Caledon native Taylor Raddysh celebrates a second period goal during Team Canada's 10-2 win over Latvia in round-robin play at the 2017 IIHF World Junior Hockey Championship.

Raddysh puts Caledon on the world hockey map

By Jake Courtepatte

Taylor Raddysh joined a very short list in Team Canada's 10-2 drubbing of Team Latvia last Thursday in the round robin of the IIHF World Junior Hockey Championship.

Mario Lemieux, Simon Gagne, Brayden Schenn and now Raddysh, are the only Canadian players to ever score four goals in one game in the tournament.

"He's a wizard in front of the net," said linemate Matt Barzal in a press conference following the game. "Always seems to be banging in pucks or getting his stick on pucks, but his vision is very underrated. Even through the neutral zone and in the corners, he always seems to find me. He's super-easy to play with and I'm glad we've found chemistry. Hopefully the hot stick doesn't wear out."

Adding to the luster of the moment was the natural hat trick the right winger completed at the midway point of the second period, short minutes after his second of the night and adding another in the third.

"You never really picture yourself being in the same status as them in a game like that," Raddysh said. "It's pretty cool to see your name beside those guys. It was a fun night and you have to enjoy the moment for what it is."

"The guys wanted me to get one more," he added. "But I had to be happy with what (already) happened."

At only 18, the Caledon native was impressing at the OHL level, playing for the Erie Otters before joining Team Canada, potting 23 goals this season and adding 38 assists in just 28 games played. A second-round pick of the Tampa Bay Lightning in last year's NHL draft, Raddysh has exceeded expectations and trails just Alex DeBrincat in scoring for the Otters.

CANADA'S FINEST CUSTOM CABINETRY MANUFACTURED IN THE HEART OF CALEDON

LOOK AT WHAT WE HAVE BUILT IN YOUR NEIGHBOURHOOD

We would like to share a heart-warming story about a wonderful, local couple and the relationship that developed from the simple dynamics between a contractor and client, to one that renewed our faith in our community and made us all better people by the end of it. A story that clearly demonstrates that trust and integrity are still very much a part of our modern existence. And finally, a story that shows that the passion for living and creating, for beautifying our surroundings never fades.

We met this wonderful couple (photographed, above left) at the Fall Home Show in October of 2015. During the hustle and bustle of a busy Friday evening, we had been talking to endless people about the kitchen we had on exhibit (photographed, above right). As the crowds filed in and out of our demo area, a gentleman asked us a few preliminary questions about our setup. We spoke about the quality and features of Rosemount cabinets and as he peppered us with more questions and received increasingly thorough answers, his interest seemed piqued. He seemed content with our explanations and soon asked us if we would be able to install the kitchen we had on display in his own home. We got our first sense of his dynamic energy when we, in turn, asked if he had 10 foot ceilings. His answer- "I'll make them 10 foot."

At that moment, his lovely other half approached and passed along the details of their address. She asked that we drop by in the morning to see if we could make a deal. That very next morning, at 7am they paid for their kitchen in full, asking for it to be shipped to the site of an old farmhouse they were in the midst of renovating. Once the renovation was finalized, we would complete the kitchen installation.

In a show of great faith and communication, half of the kitchen sat in our warehouse for 10 months while the other half was in a trailer on their property. For nearly a year, the cabinetry stood (paid in full!) while we all waited for what turned out to be one of the most outstanding transformations we had ever seen.

This couple in their seventies had a rare zest and passion for creating an incredible home for themselves and were hands-on through the entire process; he did his own general contracting and organized all the trades. Ten whole months after meeting at the Fall Home Show we were able to finally custom modify and fit the kitchen that they had first seen on display in their own new, dream home.

We truly believe that this is more than just the story of a successful kitchen installation, it is an example of a relationship between a local couple who handed over thousands of their hard earned dollars and a company that communicated with them the whole way through, installing their dream kitchen without a single complication or additional charge. We truly believe that both the journey and the end results speak for themselves.

If you are looking for the highest quality kitchen cabinetry, custom built right here in the heart of Caledon; give Rosemount Studios a call.

Shop with a Cop event was a great success

Caledon OPP reports there were 73 deserving Caledon students had the opportunity to spend time with a police officer shopping for Christmas gifts for their families Dec. 17.

The fifth annual Shop with a Cop event was a success, thanks to local businesses and schools. The students were given an hour to wander the aisles of Walmart on Mayfield Road to make their purchases. The shoppers were then bussed to Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School. The hungry shoppers were then served breakfast and had a special visit from Santa and participated in holiday games and a movie.

“This wonderful event truly encompasses the meaning of Christmas and essentially allowed officers the opportunity to give back to the youth in our community,” commented Constable Stephanie Hammond, who co-chaired the event with Constable Joe Brisebois. “Huge smiling faces made it all worthwhile.”

The following sponsors donated money and gift certificates for the event: Garden Foods, Foodland Caledon East, Zehrs Markets, Tim Hortons, Autoblock Auto Repair, Ontario Provincial Police, Ontario Provincial Police Association Branch 5, the Pevato Family, the Lain Family, Kathy and Rachel Crowhurst, Caledon Village Association, Brampton Christian School, Oxford Learning, Caledon Subway, Olympia Sand and Gravel Ltd., Long Environmental Consultants Inc., Markdale Aggregates Inc., Future Shield, Home Hardware Bolton, MVS Designs, local schools, Parkview Bus Lines, Hewlett Packard and Pacific Paving Ltd.

Thanks was also extended to volunteers from the Optimist Club of Caledon, staff and students of Robert F. Hall School, Town of Caledon, OPP Auxiliaries, Caledon OPP Volunteers, as well as Santa and Mrs. Claus and Helpers.

Sergeant Paul Baton was accompanied through the store by Sierra Jones, 15, and Jayden Tricoca, 6 during the recent Shop with a Cop.

MTO asked to review speeds on Highway 9

By Bill Rea

The Town of Caledon is asking the Ministry of Transportation (MTO) to review the posted speed limits on Highway 9, from Regional Road 50 to a point between Airport Road and Mountainview Road.

Town councillors were recently quick to pass the motion that was put forth by Councillor Nick deBoer.

The preamble to the motion noted the posted speed limit along that stretch is 80-km-h, and the portion of road contains a number of driveways, as well as entrances drive-thru establishments, gas stations, etc. It added local emergency services have had to respond to many calls near some of these entrances.

The motion called for the review to see if lower speed limits could reduce the number of accidents. As well, deBoer added an amendment at the last minute, asking Town staff to provide relevant information to MTO, in order to “try to make it as easy as possible.”

He said there are a couple of areas along the stretch that pose particular problems, including at the intersection with The Gore Road. As well, there are two Tim Hortons outlets; one at the Esso station west of Regional Road 50, and the other just west of Airport Road.

DeBoer said he’s been told by the district fire chiefs at both Palgrave and Mono Mills that the stretch cited in his motion is where the most activity is.

“That’s the busiest section,” he said.

“There seems to be more and more cars coming up The Gore Road,” he also observed.

Deboer added there’s already been a review conducted on the stretch of road to the west, which was requested by the Town of Mono.

Councillor Jennifer Innis agreed there have been a lot of accidents along the stretch of road, including some involving pedestrians.

Local schools pitched in with various charitable projects volved in cramming a police cruiser, Vice Principal Valerie Cunningham reported.

