HOT STUFF AT ST. MICHAEL SCHOOL

There was lots of interesting things to see last Thursday night as St. Michael Catholic Secondary School in Bolton hosted Grade 8 students planning to attend next year and their families for a taste of what high school life is like. Grade 12 student Miguel Solano was busy igniting these balloons filled with hydrogen. Turn to page B2 for more high school scenes.

Credit View's enrolment prompts Board review

By Bill Rea

The Peel District School Board is likely to conduct a Pupil Accommodation Review (PAR) for several schools on the west side of Caledon, and the future of Credit View Public School could be in the balance.

The Board's Physical Planning and Building Committee Monday night accepted the staff recommendation to conduct the PAR on Credit View, as well as on Alloo, Alton, Belfountain and Caledon Central Public Schools. The recommendations will be included in a staff report that will be going before the full board later this month.

Quote of the week

"Encourage and welcome all residents to collaborate on the 2017 budget."

Mayor Allan Thompson, encouraging residents to offer input on

The recommendation was part of the Board's Annual Planning Document.

Caledon Trustee Stan Cameron said there's been no decision about closing any schools yet. "That's not what that's about," he said.

Board planners have been looking at the low enrolment numbers, and he said parents were sent letters in June advising them that a PAR could be coming.

According to the Planning Document, enrolment at the school was 81 in September. The Ministry Rated Capacity is 104. The school has students from kindergarten to Grade 8, meaning it averages less than 10 students per grade. Cameron pointed out having that number of kids spread over so many grades creates program-related questions and issues.

Cameron said the other area schools must be included in the PAR, because if Credit View closes, they have to have accommodations for those students.

Developments in north Brampton are resulting in more students going to Alloo, so Cameron said it's expected that facility will soon be full. There's space at Belfountain, but it only goes to Grade 6, which means the older students might end up going to Caledon Central.

"Nobody can say any school is going to close at this point," Cameron stressed.

He added the PAR process will include community consultation and meetings before staff makes any recommendations.

"They're going to do an exhaustive consultation with the community," he said.

If the recommendation is to have a school closed, that will still have ratified by the Board, and they will have to decide where to put the students.

He also said one of the problems facing the Credit View community is the price of homes and land in the area is out of the reach of many young families, and there are no new subdivisions in the works for the vicinity.

Caledon citizens invited to engage in the 2017 budget process

It's municipal budget season. The Town of Caledon has a 2017 draft budget prepared, and a number of presentations are planned to engage the public in the process before the budget's anticipated adoption, set for Dec. 20. Open houses, council presentations, one-on-one forums with senior town staff and, of course, online input are options for residents to participate in the budget process.

"The 2017 budget process is underway and the Town is offering great opportunities for Caledon citizens to be involved during this important planning period," Mayor Allan Thompson said.

"This budget aligns with the Council Work Plan," he added. "Council created a comprehensive Work Plan to guide our activities and budgeting priorities. We asked questions and listened to feedback. We determined priorities based on input from the community, staff and council. On behalf of council and staff, I encourage and welcome all residents to collaborate on the 2017 budget."

The Town will be hosting an open house Nov. 23 at Town Hall in Caledon East, starting at 7 p.m. Town staff from each department will be available in an open house forum for one-on-one discussion. Small group or individual discussions are a great way to get involved and understand details of projects that will guide Town activities.

There are also Coffee with Council sessions in the works. This is an opportunity to have a conversation with the Mayor and councillors on municipal matters, including the budget.

Sessions are planned for Nov. 18 at Mayfield Recreation Centre from 5 to 7 p.m.; Nov. 19 at Lloyd Wilson Arena from 9 to 11 a.m., and Caledon Centre for Recreation and Wellness from 1 to 3 p.m.; and Nov. 22 at Bolton Rotary Senior's Centre from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The budget will also be discussed at several meetings of council, including Nov.15 at 9:30 a.m. (operating budget)

Board to hold information meetings on French immersion

The Dufferin-Peel Catholic District School Board will hold a series of public information meetings in Mississauga and Brampton for parents and guardians interested in enrolling their children in the board's French Immersion Program for the 2017-2018 school year.

The information sessions are intended to provide an overview of the program, the criteria for admittance and changes that can be expected from the regular program.

The Brampton session will be Nov. 24 at St. Joachim Elementary School at 435 Rutherford Rd. North. Other meetings will be Nov. 22 at St. Gregory Elementary School, 1075 Swinbourne Dr. in Mississauga and Nov. 23 at St. Elizabeth Seton School, 6133 Glen Erin Dr. in Mississauga. All three meetings will start at 7 p.m.

The Board offers French immersion starting in Grade 1 at eight school sites. Students registered in this program will spend 90 per cent of their day learning in French. All subjects and activities in the French immersion classroom, except for religion and family life, will be delivered in French. In Grades

2 and 3, 70 per cent of the instruction will be in French, with the proportion of English increasing to 50 per cent in later years.

Students in French immersion usually attain a mid-range level of competency in the language. This means that after at least 4,510 hours of French instruction during his/her school career, the student should be able to read newspapers and books, with the occasional help of a dictionary, as well as watch and understand radio and television news and other programs. The student should also be able to participate adequately in conversation, demonstrate knowledge of the culture, society, customs, economy, government, institutions of a French-speaking community and, after a few months' residence, and function quite well in a French-speaking community.

Online registration will begin following the information sessions with the deadline for submissions to be announced. Should the number of applications exceed the number of spaces available, a centralized, computer-generated, random selection process will be held following the deadline.

and 1 p.m. (capital budget), Dec. 6 at 1 p.m. and Dec. 20 at 7 p.m.

Residents wishing to appear before council to share concerns or ask questions are invited to attend the Dec. 6 meeting at Town Hall. Note that all meetings are open to the public and that Town Hall and the council chambers are fully accessible and inclusive spaces.

All information on the 2017 budget will be posted on the Town's website at caledon.ca/budget

Those who have questions about the budget, but cannot attend one of the meetings in-person, are welcome to email them to the Town at budget@caledon.ca

Forks of the Credit Inn now open

By Bill Rea

The inn in Cataract has a long history attached to it, and a vibrant new chapter is just beginning.

Karey Emmett and Bart Murphy have refurbished the building and reopened it as Forks for the Credit Inn.

Emmett called it a “boutique inn,” as well as a yoga and wellness retreat, and a corporate and private events soul space.

She added they already own two yoga studios in Toronto.

“We love Caledon,” she declared. “We always wanted to live here.”

She added her partner had been to the building when it was a restaurant.

The couple started renovating the building in August, installing new floors and paint. There are four bedrooms, complete with ensuite bathrooms, that can accommodate up to 10 people.

