

Three from Caledon graduate Niagara

Three Caledon residents were included in the list of students receiving their bachelor degrees in May from Niagara University in New York.

Those receiving their degrees included Caledon East area resident David Babcock, and David Volpe and Teresa Laronde, both of Bolton.

Founded in 1856, Niagara University is a comprehensive master's institution sponsored by the Vincentian Community, an order of priests and brothers founded by St. Vincent de Paul.