The staff at James Bolton Public School were involved in the Share the Joy Program through the Peel District School Board. Principal Laurie Allison said they were supporting a family in need in the region.

She also said students helped support a school that's in need in Peel with contributions of used coats, boots, etc. As well, the school held a Holiday Concert under the stars, and people were asked to bring food items to cram into a cruiser.

Macville Public School provided a supply of toys, clothes and books to The Exchange.

Teacher Lorraine Lapp also said students helped cram some police cruisers.

As well, she said Macville's first ever Me to We committee announced a successful fundraising campaign that supported efforts for clean water in Tanzania and to help entrepreneurs in Kenya. Student volunteers, under the direction of teacher Liz Gilchrist, sold Rafiki bracelets made by women in Kenya. In a week they raised $520. Half of these funds went to the women who made the bracelets and the other $260 will go to efforts in Tanzania to make clean water more accessible.

In addition, she reported Grade 5 and 6 students in Scott Wallace's class made and sold decorations in support of The Exchange Support Food Pantry. They raised more than $165. Karyn Davies' Grade 1 students also made and sold decorations so they could buy socks for other children.

The Beckers store in Caledon village started serving hand-scooped ice cream in the summer, and Kathy Anderson, acting principal at Caledon Central Public School, said 25 cents from each cone was donated to the school. The Student council decided to use the money to support families through Share the Joy.

She also said Team Minga at the school, which is aimed at empowering students to think globally, sold Rafiki bracelets to raise funds for a Me to We project that support educators in Ecuador.

Students at SouthFields Village Public School organized a campaign to collect 10 different types of items over 10 days, such as toiletries, mittens, food, etc. Vice-Principal Lisa Okzawa said the collected items were sent to CCS.

Student members of the Interact Club at Humberview Secondary School filled about 50 shoeboxes with items to be distributed by the Rotary Club of Bolton, according to Office Manager Wendy Ramirez.

She also said there was a food drive run at the school in support of The Exchange, and vocational students created Christmas cards and ornaments.

A Pyjama Draw was held at St. John the Baptist Elementary School in Bolton.

Teacher Rosanna Covre said students were asked to bring in new pyjamas, from infant to adult.

"We were hugely successful," she declared, adding there were more than 500 contributions.

They were distributed through various organizations.

Students at St. Michael Catholic Secondary School in Bolton were busy leading into the Christmas season.

Chaplaincy Leader Urszula Cybulko said some students took part in two Christmas Street Patrols in downtown Toronto, taking warm clothing, sandwiches and hot chocolate to needy people they found.

The students also put together Christmas baskets for local needy families.

Cybulko also said Grade 10 student Marco Mattachione headed a very successful toy drive.

"They collected a lot of toys," she declared. "It was amazing."

She added the toys were sent to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

Students at Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School in Caledon East were working on a Jesse Tree, according to acting chaplain Nisheeta Menon. She said it involves people gathering to take up causes to help those in need, such as Choices Youth Shelter in Orangeville, which the school sponsors.

Allan Drive Middle School was the scene of Allan Drive Rocks, an afternoon concert, with proceeds going to DARE Arts, which helps bring arts to aboriginal youngsters in northern Ontario, Principal Felicia Hiscock reported.

Students at St. Nicholas Elementary School in Bolton took part in a food and toy drive, Principal Anna D'Agostino reported. The proceeds went to The Exchange and Catholic Community Services.

She also said staff pitched in to help support a family within the school community.

Students at Alloa Public School contributed items like food, mitts and hats to Peel Outreach. Principal Tammy King explained about 75 per cent of the school community lives in Brampton. She also said there were toys collected to be crammed into police cruisers.

King's College School on the Gore Road held a number of events, like Dress-Down Day to raise money to support two families.

Principal Barb Lord said they raised more than $1,500, so they were able to buy them (one was a family of six and the other of seven) food, clothes, gift certificates for turkeys, etc.

"It's one of the things they love doing every year," she said.

Caledon OPP officers were outside Allan Drive Middle School the week before Christmas helping students cram a cruiser.

Teachers Angela Baldesarra and Jennifer Caruk are seen with some of the members of the Me to We club at Ellwood Memorial Public School involved in collecting items for Shoebox Project Canada. The shoeboxes were distributed to women shelters in Peel. They were able to fill 50 boxes and them some.

Calendar Girls coming to Orangeville Opera House

Orangeville Music Theatre (OMT) will be bringing the hilarious and cheeky comedy/drama Calendar Girls to the Opera House stage this month.

As a special treat, each performance of Calendar Girls will be opened by the vocal stylings of the Orangeville Chorus (Sweet Adelines International).

When Annie's husband John dies of leukaemia, she and her friend Chris resolve to raise money for a new settie in the local hospital waiting room. They manage to persuade four fellow Women's Institute (WI) members to pose nude with them for an "alternative" calendar, with a little help from hospital porter and amateur photographer

Lawrence.

The news of the women's charitable venture spreads like wildfire, and hordes of press soon descend on the small village of Knapely in the Yorkshire Dales.

The calendar is a success, but Chris and Annie's friendship is put to the test under the strain of their new-found fame.

Based on the true story of 11 WI members who posed nude for a calendar to raise money for the Leukaemia Research Fund, Calendar Girls opened at the Chichester Festival Theatre and has since become the fastest selling play in British theatre history.

The play is almost always performed in conjunction with the production of a calendar in support of a local cause. Orangeville Music Theatre is supporting the Music&Memory program at Dufferin Oaks. Music&Memory is a non-profit organization that brings personalized music into the lives of dementia patients through digital music technology. The music helps with responsive behaviours, and provides moments of joy and comfort.

Many local icons from within the community have shed their cloths for the Calendar in support of this cause.

The models are Lynda Buffett, real estate agent; Donna Henderson, president of the Orangeville Agricultural Society; Sherry Irwin, owner of the Bluebird Café; OMT executive members; Pat Vipond, founding director of the Sweet Adelines; Kerstin Stinson, artist; Gail Campbell, Orangeville Town Councillor; Kay MacGregor, founder of Orangeville Music Theatre; members of Sweet Adelines International; Lynda Clare, artist; Betty McCabe, retired teacher and Community Support Day Program Volunteer and Ed Crewson, former federal Liberal candidate in Dufferin-Caledon.

Calendars are $20 and can be purchased at Enchanting Esthetics, Shelburne; Royal LePage, Shelburne; Clean Slate, Orangeville; The Chocolate Shop, Orangeville; Broadway Farmers Market, Caledon; or The Bartlett Gallery in the Alton Mill Arts Centre, Alton.

Performances are planned for Jan. 13 and 20 at 8 p.m., Jan. 14 and 21 at 7 p.m., and Jan. 15 and 22 at 2 p.m.

DONATION FROM PALGRAVE ROTARY

The Palgrave Rotary proudly supports The Meaghan Zarembo Music Room for disabled individuals. After learning the funds were short during a month long campaign to raise money for this important community program, the Rotarians went on a mission. They visited the Meaghan Zarembo Music Room, which operates from Tisho's Music Academy, and made a $2,000 donation to help them toward their $30,000 target. The Rotarians are appealing to the business community to donate to this worthy cause during the Christmas season. Rotarian Krysta Cadden, youth director and president-elect, extends a challenge to the community on behalf of herself and the club to support this wonderful program! "It is through the support of the wonderful people and businesses of Caledon that organizations like this can continue," she said. "Please consider making a donation this holiday season in lieu of exchanging gifts or on behalf of your employees. Every cent counts!" Pictured here are Mary Balinov, director of Tisho's Music Academy; Derek Clark, community director of the Palgrave Rotary; Elizabeth Rustja, incoming youth director; President-Elect Krysta Cadden; Danielle Zarembo; and Meaghan Zarembo.