“We really feel like every room has a personality,” Murphy commented.

He said the original building dates from 1855, when it housed workers at the local mill and quarry.

GIVING BACK CANDY

A lot of kids received a lot of Halloween candy going door-to-door last Monday night, and in some cases too much. So Bolton Family Dental Centre was buying back the excess, for $1 per pound. Dr. Rosanna Porretta said the collected candy will be going to Canadian Food For Children, while local youngsters reduce their chances of getting cavities. Cameron Besko, 11, of Bolton was making his contribution while Porretta and receptionist Victoria Villari watched.

Prevent heating equipment fires with these prevention tips

Based on statistics in Ontario between 2010-2014, the leading causes of heating equipment fires are woodstoves, fireplace/fireplace inserts and chimneys. Follow these tips to keep you warm and safe this fall and winter season.

- ☒ Have your heating system and chimneys inspected and cleaned annually by a qualified service technician.
- ☒ Always use a fire screen around the fireplace.
- ☒ Ensure all outside heating vents are not blocked.
- ☒ Allow ashes from your woodstove or fireplace to cool before emptying them into a metal container with a tight-fitting lid. Keep the container outside.
- ☒ Ensure woodstoves, fireplaces and fireplace inserts are installed by a qualified technician according to manufacturer's instructions.

Drinking Habits causes lots of laughs at Townhall Players

By Bill Rea

There's really nothing new about mixing wine and religion, but it is possible to go too far.

That can be the making of a farce, such as the wildly funny Drinking Habits, which is currently being presented by the Caledon Townhall Players.

Written by Tom Smith, directed by Stephanie Bailey and produced by Chris Bailey, the play is set in a convent occupied by a few nuns who are fearful they are going to be closed for being insignificant. Two enterprising nuns, Sister Philamena (played by Teresa Duncan) and Sister Augusta (Jeannette Massicotte), concentrate on their sewing while making wine on the side with the help of George the groundskeeper (Rui Medeiros). They also have to work very hard to keep the activity from Mother Superior (Ingrid Chambers), who condemns even the mention of alcohol. Indeed, the nuns have to come up with alternate terms, such as "Satan's mouthwash" or "Lucifer's libations," or "Satan's toilet water," when referring to the real stuff.

Enter two reporters, Paul and Sally

(Steve Redford and Danielle Gamache) who are investigating whether or not there is actually wine making going on. It's also quickly obvious the two have a past, involving each other.

"When I dream about kissing you, we're not both dressed like nuns," Paul remarks at one point.

There are also adventures involving the arrival of Sister Mary Catherine (Lia Strazzeri) at the convent, as she tries to figure out what's going on, and the appearance of Father Chenille (Mark Chambers), who's obsessed with the thought that he's about to be replaced.

The stage is set for plenty of confusion, along with spying, suspicions, disguises (including a bit of cross-dressing), smashed bottles, trying to keep the wine separate from the grape juice and mistaken identities, all wrapping up with coincidences on top of coincidences, with quite a bit of wine consumption thrown in.

The set for this play is very plain and basic, appropriate, considering it's set in a convent. It was designed by the Baileys and built by them, along with Redford, Chambers, Medeiros, John Rowe and Colin Lewis. It allows for lots of freedom of movement, which becomes very important to the story at times. The first act ends with several minutes of rapid and hilarious pantomime.

Performances of Drinking Habits are scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday evenings, with curtain at 8:15 p.m. There's also a matinee Saturday at 2:15 p.m.

Call the Box Office at 519-927-5460 for ticket reservations.

The cast of Drinking Habits includes Rui Medeiros as George, Lia Strazzeri as Sister Mary Catherine, Mark Chambers as Father Chenille, Ingrid Chambers as Mother Superior, Danielle Gamache as Sally, Steve Redford as Paul, Jeannette Massicotte as Sister Augusta and Teresa Duncan as Sister Philamena.

MUSICA FANTASIA OPENS SEASON FOR CALEDON CHAMBER CONCERTS

OVATIONS AT CROSSCURRENTS

There were standing ovations not just at the end, but after every song. That's how the CrossCurrents Cafe audience responded to Juneyt, master of Nuevo Flamenco, Friday night. He played Nuevo or "new" Flamenco, based largely on Rhumba Flamenco rhythms, overlaid with Latin, jazz and thematic elements from the Turkish music of his homeland. Tom Nagy, his bass player, synched flawlessly with Juneyt's twists and turns.

Concert Series presents the Madawaska Quartet

Caledon Chamber Concerts continues its 2016-2017 season Nov. 19 with a concert by the Madawaska String Quartet (MSQ).

The concert will include music by Purcell, Beethoven and Mendelssohn.

The quartet consists of Jeewon Kim, violin; Sarah Fraser-Raff, violin; Anna Redekop, viola; and Amber Ghent, cello.

MSQ performs pieces from the mainstream to performance art, and from the Baroque to the present-day. After 11 years of experience as an internationally-performing string quartet, in 2012 MSQ expanded to become the Madawaska Ensemble as a result of collaborations over several years with two fabulous pianists in Leslie Kinton and Brett Kingsbury. The Ensemble adds to the string quartet repertory works for strings and piano, along with featured guest artists, including clarinetist Guy Yehuda in 2013.

The Quartet has performed in such major international festivals as the Festival Iberoamericano in Puerto Rico, the Festival of the Sound, The Elora Festival, the Toronto International Chamber Music Festival, New Music North, and the "Music at Port Milford"

International Chamber Music Festival.

They have worked on the chamber music faculty at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, also performing as part of the RCM's Great Artist Series. As well, they have given workshops for students and emerging composers at the University of Toronto, York University, the Array New Music Centre, the Composers' Guild of Canada and the Canadian Contemporary Music Workshop.

As champions of Canadian composers and their works, the MSQ has premiered more than 30 new pieces. They have acted as ensemble in residence at both the Array New Music Centre and the Music Gallery in Toronto.

The concert takes place at St. James' Anglican Church, Caledon East at 8 p.m. Tickets are $35 for adults and $15 for students 16 years and younger and may be purchased in advance at Forster's Book Garden, Howard the Butcher and BookLore. A limited number of tickets will also be available at the door on the night of the concert.

Photographer exhibits Zen-inspired work currently at Alton Mill

By Brian Lockhart

At first glance, the photographs currently on display in the Headwaters Art Gallery at the Alton Mill Arts Centre, are representative of a distinct feeling of distance.

The viewer may see isolation in the mystical black and white prints that adorn the walls of the Gallery.

When you put them all together, you can follow the vision created by award winning photographer Peter Dusek in this exhibit.

"The eyes and the soul are assaulted by a myriad of things, causing us to lose our focus, become scattered, and even blinded to the simple beauty hidden around us," according Dusek's biography and explanation of his current work.

