

Madness coming next Friday

By Bill Rea

Midnight Madness, the annual street festival held in the Bolton core and hosted by the Bolton Business Improvement Area (BIA) is returning.

It will be taking place next Friday evening (Aug. 21).

BIA Vice-Chair Tony Viola said there be vendors' booths and other displays, along with entertainment, including face painters and magicians, as well as bands and other local talent.

It's ready to go, he declared. It's a good night.