Tipling Stage is back on track

Despite twice this season having been forced to abandon plans for the scheduled production due to casting difficulties, Shelburne's community theatre company is forging ahead with its 2016-2017 season.

Patrick Hamilton's Gaslight has been selected and cast is in rehearsal under the direction of Bev Nicholas for a two-week-end run opening Jan. 27.

The classic Victorian-style thriller was a sensation when it opened in London's West End in 1938 and catapulted its creator to fame and fortune.

The Shelburne production features Jess Walker as Bella Manningham, a young, recently-married woman who is more than half convinced that, like her mother who died insane, she, too, is losing her mind. In fact, Jack Manningham, played by Tipling newcomer Michael Bedford, is slowly and deliberately driving his wife insane. He has almost succeeded when Peter King, as the former detective Rough, visits her while her husband is out of the house. Rough believes Manningham to be a manic criminal — a thief and the murderer of a former occupant of the house. Gradually, he restores Bella's confidence in herself and, as the evidence unfolds, proves her husband's true identity, and Bella achieves a few moments of sweet revenge for all the suffering inflicted on her.

Husky challenged Caledon to match donations

Husky Injection Molding System has long supported the Caledon Community Services (CCS) Santa Fund.

For the ninth year in a row, this support took the form of the Husky Challenge. Husky stepped up to support fellow residents across Caledon by challenging fellow businesses and residents to support the Santa Fund by committing to match every dollar raised to a maximum of $25,000.

"Husky is pleased to help support the Santa Fund again this year," said Husky Vice-President Corporate Services, General Counsel and Corporate Secretary Michael McKendry. "We recognize the immense contribution that Caledon Community Services makes towards improving the lives of local families, and we have always been a proud supporter of its initiatives. We encourage other local businesses and residents of Caledon to contribute to the Santa Fund and have a hand in giving back to the community."

"The positive impact on children and families this holiday season is invaluable," he added.

The demand for help for the holidays and throughout the year, with things like heating, continues to grow. More than 300 children and 165 families will benefit from such generosity this holiday. With Husky's dollar for dollar match, everyone will make double the difference.

"Hundreds of volunteers are working hard this year along with our staff to make Santa Fund the most successful in CCS' 45 year history," CCS CEO Monty Laskin commented.

"We're grateful beyond words for the tremendous level of support the community has shown in the past," he added. "I believe that together this year we can break (or shatter) all records."

Laskin believes just by sharing the word far and wide, and by letting the natural generosity of Caledon residents shine brightly in support of others in the community, that families in need will be able to celebrate the season with joy and continue to thrive in the New Year.

Christmas tree collection starts next week

During the weeks of Jan. 9 and 16, the Region of Peel will collect Christmas trees at the curb on residents' regular recycling collection day.

To set out Christmas trees for collection, residents should ensure that

- trees taller than three metres (10 feet) are cut in half;
- all outer plastic bags, ornaments, tinsel, etc. are removed;
- trees are not placed in or on snowbanks;
- trees are not obstructing the road or sidewalk.

Residents who miss their collection can also take their Christmas trees to a Community Recycling Centre (CRC).

WINE TASTING EVENT SUPPORTS CCS

Naked Vine in Bolton hosted a wine tasting event early in December, and participants were asked to bring a toy, gift card or money to go toward the Caledon Community Services Santa Fund. Shirley Pritchard was making her contribution, observed by Kim Villeneuve, Candice Plibersek, Sandy Brown and Vera Robinson.

Message from the Chair

In the business of being a Chamber, we strive to bring growth and prosperity to our community, sometimes with a lot of work and small steps forward. But Chamber leaders consistently demonstrate a certain tenacity that makes it possible to set and achieve remarkable goals. This is how we move our community forward and how our Caledon Chamber has moved beyond a role of traditional advocate at the local level to being a partner in developing solutions for Caledon's & Ontario's prosperity with our neighbouring Chambers, Boards of Trade and the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

In the past year we have done everything we can do to best serve the interests of our members and make our community a place for business to be successful. We are part of the 160 Chamber of Commerce/Boards of Trade in Ontario who worked together for the benefit of business. We are part of the largest network in Ontario and are a recognized, relevant voice to government.

We are thankful for the support of our member businesses and the grassroots volunteerism they provide that support the Chamber's mission and mandate.

Warren Darnley

That was 2016; A year to remember

Another year is now history, and there is a lot of uncertainty as we look ahead to 2017.

We in Canada had little to do with it, but we will surely feel the effects of a Donald Trump presidency south of the boarder. That was the major surprise of the year, although some are wondering if we should have been surprised at all. We probably should look to the coming year with as much confidence as we can muster.

Reflecting on what has gone on can help there.

We had the Olympic Games to keep us entertained in the summer, and the Blue Jays provided lots of excitement right into the baseball post-season. The question is can they do it again?

It was a time of passages. Three men who in their times dominated their respective sports left us. The entertainment world lost many we knew and loved. We ended the year mourning the likes of Princess Leia and Father Mulcahy.

It was not always an easy year to be a Caledon resident; not with councillors elsewhere in Peel Region trying to impose their will regarding things like growth in Bolton and the composition of council. And Mayor Allan Thompson spent much of the year waiting to hear how a court was going to rule on conflict of interest allegations. In the end, that Mayor won, and decisively.

And we also had the good days, with things like fairs and community days going as they should and reminding us there are some positive things that are always constant.

There are many things in the life of a community that are constant, and there are memorable things in a year like 2016, such as . . .

Residents started year getting used to new garbage collection

January

It was a new year and a new way for Peel Region residents to have their garbage collected.

Peel's bi-weekly, cart-based waste collection started, with garbage being put out one week, and recycling the other week.

Peel's Director of Waste Management Norman Lee gave Regional councillors a progress report on how things have been going, and his comments were pretty positive.

There was lots of fun had at the annual Winter-fest celebrations, hosted by the Town and May-field Recreation Complex.

It took a couple of days for Caledon's population to start growing in the new year.

According to the best information available, Caledon's first baby of 2016 was Daxton Gregory Welner of Mono Mills. He arrived several days earlier than expected, arriving Jan. 3. He was the first child of Amanda and Keith Welner.

After 30 years, Bolton's Dr. Joe Niedoba announced he would be stepping away from his practice at the end of the month.

But he was planning to keep busy as medical

Rotary Club of Palgrave's Weekly Rotary Minute

By Krysta Cadden

Have you set your New Year's Resolutions yet?

This is the time of year when we reflect on the changes we want or need to make. There are the superficial, yet purposeful promises we make to ourselves (get in shape, lose weight, improve wealth, etc.) Then there are the heartfelt promises we make to others, whether out loud or in our minds.