A relative newcomer to the world of photography, Dusek is by vocation a computer consultant and programmer.

"As a hobby, I started with photography eight or nine years ago," Dusek explained of his journey in the craft. "It was only three years ago that I became serious about it."

One wouldn't usually associate computers and photography, but with the medium now almost entire digitally driven, Dusek said the learning curve was very easy for him.

"In modern times, cameras are all digital, so all my skills on the technical side I have been able to transfer. Anything to do with computers has always been easy for me. I don't know where the arts side of it comes from. I used to be heavily into music in high school and university. I played the saxophone and the organ, so maybe some of it comes from there."

He is inspired by the rural and scenic area surrounding his Hockley Valley home and has spent considerable time touring the area on his motorcycle.

The images in the exhibit were all created within a short drive of his home.

"I take a lot of my inspiration from Japanese Zen art," he said. "That's where I get the minimalist motif. People often tell me that they've been to the same place (where the photographs were made) but they just didn't notice what I noticed."

During an exhibition in Toronto, his work was noticed by high end retailer Saks Fifth Avenue.

The company bought the entire exhibit and ordered double prints to display in their Toronto area stores to represent Canadian art.

The show at the Headwaters Arts Gallery is titled, Tranquility, and will be on exhibit through to Nov. 13.

New SouthFields Village school could operate in summer

By Bill Rea

A new school is in the works for SouthFields Village, and the Peel District School Board is looking to have it operate throughout the summer.

The Board's Physical Planning and Building Committee Monday night accepted the staff recommendation to have the facility be a balanced calendar school. The recommendation was part of the Board's Annual Planning Document. It will be going before the full Board later this month.

The Planning Document stated the 650-student facility would be the third balanced calendar school in the Board, following Roberta Bondar and Ray Lawson Public Schools, both in Brampton.

The plan is for the new school to start operating in September 2017, but the new building will not be ready by then. Students will be housed for that school year at Countryside Village Public School in north Brampton. The Planning Document said there's enough space there to accommodate everyone for the year.

Caledon Trustee Stan Cameron told his colleagues the two balanced calendar schools have been successful, and he was confident this new one "will serve our community very well."

He also observed there are a lot of implications involved with this recommendation, and he praised Board staff for the thorough job that has been done.

"This has been a lot of work," he remarked. "This is the right thing to do."

The boundary area for the new school will be roughly bordered on the east by Old Kennedy Road.

Cameron said the academic year at the new school will actually start in August.

He also said students will get the exact same number of days off from class as those in other schools. They will be getting July off. "The other four weeks are spread out throughout the year," he said.

The schedule for the current academic year at Roberta Bondar and Ray Lawson saw the kids get two weeks off early in October. They will be getting an additional week before the start of the traditional two-week break at the Holidays, another week in February, ending with the Family Day long weekend, and there will be two weeks off, instead of one, at March break.

The advantage to this system is young people often get bored with two straight months away from school. "They're under-stimulated," Cameron observed.

He added the new school will be air-conditioned.

Shorter breaks spread across the year should mean less time is needed for review.

He added it should be a benefit to English as a second language (ESL) students, who normally would be exposed to just their mother tongue over the summer.

"They're not losing the new language skills," he said.

It will be possible for families to opt out of the balanced calendar program. Cameron said those students would go to James Grieve Public School on Bramalea Road. But he didn't think there would be many who would take that option. He said he's met with the principals of the other two schools.

"What those principals tell me is no one flexes out," he remarked, adding the principal at Ray Lawson has a waiting list of 70 kids who want in the program, but they don't live within the school's boundaries. "Clearly it's popular."

Cameron also said the concept of closing schools in the summer dates back to times when students would be needed to help out on family farms.

"It doesn't work all the time today," he said.

They’re your tax dollars — offer input

In January of this year, Caledon council passed a budget for the Town that called for a 1.97 per cent increase in its share of the property taxes you pay.

Were you pleased with that increase? Were there expenses called for in that budget with which you did not approve? Were there items left out of that budget that you would have liked to see included?

Did you offer input prior to the passage of that budget?

The Town is currently working on its budget for 2017. A draft document has been prepared, and the tinkering is about to begin. The councillors, the people you elected to represent you, have plenty of opportunities for input and try to make adjustments to the budget. The nice thing is we all have opportunities for input. Indeed, the Town is actively seeking it.

There will be an open house Nov. 23 at Town Hall, starting at 7 p.m.

There are also Coffee with Council sessions planned for Nov. 18 at Mayfield Recreation Centre from 5 to 7 p.m.; Nov. 19 at Lloyd Wilson Arena from 9 to 11 a.m., and Caledon Centre for Recreation and Wellness from 1 to 3 p.m.; and Nov. 22 at Bolton Rotary Senior’s Centre from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The budget will also be discussed at several meetings of council, including Nov. 15 at 9:30 a.m. (operating budget) and 1 p.m. (capital budget), Dec. 6 at 1 p.m. and Dec. 20 at 7 p.m.

Do you think your voice is not being heard? Here’s your chance to be heard.

Our Readers Write Bill 41 will be bad for patients

I have practised medicine in Bolton for 28 years.

During that time, it has been my privilege and responsibility to care for my patients and their families.

I believe it is my obligation to speak out against Bill 41 (formerly Bill 210), the Patients First Act.

This bill, which has already passed second reading in the provincial legislature, is destined to become law in Ontario this year. This bill will directly impact patients and their healthcare.

Patients can wait for 18 months to see an orthopaedic surgeon to correct a shoulder rotator cuff tendon tear, one year to see a psychiatrist when they are suffering from depression that is difficult to treat, and months to see a cardiovascular surgeon for bypass surgery.

The government’s solution to address these challenges is to create more health-care administrators and to give the Local Health Integrated Networks (LHIN)s more responsibilities without clear process to ensure they are performing properly. There will be approximately 80 subLHINs created and the cost to run these smaller government agencies will eat up more limited healthcare dollars.

The government argues this is about frontline care, but LHINs and subLHINs are not caring for patients. Doctors, nurses and personal support-care workers do.

Under Bill 41, not only will government employees determine patient healthcare needs, but it will also be OK under this bill for government employees to examine patients’ personal health records without patient consent.

All of this is contrary to helping and caring for patients.

You can visit www.stopbill41.com to learn more about Bill 41 and sign a petition to urge the Wynne government to stop compromising your health, your privacy and your tax dollars.

Rotary Club of Palgrave’s Weekly Rotary Minute

By Samantha Ferens

Rotary’s founder, Paul Harris, believed strongly in the virtue of tolerance.

