

PERFORMING AT CROSSCURRENTS

There were three acts to attract the audience last Friday night at CrossCurrents Caledon in Bolton. Barry Mulcahy and Mark Yann were first up, followed by Glenn McFarlane and his brother Keith. They were followed by the folk-rock ballads of Inglewood resident David Storey. The next session of CrossCurrents will be tomorrow (Friday) night at Bolton United Church. The theme will be Catch Up Klezmer, an evening of traditional Jewish music with Martin Van de Ven and Steve Slutsky. Photos by Bill Rea
