

Police wrap up Canada Day traffic initiative

From July 1 to 3, Caledon OPP took part in a province-wide traffic safety initiative.

During the initiative, OPP officers focused their attention on aggressive driving, as well as the other 'Big 4' causes of injuries in collisions: speeding, impaired driving, distracted driving, and seat belts.

The Caledon figures show there were four people charged with distracted driving, 217 with speeding; eight with racing; six with seat belt infractions; three with impaired driving; three who were handed warn-range suspensions; and 134 who were charged with other offences.

Police remind motorists to be mindful of their driving behaviour while travelling.