In an interview at the age of 77, Harris stated, “My greatest satisfaction in Rotary has been in seeing that, by the exercise of tolerance and goodwill, and by the adherence to Rotary’s one demanding policy of international amity and understanding, Rotary has been able to encircle the world with its ideals of friendship and fellowship and service to others.”

Palgrave Rotary embodies these traits of tolerance and fellowship.

You are a diverse group of individuals, each with your own causes that you champion above others. These differing views could easily lead to challenge and conflict within the group. There is not always consensus and the discussions have sometimes become heated. Yet your collective call to the greater good takes precedence, personal agendas are set aside and you approach one another with respect.

Your tolerance and willingness to allow each person to express their opinion allows the group to continue with their exemplary delivery of service to others. I look forward to learning from all of you in this regard.

It happened today

It’s a tragedy that claimed 29 lives.

The Great Lakes freighter Edmund Fitzgerald had departed from Superior, Wisconsin with a cargo of 26,116 tons of taconite pellets, made of processed iron ore, heated and rolled into marble-size balls. It was heading for a steel mill on Zug Island, near Detroit. It never made it.

The ship was caught in a storm and sank near Whitefish Bay in Lake Superior.

The incident was the subject of one of Gordon Lightfoot’s most famous songs.

The Edmund Fitzgerald sank with all hands this day, Nov. 10, 1975.

I’ve never known war

Tomorrow (Friday) will see people pausing to remember the millions who have fallen in wars.

In Canada, Remembrance Day is a time for remembering those who fell for this country in two World Wars and other conflicts. In recent memory, many Canadians have lost their lives serving in places like Afghanistan.

But as I have added years to my outlook, I have come to believe that those on the other side also must be remembered.

My grandfather, the man after whom I was named, was a young Irish lad, barely in his 20s, when the First World War began. He fought, but did not die (I think I’m living proof of that). I don’t believe he fought against evil men. He was one of many thousands of pawns who was up against a comparable number of other pawns, following the orders of men who were marching to the orders of men above them (in the early 20th century, there weren’t many women issuing orders).

Pope Benedict XVI was a member of Hitler’s Youth when he was a kid. He had no choice. He was under the authority of men who were answering to those above them. At the top was something evil, but that repulsiveness didn’t filter all the way down. Our German allies and trading partners today are the children and grandchildren of those who Canadians fought against in two World Wars.

I think it has to be acknowledged in these days that war is something of an abstract to most people; something that takes place in other parts of the world. But have not terrorists demonstrated their acts of war can happen just about anywhere? That lesson should have been driven home with 9-11. And it’s a little more than two years ago that a man attacked the Parliament of this country. None of us are immune.

But there are still some who wonder why we must have our proverbial guard up.

I think a lot of that has to do with the fact that many of us in my generation don’t understand what war is really like. Perhaps things might eventually change as immigrants who have escaped such conditions start having more influence on our society. Because it has been many, many years since major battles have been fought on this continent.

I was born in Canada. On my father’s side, I am the grandson of immigrants. The line in this country goes back much farther on my maternal side — I genuinely don’t know how far, although I do know one of my mother’s grandmothers was born in Switzerland.

Thus for people like me, war is something we have only heard about. We learned about it in history class when we were in school. I always enjoyed history as a student, so I like to think I learned something from the classes. But they were just stories.

There have been lots of movies made about war. I have watched many of them. Some of them have been excellent, others have been garbage. I have seen war films that depicted Roman legionnaires on the march, Napoleon commanding his troops, the utter brutality of the American Civil War, the carnage of two World Wars and the hideous situations that young American men faced in Vietnam. But too often, those films deal with good guys versus bad guys even if they might be on sides that differ with history’s judgement. I have seen the movie The Blue Max many times, realizing I was relating to men who would have gladly killed my grandfather in a strafing attack.

But again, they were just stories. The closest I have come to the reality of war is not very close.

My father joined the Air Force during the Second World War. Owing to his age, he joined up rather late in the conflict.

While his training saw him getting time in the air as a navigator and bombardier, he never left the country or saw combat. After the war ended in Europe, he made himself available to be sent to the Pacific. That notion was put aside when Harry Truman, one of my heroes from history, ordered the use of the Atomic Bomb and brought the war to a rapid conclusion. Had the war continued, my father might have found himself putting his hide on the line. It’s quite possible that I owe my very mortality to Truman.

My dad’s views of the experience, at least those he related to my brother and myself, represented something of a paradox. His reasons for joining up were rather practical. He figured the Nazis were invading countries and killing people, and he wanted a chance to strike his own blow first. I don’t think he regretted the experience. Indeed, there were times when he lamented that I never had to go through it. He said, and I believe with considerable justification, that the disciplining he had to go through would have done me a lot of good.

But most people in my position, who had fathers in some branch of the service or another, would have been regaled with stories about buddies, and in time would have been introduced to some of them. That was not the case with my dad. He never introduced me to anyone from his Air Force days. Indeed, I don’t think there was anyone from those days with whom he kept in touch.

He often told stories about his time in the service, but seldom had anything positive to say about the men he served with. I don’t think it was a case that he had some bad or traumatic experience. Until the day he died, he never discouraged me from asking questions about that time, although some of his answers were somewhat light on detail.

I once saw a picture, sort of a class photograph, of his squadron. There were about 30 young men there, and I had no trouble spotting my dad. But front row centre, there was seated an older man, probably in his late 50s (how well I can now relate) who was obviously a senior officer. I asked my dad who he might have been.

“Some guy they rolled in for the picture,” was my old man’s very dry response.

I think I can grasp what it might have been like to be in a war, but only because I have been interested enough to read and learn a bit about it. I know there are many out there who could hardly care less. It’s hard to blame them, unless they have experienced something like war. I’ve always believed one of the reasons men like my father and his father before him joined up was to try and make sure their children never had to go through something like that.

To a certain extent, it looks like they succeeded.

Remembrance Day is once again quickly approaching.

It's of utmost importance that we all stop and remember the exceptional men and women who've courageously and selflessly defended our country and values. They are Canada's finest because they have put their lives on the line for us when they've been called upon to serve our country. Nov. 11, we can show our veterans and those who've fallen, how much we appreciate their sacrifices by taking the time to remember and honour them.

Canada's finest have a long and proud history of protecting and defending peace and freedom. This history goes as far back as the South African War of 1899 to 1902, which marked the first time Canada sent troops to an overseas conflict. By the time this war would come to an end, more than 7,000 Canadians, including 12 female nurses, would serve with 267 making the ultimate sacrifice.

An enormous loss of Canadian lives would be experienced in the First World War that would follow 12 years later in 1914. By the time the war ended in 1918, more than 650,000 men and women from Canada and Newfoundland served with more than 66,000 giving their lives and more than 172,000 being wounded.

