JINGLE BELL BALL AT LIBRARY

There was plenty of holiday fun Saturday at the Caledon East branch of Caledon Public Library as young folks were taking part in the Jingle Bell Ball. The activities included crafts for the youngsters to work on, and Riccardo Bozzi-Simone, 7, and his sister Bianca, 9, of Caledon East were working on their creations.

Residents will pay 2.83 per cent more in taxes

By Bill Rea

There were a few last-minute changes, but none of them impacted on the final figures.

Caledon Council Tuesday night ratified basically the same budget it had approved last week in committee. It calls for a blended property tax increase of 2.83 per cent, which means the bill for at the average Caledon home assessed at $554,000 will be increasing by $134.61 next year.

One of the changes dealt with the efforts of Bolton resident Tony Rosa and other arts groups around town to get support for an arts centre in Caledon. He made a delegation to council Tuesday, expressing disappointment, but not surprise, that the budget doesn't contain funds for such an effort. He said he has been working on this for three years, and he expressed his desire to go before Council in April with a reworked proposal involving partnerships with businesses and non-profit agencies. He added he has been approached by a Bolton family named Nicolini

Montreal Massacre victims remembered at Bolton vigil

By Bill Rea

Last Wednesday marked the 28th anniversary of the Montreal Massacre, in which a lone gunman entered École Polytechnique and shot 28 people, killing 14 women, before committing suicide.

Local singer Carly Cianflocca performed at last Wednesday's vigil.

He claimed he was fighting feminism. The anniversary was marked with a vigil last Wednesday evening, a joint project between Family Transition Place and Caledon Public Library. It was held at the Albion-Bolton branch of the library. Library CEO and Chief Librarian Colleen Lipp observed such events have been held regularly for the last 28 years, and she said she was sad to observe there is still a need for such tributes, as violence against women still exists. "I'm outraged," she declared, also expressing hope that more women will speak out. "The courage of a woman alone is not enough," Norah Kennedy, executive director of Family Transition Place, remarked. She observed that after 28 years, people still gather to remember 14 women they never knew. She also pointed out Canada is not known for having mass shootings. She said there have only been 31 of them here since 1649, as she observed the United States has that many in a month. Kennedy said it could be argued that this was the act of a lone, disgruntled person, but such acts are also deeply entrenched in accepted norms. These 14 women were studying engineering, which in those days would have been seen as exceptional. "They were breaking down barriers by their very presence in the program," she commented. She added Marc Lépine, the gunman, had been denied access to the program, and he evidently believed women has stolen his rightful place. "He could not bear the thought that women were receiving the education that had been denied to him," Kennedy commented. She also pointed out that as one group advances in things like education, another group must go down, and that can be hard to for some to accept. There are still examples of abuse, but Kennedy said more women are speaking out, and are being heard and believed. One reason for that is groups gather and talk about these things. She also pointed out more community leaders are talking about these issue, but she cautioned people not to get the idea that it necessarily means anything is being done. "We have changed the landscape," she said. "We are shifting a culture." Kennedy also said there have been a lot of cases in which powerful men believed they could get away with abusing women and would not be held to account.

She said there had been a vigil earlier that day at the Family Transition Place facility in Orangeville, and a former Board member had observed the word of the year is "complicit." He had asked men to reflect on how they may have been complicit, if it was only making jokes or comments about the issue. "We cannot be complicit," she said. "We need to take a stand." Local resident Emily Rowsell said she is currently studying public policy and women's issues as she provided a youth perspective on the issue. She said she has learned that she knows 13 women who have been assaulted. Trustee Stan Cameron, Caledon's representative on the Peel District School Board, said he's been attending the vigil every year, and said he last year started to reflect on his two daughters and two sisters. He said the violence against women is a manifestation of inequality, as some men abuse their positions against women. He added statistics are not needed to reveal there's a problem, as he pointed to how many women are in shelters. He said people must commit themselves to ending this.

"It is men and boys who must stand to hold other men and boys to account," he declared. Mayor Allan Thompson reflect on the events 28 years before, observing that 14 bright, young, talented people were gunned down because they were women. "It was a shock and this cannot be happening in Canada," he recalled thinking at the time. He stressed the need for individuals, communities, governments and organizations to share the vision with no excuses. "My commitment is for all of us to keep the conversation open," he said, adding everyone has to take a stand when they see abuse or violence happening. Library staff member Kelley Potter recalled she was 23 when the massacre took place, realizing several of the victims were her age. She added that beyond the tragedy, there still cases of violence against women all over the world. "We are not powerless to help with this issue," she declared.

Norah Kennedy, executive director of Family Transition Place, pointed out more people are talking about violence against women, but more needs to be done.

Families move into Habitat for Humanity homes

By Bill Rea

It was a very special day Tuesday for Caledon's newest residents.

