R.F. HALL CELEBRATES 20 YEARS

Saturday saw plenty of celebrating and reminiscing at Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School in Caledon East, as the school marked its 20th anniversary. Head of Music Glyn Lloyd was conducting this band, made up of current students and alumni in performing a piece commissioned for the occasion, entitled Into the Hills. Turn to page A5 for more on the celebrations.

Town looking at $90 fine for idling more than two minutes

By Bill Rea

New rules envisioned by Town of Caledon staff will see excessive idling of vehicles being treated much like parking infractions.

That was one of the messages imparted last week at a public information meeting on the Town's proposed idling control bylaw.

The general prohibition in the draft bylaw states that no vehicle will be permitted to idle for more than two minutes over a one-hour period outdoors.

Municipal Energy Conservation Officer Jeremy Schembri told the meeting there is a list of exemptions being considered. They include emergency service vehicles, mobile work vehicles (like cement or garbage trucks), armoured vehicles, agricultural equipment, transit vehicles (when passengers are getting on and off) and vehicles that don't use fossil fuels while idling. Other exemptions could be vehicles that are undergoing diagnostic or repair work, vehicles in a parade, those that are transporting people with certain medical conditions (requiring heat or cool air), vehicles transporting cargo requiring heat or refrigeration and those stopped for traffic situations, like congestion, drive-thrus, etc.

Schembri said these suggested exemptions are typical in other jurisdictions. He added more than 20 municipalities in Ontario have idling bylaws. This one has been compiled from what Town staff thought was best practices in these other places.

He said treating these infractions the same way as parking violations will allow tickets to be issued without the bother of having to get drivers' identification.

Schembri said fines assessed in other municipalities range from $50 to $150. He stated staff is suggesting $90, which is in line with the penalty for parking along a fire route.

The draft of the bylaw had been prepared to help ensure health, safety and well-being of both Caledon residents and the environment. Schembri added air quality can be expected to improve through the reduction of unnecessary idling, also pointing out there are hopes the bylaw will create greater awareness.

This will be the first time the Town has had any such regulations to directly dealing with idling, although the issue has been addressed previously. He cited Caledon's Noise Control Bylaw, which was passed in 1986 and which was potentially able to

Spirit Tree Cidery on PBS tonight

By Nick Fernandes

The Spirit Tree Cidery on Boston Mills Road in Caledon is going to be featured on the PBS show Off the Beaten Palate tonight (Thursday).

The show is part of an exploration of the food and farming of Ontario. Spirit Tree is now one of many locations to be covered for the show’s Discover Canada theme.

“It’s humbling and exciting,” commented proprietor Nicole Judge. “(Spirit Tree) hasn’t been featured on shows south of the border before, we’re being shown alongside higher end places in Niagara.”

Judge started out with the ownership of an orchard and farm market with her husband, Thomas Wilson, until they decided to branch out into baking by taking courses at George Brown College and Le Cordon Bleu Chef School in Ottawa, as well as a trip to Paris to learn even more about breadmaking.

They then sought to learn the craft of cider making by travelling to the United Kingdom and taking courses taught by internationally recognized names in cider. They returned to make a living selling the beverage that they love, and buying up a new property on Boston Mills Road.

“We get people who hike, bike and ride horses coming into the cidery,” she said, describing the picturesque setting of their establishment and orchard of 2,500 trees, surrounded by acres of Caledon farmland.

Spirit Tree is also home to a plethora of breads, pastries, pizzas and pies made in an in-house bakery with slow fermentation and natural starters using a wood-fired oven that burns throughout the day without the use of gas. All goods are made with local ingredients whenever possible, the proprietors prefer to rely on Peel Region farms, and cook and ferment their products all in-house.

Off the Beaten Palate is a food and travel show hosted by New Brunswick born journalist Michael-Ann Rowe and broadcasted by PBS. The show features cuisine from cultures all over the world, but Rowe doesn’t just cover the food itself. The ingredients and preparation, all the way from the farm to the plate, get a great deal of attention as she attempts to get as close to the real source as she can.

The show will put the spotlight on the agriculture of the Golden Horseshoe and the Niagara Escarpment as a whole, and what goes into the apple’s that gives Spirit Tree it’s featured Crab Apple, Pub Cider and Ice Wine Cider that will be the subjects of the show alongside one of Spirit Tree’s new pizzas.

The show will be broadcast on PBS out of Detroit tonight (Thursday), starting at 7:30 p.m.

Check out the 153rd annual Caledon Fair this weekend

The 153rd annual Caledon Fair kicks off this weekend (June 7, 8 and 9), with all the crowd favourites plus some special new acts and entertainment befitting one of Ontario's oldest agricultural fairs.

Daily magic shows, a petting zoo, pony rides and the Cedar Glen YMCA Kids Games will keep the small-fry happy, while Mom bops to renowned Elvis impersonator and two-time festival champion Glen Aitchesen and Dad hits the driver's seat for the Lawn Tractor games after perusing antique tractor and equipment displays. Even the family pet has a role at this year's Fair, with Sunday's Bring Your Own Pet Show. The crowd-engaging K9 Agility Dogs and two days of equestrian competition will provide plenty of action for sport fans and wannabes.

Twenty-eight students from Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School competed in the annual Caledon Fair poster competition, with 16 year old Alex Sincennes' artwork selected by the jury. His piece was chosen for its "Big Picture" vision in what has become an annual tradition of the Fair.

With more than 1,000 competitions, including dairy and beef cattle, home baking and crafts, plus midway rides, a Giant Truck and Tractor Pull Friday evening and Lawn Tractor Challenge Saturday afternoon, followed by a country hoe-down barbecue, an all-breeds horse show, the Agricultural Awareness Pavilion and Heavy Horse Pull Sunday, there is something for everyone at the 153rd Caledon Fair.

The Caledon Fair is owned and managed by volunteers of the Caledon Agricultural Society (CAS), a registered charity which includes SnowFest (February Family Day) and Canada Day Strawberry Festival (July 1). All proceeds raised during events are dedicated to the refurbishment and maintenance of the Caledon Fairgrounds on Highway 10 in Caledon village.

For more information, visit www.caledonfairgrounds.ca

Alex Sincennes' creation was selected by the jury as the winner in the Caledon Fair poster competition. He is seen here with Tim Forster, first vice-president of the Caledon Agricultural Society, and his teacher Denise Chuck.

Police forces team to target aggressive driving on Highway 10

Four police agencies are teaming up and targeting aggressive drivers along the 170 km stretch of Highway 10 from Mississauga to Owen Sound.

The Caledon detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP), Shelburne Police Service, Peel Regional Police and Owen Sound Police are teaming up for this initiative, labeled “Project 10-4,” in recognition of the four services working together. In police jargon, “10-4” refers to “message understood, received and acknowledged.” From 2011 to 2012 there have been over 560 motor vehicle collisions on the portions of the OPP-patrolled Highway 10.

The project is about education, awareness and enforcement in the hopes of changing those statistics.

“This initiative will reinforce the need to educate the public on the dangers of displaying aggressive driving behaviors on our roadways,” said Caledon Detachment Commander Inspector Rose Di-Marco “All police agencies are committed to reducing the number of vehicle collisions, injuries and deaths on our highways and we are pleased to partner with our neighboring police partners to get the message across.”

Motorists will notice the increased police presence during the week on June 10 to 14 monitoring aggressing driving behaviours that include, but are not limited to, speeding, inattentive driving, seat belt enforcement and the move-over legislation.

HOUSE FIRE SUNDAY ON KING
Caledon Fire and Emergency Services reports there were no injuries after this house on King Street, west of Torbram Road, caught fire Sunday afternoon. The fire department reports it got the 9-1-1 call at about 5:46 p.m. Crews from the Caledon East station responded and found heavy smoke from the bungalow when they arrived. They started an offensive fire attack and initiated a rural water shuttle operation. Crews briefly withdrew from the interior of the house because of the heavy heat and zero visibility. Once outside, the structure was ventilated and the main body of fire was knocked down. Crews re-entered the house to initiate a primary search and conduct overhaul operations. The cause of the fire is under investigation. Damage is estimated at $400,000

Road watch planned for Southfields Community Area

Members of the Caledon ROAD WATCH Committee and members from the Caledon Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) will be conducting a community canvass in the Southfields community area during the evening of Monday, June 24th, 2013.