Here is a list of some Rotary New Year's resolutions to consider. These are easy resolutions that will strengthen our Rotary Club and our commitment to being Rotarians:

1. Attend our weekly meetings — Great speakers, fellowship and networking all happen at our weekly meetings. Or attend a makeup meeting at another Club.
2. Invite a new member — bring a guest and invite them to be a member. Who do you think would make a great Rotarian?
3. Wear your Rotary pin or display the Rotary logo — Be proud to be a Rotarian with the Rotary Club of Palgrave! It is also a great tool to start a conversation about the good work that Rotary does and membership.
4. Become a Rotarian not just a member — Find your Rotary moment. What do you like best about Rotary, what talent can you share with Rotary to make a difference in the world?
5. Make Rotary one of your charities of choice — Our Rotary Club does so much good in our local and international communities. Supporting Rotary will make sure this good work continues to happen.
6. Enjoy Rotary — Attend events, help at local service projects and give of yourself that which only you can give. Know that by working together we make a huge impact.

It is going to be an exciting year in 2017. Rotary Foundation turns 100 this year and will continue to change and adapt to meet the needs of communities locally and internationally.

Happy New Year to all!

Please visit www.rotaryclubofpalgrave.com for more information on our Club and all the wonderful ways you could get involved.

children in Africa could keep mosquitoes away, and prevent those youngsters from getting malaria.

To that end, students at Macville Public School started a fundraising campaign in support of Plan Canada and Spread the Net.

"We're about to start something that's never been done in a school in Caledon," teacher Lorraine Lapp told the students. "We're going to be spreading the word about Spread the Net."

Spread the Net is a national school-to-school challenge to raise money for these bed nets. The word gets around through the likes of Rick Mercer on his weekly TV show.

The school's support of Spread the Net was sparked by Grade 8 student Clark Elliott. He said he learned about it from watching the Mercer Report. "I thought it was a cool idea," he said.

He also said if Macville raised enough, there was a possibility Mercer would visit the school.

Municipalities like Caledon had already done a lot of work involving the GTA West Corridor Environmental Assessment (EA), and Town councillors wanted that work to be completed.

The Planning and Development Committee of council passed a motion asking Transportation Minister Steven Del Duca to resume and complete the study immediately. The province had previously announced that it would be suspending its work on the environmental assessment.

"The money's been spent," Mayor Allan Thompson said. "Let's finish it."

Thompson likened stopping the study to taking a college course, then not writing the final exam.

Peel Regional councillors also wanted things to proceed with the Corridor, but they were trying to avoid appearing pushy.

Regional staff had a motion ready for councillors, calling on Minister Del Duca to immediately resume and complete the EA study of the Corridor, in order to pick a preferred alignment for the proposed highway in the corridor, as well as interchange locations.

Plans for the Cheltenham Badlands were discussed a lot

Councillors, however, took out those provisions and called for a meeting with Del Duca and Regional Chair Frank Dale and the Mayors of Caledon, Brampton and Mississauga to discuss the importance of the Corridor and the completion of the study.

Caledon Mayor Thompson pointed out a lot of municipal money has been spent on the EA study.

“A lot of work has been spent and we have nothing to show for it at this end,” he declared.

But Commissioner of Public Works Dan

Labrecque was of a different mind. He said waiting a couple of months on a project like this was not a big deal.

Parking was still an issue when it came to developing a master plan for the Cheltenham Badlands.

About 60 people were on hand for a meeting which included an update on the work that had been done so far, and it was also an effort to gain public input.

Sean Fraser, director of heritage programs and operations for Ontario Heritage Trust (OHT), which owns the property, said plans were in the works for a residents’ forum on the matter.

“We haven’t done a great job of engaging with the residents,” he remarked.

Peel Region had announced plans a couple of years ago to put in a parking lot at the northeast corner of the property, and it sparked considerable controversy. Fraser said the location was determined after consultation, and involved the Town, Region and the Niagara Escarpment Commission (NEC). He couldn’t say if that would be the only parking area on the site.

There was mourning in Peel Region over the passing of former Brampton councillor Paul Palleschi.

“We’ve lost an icon,” Mayor Thompson said. “He was a person when he made his mind up to do something, he got it done. He was a doer.”

Inglewood native Michael Bobak was selected to play in the International Bowl in Dallas.

Bobak, 16, attended Robert F. Hall Catholic Secondary School the previous year, but was going to The Kiski School, a preparatory facility in Saltsburgh, near Pittsburgh, on a football scholarship.

Giuseppe Amorosi of Bolton was celebrating after winning a $100,000 top prize with Poker Lotto Jan. 27.

MP Tilson didn’t think much of the government’s plans to deal with ISIS

February

Caledon council was maintaining the position that the environmental assessment study on the GTA West Corridor should be resumed immediately.

Councillor Rob Mezzapelli opposed the motion, stating he’s always been cautious when it came to the study, and he wanted the Province to rationalize why it halted it.

Councillor Jennifer Innis pointed out members of the public and other stakeholders have already contributed to the study.

Shrove Tuesday came early in 2016, and there were plenty of pancake supper feeding lots of hungry diners.

The federal government announced its strategy for dealing with ISIS, but Dufferin-Caledon MP David Tilson wasn’t impressed.

He said the country would be taking a step back from the traditional role as fighters for human rights and international security.

It looked like Caledon councillors would be ready to rethink their position on addressing the planned expansion of the Tottenham Pit.

Members of the Planning and Development committee of council voted to refer a letter from Natural Resources and Forestry Minister Bill Mauro to staff for a report. This was after they heard from representatives from Protect Caledon Inc., the residents’ group that had opposed the expansion.

The Ministry had previously approved the Aggregate Resources Act (ARA) site plan amendment for the property, submitted by Brock Aggregates.

Local residents had announced they would be seeking a judicial review of the ruling, and were angry that the Town was not joining them in that effort. Council, at the time, had voted to seek a meeting with the Minister to make local concerns clear.

But the Minister said he was not available for such a meeting.

Cheryl Connors, representing Protect Caledon, told councillors the group had retained an environmental lawyer who had set down a strong opinion that the approval violates the Oak Ridges Moraine Conservation Plan, as well as the Planning Act.

“We’re confident this will be quite successful,” she declared.

After a 40-year career helping patients and serving her community, Headwaters Health Care Centre President and CEO Liz Ruegg announced she would be retiring in the fall.

Tragedy struck when two Georgetown residents died while kayaking on the Credit River near Terra Cotta. The bodies of Zachary Michael Sutherland Kaya Melanie Firth, both 21, were pulled from the river after two unoccupied kayaks had been seen stuck on the ice at The Forge Park in Terra Cotta.

It was estimated that more than 200 people packed the Caledon Seniors’ Centre for a public meeting hosted by Peel Region on the plans for Bolton’s residential expansion.

The Town had already decided where it wanted the expansion to go, but it still required a Regional Official Plan amendment (ROPA) to take effect, which was the point of the meeting.

Mayor Thompson, along with Councillors Innis and Groves, were joined by Anita Stellinga, vice-president of community investment for United Way of Peel Region, in spending a night getting a feel for what it’s like having no place to sleep, except for a car.

They were taking part in the second annual Longest Night event, aimed at raising awareness of the homelessness issue in the community.

They got a lousy night’s sleep.

“Sleeping in the car sucks,” Thompson declared shortly after waking up in the morning.

The Orange Peel Morris Dancers led those assembled in the singing of the Carhampton Wassailing Song, which is believed to date back to the 1700s. It a song that calls for a good crop of apples in the coming season. It was part of the Family Day Wassailing Festival at Spirit Tree Estate Cidery.