Four families were handed the keys to their new Southfields Village homes, courtesy Habitat for Humanity.

"What a great day to celebrate home ownership," declared Thomas Fischer, vice-president of gift-in-kind donations for Habitat for Humanity GTA.

There were several dignitaries and Habitat officials on hand for the home dedication ceremony, and they were braving the first real winter blast of the season in the area.

Habitat partners with low-income, working families who are in need of safe and affordable houses which they can call home. The people who will be moving into the 10 Southfields homes have contributed to their construction. Fischer said that has included at least 500 hours of "sweat equity" in helping with the building of their own homes, as well as those of others and helping at Habitat ReStores.

These families make zero-interest mortgage payments that are capped at 30 per cent of their household income. This arrangement helps remove the barriers of home ownership, enabling them to move on to better lives.

"These families have worked so hard," Fischer remarked to the audience. "It's great to be able to celebrate this success with you."

Fischer praised the involvement of the Town of Caledon in the project, noting the Town waved the normal development charges for these homes. He also commented on the contribution of Peel Region and its commitment to affordable housing.

"With a shortage of affordable housing options across the GTA, we're proud to provide affordable homeownership to families in the Town of Caledon for the first time in Habitat for Humanity's history," Fischer stated.

Habitat for Humanity GTA Chair Dennis Moir also expressed appreciation to the Town and Region for their partnership, as well as for the work of the families.

"Welcome to Caledon," an enthusiastic Mayor Allan Thompson told the new residents. "Cold or not, we have warm hearts."

"I am extremely proud to officially welcome our newest members of the community to our town," Thompson added. "This project further demonstrates the success of the Habitat for Humanity program, and I look forward to further partnering with Habitat on future Caledon initiatives."

He added there will be future such initiatives in Bolton area developments.

Thompson stressed that affordable housing provides hope.

"Everybody's entitled to have a home they can call home," he added.

He also pointed out these new residents will help add to the local volunteer base, which he said makes communities great.

"This is what community giving back is all about," he observed.

"This is a great day for us," declared Build Site Supervisor Dorino Gravina, as he praised the partnerships that led to the development, including with the contractors and trades people, and people who came out all the time. "These are the great people who actually got the stuff done."

The new residents are grateful for their new homes.

"You helped make our family's dream of home ownership possible," Dionne Lucien told those assembled.

A single mother with three daughters, she said she's experienced some rough times over the years.

"Sometimes life happens," she said, describing how she tried to get through the burdens of being a single mom while trying to establish a career advertising. She was living in the basement of her parent's house, but that all changed when her folks sold their home. Needing a three-bedroom apartment to rent, she found she couldn't afford one in the GTA.

She found herself living with her sister in overcrowded conditions in a Brampton neighbourhood that wasn't very safe.

Lucien said she heard about Habitat for Humanity, but had likened being selected to winning the lottery. But she also decided she had nothing to lose. "You have to be in it to win it," she concluded.

She recalled attending her second interview in July with apprehension, but she arrived to find Thompson there, and she proceeded to get "the best news I think I had ever heard in my whole life."

"With a lot of persistence, things can change," she added.

"I just can't wait to see how life will happen for us next," she declared.

"You never gave up hope," Thompson said to Lucien.

"It means so much to finally have a home of our own, something I can pass down to my children," she said. "My daughters are excited to start painting and decorating their rooms, something they could never do before."

Mayor Allan Thompson joined Dionne Lucien and her daughters Angelina, Selena and Bonita as they prepare to move into their new home.

OPP using innovative approach to get distracted truck drivers

The Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) kicked off Operation Safe Trucking Monday, a province-wide commercial motor vehicle (CMV) enforcement blitz that is taking an innovative approach to targeting distracted transport truck drivers.

During the initiative, OPP officers will conduct patrols in truck tractors (transport trucks), giving them a better vantage point for spotting CMV drivers who are distracted or engaged in other dangerous behaviours behind the wheel.

The trucks are being used for the first time during Operation Safe Trucking, the latest OPP enforcement initiative to support the OPP CMV Mitigation Strategy. The strategy aims to reduce the number of CMV collisions on OPP-patrolled roads.

During the five-day blitz, OPP officers are targeting CMV moving violations, such as distracted, aggressive and impaired driving, speeding, following too close, occupant restraint and hours of service violations. CMVs found with mechanical, load security or other safety issues will be subject to inspections and enforcement actions in collaboration with the Ministry of Transportation.

While the focus of the initiative is on transport trucks, officers will also be addressing dangerous behaviours on the part of all drivers.