Caledon officers and ROAD WATCH committee members will be going door-to-door between 6:30 pm and 8:00 pm speaking with Southfields community members to promote the ROAD WATCH program and to assist identifying traffic safety concerns.

ROAD WATCH is a community-based road safety program in the Town of Caledon that works with the police to target dangerous and aggressive driving through awareness, education and enforcement.

ROAD WATCH provides community members the opportunity to report dangerous and aggressive driving through an on-line reporting system that is directly provided to the police for follow-up actions.

The Caledon ROAD WATCH Committee is looking for community members to become involved with the program in the future.

The Caledon OPP Detachment is committed to reducing the number of vehicle collisions, injuries and deaths on our highways and is pleased to partner with the ROAD WATCH Committee for this purpose.

Robert F. Hall School celebrates 20 years in the community

By Bill Rea

It was a time for celebrating 20 years Saturday at Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School in Caledon East.

The school was decked out to mark the anniversary, as staff and students, both present and from the past, were on hand.

The events included a Mass, sporting events (pitting students against alumni), an open house, entertainment and a ceremony in the gym.

The highlight of that ceremony was the premier of a musical composition commissioned for the occasion by Ryan Meeboer, which was performed by a band made up of current members and alumni.

Head of Music Glyn Lloyd said the piece is called Into the Hills, and was aimed at reflecting the environment of the school and the Caledon hills, which is depicted on the school's crest.

Principal Ed McMahon observed that Hall was "the founding Catholic School in the Caledon-Orangeville area."

"We remember our motto, 'To know, to love and to serve God.'"

The school was named after Bob Hall, who chaired the school board for many years, and was the long time trustee for Caledon and Dufferin. He died in 1989.

His oldest son Doug spoke, commenting that the opening of the school made his father's dream for local Catholic education a reality.

Trustee Frank DiCosola brought greetings from the Dufferin-Peel Catholic District School Board.

"Twenty years seem to have passed very quickly," he observed as he praised the committed relationship between home school and church for the successes over that time.

Superintendent Paul McMorow was the first vice-principal at the school, and he recalled the time as "absolutely magical."

He also said the first principal, Jon Austin, and the staff at the time were passionate about the students and Catholic education, and that commitment is still part of the school community.

"We're very, very proud of this community and very, very proud of the things it's done and things it will continue to do," he declared.

Sheralyn Roman, representing the school council, thanked those parents who went before, serving on the council in the earlier days of the school. She said the involvement of parents adds up to student and school success.

"We're the country school that meets your big city aspirations," she added.

Austin said he spent the last four years of his career in education at Hall.

The school actually started in 1992 with eight department heads and moved into the current facility in 1995.

Students were housed at Notre Dame Secondary School in Brampton, and many of them didn't want to head north when the new school opened. Austin said those who ended up making the trip had their best school experiences at Hall.

"It was a wonderful experience," he said.

"Keep the faith," he added. "Faith in people will get you a long way."

Displays of memorabilia were all over the halls of the school Saturday. Former Hall teachers Nicole Indelicate (also a graduate of the Class of '04) and Andrea Schrei (Class of '99) were looking over this display with current teacher Darren Morrison.

Trustee Frank DiCosola, Principal Ed McMahon and Superintendent Paul McMorow helped unveil this model of the school building, which was created by the design class.

Jenny McMahon, Suzanne Ropitzky, Tausha Hanna and Teresa Culpeper made up the choir that performed the Liturgy.

Doug Hall represented the Hall family at Saturday's celebration.

Sign up to get emailed updates on West Nile Virus activity in Peel

Peel Public Health will be giving residents the opportunity to be notified by email this year on West Nile Virus activity in the region.

“The email notifications will list areas in Peel where positive West Nile Virus activity has been found,” commented Peel’s Director of Environmental Health Paul Callanan. “Knowing where West Nile Virus is present will help residents decide if they should take extra precautions to protect themselves against infection.”

To reduce the chance of being bitten by a mosquito, residents are encouraged to avoid areas with high mosquito populations and take extra precautions at dusk and dawn, when mosquitoes are most active; wear light-coloured clothing that covers exposed skin, such as long sleeves, pants and a hat; and use insect repellent and follow the manufacturer’s instructions.

“There are things residents can do now to help prevent West Nile Virus, including removing or draining items around their property that can hold stagnant water,” Callanan observed. “Water that is stagnant for over seven days is an ideal breeding site for mosquitoes, especially as the weather gets warmer. With residents’ help, we can reduce the mosquito population and reduce the risk of West Nile Virus infection in Peel.”

Residents can report stagnant water sites to Peel Public Health at 905-799-7700 or online at peel-bugbite.ca

Peel Public Health’s 2013 WNV prevention program, which began this week, includes collecting and testing adult mosquitoes weekly, and monitoring stagnant water sites on public property for mosquito larvae. If larvae are found, an environmentally friendly larvicide will be used to eliminate the larvae. Peel Public Health will also complete three rounds of larviciding in roadside catch basins throughout Peel.

For more information about how to eliminate mosquito breeding sites, and protection from WNV, visit peel-bugbite.ca or call Peel Public Health at 905-584-2216.

Averton Common in Kleinburg 50% sold on first preview weekend

Averton Common, an upscale new condominium community, opened in Kleinburg this past weekend and over 50% of the project’s 34 condominium villas were quickly sold.

Located within the historic village of Kleinburg, directly across from the renowned McMichael Art Gallery, Averton Common is an exclusive enclave of 34 condominium villas that blend elegance and sophistication with a warm, rural charm.

The condominiums are accommodated within three interconnected buildings – each distinctive yet complementary in its design. Also incorporated within the site plan is The Martin Smith House, a Victorian-style heritage home originally built in 1852 and which will soon serve as an amenities area.

From its landscaped entrance to its heritage-inspired architecture, Averton Common fits its natural surroundings like a glove. Many suites overlook a lush ravine and the meandering Humber River – a view homeowners will enjoy from their patio or balcony, or while strolling the property’s grounds and gardens.

Luxurious one and two storey residences range from 755 to over 1,700 square feet and are tastefully appointed with superb features and finishes throughout. Soaring 9’ ceilings add a sense of grandeur, and kitchens are appointed with European style cabinetry, complemented by granite or quartz countertops, ceramic or glass mosaic backsplashes, and stainless steel appliances.

Builder-developer Averton Homes has provided residents with a range of lifestyle amenities for “the art of living well”, including a yoga studio and fitness centre with state-of-the-art equipment located in the Mill House building. In the Martin Smith House, there is a party room with a full catering kitchen, a lounge and a games room, while tucked away on the lower level is a wine room with private wine storage lockers and tasting area.

Averton Common is not only at the doorstep of the famous McMichael Gallery but also within a short walk of restaurants, and minutes away from prestigious golf courses and the Boyd Conservation Area. Excellent shopping can be found nearby at Vaughan Mills Shopping Centre, Woodbridge SmartCentre and of the quaint shops of Kleinburg itself, along with easy access to Highways 7, 407 and 400.

Suites at Averton Common range in price from the high $500’s to over $1 million. An excellent selection of units remain but the tremendous success of the launch means the opportunity to purchase at the new Kleinburg community won’t last much longer.

Presentation Centre now open: 10384 Islington Avenue, Kleinburg or visit us online at www.avertoncommon.com or call 416-646-9898.

All sales office and touchscreen technology handled by G. Ryan Design in Toronto.

Notice of Public Meetings Proposed Official Plan Amendment

You are invited to attend an Open House and a Public Information Meeting to consider a Town of Caledon initiated Official Plan Amendment (OPA), Planning file 2013-066, related to agriculture and environmental policies. Your attendance at these meetings is important as it is your opportunity to learn about the OPA and provide comments for staff to consider in making its recommendations to Council on the amendment. The meetings are scheduled as follows:

Open House	Public Information Meeting
Date: June 10, 2013	June 19, 2013
Time: 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.	7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.
Place: Caledon Community Complex 6215 Old Church Road Caledon East L7C 1J7	Council Chambers, Town Hall 6311 Old Church Road Caledon East L7C 1J6

Purpose & Effect of Proposed Amendment
The purpose of the Town initiated Official Plan Amendment is to:

- Revise policies and mapping in OPA 179 and 206 to eliminate conflicts between the two OPAs and ensure that affected lands are appropriately designated as intended.
- Update policies related to OPA 179 to facilitate the development of agriculture-related industrial and commercial uses.