Dipping into our pockets again

NATIONAL AFFAIRS
Claire Hoy

Well, here we are starting yet another year, and Premier Kathleen Wynne is already dipping into your pockets to — once again — extract money to subsidize the most profligate government in Ontario history.

Oh yes, as is often the case, the cover story is that it’s necessary to save the planet, despite the fact that even if Ontario shut down completely and didn’t emit a single bit of carbon into the atmosphere, the world would not notice.

Ontarians, however, would. Just as we have for years as this government — and its McGuinty predecessor — have continued to drink the Koolaid propaganda on humans being the primary cause of global warming.

Never mind that the earth has seen numerous periods where temperatures are warmer and storms are more frequent — long before the advent of gas-guzzling cars, etc.

The ideologues at Queen’s Park — soon to be followed by the ideologues at Parliament Hill — are stiffing you at the gas tank for 4.3 cents a litre and, for those who insist upon heating their homes, an extra tab of up to $6.70 per month. According to Auditor General Bonnie Lysyk, Wynne’s ill-considered cap and trade scheme will add an average of $156 this new year to your household costs, up to $210 in 2019, plus an extra $75 in indirect goods and services. It all adds up to a $1.9 billion tax heist. Sweet.

Add to that the planned carbon tax imposition by Prime Minister Justin Trudeau and you’ll begin to understand how much this misplaced madness is costing us. (And that’s just directly, not counting the ongoing flow of businesses leaving Ontario because of these added costs.)

And for what? Beyond a thinly veiled tax grab — and a bow to the environmental zealots out there — nothing. It will, as we’ve said, have no discernible impact upon anything except the cost of living in Ontario and the cost of doing business here.

To be fair, however, you have to hand it to Wynne. Her timing is absolutely perfect. Same goes with her hero Trudeau.

If you were to pick a worse time to impose extra taxes of this nature you couldn’t possibly come up with a better (worse?) time to do it.

I realize many have been traumatized by the election of Donald Trump as U.S. president, but all the hand-wringing and teeth-gnashing in the world is not going to change that.

So making Ontario — and Canada, for that matter — more costly venues to do business will make us even less competitive than we already are.

Yes, yes, Environment and Climate Minister Glen Murray is exempting some businesses from his new tax regime, but the fact is it will still add to the overall cost of doing business.

As much as it might offend you that Trump will be president, that will not change the reality that he absolutely will not play this trendy carbon tax game. What’s more, there is no doubt that he also plans a dramatic cut in corporate taxes, all designed to make U.S. businesses more competitive in the world.

You will also know that Trump’s surprising election win came about mainly because the northern industrial states, i.e. those in direct competition with Ontario, felt left behind by the tax-and-spend Democrats, and decided to break years of loyalty to that party by voting Republican. Trump owes them big time. And any payback for their support will absolutely hurt Ontario’s struggling industrial base north of the U.S. border.

So rather than counter this reality by lowering competitive costs, our collective geniuses at Queen’s Park and Ottawa have decided to make matters even worse. Then again, with their fixation on alternative energy, the Ontario Liberals have been doing this since McGuinty took over, which is a big reason why the historical engine of Canada’s economy, i.e. Ontario, has been reduced to a “have not” province.

This situation was bad enough when the Tories were in power in Ottawa — when they, too, were big spenders while talking like fiscal conservatives — but at least the Harper government made some effort to help our belabored industrial and manufacturing base.

Now, the combination of Wynne at Queen’s Park and Trudeau in Ottawa — squandering billions of your tax dollars on international carbon credits (while big polluters such as China and India continue unabated) — will make 2017 and beyond what they like to call in sports parlance “a self-inflicted wound.”

Good luck with that

Post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) is a very real concern for people in emergency services and first responders, and Peel Region was taking it very seriously.

Regional councillors received an update on what’s being done to help staff exposed to PTSD, especially paramedics. Much of this was prompted by the untimely death in January of paramedic Martin Wood. In fact, Regional Chair Frank Dale spoke a few words of tribute to Mr. Wood at the start of the meeting, and asked that a moment of silence be observed.

“I’ve had my share of really difficult situations in my 35 years,” Paramedic Chief Peter Dundas observed.

He also mentioned Mr. Wood, commenting “a small piece of me went with him that day, just like it did with every paramedic in our service.”

For the first time in their six-year history, the Caledon Golden Hawks advanced to the semifinals in the Georgian Mid-Ontario Hockey League.

They took their series with the Penetang Kings to the full seven games, but were unable to advance farther.

Staff and students at Macville Public School started February hoping they could raise $2,500 in their effort to Spread the Net, and they surpassed that target with points to spare. The fund-raising effort was in excess of $11,000.

The Headwaters Food and Farming Alliance (HFFA) was expanding its successful Farm to School program, and it had a large grant to help with the work.

About 100 people were on hand for a public open house at Caledon Equestrian Park, and it was there that Winston Uytendogaart, a volunteer with the Ontario Trillium Foundation announced HFFA was getting a grant of $299,700 over two years.

March

Talk that Rick Mercer would pay a call on Macville Public School became reality.

The host of the Rick Mercer Report on CBC was at the school to congratulate the students on their success in raising money for Spread the Net.

“You guys did a tremendous job!” he told the student body.

Students and others got to learn some facts about Caledon history, and in an amusing way.

They were on hand at the Albion-Bolton Library for a Caledon Heritage Fair, as part of the celebrations to mark 40 years of Heritage Caledon working to preserve the history of the area.

“We’re going to keep the heritage committee really busy this year,” Mayor Thompson said. “A lot of us have deep roots here, and it’s very special.

The federal government was working with the idea of having more women depicted on banknotes, and MP David Tilson was enthused by the notion.

“I think it’s a great idea!” he said. “I think women have made tremendous progress. We’ve come a long way, but we need to go further.”

Ontario Progressive Conservative Leader Patrick Brown announced the proposed Ontario Retirement Pension Plan (ORPP) would be scrapped if he heads the next government.

See ‘Caledon’ on page A10

Macville Public School’s success in its Spread the Net effort meant students were able to plunk pies in the faces of their teachers, and certain visitors, like Rick Mercer. It was Grade 8 student Clark Elliott, who came up with the idea for the funding effort (after hearing about it on the Mercer Report) who got to hit Mercer in the face.

Caledon Chamber of Commerce recognized in House of Commons

Dufferin-Caledon MPP Sylvia Jones said that was nothing new, as Brown had been saying that for some time. Jones said ORPP will only have been in place about six months by the time of the next election, so it should be “much easier to wrap it up.” She added it’s always been understood that the Tories would scrap the plan.

MP Tilson delivered a statement in the House of commons in recognition of the 30th anniversary of the Caledon Chamber of Commerce. “The Chamber has been the voice of good business in Caledon by consistently providing excellent programs and services to its members since 1986, as well as always being a strong advocate on behalf of the business community to all levels of government,” he told the House. “The Chamber has also been an engaged and active member of the larger Caledon community. It has done this through events, such as the annual Caledon Home and Lifestyle Show, which showcases many outstanding local businesses, while providing residents with the opportunity to discover and support these local businesses, which benefits our community immensely.” A group of 47 rugby players and their coaches from Mayfield Secondary School left on a tour of Ireland. The Town decided to call on the Province to conduct air quality tests during the summer in Bolton and Caledon village. Terra cotta resident Donna Cragg joined Caledon Community Services as the new manager of communications and marketing. “It’s a great agency,” she said. “A great story, and I think it’s going to be an exciting one to tell.”