"Every year, collisions that involve commercial motor vehicles are in the thousands and they result in significant loss of life," OPP Commissioner Vince Hawkes said. "So far this year, the OPP has responded to more than 6,200 transport truck-related collisions, with 87 people dying in 72 of those crashes. Adding truck tractors to our list of enforcement tools will enhance our officers' observation and investigative skills during Operation Safe Trucking and future initiatives that focus on Commercial Motor Vehicle safety."

"Road safety is a priority for the province, and that is why Operation Safe Trucking is so important," Community Safety and Correctional Services Minister Marie-France Lalonde observed. "It will enhance OPP efforts to catch drivers violating the law and help prevent dangerous behaviour in the future. Safe driving is a shared responsibility."

Driver inattention leads the list of primary causes in CMV-involved collisions, with close to 27 per cent of the crashes being attributed to this driving behaviour, according to OPP.

Police investigate threat at school

There was no apparent danger after Caledon OPP were called to investigate a threat to student safety over the weekend at St. Michael Catholic Secondary School in Bolton.

Police said they were informed of the alleged threat Sunday. Upon learning this information, the Major Crime Unit of Caledon OPP immediately began investigating the allegation.

After an extensive investigation, police established that there is no threat to school or public safety.

Police value contributions from the public to building safe communities. Those who have any information about suspected unlawful activity are asked to visit Crime Stoppers at www.peelcrimestoppers.ca or call 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or text "PEEL + your message" to 274637 (CRIMES) from a cellular phone.

Caledon OPP were called to investigate a Dec. 8 theft from the Petro Canada station in Caledon village. During this time, the suspect stole a number of scratch tickets from the cashier. He is a white male with dark, receding hair, unshaven and wearing a dark hoodie, blue jeans, and black shoes. After leaving the gas bar, the suspect entered the passenger side of a grey Mazda 5. Anyone with information regarding this theft is asked to contact Constable Dave Knight at 905-584-2241 or toll free at 1-888-310-1122. Information can be provided anonymously by contacting Peel Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477), by texting 274637 (CRIMES) with the words "PEEL plus your tip information", or going online to www.peelcrimestoppers.ca

Shaughnessy says Town has 'a very divided council'

"It was very clearly laid out," he said, adding it will avoid having an additional expense imposed on the new council that will be elected next fall.

Mayor Allan Thompson added not annualizing the cost will mean an automatic two per cent increase for the new council to deal with.

Shaughnessy said she had no problem with setting money aside, but said the way it was explained to residents gave them the wrong idea.

Shaughnessy also wanted an expenditure of a little more than $62,000 dropped. It will cover a customer service administrator in the recreation Support Services Division. She was concerned this was going to be for the new Southfields facility, but General Manager of Community Services Peggy Tollett told her the position will be dealing with all recreation facilities.

Councillor Nick deBoer was able to get his colleagues to go along with asking the Town's library board to provide an update on the Wireless Internet Hotspots program by the end of June. He said that will come at no cost to the Town.

The increase in the Town's share of taxes is going to be 5.97 per cent, but the total hike will only be 2.83 per cent, once the increase in Peel Region's portion is factored in. That's based on the assumption there will be no change in the rates charged for education, and that won't be known for sure until the spring.

There were concerns that the 5.97 per cent hike was too high.

Shaughnessy said her residents in Ward 1 won't like it.

"They're not getting anything," she declared.

She had tried at committee to get $100,000 committed to a Caledon Village Highway 10 Corridor Land Use and Transportation Feasibility Study, and she reiterated Tuesday that it's badly needed.

"It's a very divided council," Shaughnessy charged, adding she can see a tax revolt coming.

Councillor Annette Groves also had trouble with the increase to the Town's share, pointing out there are people who are struggling and would have trouble handling such a hike.

But the other councillors all supported it.

"I think it's a very fair budget," Thompson said, considering the pressures that have been imposed on the town, such as the increase in the minimum wage and the changes to grants coming from the Province. "We covered off the needs to handle the growth coming forward."

CAROLS SUNG IN CALEDON EAST

The choirs of Caledon East United Church and St. James' Anglican Church were joined by members of the St. James' Band Sunday to perform the carols of the season. There was good crowd out from the community to enjoy the performance.

Celebrate the holiday season with Peel Art Gallery, Museum and Archives (PAMA) this December.

Explore new exhibitions like What's for Dinner? in Manning Square, PAMA's hands-on kid's area, and Peel Through the Photographer's Lens in the Archives (hours may vary). Then, create some-out-of-this-world crafts this winter break and complete the Star Wars challenge for chances to win a prize pack each week.

New Exhibitions

What's For Dinner? will run until November 2018. Enjoy PAMA's hands-on family-friendly area. This year, kids can explore where food comes from, healthy food choices and some of the many foods and traditions enjoyed by Peel residents, past and present.