Additional Information
A copy of the staff report, draft Official Plan Amendment and related maps about the proposed amendment are available to the public prior to the Open House and Public Information Meeting at the Development Approval and Planning Policy Department, Town Hall during regular business hours, Monday to Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Please contact Ohi Izirein, Senior Policy Planner, at 905.584.2272 x.4271 or ohi.izirein@caledon.ca if you require any additional information.

Notification
If you wish to be notified of the adoption of the proposed official plan amendment or the refusal of a request to amend the Official Plan, you must make written request to the Clerk of the Town of Caledon, 6311 Old Church Road, Caledon, Ontario L7C 1J6.

Appeal Procedure (Bill 51)
If a person or public body does not make oral submissions at the Public Information Meeting or make a written submission to the Corporation of the Town of Caledon before the proposed Official Plan Amendment is adopted, the person or public body is not entitled to appeal the decision of the Town of Caledon to the Ontario Municipal Board.

If a person or public body does not make oral submissions at the Public Information Meeting or make written submissions to the Corporation of the Town of Caledon before the proposed Official Plan Amendment is adopted, the person or public body may not be added as a party to the hearing of an appeal before the Ontario Municipal Board unless, in the opinion of the Board, there are reasonable grounds to add the person or public body as a party.

Notice Dated: May 29, 2013.

Public Open House #3 Bolton Residential Expansion Study

The Town of Caledon is conducting the Bolton Residential Expansion Study (BRES) to determine where and how to accommodate the residential and population-related employment growth anticipated for the Bolton area beyond 2021.

The Town has hosted two other Public Open Houses for the BRES:

- On November 27, 2012, the Town held Public Open House #1 to introduce the BRES to residents, landowners, stakeholders and interested parties.
- On February 28, 2013, the Town held Public Open House #2 to present six options for the settlement area boundary expansion and to seek public input on the draft criteria for the selection of future expansion area(s).

Public Open House #3

You are invited to attend Public Open House #3 for the Bolton Residential Expansion Study to:

- receive an update on the Study, and
- review and provide comments on the preferred option for the settlement area boundary expansion to be presented at the meeting based on the evaluation criteria endorsed by Council on May 14, 2013.

The Public Open House #3 for the BRES is scheduled to be held on:

DATE:	June 12, 2013
TIME:	7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.
PLACE:	Caledon Centre for Recreation and Wellness, 14111 Hwy 50, Bolton, ON L7E 2V2

Should the preferred option be endorsed by Council, the Town will initiate a planning process aimed at meeting all requirements of the Planning Act. The community and all interested parties will continue to be invited to participate in the Study through future public open houses, design charrettes, and a statutory public meeting during key stages of the process. Details of the study progress can be found on the project webpage at the Town’s website: www.caledon.ca.

Town staff is confident a $90 fine will deter excessive idling deal with audible idling. There was also a community awareness campaign in 2008, which included information on the effects of idling, as well as the erection of “Idle-Free Zone” signs at schools and all Town facilities. He also referred to the development of the Caledon Community Climate Change Action Plan, which included a recommendation for such a bylaw. Surveys have been conducted at various events around town, and Schembri said they indicate 94 per cent of respondents support a bylaw.

There have been comments regarding these proposals from some local agencies. The Dufferin-Peel Catholic District

School Board expressed concern that diesel engines require more time to warm up than the two minutes this bylaw proposes. Schembri said that’s a common concern, adding the consensus is that’s a myth.

The board also wondered about vehicles queuing at schools to pick up kids. Schembri said there are no planned concerns with vehicles that are loading, but if they are there early and idling while waiting for kids, there would be no exemption.

He also said school vehicles transporting students with health needs would be exempt.

Peel Public Health had some issues, including how things will be enforced in extreme weather. Schembri said that will be open to interpretation.

The Cavalier Group of Companies had some concerns pertaining to the fact that fully pressurizing a large tractor can take three to five minutes. Schembri said such matters are governed by the Highway Traffic Act, and those provisions would be followed.

He told councillor Richard Paterak the bylaw would not preclude making sure a vehicle is in good condition before going out on the road.

Schembri also agreed with Paterak that the provisions dealing with exemptions for vehicles that are disabled or snowbound could be more clearly stated in the bylaw.

Paterak was also concerned about the time required to warm up a school bus in winter. He didn’t want kids sitting on cold buses for prolonged periods.

Schembri told Councillor Rob Mezzapelli Mississauga officials delved into the matter of kids sitting on cold buses, and concluded they would be dressed for winter anyway, so having them wait a few minutes for things to get warm was not seen as unreasonable.

Councillor Allan Thompson said he’s observed some farm vehicles need more than four minutes to warm up. “I think common sense has to prevail,” he said, adding he didn’t see the need to worry about a couple of minutes of idling. It’s the cases that go for half an hour or more that are the concern.

Schembri agreed, but added setting a definite time limit aids enforcement.

Schembri told Councillor Nick deBoer this bylaw would be enforced on private property too.

DeBoer raised the issue of auctions, where vehicles being sold can spend long periods in queues. Schembri said that would fall under the congestion situation.

Mezzapelli was glad to see the provision for officers having discretion when it comes to enforcement. He also wanted to see some sort of education campaign. Schembri agreed. “The success of this bylaw requires education,” he said.

Councillor Patti Foley wondered if a $90 fine would really be a deterrent. Schembri said it works when it comes to people parking on fire routes.

Board will discuss Caledon East busing at meeting this Tuesday

By Bill Rea

The discussion on school busing at Caledon East Public School has been put off until next week.

Peel District School Board trustees had been slated to discuss the issue at their meeting last week. But local Trustee Stan Cameron instead put forth a notice of motion, calling for the current busing service to be maintained. Trustees are expected to discuss that at their session this coming Tuesday (June 11).

Parents are concerned because Student Transportation of Peel Region (STOPR), the consortium that decides busing eligibility issues for Peel’s two school boards, had announced that busing would be cancelled for students living north of Larry Street and east of Airport Road in Caledon East. A group of parents, led by Adam Martin-Robbins, were at the May 14 meeting, expressing their concerns about youngsters have to walk to school along a busy street like Airport Road. He also handed over a petition with 283 signatures, asking that the service remain.

Cameron’s motion stressed the importance of the safety of children, adding busing has “historically been provided to Caledon East Public School students living north of Larry Street.” It also referred to “considerable anxiety among parents” over the safety of kids walking to school. As well, the motion stated that STOPR staff have been unable to answer questions and concerns about why this walking route to school is currently identified on their public computer system, as a “hazard.”

Cameron is calling for an exception to be made regarding eligibility and reinstate the busing for the affected students, effective this September.

Prayer will be topic at next Lifetree

The next session of Lifetree Café, set for this coming Wednesday (June 12) will deal with the topic of Prayer — Could a conversation with God change your life?

The program, will feature an exclusive filmed interview with former PGA golf pro Wally Armstrong, who found an unusual way to make his prayers more meaningful.

“There’s a new level,” commented Armstrong, who is also the author of The Muligan: A Parable of Second Chances. “I was a believer in prayer, but I found there’s a big difference between believing something is true, and experiencing something is real.”

The program will run fro one hour, from 7 until 8 p.m., and admission is free. Lifetree Café is at 6025 Old Church Road in Caledon East, in the café space in St James’ Church.

Lifetree Café is a place where people gather for conversation about life and faith in a casual coffeehouse-type setting. Questions about Lifetree may be directed to Bruce Neville at 416-579-9977 or Desiree Neville at 416-579-6748.

☞ There are lots and lots of ways to support your hospital. ☞

Want to support the Commitment to Care Campaign?
Go for an endurance run. Host a hockey tournament.
Or a bake sale. Or – well, you get the idea.