A group of young local soccer players were on their way to Texas to take part in the Dallas Cup International Tournament. This was the culmination of a successful season for the Caledon Bulldogs U17 squad. “We had a real good year last year,” Coach Maurizio Marini commented, noting they won their league championship, as well as other honours. The ice storm in March caused numerous problems, including the loss of one of Caledon’s heritage trees. West Caledon residents Paul and Debby Ross lost a sugar maple on their Mountainview Road property. They said the tree had stood at least 200 years. “It lived a long time,” Mrs. Ross observed. “It survived all these ice storms, and this one took it down.” The storm consisted of freezing rain, high winds and cold temperatures. The result was closed schools, giving local young people an extra long Easter weekend. As well, ice accumulating in trees caused considerable damage and numerous power blackouts. The federal budget brought down by Finance Minister Bill Moreau, contained a lot of good news for municipalities. Mayor Thompson had a number of positive things to say about it. But there are also questions about whether spending it called for would be affordable. “It’s probably the worst budget in a generation,” MP David Tilson remarked. But Thompson believed that in all his years in government, this was the first budget that reflected what municipalities had been looking for. “I welcome it,” he said.

There was opposition, but also indications the proponents of a Caledon village area pit proposal were working with the local residents. Lafarge Canada Inc. was seeking permission to mine material from a 33-hectare pit on the east side of McLaren Road, just south of Charleston Sideroad. A public information meeting was told that the property, also known as the Limebeer Pit, would be an extension of mining operations. Former councillor Ian Sinclair had a number of concerns with the application. They included the fact there had been no definite timeline set for the mining of the site by Lafarge, and there were no rehabilitation plans in place. He also observed that berms were planned to manage the visual impact, and he didn’t see how blocking the countryside scenes would prevent impact. “I think the berming practice should be stopped,” he said, advocating woodlots along the edge of the pit. There were 45 members of Town of Caledon staff who made the Sunshine List in 2015, meaning they made more than $100,000. The top earner at the Town was CAO Douglas Barnes, although he retired late in the year. The under-12 Caledon Cougars girls’ basketball team were able to hold their heads high as the second-best team in the province. The Cougars went undefeated in round-robin play at the Ontario Cup, before meeting a tough Transway Basketball squad on Ontario’s biggest stage. They lost in the final 41-34. The results are even more gratifying considering Caledon’s ranking. They entered the tournament as the fifth-ranked seed, meaning two of their three victories along the way were considered upsets. Caledon East area resident Betty Ward was recognized for the many years she has contributed to many causes. She was named Caledon’s Community Champion of 2016. The announcement was made at the Town’s 2016 Community Recognition Night. “I felt very honoured, but I’m sure there are many, many other people who deserve it,” she added. Students at St. John Paul II Elementary School in Bolton received a trill when their Satellite Remote Mission Operations Centre (RMOC) was toured by Canadian astronaut Lt.-Col. Jeremy Hansen. Hansen stressed the vastness of space. With the help of a visual presentation, he showed the students one of the stars that makes up the sword in the constellation Orion. But he said that the Hubble Space Telescope has made it possible to take a closer look, and determine there are really about 3,000 stars making up that one point in space. And there’s a lot more beyond that. Hansen told the students there might be 200 billion stars in this galaxy, and possibly 100 billion galaxies in the universe. “There are more stars in the universe than there are grains of sand on our planet,” he said. “We’re just starting to scratch the surface.” “We can do amazing things when we set big goals,” he told the students, encouraging to set goals for themselves, and telling people of these goals so then can help achieve them. Mississauga Mayor Bonnie Crombie might have wanted her municipality out of Peel Region, but most local observers didn’t think it would get very far. “I think if Hazel (McCallion) couldn’t do it, Bonnie can’t do it,” Councillor Innis observed. Business plays a vital part in the economy of any community, and that needs to be recognized. The Caledon Chamber of Commerce did just that early in April when it hosted its annual Business Excellence evening. The 2016 Business of the Year award went to Rafat General Contractor Inc. Residents were still planning to seek a judicial review of the site plan approval granted by the Province to Brock Aggregates for its expansion of the Tottenham Pit, but it looked like the Town wouldn’t be joining them. Caledon councillors received an update on the matter from lawyer Signe Leisk. In it, Leisk said they had reviewed the Oak Ridges Moraine Conservation Act, the Oak Ridges Moraine Conservation Plan and the Planning Act. The conclusions, she said, is there wouldn’t be much grounds on which to seek a judicial review. Cheryl Connors, of Protect Caledon Inc., was one of two residents to make a delegation, and she later said they will go ahead with the push for a judicial review.

The stage at St. John Paul II Elementary School in Bolton was appropriately decorated as the school welcomed Canadian astronaut Lt.-Col. Jeremy Hansen.

Betty Ward was named Caledon’s Community Champion in April.

“We have a very strong legal opinion and we’re going to win,” she declared. “We’ll see where they go with it,” Mayor Thompson commented later, pointing to the legal opinion that said they didn’t have a strong enough case.

Ticket sales started for a lottery that would see a 2016 Lincoln MKC SUV as the grand prize. The Caring for Our Community Lottery, being run in support of the Bethell Hospice Foundation, was launched at Fines Ford Lincoln in Bolton. Toronto Maple Leaf centre, and Caledon native Peter Holland was on hand to take part in the official first ticket sale to Brampton resident Carol Walker, a volunteer at Bethell Hospice whose husband was a resident there in 2012. Holland also sold a book of tickets to his mother June, who was at the event. “I like the odds, and you know what? It’s for a great cause,” she said.

Members of 310 running in Bolton received an inspirational message about the sport from an expert. Olympic 400-metre hurdler Sarah Wells was on hand with some reflections about her running career. Wells competed in the 2012 Olympic Games in London, where she made it to the top 24 in the world. She won the silver medal in the 400 metres hurdles at the 2015 Pan American Games.

Judgment was reserved in the case involving conflict of interest allegations against Mayor Thompson. Arguments were presented in the Superior Court of Justice over a day and a half by lawyers for Thompson, and Kelly Darnley, who commenced the action against him. The allegations included that Thompson had voted on matters in which he had a pecuniary interest a number of times and that he had obtained a loan from a developer, stipulating the note was collectable on 90-days notice. Thompson’s lawyer stressed that Thompson still had to be able to do his job. He stated that Darnley had argued that if Thompson voted on anything regarding the Whitebelt that could have the potential to increase the value of his property, then there’s a potential conflict. But the lawyer argued that wouldn’t be the case because that interest would be in common with electors in general. Any development in Caledon has the potential of raising the value of any property in Caledon, he maintained. It would take more than five months for the court to come down with a ruling, and it was solidly in Thompson’s favour.

Jakob Gatt of Palgrave got his first haircut in about three years.

The 10-year-old student at James Bolton Public School let his hair grow as a fund raiser for the Children’s Oncology department at South Lake Regional Health Centre in Newmarket, which is a satellite centre for the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. He is a cancer survivor, and he said the haircut was been timed to mark three years since he completed his chemotherapy. Jakob told the school he was diagnosed with leukemia when he was four, and spent three years battling it. “It took so many tests, needles and other stuff,” he said.