Peel Through the Photographer's Lens goes until May 2018. Explore exciting new additions to the Peel Archives' collections. Discover a wide range of remarkable, rarely seen photographs of Peel, captured by prominent local photographers Al Betts, Betty Odum, and Ron Duquette.

Calling all local artists

Join in the Creative Exchange Holiday Celebration, in partnership with City of Brampton Dec. 21, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

Creative Exchange is a monthly networking event meant to connect individual members of Peel's art community, groups or organizations with each other. Free admission to studio only.

Family winter break activities

They will run from Dec. 27 to 29 and Jan. 2 to 5 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Explore arts and crafts that are out of this world. Take a seven-day journey around the galaxy and learn about a new planet daily and how they relate to home right here in Peel. Drop-in, included with admission.

- Dec. 27 — Mercury: Since a year on Mercury is 88 days long, you might as well make an out-of-this-world postcard to send home.

- Dec. 28 — Venus: Junior astronauts can continue their space training by observing Venus move through the night sky and use some tools to create a solar road map to continue the expedition.

- Dec. 29 — Mars: Hop over Earth to explore Mars — wait, what was that? An alien? Legend says you can spot faces between Mars's giant canyons. You will want to record these optical illusions for your mission logs.

- Jan. 2 — Jupiter: Hold onto your space-suit as you approach the largest planet. Don't get caught in the red spot — which is actually a huge storm three times the size of earth and has been going on for more than 400 years, yikes! Create a chaotic collage mimicking the storms patterns.

- Jan. 3 — Saturn: Investigating Saturn's rings can work up an appetite. Construct your own solar system model made out of your favourite foods!

- Jan. 4 — Uranus: Brrr, it is really cold here, time to bundle up! Uranus, also known as the Ice Giant, is the coldest of all planets. Your friends back home won't believe this — design your space selfie to share.

- Jan. 5 — Neptune: Congratulations Junior Astronauts, you made it to the last planet, what an adventure! Let's document your space voyage and get that spaceship ready to head back home.

Mission completed!

Also, don't miss the chance to win weekly prize packs by completing the Star Wars challenge. Follow on @visit-pama on Twitter, Facebook and Instagram for all the details.

Orange Peel Carollers coming to CrossCurrents Cafe next week

Following a time-honoured tradition from the north of England, the Orange Peel Carollers will be gathering tomorrow (Friday) at Cross Currents Cafe in Bolton to dance, as well as sing what are known as village or pub carols,

These carols will not be the standard Christmas tunes heard this time of year in malls. They promise to be more boisterous and secular.

CrossCurrents operates out of Bolton United Church at the corner of King and Nancy Streets. Doors will open at 7:30 p.m. and the music is slated to start at 8.

Admission is free, but donations are welcome.

Winter Parking Restrictions

PLEASE HELP KEEP OUR STREETS SAFE AND CLEAR

Each winter, Town of Caledon crews clear snow on more than 1,500 kilometres of roads. To help crews clear the roads as quickly as possible, the Town may issue a winter parking ban. Typically this would happen if Environment Canada forecasts a snowfall of 7 centimetres or greater, or dangerous ice conditions.

DURING A WINTER PARKING BAN:

- Vehicles cannot be parked on Caledon roads.
 - Any overnight parking exemptions are null and void.
 - Vehicles parked on town streets are subject to a fine and/or may be towed at the vehicle owner's expense.
- When all roads are cleared and weather permits, the ban is lifted.

NOTICE OF COMPLETION

Caledon Transportation Master Plan

THE STUDY

The Town of Caledon has completed the Caledon Transportation Master Plan (TMP), a strategic planning document designed to identify and address the transportation needs of the Town to the year 2031 (and beyond). Building on the directions articulated in the Town of Caledon Official Plan (COP) and the Peel Region Long Range Transportation Plan (LRTP), the TMP establishes the goals, strategies and initiatives necessary to achieve the municipality's future transportation vision. The TMP integrates municipal transportation planning with environmental assessment objectives and land use planning, ultimately providing for a transportation system that is sustainable, integrated and encourages a healthy and active lifestyle.

THE PROCESS

The Caledon TMP was conducted in accordance with the master planning process following the requirements of Phases 1 and 2 of the Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (October 2000, as amended in 2007, 2011 and 2015), which is an approved process under the Ontario Environmental Assessment Act. The TMP addresses need and justification at a broad level and recommended infrastructure projects will require further detailed studies as per the Municipal Class Environmental process.

THE COMPLETION

The TMP has been prepared to document the planning and decision-making process undertaken for this study. Key recommendations of the TMP were presented to Council on October 24, 2017 and approved November 7, 2017, pending the 30-day public review period that commences with issuance of this Notice.