Every year, the residents of our community think of extraordinary ways to raise funds to support our local hospital. Cody Gillies’s End to End Challenge raised over $35,000, for example, and the Jennifer Widbur Memorial Hockey Tournament raised $45,000 this year. But there are also smaller ways, of course, to contribute – we receive donations from bake sales, car washes, birthday parties, fun runs and more. If you have an idea for a fundraising event to support the Commitment to Care Campaign, visit hhcfoundation.com/events or call (519) 941-2702 ext. 2303. We’d love to hear all about it. We all have a good reason to donate. What’s yours?

Editorial
Does anyone really benefit from political attack ads?

A Liberal MP, Kevin Lamoureux from Winnipeg, has put forth a private member's bill that would require party leaders to stand by and take responsibility for advertisements they issue. That would apply for attack ads too.
There have to be some serious questions asked as to whether attack ads help the political process, or is it more accurate to say they bring the process into scorn?
It is true that despite all the high sounding ideals that those in politics offer us, the world in which they live is really a game of proverbial hard ball. That means there are going to be cheap shots, as well as the ones that legitimately raise issues that need to be addressed. It is also true that some people have a hard time telling the difference between the legitimate and the cheap. And it's also true that if a politician or political movement cannot deal with harsh, and even undeserved criticism, they should find some other line of endeavour to devote their time to.
But if we think of the track record of attack ads, one can find two sides. They can sometimes work, but that's not always the case.
Recall the 1993 federal election, when the Progressive Conservatives put out an ad making reference to the facial paralysis of then Liberal Leader Jean Chretien. History records that strategy backfired, big time.
Perhaps we don't need legislation to control attack ads. Maybe what we need is political leadership that thinks before it acts.
But there are some who might argue we're really dreaming.

Councillors are well-informed about application

Last Tuesday (May 28), the Town held a Public Information Meeting (PIM) as prescribed by the Planning Act.
PIMs are formal meetings that follow a set procedure. Town staff makes a presentation on the subject development application. This is followed by a further presentation by the applicant. The public is then invited to ask questions or make comments. After all public questions and comments are made, council members may ask questions of clarification. As noted in the prepared statement read by the chair at every PIM, councillors are not to give any positive or negative comments on the application or answer questions. Council members are present to hear the concerns and questions of residents and the answers offered by staff and the applicant or the applicant's consultants.
Regular attendees of PIMs would know that sometimes members of council ask questions of clarification and on other occasions they do not. At the Canadian Tire PIM of May 28, no councillor posed a question of clarification. This was the second PIM held on this application as a result of a request from the public for more public input and more information from the applicant. Councillors have had the opportunity to attend two PIMs as well as informal community meetings since this application was made to the Town. Councillors are very well informed on this application.
The public questions were at times not relevant to a Planning Act application. For instance, council cannot make requirements for local employment or consider the potential deterioration of a purpose built truck route. The moderator often noted that the question being posed was beyond the scope of a planning application evaluation.
Good public input often results in changes to the application, changes which are seen as reasonable by the Town and the applicant. Comments from the PIM may also focus staff's attention on data and statements of applicant which will cause staff to take a closer look at what has been presented.
Unfortunately what occurred at the May 28 meeting was the spectacle of some members of the public in attendance repeatedly interrupting the proceedings with shouts and jeers often with irrelevant requests. Members of the public continually shouted to councillors to state their opinion.

Keep the Senate as it is

At my advanced age, and after almost 30 years in this business, I'm happy to report there are still things that surprise me.
As you have undoubtedly noticed, we have been running weekly opinion polls in the Citizen for the last couple of years. These are not formal polls, on the level of Gallup or Ipsos Reid, and they aren't meant to be. They are by no means to be taken as scientific reflections of public opinion (I would have no idea how to go about creating such a poll). They are simply reflections of the people who oblige us by responding on the Citizen's Website (www.caledoncitizen.com). And the more, the merrier.
Last week's question, to refresh your memory, was "Do you think the Canadian Senate should be abolished?"
It is a fact that I thought up that question all by myself, and the editors of a couple of other community newspapers affiliated with the Citizen picked it up. I guess it just goes to show that these editors know quality when they see it, and they know me.
The question was prompted by the recent scandals involving the Upper House of Canada's Parliament, particularly those suggesting that some members may have been a bit too enthusiastic when it comes to belying up to the proverbial trough.
I chose the question because I thought it was topical, and I also figured that given the latest controversy, there would be quite a call to close the Red Chamber down, for good.
Thus I was surprised last Monday morning when I went through the process of checking the results of the poll, and found that roughly 80 per cent were opposed to abolishing the Senate. Although I didn't have any preconceived notions on what the numbers would show, those results did catch me a little off guard.
I checked the results of the same poll question in the King Weekly Sentinel, which serves neighbouring King Township, and learned that keeping the Senate had the support of 43 per cent of respondents. Those figures were a little less surprising.
The results gathered by the Orangeville Citizen were radically different, and actually not at all surprising. They reported 79 per cent of those responding want to see the Senate tossed. People in the Orangeville office were just about as puzzled at the results as I was. I even received a phone call from up north to verify that I had checked the results carefully. I had, and I had a simple explanation for the variance in the numbers.
"I guess people in Caledon are smarter," I told him, "because I frankly think getting rid of the Senate is a stupid idea."
By the way, remember where you read that Caledon people are smarter.
Having studied the workings of government through the public education system (some form of training in that regard was there in my day, for the benefit of those who were interested), followed by three years in university lecture halls supposedly learning about some of the deep thinking involved in politics, and then enhanced by almost three decades of actually watching some of these practitioners at work, I will admit my mind has changed about the Canadian Senate. There were years when I had a dreadful time figuring out what the point was of having such a body.
I would wonder who these people report to.

Bill Rea

In any other political office, the holder has constituents.
But our form of government in Canada has been running a federal union here for going on 150 years. It's based on institutions that were presumably established by guys who knew what they were doing. Add to that the fact that we got along okay for more than 100 years without even a written constitution.
So I think that a person's position on Senate abolition, or even reform, is likely to change if they start considering why it was created in the first place.
The line we always hear is it's supposed to be a chamber of "sober second thought" on legislation, and someone is going to have to do a lot of talking before they'll sell me on what's wrong with that. And senators have the ability to initiate and amend legislation.
About 20 years ago, there was talk that the Senate, which was dominated by Liberals at the time, might use their influence and numbers in the Upper House to block the implementation of the GST. Now whatever one may have thought about the GST (and considering that governments have changed over the years and the GST is still here, I think we can safely say that both Liberals and Conservatives are fans of it), the fact is the duly-elected government of Brian Mulroney came up with GST, and they had the mandate to bring it in.
That is the closest example I can think of in which senators might have abused their position. Beyond that, I think it's a pretty safe bet that senators generally know their place.
Despite cynical comments, that are very easy to make about almost anyone, I don't think senators are a bunch of dummies. They know they are not elected, thus they know they have very limited business getting in the way of the elected members of the House of Commons.
So that leads to the question of why do we have a Senate.
My response is it's a legislative body that reflects the regional diversity of this country, and that is important. There is lots of wealth, along with vocal clout in Alberta. But in terms of population, the numbers are lacking. There's got to be some mechanism to get their regional voice heard in Ottawa.
There are those who say Senators should be elected, and I will grant there is some merit to the idea, along with a lot of flaws.
In our Parliamentary democracy, it's the elected members of the House of Commons (the prime minister being one of them) who are supposed to run things, and they do, largely because they are the only elected game in town. But if we have senators with electoral mandates from constituents hanging around, they are going to insist, with lots of justification, on having a certain amount of clout.
Then who heads our government? The prime minister derives his authority from his control of the Commons. If we have an elected Senate, who becomes our main guy on the world stage?
Now that's not to say there isn't room for improvement in the way the Senate is run. While I think it's important to carry on with it being an appointed body, there are some adjustments that might work. Limiting the length of terms is probably a good step in the right direction, be it six, eight, 10 or whatever number of years. In that event, there can be no reappointments. The last thing this country needs is to have a bunch of senators approaching the end of their terms trying to butter-up the PM.
Besides, having an appointed Senate means there's a chance that you or, more importantly, I will get an appointment one of these days. I have something to look forward to.

Mayor has five great reasons for eating locally grown and produced food

What do you think the Top Five Reasons for eating locally might be? Here's what I think they are.

