger of Orangeville guided Stanley Stone to victory in the first phase of the Caledon Cup last Thursday.

Sunday's victory aboard Deko De Landetta Z earned Nicole Walker these flowers.

Bolton's Susan Horn missed Sunday's jump-off by a fraction of a second riding Balintore.