We would like to take the opportunity to thank those members of the Caledon community who participated in the Transportation Master Plan project. The Caledon TMP is available for review online at caledon.ca/tmp or in the Clerk's Department at Caledon Town Hall, 6311 Old Church Road.

Please provide all written comments to the Town of Caledon by January 31, 2018. Information will be collected in accordance with the Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. With the exception of personal information, all comments will become part of the public record.

Kennedy Road Reconstruction

The Town of Caledon has completed reconstruction on Kennedy Road between King Street and Olde Base Line Road. The road is no longer a construction zone and the speed limit has reverted to 70km/h.

Property tax information for newly constructed homes

The following is important information for residents that recently moved into a newly constructed home: Property Tax Due Dates are the first Thursday of March, May, July and September.

Tax Assessment Information for Newly Built Homes

- The Town may have calculated and billed your property taxes based on the value of your land only if the Municipal Property Assessment Corporation (MPAC) has not assessed your house yet.
- It may take up to 3 years after occupancy before your property assessment reflects both the land and the house.
- The Town issues supplementary tax bills when MPAC has reassessed a property because of additions or improvements that increase its market value or when MPAC has assessed a new home or building.
- For newly constructed homes that are currently assessed at land only, once the full assessment information becomes available, the Town will send a supplementary tax bill.
- The supplementary tax bill can date back three years and will be for taxes payable less any taxes already billed based on the land value.

Pre-Authorized Payment Plan (PAP)

- Your PAP application will be included with your final tax bill. The PAP application form is also available on the Town's website at: www.caledon.ca/tax
- Pre-authorized payment withdrawals are made on the first or the fifteenth, January through October OR on tax installment due dates, based on the PAP plan selected.

Semi-detached and Townhomes

When a large piece of land, such as the land that semi-detached and townhomes are built on, is divided into a series of smaller parcels of land, it is often necessary to "apportion" taxes from the original land block to the new individual parcels. MPAC assigns each of the new parcels an individual roll number and an assessment value for the land. When the Town receives this apportionment information from MPAC, an adjustment to the taxes is created and bills are issued. Want an estimate of your taxes? Check out the property tax calculator at caledon.ca/tax to obtain an estimate of your annual taxes. For more information, please contact the Tax Office at 905.584.2272 ext. 7750

The Relaxed Performance at Theatre Orangeville and what it is

By Constance Scrafield

Many wonders have come from a simple, somewhat sour conversation.

David Nairn, artistic director of Theatre Orangeville, related the story:

"It all started with a chance remark during the run of the first performance of A Gift to Last several years ago," he said. "A couple, regulars to the theatre, saw me after a matinee performance and told me how much they loved the show."

But then the couple asked to be informed the next time people with mental health issues were going to be accommodated, using a word that many might find offensive.

"The conversation went a bit sideways," he recalled "I said, 'We'll never deny anyone coming to the theatre because of a disability . . .' They got in a huff and said they were never coming back and off they went."

He shook his head, "It could have been handled a lot differently, but it got me thinking."

"I realized that, in many ways, I was no better. How many times do we look around (at the issue of disability) sideways, any way but never straight on?"

"A year or so later," Nairn continued, "I was asked to be on the Board of Directors of CLD (Community Living Dufferin). Then we started doing the 'R' word at the high schools — all the schools. That one chance comment has had this company on a journey of true inclusion."

Since the building of the Dream Factory, as Nairn calls the CLD building immediately inside the boundaries of East Garafaxa on County Road 3, which was raised by the partnership formed between Theatre Orangeville and CLD, the theatre people and CLD clients and employees have been sharing all the space.

For the theatre, there is a beautiful rehearsal hall, tremendous work shop, offices and storage area.

The rest of the building houses the offices and meeting rooms for CLD and the factory in which members work, packing goods for companies.

It means: "We live it every day," Nairn observed. "We live with them."

The renovations at the theatre are an excellent example of the kind of growth the theatre company is experiencing. Before the renovations were begun, the wheelchair accessible spots were "the worst seats in the house!" Nairn exclaimed.

"They were over to one side; there were only two of them," he added. "The view of the stage even had some obstruction to seeing the stage."

Once the renovations were completed, though, it is a different story.

With some excitement, he remarked, "Now, there are 16 wheelchair accessible seats and they're the best seats in the house. Why should someone in a wheelchair not be able to sit in the best seat?"

As well, the low broad steps have been replaced by a smooth slope, as they previously impeded any access for wheelchairs to move up to the higher seats. Now, the majority of the theatre can be reached by anyone.

There is equipment to assist people with hearing deficiencies to be able to hear the entertainment on the stage but, as Nairn noted, "We need to bring in signing as well."

"The next step of our enlightenment is the Relaxed Performance," he announced.