Taste and Nutrition: Locally grown and produced food is fresher, tastier and more nutritious than imported foods. This is primarily because it takes less time to travel between the farm and the consumer. For produce in particular, this means that it is picked when fully ripe — and not before. Studies have also shown that many foods lose their nutritional value with storage and transport.

Farmland Preservation: Supporting local farmers helps to make their farm businesses more viable, which contributes to preserving the beautiful farmlands and rural flavour of our area.

The Local Economy: Money spent on

Mayor's Report

By Marolyn Morrison

local food circulates within our local economy, strengthening the community for all of us.

Food Safety: Ontario food is produced to some of the highest food safety standards in the world.

Sustainability: In this era of environmental stewardship and responsibility, it is important we all do our part to ensure sustainable solutions are used in our day-to-day lives. Consuming locally produced foods is a “three-times-a-day” step in the right direction!

Caledon Farmers’ Market, which opens June 8 this year, has been bringing locally grown and produced foods and items to the residents and visitors of Caledon since 2009. The Market is open Saturdays (rain or shine), June 8 through to Oct. 12, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., and features a diverse assortment of foods, artwork and crafts.

The market operates at the Albion-Bolton Fairgrounds at 150 Queen St. South in Bolton. It is a “first producers” market, allowing residents and visitors the opportunity to sample and purchase locally-produced goods directly from the source. Each week includes a different food-oriented theme and the Market Sprouts Club offers weekly activities like face painting, colouring sheets, crafts, games and other programming for children age 12 years and younger. Events such as culinary demonstrations and live music are also regularly scheduled.

There is always plenty to see, taste and do at the Caledon Farmers’ Market. I look forward to seeing you there!

Proposed Canadian Tire development ‘a public relations mess’

The May 28 public information meeting (PIM), required by the Planning Act, for the Canadian Tire distribution and office complex was run by a “moderator” from outside of town, acting for all of council and staff.

The moderator barely referred to members of council, who he said were forbidden by the Planning Act to make any statements at the meeting. There are no provisions in the Planning Act governing the conduct of members of a council. The moderator threatened at least three times at the beginning of the meeting to have people removed by police if he, the moderator, deemed it appropriate. No criteria were given for what conduct would justify such an extraordinary action thwarting a legislated democratic process under the Planning Act. Threats of citizens’ forcible removal by police were a clear attempt at intimidation.

By comparison, Caledon citizens become quite outspoken at gravel strip mine meetings, when faced with poor air quality, increased noise, heavy truck trips, potential loss of ground water and lost property values, but I have never seen police or a threat of ejection at a gravel PIM over the last 34 years.

The moderator set up a presentation system designed to limit open public input at the PIM, wherein Town staff and the proponent’s staff and consultants were allowed the majority of presentation time while individual members of the public were only allowed to pose two questions, in the interests of “limited” time. The proponent’s consultants, Town and Region staff were invited to respond to questions by the public but the citizens were then told if they wished to clarify the consultant/staff response they would have to go to the back of the line and start over. This moderator’s tactic effectively meant consultants and staff could respond to questions anyway they pleased without concern for challenges. The entire PIM was designed to control the narrative and limit the issues open for discussion.

Presentations by municipal staff and consultants for the proponent were sadly superficial, as were the answers provided to questions posed by members of the public. The issues of major concern to the public were noise, air quality and the volume of truck trips generated by the proposal. These are important health and safety issues to the public, but the cumulative, superficial responses by municipal staff and proponent’s consultants led to a general lack of confidence among members of the public in attendance. Members of council said nothing.

So here we have Caledon, an urban fringe municipality with a pressing need for industrial/commercial assessment on the one hand, and Canadian Tire, probably the most important Canadian owned and best managed retail company in Canada with very strong community involvement, looking for a site suitable for a state of the art, 138,810 square metre distribution centre and associated offices on the other, and both involved in a public relations mess. Canadian Tire executives must be completely confused and discouraged at this point and that is a bad thing. Interested members of the Caledon public are concerned and have no confidence in their council or staff and that is a bad thing.

Ian G. Sinclair,
former Caledon councillor (1994-2003)

Good decisions don’t come from a ‘shouting match’

judgment after all input has occurred and been evaluated.

Staff will now take all questions and answers from both PIMs and insure that all of this public input is included in the staff report that will be written for presentation to council. This report will include a recommendation to either approve the application or deny it. It is at the meeting where the staff report is presented that members of council are given the opportunity to freely question and comment on the application and on the report. Staff will evaluate the report on the basis of Town and provincial policies. A key part of staff’s analyses is an evaluation of all reports and the peer reviews or staff review of reports that has occurred. Ultimately, it is council’s decision to approve or deny, but this must be done in the context of whether or not the applicant has met all the requirements of the Town and the Province. The public is welcome to delegate the council meeting to ask further questions or state their opinion.

As a councillor, I value public participation. But as in any conversation, calm and respect need to be part of the process. Good decisions are not made in the midst of a shouting match. They are made calmly, with reflection on what the rules of the process are, what can and cannot be part of the evaluation and with respect to the rights of all parties. We cannot change the rules because we do not like an application. Council and staff are obligated to reflect on an application in the context of meeting the relevant policies that are in force. The rule of planning law relies on fairness of process and fairness in deliberation of the merits of a given matter. I hope we all agree on that.

Richard Paterak
Regional Councillor, Ward 1
Town of Caledon

He devoted his life to killing unborn babies

Abortionist Henry Morgentaler is dead. For those of us who believe that life is the most cherished value of all, the death of somebody – even somebody who devoted his life to killing unborn babies – is not something to be celebrated.

But for those of us fortunate enough to have been born – and thus escape the abortionists of this world – death is a natural part of life. For the tens of thousands of unborn babies who fell under Morgentaler’s deadly scalpel, however, life was apparently not an option. He lived a long, full life. They didn’t get a chance.

And because of that, many consider him a hero. Not me.

Yes, Morgentaler had tough times. Very tough. As you likely know, he was taken to Auschwitz by the Nazis, where he had to endure the worst of human conditions. He saw his father, mother and sister murdered by the Nazis. It doesn’t get much worse.

Clearly, that kind of seminal event is bound to have a profound impact upon anyone who survives it.

In a 2003 Globe and Mail profile written by journalist Heather Mallick – now a the so-called “pro-choice” movement – the unborn doesn’t get a choice in this scenario – managed to turn Canada into the only country in the world with absolutely no restrictions whatsoever on abortion.

Every other country, even some of the most “liberal” European countries, have some limits on abortion.

But not Canada. No siree. Killing season is open year round and as a result, about 100,000 unborn babies are killed each year.

(It might even be more, but many governments in Canada, including Ontario’s, no longer hand out abortion statistics on the specious claim that they are protecting “privacy.” Whose privacy? We don’t want names and addresses, just numbers. They hand out every other number. Why not abortion? Could it be they’re ashamed of themselves? They should be.)

Hoy
National Affairs

In her Saturday Star column in praise of “the closest male friend I’ve ever had,” Mallick, typically, dismissed the “anti-choice” (read pro-life) crowd as haters.

“But the anti-choicers – all of whom presumably have a dozen children each, as their religions expect – have brought the U.S. battle against abortion to Canada,” she writes.

Talk about hateful blather. Wow.

What’s more, the U.S. didn’t invent the battle against abortion. Thousands of dedicated and loving Canadians have been carrying that fight for decades – and no, they all aren’t religious and don’t have a dozen children each.

I’m not sure what religion it is that demands a dozen kids, but that’s the kind of smear you have to expect from those who see themselves as more humane, as guardians of civil rights, when they cavalierly dismiss anyone who does not worship at their particular altar.

In a much more balanced view of Morgentaler, journalist Catherine Dunphy, author of a Morgentaler book – and a fan of his, and friend of mine – wrote in the Sunday Star that Morgentaler obviously had a tremendous impact upon abortion law in Canada but was far from the saint his cheerleaders portray him as.

As for me, I debated Morgentaler more than once many, many years ago.

He certainly believed what he believed and the sad truth is, that tens of thousands of unborn babies paid the ultimate price for his beliefs.

I don’t cheer anybody’s death. Then again, I don’t celebrate injustice either.