The Second World War, which took place from 1939 to 1945, saw an even larger contribution of Canadian soldiers to the war effort. More than one million Canadians and Newfoundlanders served their country in this global conflict. By the end of the war, more than 55,000 Canadians were wounded and over 45,000 made the ultimate sacrifice for our country.

Just six years later, Canada's finest once again answered the call to serve their country in the Korean War. By the end of the war in 1953, more than 26,000 Canadians volunteered to serve and 516 would give their lives.

Following these wars, the outstanding men and women of the Canadian Armed Forces would go on to proudly and honourably serve our country in conflicts, such as Afghanistan. This particular mission involved the deployment of more than 40,000 personnel, which was a considerable contribution, one not seen since the Second World War. When the last of the Canadian Armed Forces members left Afghanistan in March 2014, 158 Canadians had lost their lives serving their country.

This year, 2016, marks two significant anniversaries of Canada's efforts to defend and protect our shared values of

Trudeau government's Advisory Council on Economic Growth

Finance Minister Bill Morneau released some of the recommendations published by his Advisory Council on Economic Growth Oct. 20.

The recommendations are intended to provide a framework of sorts for pre-budget planning and for the Minister's Fall Economic Statement; however, there are several concerns with the Council's recommendations and the current government's strategy for economic growth.

The Advisory Council on Economic Growth was created by Morneau in March 2016 with the goal of identifying ways to increase annual GDP growth above two per cent. The recommendations resulting from the work of the Council are timed to ensure they can be considered for inclusion in the government's fall fiscal update. Some of the recommendations include a national infrastructure investment bank that would attract private capital to invest in infrastructure projects in Canada, to be capitalized with $40 billion in federal funds over 10 years; a new one-stop shop to attract foreign investors and help them navigate the regulatory system; raising annual immigration flows to 450,000; and new immigration programs for designated companies or industries that would provide temporary entry for high skilled workers.

There are several concerns with the Advisory Council and its recommendations. The Council has now spent a number of months performing drawn out consultations to develop complicated ideas to address Canada's struggling economy, when the current Liberal government could've used a straightforward approach – keep taxes low, cut red tape, and make it easier for businesses to compete.

Minister Morneau and the current government could approach Canadian job creators and innovators for input, but instead chose to seek it from consultants, foreign companies, and Liberal donors. There are 14 members of the Council, but not one of them is a business owner. Prime Minister Justin Trudeau himself had the opportunity to meet a group of 50 Canadian tech CEOs visiting Ottawa Oct. 20, but instead opted to meet with Amazon, one of their biggest competitors.

Minister Morneau also needs to explain why he chose not to wait for the Council's advice before he decided to borrow and spend $30 billion this year alone. Unfortunately, none of the recommendations from the Advisory Council have been budgeted for, while economists have already cautioned the current government against further increased spending. The Bank of Canada recently confirmed that a year of reckless spending hasn't done anything to improve Canada's economy and downgraded GDP growth to 1.1 per cent for 2016. In addition, economists from both TD Bank and BMO have publicly called on the current government to halt any additional spending, while Minister Morneau has hinted to media that he is considering more spending in the November fiscal update.

Our economy is struggling and the current Liberal government's reckless spending has not improved Canada's economic growth. If the recommendations by the Advisory Council on Economic Growth are pursued by the current government, this will mean more spending, while at the same time, major financial institutions are warning against such action. Canadians have every reason to be concerned about the further harm this will do to our economy and the negative impact more spending will have on long-term growth.

Let's stop genetic discrimination

FROM QUEEN'S PARK

Sylvia Jones
MPP Dufferin-Caledon

Genetic testing allows individuals and families to understand if they have a genetic marker(s) that may lead to developing certain health conditions.

As well, it provides a chance to participate in research studies to better understand certain health conditions and create better treatments. With approximately 33,485 genetic tests available, it's important we ensure individuals are aware of the consequences of getting a genetic test.

Currently, individuals who undergo genetic testing can be compelled by insurance companies and employers to disclose their results and may be denied employment or insurance because of their genetic characteristics. Unfortunately many individuals are getting genetic tests without knowing the risks. However, individuals who understand the consequences of getting a test, decline to get a test out of fear of it being used against them. As a result, some individuals refuse to participate in tests for clinic research that have the potential to eliminate certain diseases.

Individuals should never have to choose between a life-saving medical test and employment or insurance. There is a belief that if you are found to have a certain genetic characteristic tied to a specific disease or condition, that you will ultimately develop the disease or condition. That is not the case.

That is why I co-sponsored Bill 30 — the Human Rights Code Amendment Act (Genetic Characteristics), 2016, introduced by Eglinton-Lawrence MPP Mike Colle. Bill 30 is an opportunity to raise awareness about this important issue of genetic discrimination and informing individuals what their rights are. Additionally, it is an opportunity for us to protect individuals who are unaware of the unintended consequences of getting a genetic test, by incorporating genetic characteristics into the Human Rights Code as a prohibited ground of discrimination.

Canada remains the only G7 nation without specific safeguards in place against genetic discrimination. Ontario has an opportunity to take a leadership role and ensure a person's rights, including their genetic characteristics, are protected, specifically related to employment and insurance.

Bill 30 was debated and passed second reading in the legislature Nov. 3, with unanimous support from all three parties. I am happy all parties see the need for this legislation that will provide the necessary protection to an individual's genetic characteristics. Bill 30 has now been sent to the Committee on Justice Policy for public input and for amendments. This is an important step in the process to seeing Bill 30 passed into law.

If you have any questions or would like more information about Bill 30, please contact my office at 416-325-1898 or sylvia.jonesla@pc.ola.org

It's time for the law to catch up with the science.

Jones wants sustainable funding for autism services

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones has called on the Premier and her government to provide sustainable funding to autism and special needs service providers such as Yes I Can Nursery School.

"On October 3rd, I had the opportunity to visit Yes I Can Nursery School with my leader Patrick Brown," Jones said. "We heard from the school that they would no longer receive funding from the Ministry of Education."

"The government has finally agreed to meet with Yes I Can, and it is imperative they offer sustainable funding to Yes I Can so they can continue providing the tremendous supports for children with autism and special needs," Jones added. "The reality is, if this funding is not restored, Yes I Can Nursery School has two choices: eliminate the programs and services or ask parents who have children with special needs to pay more. If the government believes it's okay for parents to pay because their child has a special need, that is simply unacceptable."

Jones also charged this government has threatened families of children with autism for years.

"The Premier needs to show she understands how important Yes I Can Nursery School is to her community and reinstate their funding," Jones said.

Misguided, but not genocide

NATIONAL AFFAIRS
Claire Hoy

Perhaps the least admirable way for anyone to make a case is to offer false comparisons to something that doesn't really compare.