Finally, those next steps to universal accessibility, the Relaxed Performance, has been a growing part of theatre scheduling in Britain for some time, where the ambition is to see Relaxed Performances scheduled as regularly and normally as signed performances, one performance during a run.

It has come to Canada, led by the Young People's Theatre, Stratford Festival, others and, for the first time with this season's Christmas show, at Theatre Orangeville.

"During the PACT conference at Charlottetown, I was invited to sit in on a discussion about Relaxed Performances," Nairn said.

It was the moment of decision for Theatre Orangeville's first Relaxed Performance to come.

"I wanted it to be the Christmas show, the show that a family shares. Autism and other challenges or members of their families. People with an acceptable level of dementia or Alzheimers; people can be claustrophobic, have anxiety, be afraid of the dark or of closed doors," he said, listing the possible audience members at a Relaxed Performance. "Mothers with young babies or toddlers, children that have a hard time sitting still. It will be okay for them to walk around or go in and out of the theatre."

"Trevor (Patt) is creating a video that we'll share online all about the experience to give people the idea of what happening," he added.

Quite contrary to the norm, the theatre doors will be left open with safe spaces outside the theatre where children can come and go. The lights are only half down to reassure those who are afraid of the dark.

The cast is very excited about the experience. Of them, Trevor Patt has some experience of this through his acting at the Stratford Festival.

"With families who might have one disabled family member — that person can come so that they don't have leave anybody behind," he was pleased to say. "They can enjoy the music component — see it, hear it — understand — primarily, enjoy it."

After the show, the cast stays to meet some of the audience. "They can meet Liam and Sniffer-dog. They can meet John Hughes, the pianist."

"They'll see the masks — how they come on and off — the Owl can say, look, it's me, Debbie," Nairn observed.

"We still have a way to go," He admitted. "We're still working for the visually impaired and signing performances."

Yet, he said with tentative satisfaction, "I believe Theatre Orangeville is the lead for inclusion of people who have been marginalized all their lives."

Looking back on the chance remark, some 17 years ago, that really began this journey to the Relaxed Performance, Nairn expressed a wish: "I wish with all my heart that I could have another chance at that conversation."

The Relaxed Performance is scheduled for Dec. 19, at 7 p.m. at Theatre Orangeville. For details and tickets, go the Box Office on 87 Broadway or the Information Centre on Buena Vista, by telephone at 519-942-3423 or online and see the video too at www.theatreorangeville.ca

Reading from Dickens

Caledon's Town Crier Andrew Welch was out of uniform last week as he entertained the audience at Alton Mill with a reading from the Charles Dickens classic A Christmas Carol. Prior to the reading, Welch's wife Elsyth Fryer entertained with some guitar tunes.

Christmas Marketplace returned to St. John Paul II

The halls and gyms at St. John Paul II Elementary School were busy places last Friday as the school hosted its annual Christmas Marketplace. There were lots of interesting items available, as well as gift ideas for the season. People who had ordered poinsettias were able to pick them up at the Marketplace. Students Selena Capone, Victoria Kolb and Isabella Franchi were on hand to help out.

Jinglewood rocks the village

The crowd was enthusiastic Sunday night as the Inglewood community came out to celebrate Jinglewood. In addition to a tree lighting, Santa Claus joined the crowds for wagon rides around the village. The evening included the chance to toast some marshmallows. Kathryn Moddle was giving her daughter Corinna Rodie, 7, a hand with the toasting.

Government's announcement on opioids 'flawed and disappointing'

It's hard to not miss the press coverage of opioid-related overdoses and deaths for many months now.

Sadly, there is an opioid crisis in Canada and no region of Canada is necessarily insulated from it. It's a real concern for all Canadians and there have been growing calls for action.

In November, the current Liberal government announced the steps it will take to address the crisis. While the government appears to be supporting its commitment to lower the number of opioid-related overdoses and deaths in Canada, there are valid concerns with the changes and projects it is undertaking to address the ongoing crisis.

The opioid crisis is very real. According to the most recent statistics released by the Public Health Agency of Canada in September, more than 2,800 Canadians died in opioid-related deaths in 2016. It's also expected that the number will reach at least 3,000 Canadians for 2017. This is a considerable increase and one that has Canadians calling for action.

The current Liberal government announced Nov. 15 they will support new treatment options for drug addicts, including giving them prescription opioids or pharmaceutical grade heroin, backing quality testing of street drugs, and helping provinces set up overdose prevention sites in emergencies.

We, as the Conservative Official Opposition, take drug addiction very seriously. Canada is currently in the middle of an unprecedented opioid epidemic. We also recognize the harm caused by this epidemic. These drugs can tear families apart, lead to criminal behaviour and destroy lives. We are seeing young professionals, blue collar workers and teenagers dying at alarming rates from experimenting with recreational drugs.