PARTY MAGIC IS 25

There was a festive, if not party mood Saturday around Party Magic on Healey Road in Bolton. The occasion was the 25th anniversary of the store. Proprietor Keeley Campbell had lots of visitors to entertain with things like hotdogs and balloons, like Victoria Molloy, 2, from Schomberg and her sister Juliana, 4. Also on hand Sharon Dorney, Campbell’s son Brian Richards and Melissa Martin.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT STUDY

Notice of Public Information Centre #1

Airport Road from 1 Kilometre North of Mayfield Road to 0.6 Kilometre North of King Street

The Study

The Region of Peel is conducting a Schedule “C” Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (EA) in accordance with the Municipal Engineers Association’s Municipal Class EA process for improvements to Airport Road from 1 kilometre north of Mayfield Road to 0.6 kilometre north of King Street. The approximate limits of the project area are illustrated on the map.

The study will examine the need and feasibility for improvements to Airport Road to address the short and long term issues related to planned future growth, road design and function up to 2031.

The Process

The Class EA process includes:

- public and agency consultation;
- an evaluation of road improvement alternatives;
- an assessment of the possible environmental effects of the improvements; and,
- the identification of reasonable means to mitigate any adverse impacts.

Public Information Centre

Two Public Information Centres (PICs) are planned for this study. The first PIC will use an informal drop-in centre format with display boards to present the study background information including:

- a problem statement;
- an evaluation of planning alternatives; and,
- a recommended planning alternative.

The Project Team members will be present to answer questions and discuss the next steps in the study. The first PIC is scheduled for:

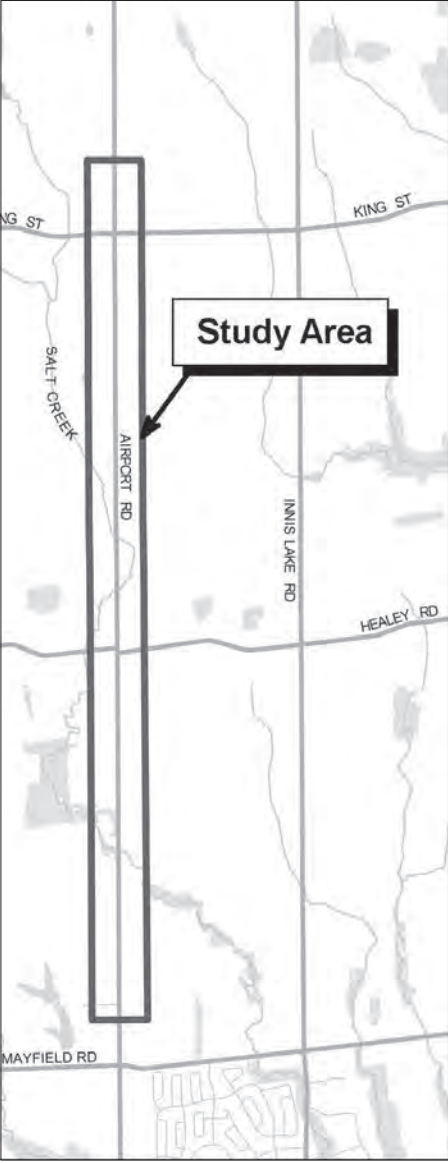

Date: Thursday, June 20, 2013
Time: 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m.
Location: Caledon Community Complex, 6215 Old Church Road

Comments and Information

Please visit our website: www.peelregion.ca/pw/transportation/envIRON-ASSess/airport-road-ea.htm for updates on this project. Comments and information regarding the study are being collected to assist the Region of Peel in meeting the requirements of the EA Act. This material will be maintained on file for use during the project and may be included in project documentation.

Jones opposes College of Trades

Speaking for skilled trade workers in her riding, Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones rose in the legislature recently to support a Progressive Conservative motion to abolish the College of Trades and its unfair fee schedule.

The fees are imposed on 157 trades across the province, according to a news release issued by Jones’ office.

“We have skilled trade workers in the province of Ontario who are already regulated and licensed,” said Jones. “All you’re doing with this College of Trades is creating more red-tape and an additional expense to trade workers’ ability to earn a living.”

“This College of Trades tax could actually make a difference between whether a skilled tradesperson stays in Ontario or moves to another province — which is shameful,” Jones added. “What we should be talking about in this chamber is how to grow jobs and how to make jobs.”

Jones said she has heard from many local skilled trade workers, employers and businesses who believe the mandatory annual fee is excessive. For some skilled trades, the fee represents an increase of 600 per cent, when compared to the previous amount of $20 a year to renew a certificate or qualification administered by the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities. These changes will have a negative impact on business and job creation and work against the promotion of skilled trades in Ontario.

The PC motion was defeated by a vote of 48 to 35.

“My PC colleagues and I believe that strengthening Ontario’s skilled trades is a key factor in getting Ontario’s economy growing again and, if elected, we will eliminate the College of Trades,” she said. “Ontario can lead this country in job creation again, but only if bold action is taken to reverse the current direction we are headed. The PC Caucus discussion paper, Paths to Prosperity: An Agenda for Growth, outlines a number of proposals for jobs and our economy.”

the cast.

“The parents are begging for us to do more shows,” she said.

In answer to this appeal, the Christmas show OMT is planning this year really involves the kids, on the design end of the show, too.

In Shrek, Silva said, “All the characters are played by people — some of them were puppets in the Broadway production. They’re all amazing.”

Craig Marshall, who starred in the Rocky Horror Show, plays the part of Shrek. Silva said that it is a “dream part for him.”

Generally, the OMT audition for their shows and people respond from all over the area. Marshall comes from Brampton, but others have come from Mississauga, travelling every week for rehearsals, along with amateur actors coming from Orangeville itself.

The story line is based on the first Shrek movie, featuring several characters from several fairy tales. It is a story with messages. There is Lord Farquaad, played by Adriano Bertuzzo, who wants to control everyone. He creates lots of problems for everyone else with his hostility and authoritarian ways. No doubt, he will be defeated — or mollified!

There is the Princess Fiona, played by Raeburn Ferguson, whom a witch turns into an ogre and who must learn that it is alright to be different or even odd; that beauty is appreciated in many different ways.

Silva was very enthusiastic about the musical.

“Shrek is really a fun story,” she declared. “Everyone is jelling and getting along so well. When the cast has chemistry, it’s magic.

“It’s so much fun to watch,” she added. “We’ve had messages from people in Brampton and Mississauga wanting to see the show. We should have really good audiences.”

“It’s such a funny show,” she said. “There’s so much pop culture as part of it but the adults will get those jokes while there lots of jokes the kids will get too.”

“We’re super excited about it,” and her voice reflected her own eagerness as she added, “and I can hardly wait.”

The show opens this Saturday (June 8) at the Orangeville Opera House, at 8 p.m. Whether you know the story or not, no doubt this will be terrific treat for the youngsters in the family.

The production dates are June 8, 9, 14, 15, 16, 21 and 22. Tickets are available at the Opera House box office, phone 519-942- 3423 or check for information and tickets at www.orangevillemusictheatre.com

Horwath promotes youth employment in recent visit to Brampton

By Nick Fernandes

Ontario New Democratic Party leader Andrea Horwath paid a visit to Brampton recently to promote measures put forth for the new Provincial budget.

This was part of a tour of Ontario employment services to contextualize the problems that will be tackled by the new youth job programs.

Horwath was joined by Bramalea-Gore-Malton MPP Jasmeet Singh in a tour of Job Skills, a community based employment and training agency that works with residents of the area to help them develop basic skills and find employment. Horwath and Singh had an illuminating talk with the Job Skills's Director of Employment Services John Mitteregger about the challenges facing youth trying to find jobs.

Singh in particular was interested in the way Job Skills has been interacting with the community's unemployed youth, voicing concerns that the problem also involves job security that may not be provided by part-time jobs and temp agencies. Job Skills itself does not direct its customers towards temporary work, but unreliable employment remains a problem for many.

Horwath said youth unemployment is one of the many issues that will be tackled by the new provincial budget, due to programs put forward by the NDP in their support of the new initiatives. The major one is a program where, in return for employing youth between 16 and 24, employers will be subsidized to cover some of the investment by companies in training and pay rates above minimum wage, both of which are requirements for a company to be accepted for the program.

