

Crowd out to mark Earth Hour Saturday

It was a packed house in the dark at Palgrave United Church Saturday night to mark Earth Hour. People on hand had no trouble having a good time with limited electricity. Chloe Simpson, 6, of Bolton was impressed with the Chocolate Fountain. Photos by Bill Rea

Luca Facchini, 10, of Bolton was working hard on this exercise bike to help provide power for some of the attractions.

Satya Robinson, of the Environmental Committee at Palgrave United Church, was decked out as The Flower Power Lady to greet people at the door for the Earth Hour observances.

Michelle Marino Drake of Bolton was helping her daughter Madeline Drake, 4, turn the crank to get the lights on the table to work.