The Liberal plan does nothing to prevent drugs from reaching our streets. We, the Conservative Official Opposition, want to prevent people from becoming addicted and we support the treatment of addicts. However, we do not think it is a good use of taxpayer money to pay for drugs to keep addicts addicted. It is unfortunate the current Liberal government is providing $526 million to legalize marijuana while only committing $7.8 million to the fight against opioids.

The current Liberal government's approach to fighting the opioid epidemic is flawed and disappointing. A stronger approach with a focus on prevention is needed and one that invests more in treatment to help addicts break their addiction to drugs. We will continue to stand up for Canadians in our country's ongoing battle against the opioid crisis.

Auditor General highlights Liberals' waste, mismanagement

Ontario's Auditor General released her largest annual report, with 1,079 pages in two volumes, Dec. 6.

The report focuses on value-for-money audits, as well as measures for the government to improve its accountability.

The Auditor General is an independent and non-partisan officer of the Legislative Assembly.

The Auditor General raised concerns with the government's service delivery, program implementation and government's complex accounting practices. In all, the auditor identified more than a billion dollars of waste in 14 government programs.

FROM QUEEN'S PARK

Sylvia Jones
MPP Dufferin-Caledon

Under the government watch, nine energy companies billed ratepayers $260 million in ineligible expenses, including raccoon traps and scuba gear. At a time when families are struggling to pay for their hydro, energy companies submitted inappropriate expenses which the government paid without confirming the expenses were valid. Despite this, the government is not serious about recovering the unpaid ineligible expenses. Their inactions leave ratepayers paying $80 million in inappropriate expenses.

Another major concern the Auditor General identified is that the government has spent $17.4 million on partisan advertising. The auditor said that the primary goal of these ads was to "foster a positive impression of the governing party." These include a $3-million infrastructure campaign which the auditor said was "self-congratulatory and aimed at ensuring the government gets credit for its potential future spending plans."

In an effort to bring greater accountability in this area, in March I introduced a private member's bill, Bill 112, End the Public Funding of Partisan Government Advertising. The legislation would have returned the Auditor General's power to review proposed government advertisements before they are published or broadcast to verify that they meet certain standards. Unfortunately, the government voted it down and continues to spend millions on partisan advertisements. This is why, under the People's Guarantee, the Progressive Conservative party has committed to restoring the Auditor General's oversight of government advertising.

Thirdly, as the PC critic for infrastructure, I was shocked to learn that are 812 provincially owned buildings that are vacant and costing Ontario taxpayers $19 million a year. The auditor report reveals that 600 of the buildings have been unoccupied for more than eight years and Infrastructure Ontario did not even know when the other 212 buildings became vacant. This is yet another example of government neglecting to its due diligence to ensure your tax dollars are being spent properly.

Bethell Hospice Foundation

Many thanks to our wonderful community partner, Palgrave Rotary, for their unwavering support, boundless energy and huge hearts.

Palgrave Rotary has been a long-time supporter of Bethell Hospice Foundation, and we could not be more grateful.

From bringing out the Chuck Wagon to our test drive event at Fines Ford Lincoln this fall, to their recent gift in support of children and youth bereavement programs, Palgrave Rotary has repeatedly shown their belief in the importance of Bethell Hospice in our community.

Community partners like Palgrave Rotary, along with community event organizers, sponsors and individual donors, are the life-blood of Bethell Hospice Foundation. Put quite simply, Bethell Hospice exists because of community support.

Bethell Hospice provides compassionate, respectful care to enhance the quality of life for terminally-ill individuals and their families.

Every day, countless lives are touched by the work of Bethell Hospice, and all programs and services are provided at no cost. Bethell Hospice is the only residential hospice serving all of Caledon, Brampton, Dufferin County and west Woodbridge, and also offers a wide range of community programs throughout Caledon and Brampton.

We are so fortunate to have these resources on our doorstep, and that is only possible because of community support.

Unlike many other local charities, Bethell Hospice depends on the generosity of donors simply to remain in operation.

Government funding covers only direct care medical costs — about 60 per cent of the cost to operate Bethell Hospice. To keep our doors open, Bethell Hospice Foundation must raise more than $1,000,000 each year. Every gift makes a meaningful difference, directly impacts many lives, and brings comfort at a difficult time.

To learn more about Bethell Hospice, its resources and supports, and to find out how you can join Palgrave Rotary in helping the cause, visit www.bethellhospice.org

Jones calls on government to take action on hallway medicine

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones has joined calls to have Health and Long-Term Care Minister Dr. Eric Hoskins to finally address the problem of hallway medicine in Brampton.

"I have heard from constituents about the problems of hallway medicine at Brampton Civic in the past, but the revelation that over 4,000 patients between 2016 and 2017 were put on beds in the hospital's hallways, is truly shocking," Jones said.