According to Horwath, the biggest problem facing youth workers is the fact that they will not be hired without experience, but they cannot get experience if they aren't hired. The new initiative seeks to give employers incentive to hire young people.

Inglewood Farmers' Market opening Wednesday

The Inglewood Farmers' Market is opening again for another season this coming Wednesday (June 12), with many returning vendors and other new faces.

The market this year will be at Inglewood park, at 15551 McLaughlin Rd., across from the village's general store with a playground nearby and more convenient parking than previous years. Vendors will be selling fresh, local and organic seasonal goods.

The Inglewood Farmers market is regarded as a "foodie" market for some of the higher quality goods found there, such as gourmet mushrooms and meats, fresh baked pastries, curry, sheep cheese, lamb burgers and many other goods sold by 15 regular vendors.

The market will be running every Wednesday from 3:30 to 7 p.m. until Oct. 9.

Caledon FC wins home opener in first year men’s soccer fivision

Written By BRIAN LOCKHART

The Caledon FC senior division club opened the season with a 2-1 home opener win over Croatia Norval under the lights on the soccer pitch at the Caledon East Soccer Complex last Thursday night (May 30).

“We finished in first place last year in the U21 division in the South Region OSL,” said Coach Angelo Pennino. “This season, we moved up to the men’s division.”

The club is a member team of the Ontario Soccer League.

Pennino, who has been with the club for the past 14 years, said they have “around seven returning players” from last year’s team.

The Caledon squad opened the scoring in the first half of last Thursday’s game to take an early lead. The second goal came early in the second half, with a shot from the left side of the crease that crossed over the goal line and found the back right hand side of the net.

Croatia Norval responded with a goal that came from a tight formation in front of the Caledon net to close the gap, but the home team kept up the pressure to leave with the 2-1 win.

Caledon goals came from Ian Wolfe and Daniel Pennino.

The move to a higher division can sometimes mean tough seasons for the first couple of years, but Pennino is confident in the team’s talent and abilities.

“We want to finish in the top four in our first season,” he said. “We’ve already won a league cup game, then lost one this season.”

Despite the fact the team has already entered regular season play, Pennino said the roster has not yet been finalized for this season.

“We can be competitive this year,” he said. “I’ve still got some other players coming on.”

With 19 games left on the schedule for 2013, the squad has a long way to go before finding out where they are going to find their place in the standings for this year.

The team will travel to Guelph this coming Saturday (June 8) to face the Rangers in a road game.

They will return to their home pitch at the Caledon East Soccer Complex June 13, to host the Iraq FC.

The kick-off is scheduled for 9 p.m. under the lights.

Polo For Heart offers world class polo and entertainment

Polo For Heart, one of Canada’s most unique equestrian sporting events, offers a spectacular venue from which to watch thoroughbred polo ponies and players from Argentina, United States, Dominican Republic, Mexico and Canada as they thunder down an area equivalent to nine football fields engaging in the “sport of kings.”

This year, Polo For Heart will be held at the Toronto Polo Club in Richmond Hill at 13401 Leslie St. June 14, 15 and 16.

Now entering its 34th year, Polo For Heart has been a special event on many social calendars as a fascinating and successful fundraiser for heart and stroke related charities. Proceeds from this year’s Polo For Heart will go to the Heart and Stroke Foundation Centre for Stroke Recovery, as well as toward purchasing a new MRI machine at Southlake Regional Health Centre in Newmarket.

Since Polo For Heart’s inception, more than $5 million has been raised for heart and stroke related charities.

Over each of the three days of the event, from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., guests will be treated to two international polo matches, a silent auction, charming boutiques and daily half-time entertainment. Guests can also visit The BMO Kids Zone and the exclusive Mallet Lounge and can participate in the traditional champagne divot stomp, as well as polo picnic and the best hat contests.

This year, Polo for Heart welcomes on board its title sponsor the Bank of Montreal. Another new sponsor is five-star luxury hotel Ritz Carlton, which is hosting the Polo For Heart corporate pavilion, where guests will be treated to gourmet food and wine, a fashion show sponsored by the Upper Canada Mall and entertained by jazz musician George St. Kitts and his band.

For a second year, Polo For Heart has named Lloyd Robertson as Honorary Chair of the Polo For Heart Executive Committee. The former legendary TV news anchor will be donating copies of his most recent book, That’s the Kind of Life it’s Been to Polo for Heart.

“The Toronto Polo Club is proud to have successfully hosted Polo For Heart for over three decades,” commented Polo For Heart Event Chair Derek Watchorn. “In its 34th year this year, Polo For Heart still thrills audiences, offering glamour, uniqueness and excitement for everyone. We are particularly pleased to support the Heart and Stroke Foundation and the Southlake Regional Health Centre.”

“There are 315,000 Canadians today living with the after-effects of stroke and an increase is expected in the next 10 to 20 years,” said David Sculthorpe, CEO of the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Canada. “This means there is a great need to focus attention on stroke recovery and we’re grateful that Polo For Heart has dedicated funds to the Heart and Stroke Foundation’s Centre for Stroke Recovery.”

“Over the next five years, more than 1.5 million patients will come through the doors of Southlake Regional Health Centre in Newmarket, and chances are, many will be facing the toughest battles of their lives,” said Neila Poscente, president and CEO of the Southlake Foundation. “Thanks to the generosity and vision of Polo For Heart, we are on track to purchase a second MRI that will transform care at Southlake, leading to early detection and an early start to treatment.”

General admission to Polo For Heart is $15; children under 12 are free. Anyone interested in taking part can visit www.polo-forheart.org for more information. This year for the first time participants can buy their tickets on line.

Town’s Earth Hour results are in Congratulations to the Caledon community on continued efforts to show environmental leadership through yearly Earth Hour energy conservation efforts.

Businesses and families throughout Caledon turned off their lights and reduced their energy consumption for Earth Hour March 23. These efforts resulted in a seven-per-cent reduction in electricity use. The Independent Electrical System Operator (IESO) reported that the Province of Ontario experienced a 2.7-per-cent reduction in electricity use overall.

“I am proud to be Mayor of such an environmentally-conscious community,” said Mayor Marolyn Morrison. “I encourage all residents to build on the momentum of Earth Hour and ‘Go Beyond the Hour.’”

Go Beyond the Hour is the World Wildlife Federation’s (WWF) new climate change campaign. The WWF created Earth Hour to bring public attention to climate change. The one hour act of turning off lights was not intended to address this global issue. This is why the WWF is promoting the Go Beyond the Hour campaign which focuses on adopting behaviours that will help prevent climate change over the long term.

Many in Caledon are already “going beyond the hour.” Businesses and residents have participated in the development of the Caledon Community Climate Change Local Action Plan, a plan for Caledon to help fight climate change.

For more information about the Caledon Community Climate Change Local Action Plan or to take part in Go Beyond the Hour, visit www.caledon.ca/climate-change bulgers for Elite were Jordan Porter (with three), Kyle Corcoran, Lino Zanardo and Chris Gionas, with assists from the sticks of Jordan “Cheese” Francis, Porter, Zanardo, John King, Dan Palmer, Kyle Young, Corcoran and Michael Stenton. Terry Masters from Kyle Dalcin, and Dave Philips from Ben Radford and Doug Matson were able to get the ball past Dante Commisso and ruin the shutout bid.

Caledon Breast Cancer Foundation serves the community

By Dr. Ann Ragobar

Many times it has been said that "life is a journey."

How we ride the waves of this journey will be instrumental in how well we survive.

On this journey, we do encounter obstacles, such as marriage breakups and job loss. The biggest obstacle is illness and the most heart-wrenching is that of cancer.

According to statistics, this illness will impact, in one way or another, one out of every three people during their lives. Many survive and others, unfortunately, do not.

Many people would prefer to go to a dentist than to discuss any type of illness, particularly cancer. But major illness is a part of society, if we are fortunate not to have it affect us directly, then we might know of someone dealing with this. The same can be said of death and dying. We would prefer to run and hide from this. Unfortunately, we will all have to face this aspect of life at some point in life, and probably a few times over.