That was the technique used, I believe, in an op-ed article last week in The Globe and Mail, co-authored by Bernie Farber, executive director of the Mosaic Institute, David MacDonald, political science professor at the University of Guelph, and Joseph Boyden, an author and indigenous activist.

I don't know the latter two, but I have known Farber for many years and have long admired his tireless efforts to keep the Holocaust alive so that people will never forget the unspeakable horrors wrought by Hitler and his Nazis.

But, alas, Farber and his two co-writers fell into the trap of faulty comparisons in order to promote their case against the ravages of the Indian residential schools, arguing that it should officially be recognized by Canada as a "genocide."

At present, Canada recognizes five genocides: the Holocaust; the Holodomor (Stalin's famine-induced starvation of millions of Ukrainians); the 1915 Armenian genocide by Turkey; the 1994 Rwandan atrocities; and the Bosnian "ethnic cleansing" in the 1990s.

There is no doubt that the residential schools caused considerable heartache and serious deprivation among many of the 150,000 First Nation, Inuit and Métis children who were taken from their homes and forced into ill-equipped schools which sought to assimilate them into the general Canadian population.

While some of the students did in fact find a better life as a result of this, many more were left with painful memories of isolation, denigration and, in many cases, outright physical and sexual abuse in those institutions, most of which were run by various mainline churches of the day.

Indeed, the Truth and Reconciliation Commission found that at least 3,200 Aboriginal children died in these overcrowded residential schools, mainly because of malnourishment which made them vulnerable to tuberculosis and influenza, including the deadly Spanish flu epidemic of 1918-19.

There is no way to sugar-coat — and no need to — the downside of what turned democracy, peace, freedom, and the rule of law. The first is the 100th anniversary of the Battle of the Somme and Beaumont-Hamel, which took place during the First World War. These grueling and fateful battles saw Allied soldiers leaving their trenches to face heavy enemy fire from the German lines. The battles would carry on for more than four-and-a-half months and would cost Canada dearly with 24,000 Canadian lives lost before the end of battle in November 1916. Canada's national identity was solidified at the end of this war, but at a huge cost in Canadian lives.

This year also marks the 60th anniversary of Canada's first large-scale participation in peacekeeping with the Canadian component of the United Nations Emergency Force arriving in Egypt Nov. 25, 1956. Since that time, approximately 100,000 Canadian peacekeepers have participated in more than 50 peacekeeping missions, including Cyprus; Haiti; Iraq; Croatia; Bosnia and Herzegovina; East Timor; Ethiopia and Eritrea to name a few.

When looking back at the extraordinary contributions Canada's finest have made to bring peace and stability to areas of conflict around the world, we are quickly reminded of the immense sacrifices of these phenomenal men and women. We are also reminded why it is essential for us to remember and honour them on Remembrance Day, because the peace and freedom we enjoy today is due to their incredible valour and sacrifice. They are Canada's heroes and we owe them our deepest gratitude and respect.

Nov. 11, join me in taking the time to honour and thank our veterans and those who've made the ultimate sacrifice protecting and defending Canada. Let's show these remarkable men and women how much we appreciate them and that we will never, ever forget them or their courageous, selfless efforts to ensure we may live in peace.

out to be an ill-conceived idea from our early political leaders — an idea, by the way, which at the time was endorsed by some Native leaders of the day.

This is why, of course, then prime minister Stephen Harper stood in the Commons June 1, 2008 and formally apologized on behalf of the government to all former students of those residential schools, saying the assimilation policy was "wrong, has caused great harm, and has no place in our country." The apology was also accompanied by a generous compensation package.

Saying you're sorry and sending a cheque, of course, doesn't necessarily repair all the damage that was done during all the years the schools operated.

But it was not a genocide in the true sense of the word. Not by a long shot.

Misguided? Absolutely. But evil in intent? No way.

When Hitler set out to rid the world of Jews — and others he considered undesirable, such as Gypsies and homosexuals — he meant to kill as many of them as he could. Same thing with Stalin and the other monsters of history responsible for the various genocides.

But the Canadian leaders in the 1880s who devised the residential schools had no such goals in mind. Their aim was not to kill the native population. Their intentions, in fact, were good, or at least from where they sat they thought they were good. They saw a native population that was falling behind even then and felt that educating them in English or French and bringing them into the mainstream of Canada would ultimately give them a better life.

That fact that the school experiment didn't turn out well does not negate the fact that their hearts were in the right place even if they tragically miscalculated the terrible burden that loss of culture and family would impose upon those who forced into these schools.

There's a huge difference here between both the results and the intent.

Unlike Hitler, et al, the idea was never to kill these children for the "crime" of being Natives. It was a hope — a vain one for the most part — that giving them a white man's education would ultimately improve their chances of enjoying a healthier and more prosperous life.

It was a bad policy to be sure.

But it was not a genocide. Placing it the category of the Holocaust and others, it seems to me, diminishes the horror of true genocides.

Rage Against Violence reading coming to Opera House Nov. 13

By Constance Scrafied

The victims of the violence described in Rage Against Violence are the overwhelming numbers of women who are suffering from abuse.

Scheduled for Nov. 13 as a 2 p.m. matinee at Town Hall Opera House in Orangeville, Rage Against Violence was written by Gary Kirkham and Dwight Storry and is being performed as a reading, when the actors simply read from scripts on music stands before them.

An interesting and unusual line-up of “actors” will be on stage for this production, including local politicians, Orangeville Police Chief Wayne Kalinski, leaders in the community, actors, singers, well-known community members. Together they are presenting the difficult, but necessary to hear dramatic and traumatic stories of violence and abuse.

In a telephone interview, Stacey Tarrant, manager of development and community relations at Family Transition Place (FTP), provided a great deal more about the upcoming event and the reasons why it is important to attend it.

“These stories are based on real life,” she said. “It’s difficult to watch in points but it educates and communicates those stories.”

Education is the key; where ignorance rules the roost and respect and love are lost, violence may well follow. Although FTP is best known as an emergency shelter, open always to women and their children running from violence in their homes or elsewhere, the organization also focusses on education and presenting information.

Two educators from the FTP staff for the last 13 years go into the schools to run classes about healthy relationships for students in Grade 5 and up.

“The kids love the classes because they can ask questions they couldn’t ask anywhere else,” Tarrant said. “This gives them chance to learn what is a healthy relationship. The schools see the benefit too (as these subjects are not necessarily part of their curriculum).”

The performance is also a fundraiser for FTP, about which we have now learned its value as a shelter and a source of school room education. Much further than that, though, is the mentoring with individuals and in groups.