This came a couple of days after New Democrats at Queen's Park released information about the number of people waiting in the halls of the Brampton facility.

"The premier and her Liberal government just don't get it. They do not grasp the severity of the overcrowding and hallway medicine crisis inside Ontario's hospitals," NDP Leader Andrea Horwath said. "This crisis has been years in the making, caused by Liberal budget cuts and freezes piled on top of Conservative budget cuts and freezes. It's absolutely disgusting that health care in Ontario is coming to this."

"In the spring, PC Leader Patrick Brown and I raised concerns regarding hallway medicine occurring in Brampton's Health Care system, but clearly the Wynne government has done nothing to resolve the issue," Jones declared. "Now the Mayor of Brampton and former Wynne government cabinet minister Linda Jeffrey is adding her voice to the families of Peel saying, 'Our health care facilities are currently in crisis.'"

"The hallway medicine crisis in Ontario is the direct result of failed Liberal government health policies and experiments," Jones declared. "After 14 years of Liberal waste and mismanagement, we have thousands of people not receiving the care they deserve."

"It is time for the Liberal government to fix this crisis in Brampton's health care system," she concluded.

Lots of goods on display at Seniors' Centre

The Caledon Seniors' Centre in Bolton was the scene recently of the annual Craft, Bake Sale and Silent Auction. There was a wide assortment of crafty creations available. Margaret Tannahill of Brampton was showing a display of knitted and hand-crafted items, as well as ornaments for the season.

Golden Hawks are on a two-game slide after weekend action

By Jake Courtepatte
A three-game winning streak was snapped last week for the Caledon Golden Hawks by a pair of losses, bringing closer an already tight race in PJHL standings.

The junior C club visited the Huntsville Otters Friday night for a rough-and-tumble game that boiled over from a 10-1 Caledon win in their previous meeting. Beginning with a Huntsville misconduct in the opening minute, the carousel to the penalty box was constantly turning in the first period, including two long stops for fighting. In total, seven misconducts were handed out in the first period alone.

By the final buzzer, the score was 3-2 for Huntsville, while the teams had combined for close to 30 infractions.

Andrew Woods scored at even strength for the Hawks, while Marc Simonetta capitalized on a late penalty shot.

Sunday's home match with the Penetang Kings was a more subdued, but crucial one for both sides, as they were two of the three teams fighting for third-place in the Carruthers division alongside the Schomberg Cougars.

Despite an onslaught of offence in the first period for both sides, the Hawks were unable to solve the Penetang netminder, while Caledon goalie Michael Kaczor made stops on all but one of Penetang's 15 shots.

Simonetta finished off a nice passing play down low early in the second on the power play, with Sean Nottle following suit a few minutes later.

Penetang answered back with three straight goals to take a 4-2 lead, one they would never relinquish, as Woods' late short-handed goal in the third left the Hawks one shy and with a 4-3 loss.

The loss to Penetang meant a four-point swing for the two teams fighting for position, with Penetang just two points back of the third-place Hawks, each with 27 games played.

Both teams caught a break Sunday when Schomberg went up against the undefeated Stayner Siskins, with Schomberg sustaining the loss to stay tied with Penetang two points behind Caledon.

Caledon hosts Schomberg in a rare Friday night home game tomorrow in a crucial match, with only a third of the season remaining.

They close out the week against the lowly Orillia Terriers Sunday.

Puck drop Friday is set for 8:30 p.m.

Meanwhile, the team will be without the help of captain and team-leading scorer Matt Magliozzi for at least the next six games, after he was sent off on a game misconduct for derogatory comments late in Friday's match.

Magliozzi has 44 points through 24 games this year, good for ninth among scoring leaders.

PRINCIPAL TAKES IT RIGHT IN THE FACE

The fund-raising target in the Halloween Dance-a-Thon at St. John Paul II Elementary School in Bolton was $10,000, and Principal Franco Troiani had a special reward for the students if they reached the goal. He would sit while one of the students plunked a pie in his face. They met the goal, by collecting sponsorships, and Grade 4 student Brooklyn Lupinacci was delighted to do the honours. The funds raised are to be used internally in the school.

IN MEMORIAM
LARGE, Jean Elizabeth (Dec. 11, 1989)
LARGE, Victor Ernest (Feb. 16, 2014)

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, father and grandfather. Always in our hearts.
*Do not stand at my grave and weep;
I am not there, I do not sleep,
I am a thousand winds that blow
I am the diamond glints on snow
I am the sunlight on ripened grain
I am the gentle autumn's rain
When you awaken in
The mornings hush,
I am the swift uplifting rush,
Of quiet birds in circled flight
I am the soft stars that Shine at night
Do not stand at my grave and cry;
I am not there, I did not die.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by