The Heroes are Human 2016 country-wide tour was ready to go, and it even had the vehicles for the trip. Fines Ford Lincoln in Bolton supplies two vehicles for the two-month tour. It was being run by the Tema Conter Memorial Trust, a non-profit organization providing peer and psychological support to emergency services, public safety, military, communications and correctional organizations who have to deal with the aftermath of situations they encounter on the job, and the post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) that can result. The trust was founded by King City resident Vince Savoia (formerly of Bolton).

Part of the aim of the tour was to build resiliency in those who are at risk of getting PTSD. They are also encouraging first responders to seek mental-health check-ups annually, much the way everyone else is encouraged to see their doctor every year.

Caledon resident Carly Cameron was competing in 3MT at Brock University. This was a national competition in which graduate students present their research thesis in a three-minute oral presentation. Three minutes is the absolute limit and no props are allowed, although a one static slide could be used. Cameron was working on her master’s degree in Kinesiology and her research was about women’s body image and weightlifting exercise while looking in a mirror. The title of her presentation was Mirror Mirror on the Wall.

It’s not surprising that the Mayfield Secondary School Grade 12 student Nicole Oziel has had a lot of academic success. She received more when it was announced that she was a recipient of the Founder’s Academic Merit Scholarship from University of Guelph Humber. But the announcement itself was a surprised, as she walked into the school auditorium to cheers from those assembled, including her parents and grandmother. “Oh my gosh!” was the thought she said went through her head when she realized what was going on. “I actually got it!”

The Town of Caledon was pitching in on the relief effort in light of massive wild fires in Fort McMurray, Alberta. Town council passed a motion to donate $5,000 to the Red Cross, Alberta Fires Appeal.

Signs commemorating Dixie Road and Horseshoe Hill Road as Veterans Memorial Roadway were prominently displayed as of May. Peel Region Chair Frank Dale was on hand, along with dozens of representatives of Regional staff and the Royal Canadian Legion, to help officially unveil the first sign on Dixie.

Fire officials from Venezuela welcomed to town

The proposed parking lot at the Cheltenham Badlands was moved along the road to being reality.
Two Niagara Escarpment Commission (NEC) hearing officers released their ruling of an appeal that had been launched to the proposal, dismissing it.

Caledon fire officials welcomed representatives from the fire brigade in Valencia, Venezuela.
Caledon Fire Chief David Forfar said the visit to the fire hall in Bolton was “acknowledging the brotherhood and sisterhood of firefighters all over the world.”
Arne Roostna and his wife Elizabeth were welcomed at the Fire Hall in Bolton.

There was not a lot of enthusiasm, but there was acceptance that speed cushions were going to be a reality in the west part of town, including in Belfountain.

The Official Town Crier of Caledon was declared overall winner of the Provincial Championships, run by the Ontario Guild of Town Criers.
Andrew Welch edged out both the current world champion and last year’s provincial winner by very small margins to take the win.

After more than a year of planning, structural work and exhibit renovations, the Great War Flying Museum (GWFM) re-opened to the public at Brampton Flight Centre.

The proposed extension to Highway 427 is going to include provisions for toll lanes.
That was among the details that came out of a public open house session in Vaughan, hosted by the Ministry of Transportation (MTO).
Project Manager Iqbal Muhammad said high-occupancy toll (HOT) lanes would be an extension of high occupancy vehicle (HOV) lanes.

The Ontario Heritage Trust (OHT) presented a few options for the future of the Cheltenham Badlands.
OHT, which owns the property, hosted a public meeting along with Dillon Consulting and Museum Planning Partners.
“I really appreciate all the interest you have shown,” Sean Fraser of OHT told the pack house. “We want to make sure we find the best solution for this amazing site.”
In terms of site management, most agreed that the master plan recommendations need to address environmental issues; sustainable visitation; periodic closures of trails, parking lot, shuttles and enforced parking/traffic regulations; fee-based visitation (e.g. parking or gate fee); site marketing and cross-marketing and responsibilities for site management and operations.
Preliminary site concepts were also presented at the meeting, outlining options for where parking lots, walking trails, viewing platforms, boardwalks and interpretive information boards could be located on the property. The concepts ranged from limited access to the badlands to full access.

Later in the month, the proposed parking lot at the Badlands got a little closer to becoming reality.
Peel Regional councillors agreed to release $700,000 that had been set aside for the project. This came after area resident Bonnie Ledson asked council to wait until a comprehensive master plan for the site had been completed and approved by the Region and Niagara Escarpment Commission (NEC). As well, Councillor Shaughnessy led an unsuccessful effort to get the matter referred to staff and other agencies for more information.
“Sometimes it’s not a referral,” Mississauga Councillor Nando Iannicca ob-

Catholic Secondary School in Caledon East were out in force for the annual Relay for Life. They started at 7 p.m. and spent the next 12 hours walking laps around the school’s track, raising money for the Canadian Cancer Society.
Amber Hann, one of the head chairs of the event, told the participants it’s expected there will be 131,300 new cases of cancer diagnosed in Canada this year, and there will be about 76,600 who will die from the disease.
“Relay for Life will certainly save lives,” she declared.

served. “It’s sometimes we don’t want to make a decision, one way or another, and I think we’re getting to the point where a decision needs to be made.”

The weather was very cooperative as the Caledon Agricultural Society put on the 155th annual Caledon Fair.

It took a long time, but North Peel Community Church in Sandhill finally got its parking lot.
There was a festive mood in the air as members of the congregation and representatives from the Town gathered to celebrate.
“It’s a special event for us,” remarked Kevin Junor, who was MC for the ceremony. “Celebrate with us something that is very special.”
Bishop Ronald Kelly called it a “historic milestone.”
“It’s a ground-breaking event for North Peel Community Church,” he added. “It’s a dream that came true.”

Premier Kathleen Wynne shuffled her cabinet, and MPP Sylvia Jones thought it was too big.
“I don’t think we need half of the entire Liberal caucus in cabinet,” said, speculating that Wynne was trying to buy loyalty with the promotions.

MP David Tilson introduced a Private Member’s Bill which would allow businesses who are entertaining clients on the golf course the same 50 per cent deduction enjoyed by competing hospitality industries.

Caledon could be retaining its five seats on Peel Regional council, while Mississauga and Brampton could see their shares increase.
That was the option that Town councillors voted unanimously to back when discussing the make-up of Regional council.
That position found support when the matter was discussed at Regional council, but the catch was Mississauga would have enough clout to veto it, and indications were they would use it.

Manuel de Sousa of Caledon had something to celebrate after winning $50,000 in the May 10 Daily Keno draw.

It was a split vote that saw Regional councillors back one of the four options for the council configuration that were put forth by the Governance Review Task Force. Option 2, which was also supported by the Brampton councillors, would see Regional council grow by eight members, with Mississauga and Brampton each getting four new representatives, while Caledon would keep its current five.
The current configuration has 12 councillors from Mississauga, seven from Brampton and five from Caledon.
Mississauga Councillor Carolyn Parrish favoured a configuration modelled more of representation by population (rep by pop). She was calling for three representatives; the mayor and one councillor each to represent the east and west sides of town.
“Mississauga is being magnanimous,” she said.

When it comes to deciding how to run federal elections in this country, it looks like there’s no such thing as a perfect solution.
That was one of the points that came through at the electoral reform panel discussion, which was hosted by the Dufferin-Caledon Federal Liberal Riding Association.
Presentations were made in favour of proportional representation, the use of ranked or preferential ballots, and maintaining the status quo, also known as first past the post.