“There is abuse counselling to help a woman in her journey of being able to cope with getting out of it,” Tarrant explained. “There is counselling about sexual abuse for men and women.”

She went on to talk about the problems at the front line, as it were

“Our shelter’s always been full for years — to capacity. We see a trend, now Christmas is coming, there are tensions over money.”

What can be done about it all, as individuals, how can we contribute to the solution?

“We really want the focus to be, by showing up (at the performance of Rage Against Violence), that is something,” she said. “Although the conversation might be difficult to have, I think that having the conversation can make people more aware.”

To some extent, legal advice is also available, keeping in mind there are no lawyers on the FTP staff, but there is knowledge of how things work within the law and assistance can begin with that.

Mentoring as groups and volunteering in any way are important to the successful running of Family Transition Place. “For a mentors’ group, volunteer men started a committee as an education,” Tarrant said.

Taking the message of this performance home is the beginning of “doing something about it.” Parents can teach their children even about all the little hints of sexist remarks that lead to a whole attitude that permits abuse. It can begin with the jokes that any way denigrate either gender.

“The more we talk and think about the problem, the better we see resolution,” she remarked. “I am a parent with an eight-year-old boy. I’m always appropriate with him — I don’t repeat stupid jokes — they’re not okay. The solution — we need to change our conversation with our children.”

Rage Against Violence is on at the Town Hall Opera House Nov. 13. For tickets, call the Box Office at 519 942-3423; or go on line at www.orangevilletix.ca

Learn about rights at work

Jobs Caledon hosts a guest seminar, Knowing Your Rights @ Work next Thursday (Nov. 17).

It will run from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. at the Caledon Community Services Office, in the

In her presentation, Sue Mortimer, executive director of Labour Community Services of Peel (LCSP), will be discussing matters affecting workers in Ontario workplaces, including common workplace issues, laws, an introduction to workplace rights and where to access help. A practice scenario will also take place.

“Many people do not know what their rights are in the workplace and what laws are there to protect them,” she said. “Knowing your rights is important and it’s empowering.”

LCSP has been offering labour-related services to the Peel community for more than 35 years. The Help Centre is for clients who are experiencing income security issues related to Employment Insurance, Canada Pension Plan, Human Rights and WSIB. Additional services, such as completing paperwork and representation at tribunal, may also be offered as needed.

With 20 years experience with LCSP and 30 years in the field, Mortimer will offer participants valuable information and insight in knowing their rights in the workplace.

CVC seeks nominations for environmental awards

Do you know a local community group, youth group, school, business or landowner that inspires environmental change through their leadership?

If so, Credit Valley Conservation (CVC) wants to hear from you.

CVC is seeking nominations for its annual Friends of the Credit Conservation Awards. The nomination process only takes a few minutes and is open until Nov. 18.

“Conservation efforts in our community reach far beyond the work we do as an organization,” said CVC’s Deputy CAO and Director of Watershed Transformation Mike Puddister. “Last year we honoured 23 recipients who stood out as leaders and environmental champions. We feel it’s important to recognize and celebrate the talents and achievements of those who demonstrate such a strong commitment to our local environment.”

The awards program recognizes one-time projects and initiatives, as well as those that have extended over multiple years. Consideration is given to all projects that promote a healthy environment. The nomination process is open to individuals, organizations, schools, businesses and youth (25 and under) who have made a significant contribution to protect, preserve and restore nature in the Credit River watershed. The Friends of the Credit Conservation Awards are given annually to those who stand out as environmental champions in the community.

Nominations are reviewed by the CVC Board of Directors who make the final award selection. Awards are issued in five categories: Conservation Award of Excellence; Conservation Award of Distinction; Award of Merit; Young Conservationist Award; and Watershed Legacy Donor.

The awards program was established in 1986. It is an opportunity for the CVC Board of Directors to recognize those who have demonstrated a flair for positive environmental enhancement. Nominations can be entered online at www.creditvalleyca.ca/nominate

For more information about the awards program, or examples of past winners, visit www.creditvalleyca.ca/conservation-awards

Golden Hawks earn first home win over Flyers

By Jake Courtepatte

The Caledon Golden Hawks have shown some signs of life in the Provincial Junior Hockey League.

Almost two months into the season, and after eight home games, the Golden Hawks finally won their first game of the 2016-17 season at Caledon East.

It came at the expense of the Midland Flyers Sunday night; a stellar 4-0 shutout for goaltender Andrew Ireland, his first of the year while stopping all 29 Midland shots.

Caledon, meanwhile, threw 38 shots at the Flyers cage. Dominating the play from the first puck drop, Flyers' goaltender Jake Norton kept the Hawks off the board in the first period, but a peppering of pucks in the second resulted in three straight Caledon tallies.

Andrew Woods scored twice in the second, while Mitchell Devins-Cann notched his second goal in three games as a Hawk, before Tyler Whitten put the game away for good six minutes into the final frame.

The win came on the back of another victory; a 4-2 decision over the Penetang Kings Friday, tripling the Hawks' output of wins on the season in one fell swoop.

Tied 2-2 through two periods of play, Tyler Whitten scored his fifth of the season midway through the third, which would prove to be the game winner. Captain Nicholas McNutt added a late empty-netter.

Ireland was equally as impressive in this outing, stopping 27 of the 29 shots he faced.

Despite adding four points to their season standings over the weekend, the Hawks have a long road ahead if they are to have any chance of crawling out of the Carruthers division basement. Their record of 3-14-1 gives Caledon seven points on the season, six back of both the Kings and the Schomberg Cougars.

It is interesting to note, however, that it was in late October of the 2015-16 season that the Hawks turned around a dismal start, playing to the second best record in the division for the remainder of the regular season.

The Alliston Hornets winning streak came to an end over the weekend, though their unbeaten streak remains, following a 4-4 tie with Penetang Sunday. The Carruthers division's top team moves to a record of 17-0-1.

Only one game is on the Hawks' schedule this week, hosting the Orillia Terriers (7-11-0) at Caledon East Sunday.

Puck drop is set for 6:30p.m.

Rotary collecting hockey equipment for First Nations

The Rotary Club of Palgrave is again joining forces with Rotarians in Etobicoke to collect gently used hockey equipment to send to First Nations young people in remote northern Ontario communities.

The clubs were involved in this collection last year, and they were able send equipment to two schools in northern Ontario. Rotarian Susan Hicks said last year's efforts were very successful.

And the young recipients of the equipment were appreciative too.

"We were sent back a jersey that had been signed by a bunch of the students with 'Thank-you's', their names and a few player numbers too," she reported. "It was quite moving to read it and know what a difference it made to them."

"This year our goal is to reach many more schools than the two we gave to last year, but we are asking the schools we gave to if they need anything more, so they know we will still be there for them," she added. "We want them to know it's not just a one-time gift and then we disappear. The children need to know we care."