I had the privilege of speaking at the Caledon Circle of Hope event April 14, put on by the Caledon Breast Cancer Foundation. Our keynote speaker, Dr. Sandy Sehdev, told us about the encouraging advances in research to stem the tide of cancer. We heard encouraging stories of survival after cancer. But we also heard the heart wrenching stories of the loss of loved ones.

The common denominator, not only at this event but throughout the Caledon Breast Cancer Foundation, is that of: Hope, Faith, Love, Courage and Strength. This organization fosters this energy to guide and help others through not just breast cancer, but through and other types of cancer. And even if we were to suffer the loss of a loved one, that support is there to help everyone to move through the grief process.

Four years ago, I lost not only my husband, but also an uncle and a cousin to cancer all in one year. As a non-denominational minister and grief counsellor, and in conjunction with the Caledon Breast Cancer Foundation, my mission for this life is to be of service, to give courage, strength, hope and faith to those who are struggling not only with illness. But particularly to families and their loved ones facing end-of-life issues, and then work with them through the bereavement process.

Region will be offering garden help Saturday

Most people want a beautiful and low-maintenance garden, but they don't know where to start.

To that end, Peel Region will be holding free fusion garden workshops this Saturday (June 8). The Caledon one will be at Southfields Community Park, at the corner of Learmont Avenue and Losino Street in Southfields Village. It will run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Registration is required by calling 905-791-7800, ext. 4409.

This workshop will be a hands-on experience, where participants and the Region's landscape design team will build a garden together. The workshop will teach the steps to build a garden, including how to define the garden area; prepare the garden bed for planting; plan the garden layout; place and plant flowers, shrubs and trees; finish the garden with mulch; and apply proper watering techniques.

As we continue to make this journey through life, may we walk with heads held high, and it matters not what life may throw in our path. We will use those obstacles as stepping stones and when we think that all is lost know that help is available.

Just reach out and we will hold your hand through this portion of your journey.

For more information, go to www.caledonbcf.org

For more information or to sign up, visit watersmartpeel.ca or call 905-791-7800, ext. 4409.

Fines Ford offers tests drives for DARE

Members of the local motoring public got the chance recently to try out some of the latest Ford products in support of a good cause in the Drive One 4UR Community event. They were able to take the cars out for test drives from Allan Drive Middle School in Bolton, and for every participant, Ford donated $20 to the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program. This is the third year that Fines Ford Lincoln in Bolton has taken part in the event, and General Manager Carlos Martins reported 130 drivers took advantage. Southfields Village resident Brenda Hill, a volunteer with DARE, took this 2013 Lincoln MKX for a spin. "It was beautiful," she said.

Tom Pickett, president of the Caledon Cruisers, was getting ready to head out with Mary Beitz, sales and leasing consultant with Fines.

IN MEMORIAM

LEADER

In loving memory of our loving parents, Annie Mae Leader (June 29, 2003) and H.H. Leader (March 15, 1987). Our lives go on without you And nothing is the same We have to hide our heart-ache When someone speaks your name. Sad are the hearts that love you Silent tears that fall Living our lives without you Is the hardest part of all. You did so many things for us Your heart was kind and true And when we needed someone We could always count on you The special years will not return When we were all together But with the love within our hearts You will walk with us forever. More than ever, you are sadly missed and lovingly remembered always by Marilyn, Ken, Ivan, Fran, Frank, Bonnie and families

WHITE, Bruce Byron

Your presence we miss
Your memories we treasure
Loving you always Forgetting you never.

CARD OF THANKS

BUSCH

My son & I would like to thank all those who helped us get through these last two very difficult months. To those who cared for her at home, and at Headwaters Health Care Centre, we offer our heartfelt thanks for treating her with dignity and respect during her last days on Earth. To those who sent cards or flowers or made phone calls, your kind words have helped ease the pain that we are both feeling at the loss of a wonderful mother to Brad, and a dear wife of almost 36 years to me. To those who came out to the visitation, the funeral, or both, your presence helped both of us get through them. To the staff at Dods & McNair, the Royal Bank, The Orangeville Public Library, The Orangeville Town Hall & Orangeville Transit, thank you for being so kind & considerate. To those from Good Friend's Fellowship & The Light House thank you for being there for us. God bless each & everyone of you, for the special people that you are!
Bill & Brad Busch

Community at heart of Osler’s Quality Improvement Plan

Building on a number of quality successes over the past year, William Osler Health System’s 2013-2014 Quality Improvement Plan (QIP) focuses on making improvements in areas that are most meaningful to patients and families, the community and the organization itself.

Osler’s QIP has now been posted along with progress on Priority 1 indicators from its 2012-2013 plan.

In 2010, the Province passed the Excellent Care for All Act, requiring health care organizations to develop a QIP each fiscal year and make that plan available to the public. Osler has developed its annual public QIP with specific targets for improvements in the areas of safety, effectiveness, access, and patient-centred and integrated care. The plan is part of a more robust annual Quality Program, focused on improvements within the organization and throughout the local health care system.

“Our 2013-2014 QIP builds on our past performance, leverages new models of care and maximizes the skills and expertise of our dedicated team of staff, physicians and volunteers,” said Osler President and CEO Matthew Anderson. “The plan focuses on making improvements in areas which are important to our patients and their families, our community and the organization, and it reflects our commitment to evidence-based practices and to providing the best possible care to meet the unique needs of the patients we serve.”

The results of Osler’s improvement efforts this year will mean staff will be empowered to go farther, involve patients in their care when they want to be and provide an exceptional experience for each individual they interact with;

and patients in the emergency departments who need to be admitted will have shorter waits to be transferred to a bed. As well, patients with a fractured hip will also wait less time and see improved outcomes following surgery; patients will continue to receive treatments based on best medical practice standards to improve their outcomes and reduce risks; patients who no longer need to be in the hospital will be connected with the most appropriate care, at the right place and at the right time, more quickly; and there will be a reduced risk of patients falling and injuring themselves or getting an infection.

“We are proud of our quality achievements over this past year, including recognition of our Quality Program as ‘the gem’ of the organization as part of our Exemplary Standing designation through Accreditation Canada,” said Executive Vice-President, Clinical Services and Chief Nursing Executive Joanne Flewwelling. “Our 2013-2014 QIP continues our drive for further quality improvements as we look to apply new delivery techniques, treatments and partnerships over the year ahead to support patients and families through their health care journey.”

Under the Excellent Care for All Act, Ontario hospitals link a percentage of executive compensation to achievement of improvement measures included in the QIP. The final data for the measures tied to executive compensation in the 2012-2013 QIP will not be finalized until later in the year.

Osler’s full 2013-2014 Quality Improvement Plan and the 2012-2013 QIP Progress results for Priority 1 indicators are available on its website at www.williamoslerhs.ca

1st MEDX Service Provides Emergency Protection

Recently entrepreneur Doug McArthur of Brampton, Ontario realized that if an individual experienced a medical emergency they could be placed at significant risk if emergency medical personnel were not aware of allergies, medications and medical history information.

Realizing the importance of making this critical information available, McArthur formed a new company, 1stMEDX which offers a service to customize a device for individuals and families.

MEDAlert is a USB personal medical information and alert device that combines emergency medical information with today’s technology!

An encrypted digital memory chip is used to store an individual’s information on the easy access MEDAlert medical history and alert form.

1stMEDX gives emergency service professionals or police officers and firemen with a laptop computer instant access to all emergency information simply by plugging in the MEDAlert device into a USB slot on any computer. Emergency contacts, existing conditions, allergies, medications and doctors names and phone numbers are instantly available. 1stMEDX allows quality of care to be improved, as patients and doctors benefit from immediate access to the patients emergency information, allowing all parties to avoid the sometimes dangerous duplication of medications and other errors associated with incomplete information.

The compact bright red device with the MEDAlert logo alerts medical personnel to special needs and existing medical conditions and can be easily attached to a key chain, purse or necklace to wear around the neck.

McArthur says “It’s an ideal solution for children with medical conditions, seniors with medical conditions and are on special medicines, elderly with chronic medical problems, and it can be worn when traveling, it is imperative in disaster preparedness in the event of a medical emergency that you will get the proper medical care by the first responders who will utilize this service.

1stMEDX services all provinces of Canada and internationally via their website. Additional details may be found on the World Wide Web at www.1stmedx.org.