The crowds were out at the Albion-Bolton Fairgrounds for the 38th annual Bolton Truck and Tractor Pull, put on by the Albion and Bolton Agricultural Society.
The Town of Caledon was offering sympathy and support in light of the massive explosion that leveled a house in Mississauga and damaged several more.

There are some people who like to drive fast, but one Caledon man went a little too far.
Caledon OPP reported catching him on Creditview Road, north of Old School Road going 194 km-h in a posted 80 zone, or 114 over the limit.

It would be impossible to get better marks than Roland Chou, as he graduated from Mayfield Secondary School with an average of 100 per cent in his top Grade 12 courses.

Caledon East native Cassandra Briscoe was doing well at Northwestern State University of Louisiana.
The school released the names of 528 students who made the President’s List for the Spring 2016 semester, and Briscoe was one of them.

The weather was great, as was the attendance as the Rotary Club of Palgrave hosted their annual Wines of the World event.

Canadian country musician Chad Brownlee headlined the evening entertainment at Caledon Day in Caledon East.

Nottle leads Golden Hawks past Terriers Friday

By Jake Courtepatte

The Caledon Golden Hawks ended 2016 on the right foot with their second win in three games at Caledon East Friday.

A trio of Caledon players had multi-goal efforts in the 6-3 win over the Orillia Terriers, returning from a week-long break for the holidays.

Sean Nottle opened the scoring for the Hawks midway through the first period, adding another early in the second.

Orillia rattled off three straight on goaltender Jason Cumbo to finish off the frame, taking a 3-2 lead into the third.

Caledon then replied with four unanswered goals of their own, with Matt Magliozzi and Anton Trublin joining Nottle with a pair of goals each.

Christian Hauck also had a multipoint night, adding three assists.

The win keeps Caledon's chances of not drawing the Alliston Hornets in the PJHL's first round of the playoffs alive, sitting in eighth place in the eight-team Carruthers division. At 7-25-2, Caledon is seven points back of the Schomberg Cougars.

Alliston remains the cream of the crop with a record of 27-3-1.

Entering the final month of the season, the Golden Hawks have seven games left on the schedule. Next up is a date with the Penetang Kings on the road tomorrow (Friday), looking for their first win over the Kings in four games played this season.

The Hawks return home Sunday to host the Cougars in what could very well likely set their positioning at the table for the postseason.

Puck drop is set for 6:30 p.m. at Caledon East.

Eric Lamaze wins Rolex Top Ten Final in Geneva

Eric Lamaze of Schomberg claimed the €300,000 Rolex Top Ten Final riding his Rio Olympic bronze medal partner, Fine Lady 5, Dec. 9, in Geneva, Switzerland.

With the top 10 riders in the world show jumping rankings going head-to-head in a two-round showdown of epic proportions, Lamaze jumped clear in the opening round riding Fine Lady 5, a 13-year-old Hanoverian mare owned by Artisan Farms. As Lamaze and Fine Lady 5 had posted the fastest clear in the opening round, they had the luxury of going last in the all-deciding second round of competition.

Currently ranked number one in the world, Germany's Christian Ahlmann had set the time to beat at 43.05 seconds riding Taloubet Z, forcing Lamaze to take every risk and rely on Fine Lady 5's tremendously fast foot speed in a full-out effort to catch his time. Coming home to the final fence on course, the packed house cheered encouragement as Lamaze and Fine Lady 5 sailed over the Rolex oxer and stopped the clock in 42.56 seconds to take the win. Switzerland's Steve Guerdat, the 2012 Olympic champion, was the only other rider to jump double clear, placing third riding Corbinian with a time of 44.30 seconds.

"Going last gave me an advantage in the jump-off," observed Lamaze, the 2008 Olympic Champion who is currently ranked number six in the world. "I thought Christian Ahlmann was not going to be beatable, but my gallop to the last fence won it for me."

"It's a big win!" he added. "The Rolex Top Ten is one of the most prestigious competitions that we have throughout the year, showcasing the best riders in the world riding their best horses at this moment in time. A grand prix is a grand prix, but the Rolex Top Ten is something special. Having been second once before, having been so close, it means a lot to me to win. And especially on this mare that had such an unbelievable Olympics; it's like her gold medal."

Lamaze has contested the Rolex IJRC Top Ten Final four previous times in his career with his best finish coming in 2011 when he was the runner-up riding Coriana van Klapscheut, also owned by Artisan Farms. His other three appearances, in 2008, 2009 and 2010, were all aboard the legendary stallion Hickstead, the horse that carried him to the 2008 Olympic championship title as well as the team silver for Canada. Lamaze is the only Canadian to have ever contested the Rolex IJRC Top Ten Final in its 16-year history.

"As a Canadian, I am extremely proud to bring this title back to Canada," said Lamaze, 48, who has won Olympic gold, silver and bronze medals for his country. "I hope this gives great hope to the new generation of riders back home. Everything is possible."

Lamaze spoke on the importance of having great owners behind him.

"The support I received from Andy and Carlene Ziegler of Artisan Farms after the tragedy of losing Hickstead truly revived my career," he said. "I don't know if I would be standing where I am today without them. I am so thankful to them, and so thankful to Rolex for putting on this amazing event. This is truly something special."

OBITUARIES

RANGER, Reverend Elizabeth Mary

Our beloved mother Mary passed away peacefully after a short but fierce battle with cancer at Headwaters Health Care Centre, Orangeville on December 28 2016. Adoring mother of Stephen (Gabrielle Peacock) and Sara (Jim Hope) and loving grandmother of Jimmy, Stephen, Christopher and Thi Ly Rose. Mary was predeceased by her parents Thomas and Sadie Barnett and by her elder siblings, Thomas, Doreen, Barney, Victor, Ruth and her former husband and friend, the late Professor Keith Ranger. She is survived by her elder brother, Douglas, and many Barnett nieces and nephews. Mary was born in 1934 at the Rectory of St. Clements, Riverdale on Brooklyn Ave. in the east end of Toronto, educated at Branksome Hall and the University of Toronto where she received her BA and later Master of Divinity. A lifelong servant of God, Mary graduated from her life as a teacher at Branksome to her ministry in the Anglican Church, and for 30 years led congregations in Mississauga, Port Hope, Pickering and in her retirement at St. Mark's in Orangeville. Mary's faith was deeply rooted in social justice and had an instinctive love and empathy for people of all walks of life. She offered pastoral care and support to the many she counseled and ministered, from working class families in post-war East London, to those incarcerated at the Don Jail in Toronto, through the Quaker Committee for Jails and Justice and the Elizabeth Fry Society. She was intellectually curious throughout her life, and had a great love for literature, children and her beloved animals. Mary truly lived her faith everyday in countless acts of kindness, gentility and acceptance. We wish to thank her friend and companion Erwin Henderson and to the Reverend Peter Scott for their devotion and kindness to our mother. A funeral service will be held at St. Mark's Anglican Church 5 First Ave, Orangeville on Wednesday, January 4, 2017 at 11 am. Reception to follow at the Dods & McNair Funeral Home, Chapel & Reception Centre. In lieu of flowers a donation can be made in her name to the Headwaters Health Centre where we thank most sincerely her doctor, Ken Derksen, and the many staff, especially the nurses in Palliative Care, who have cared for her so diligently these past few months. Condolences may be offered to the family at www.dodsandmcnair.com