She added they are hoping people in the community will start their own mini drives and add them to the Rotary efforts.

Contributions can be dropped off at the barn of Rotarian Bernie Rochon at 17350 Highway 50 (use sliding door entrance) until Dec. 15.

For more information, contact Hicks at 416-417-4479.

Midget AA Hawks win second tournament in young season

By Jake Courtepatte

The season is young, but the Midget AA Caledon Hawks are riding a hot streak and have already claimed gold twice.

The champions of the Mississauga Early Bird Tournament in mid-September are now also the champions of the Mississauga North Stars Scotiabank Cup, an enormous annual tournament for AA teams of all ages.

Bringing an undefeated record of 11-0-1 into the recent tournament at Iceland, the Hawks easily swept through their round-robin opponents. By a total score of 12-4, Caledon beat the Markham Waxers, Stouffville Clippers and Stratford Warriors en route to a semifinal berth.

Heading past Clarkson early Sunday afternoon into the evening's final, the Hawks met the Whitby Wildcats, the only other undefeated team in the division.

Having dominated their opponents for most of the tournament, the Hawks were caught off guard early by a speedy Whitby squad, who opened the scoring five minutes in. A quick pass in the neutral zone caught the Caledon defenders out of position, with the Wildcats converting on a breakaway.

But the Hawks immediately pressed back, with Tyler Giancos planting himself in front of the Whitby net on a power play and burying a rebound.

Midway through the second period, Caledon took their first lead, on a nice passing play down low from Sam Siskos to Nicolas Saville.

They took that lead into the third period, until with ten minutes to go, Whitby rang one in off the post to once again tie the game.

Just more than one minute later, the game-winning goal was notched by Robinson on a rebound from a Max Grant shot.

Just for good measure, Giancos and Ryan Gray combined to add one more late in the game, with Gray burying Giancos' rebound. The final score was 4-2.

Caledon Minor Hockey was oh-so-close to being a two-time winner, with the Minor Midget AA Hawks putting up a valiant effort in their division, only two come up one goal short in the final earlier Sunday.

After sweeping through round robin play with scores of 4-1, 3-2, and 2-0, the Hawks met 2-1 Burlington in Sunday morning's semifinal. A shutout earned them a berth in the afternoon final, where the Hawks dropped a close one, 2-1 to Waterloo.

The midget AA Caledon Hawks won the Mississauga North Stars Scotiabank Cup.

Learning what high school is like at St. Michael

St. Michael Catholic Secondary School opened its doors last Thursday night for Grade 8 students planning to attend next year and their parents, offering a chance to learn a bit about what awaits them in high school. There was lots of activity in the Hair and Aesthetics Cosmetology room, as many of the students had the chance to practise some of what they have learned. Rina Cariati was working on the makeup of Janelle Clarke.

The science labs are interesting places in any high school. Grade 12 students Aliana Ramondino, Meaghan Nespolo and Christina Tersigni were working on this dissection of a fetal pig.

C3 to honour local athletes

C3 is opening the doors to invite the entire community Nov. 12 to meet some of the world's greatest athletes.

Caledon based Olympian Andrew Yorke, who raced in Rio, will be recognized at the year-end supper, to be held at Caledon Golf and Country Club at 2121 Olde Base Line Rd.

The evening's keynote speakers are a unique family. The Mallorys from Barrie set a world record six years ago when a family of five climbed Mount Everest. Imagine parents and their kids all climbing the world's toughest and highest mountain. Top Para athletes will be at the evening supper as well as local World Champions.

"Our goal is to have a night once a year to recognize amazing athletic accomplishments by local athletes and to hopefully inspire our community to set big goals and go after it," said Caledon's Olympic coach Barrie Shepley.

Shepley was in Rio in August doing work with CBC Sports. Other locals who will be at the event include National Champions Sean Bechtel and Taylor Reid, as well as World Half Ironman Champion Bob Knuckey.

Tickets for the event are $50, and that includes supper, a small gift and an inspiring night.

The evening is open to anyone who wants to be inspired, and help celebrate the great local success. It is being sponsored by Scotia Bank, Benson Steel, Kinetico Water, Royal Containers, Caledon Hills Bike Shop and Personal Best.

To reserve a seat or two or an entire table, email barrie@personalbest.ca or call Barrie at 647-400-3845.

Olympian Andrew Yorke will be recognized Nov. 12.

Genelyn Ramos and Martina Nobile were practising the creation of slime.

INDUSTRIAL AND CONSTRUCTION SAFETY TRAINING

Prior to starting my Real Estate career in 1990, I worked as a litigation clerk for the 4th largest law firm in North America. This position enabled me to focus on detail and accuracy and also give me a thorough knowledge of the legal aspects of Real Estate.

In Real Estate I have developed a specialized marketing and promotional program that has allowed me to assist hundreds of families with their Real Estate needs.

Being married with children, I know the importance of Home Ownership, how it relates as a financial investment for the future and the contribution it makes to the stability of the family unit.

To allow me to be the BEST Realtor possible, I am always updating my skills, recently just completing a seven week course which encompassed many of today's newest technologies and strategies to sell your home for TOP DOLLAR.

I have been a full time Realtor since 1990 and I am a member of The Toronto Real Estate Board, which has over 24,000 members that have access to your listing.

I am married to William and have a son, Nicholas - age 28 and a stepson, Matthew - age 16.

Being a full time Realtor requires great dedication but William and the children are always 100% behind me, willing to help in any way possible, making it easy to balance my career and home life.

I have been a Top Producer year after year being a Centurion Award Winner, which is the highest level of achievement that is given by Century 21, the largest Real Estate company in the world.

I am known and recognized in the industry for having a proven track record along with superior customer service.

When buying or selling your largest investment, doesn't it make sense to use a Realtor with experience, knowledge and integrity and a proven track record?

Let me assist you in finding your dream home, in a neighborhood that is right for you, and in the price range that suits your budget, if you are interested in selling a property, I have the expertise to help you to get the fastest sale possible at the highest price.

Give me a call today, I look forward to the opportunity of working with you and making all your Real Estate dreams a reality.

Strong negotiation skills – As your REALTOR®, I will negotiate well and in a manner that is mutually acceptable to all parties involved. In order to be a good negotiator, I possess strong “people skills” and genuinely enjoy working and dealing with various types of people.

Knowledge – I am familiar with the Greater Toronto Area including Caledon and Bolton. I will be able to assist you in finding out local school information, city demographics and more.

Trustworthiness, diligence and helpfulness – As a buyers or seller, you can trust me implicitly and know that I have a passion for the business and will be helpful during the process and not intrusive.
